STRABO'S CULTURAL GEOGRAPHY

Strabo of Amasia, a Greek geographer of the Augusto-Tiberian period, observed the Roman world of his time. He collected his observations in his magnum opus, the Geography, which he described as a 'Kolossourgia', a colossal statue of a work. This term reflects not only the work's size in seventeen books, but also its multi-faceted nature, composed of many different elements like the detailing on a statue. In this volume an international team of Strabo scholars explores those details, discussing the cultural, political, historical and geographical questions addressed in the Geography. The collection offers a number of different approaches to the study of Strabo, from traditional literary and historical perspectives to newer material and feminist readings. These diverse themes and approaches inform each other to provide a wide-ranging exploration of Strabo's work, making the book essential reading for students of ancient history and ancient geography.

DANIELA DUECK is Lecturer in Classics and History at Bar Ilan University. She is the author of Strabo of Amasia: A Greek Man of Letters in Augustan Rome (2000).

HUGH LINDSAY is Lecturer in Classics at the University of Newcastle, New South Wales. He is the author of Suetonius, Caligula (1993), Suetonius, Tiberius (1995) and a wide range of articles on the ancient world.

SARAH POTHECARY is an independent scholar. She has published a range of articles on Strabo and related topics which have appeared in journals such as Phoenix, Mnemosyne and Classical Philology.

Acknowledgements

We are grateful for contributions towards the cost of the conference on Strabo, held at Bar Ilan University, 25–27 June 2001, for which most of the papers in this volume were initially prepared.

We would like to thank Kai Brodersen for help in locating the images of the kolossos of Helios at Rhodes and the kolossos of Zeus at Olympia, used for the front cover and the frontispiece respectively: for further information on the images, see Brodersen (1996).

This volume contains excerpts taken from Strabo: Geography, Loeb Classical Library, vols. 1–8, translated by H. L. Jones, Cambridge, Mass.: Harvard University Press, 1917–32.
