INDEX

Africa, 3, 49, 61, 122, 148, 268
Amsden, Alice, 148, 187 antiformalist and neoformalist legal theory, 10, 12, 65–71, 141, See also formalism and antiformalist social theory, 103, 105, 106, 168 in the 1970s, 117–25
as transformed element of classical legal thought, 63 Arrow, Kenneth, 129, 133
Asian financial crisis, 6, 96, 150, 207
Asian Tigers, 96, 148–49, 178, 179, 187, 195, 200
Austin, John, 27
bargaining power, and developing countries, 68, 114, 116, 126, 130, 166 and poverty, 101
Bedjaoui, Mohamed, 119, 121–22
Bello Code, and family law, 33 Bentham, Jeremy, 1 best practices, in IFIs. See IFIs; rule of law, as development strategy; World Bank Bretton Woods system, 57–58, 81
Carothers, Thomas, 92–93
Changing Structure of International Law, The (Friedmann), 118 chastened neoliberalism. See current moment, of law and economic development doctrine; neoliberal law and economic development doctrine: critique of classical legal thought, 22, See also second globalization, and the social agenda; second globalization, and the social agenda post-WWII; third globalization diffusion of, 9, 25–37 and distinction between family and market law, 32–35 formalism in, 10
Code Napoleon, and family law, 33
Cold War, 82
common sense development. See development expertise, political associations of Comprehensive Development Framework, of the World Bank, 7, 13, 203–4, See also World Bank constitutional courts, 10, 68–70 corruption, elimination of, 97
corruption, elimination of, 97 context-specific development project, 6, 90, 92, 106, 155, 164, 291 corruption, elimination of, 97
in neoliberal development policies, 142–47 in The World Bank, 273–75 culture, and development. See context-specific project development; one size fits all policy current moment, of law and economic development doctrine, 3, 158–63, See also IFIs; third globalization; World Bank and changes in reforms and institutional practices of IFIs, 220–27 critique of efficiency, 16, 199–200, 230, 236, 246–52 critique of first and second globalization, 63–73 critique of formalism, 197–99 critique of neoliberal policies, 6–7, 10, 90–91, 94 and critique of neoliberal policies, by Stiglitz, 152–56 and critique of private law, 14–15 and critique of rule of law as development strategy, 166–73 and distribution, 170–73 and emergence of new critical practice, 7–9, 13–14 and future of rule of law reforms and social objectives, 89–94 and gap between rhetoric and reality, 15, See also IFIs; World Bank and identity rights discourse, 65–68 importance of judiciary in, 11 influence of U.S. legal theories in, 67–71 and integration of the spheres, 13 and judicial reform, 9, 159 and Sen’s Development as Freedom, 207 and stasis in reforms and institutional practices of IFIs, 227–31 de Soto, Hernando, 144, 145, 167, 287 Debreu, Gerard, 129, 133 developing countries, 129, 170, 178, See also bargaining power, and developing countries; by specific country or region; constitutional courts; import substitution industrialization policies; NIEO; United Nations debt crisis in, 116–17 and economic crisis from neoliberalism, 6 and enthusiastic implementation of neoliberal reforms, 131 and hegemony of world economic order, 18 and judicial reform, 123, 282–86 and laissez-faire dogma, 133–36, 146 and multilateral aid for, 115–16 and trade regimes, 18, 131, 139–41, 293 and transnational law firms, 83 and the World Bank’s relationship with, 298 development as freedom, 7, 12, 207, 212 Development as Freedom (Sen), 157, 207 development assistance institutions, and rule of law reforms. See IFIs; rule of law, as development strategy; World Bank development expertise, political associations of, 95–98 and the crisis and retrenchment period (1970–1980), 110–28 and critique of rule of law as development strategy, 166–73 and neoliberal law and economic development doctrine (1980–1995), 128–50 and the postwar modest interventionist consensus (1945–1970), 98–110 in the post-neoliberal period (1995–2005), 158–66, See also current moment, of law and economic development doctrine development policy. See also current moment, of law and economic development doctrine; development expertise, political associations of; first globalization, and diffusion of classical legal thought; IFIs; neoliberal law and economic development doctrine; rule of law, as development strategy; second globalization, and the social agenda; World Bank in 1970s, 110–28 in 1980s. See neoliberal law and economic development doctrine in post-WWII years. See post-WWII law and economic development doctrine; second globalization, and the social agenda post-WWII Dicey, A.V. and intrinsic version of rule of law, 261–63 distribution issues, 16–17, 18, 93, 97, 113, 164, 167, 168, 229 and critique of political choices made about, 170–73 difficulty on focusing overtly, 168 and efficiency, 16, 166 and IFIs, 215 and neoliberalism, 144, 146, 150, 168 and the postwar modest intervention consensus, 103 post-WWII, 108–10, 168 private/public, 15 role of judiciary in, 15 and the World Bank, 230 efficiency, 164 critique of, 16, 199–200, 230, 236, 246–52 and distribution, 16, 166 as replacement for “development” in neoliberal era, 129 embedded liberalism, 81–82, 96, See also post-WWII law and economic development doctrine family law and the Bello Code, 33 and the Code Napoleon, 33 and the first globalization, 32–35 and the second globalization, 50–54 first globalization, and diffusion of classical legal thought, 9, 25–37, See also second globalization, and the social agenda; second globalization, and the social agenda post-WWII; third globalization and distinction between family and market law, 32–35, See also family law and distinction between private and public law, 31–32 and distinction between subjects of municipal and international law, 31 formalism in, 10 and labor, 35–37 First Moment. See post-WWII law and economic development doctrine foreign aid, 131 formalism, 11, 12, 13, 18, 25, 86, 90, 93 in classical legal thought, 10 critique of, 16, 197–99 and the German historical school, 26 and neoliberal law and economic development doctrine, 142–47 French legal thought, 23, 24, 46 Friedan, Betty, 62 Friedmann, Wolfgang, 118, 120, 121 Galanter, Marc, 19, 182 GATT, 114, 130, 131, 138, 139, 140, 166 Genet, Jean, 62 German legal thought, 23, 24, 28, 29, 37, 46 historical school of, 27 historical school of, and formalism, 26 governance agenda, in IFIs. See IFIs; rule of law, as development strategy; World Bank Hayek, Friedrich, 263–65 human rights movement, 14, 84, 122, 123, 244–46 and IFIs’ selective engagement with norms of, 225–27 and the rule of law, 84 identity rights discourse, 65–68
IFIs
and analytic role of legal scholars in, 249–52 and changes in reforms and institutional practices, 220–27 and conflict with economic growth, 230, 236, 246–52 and evolution of good governance and rule of law reforms, 209–13 and human rights, 244–46 and impact of reforms on distribution, 215 and impact of social objectives on institutional and regulatory frame of, 216–18 and incorporation of the social, 7, 11, 15, 203–52
and judicial reform, 221–22
and legal restraints on state power, 220–21
and market failure, 212 and redefinition of sovereignty, 234–26 and selective engagement with human rights norms, 225–27 and stasis in reform agenda, 227–31 and the enabling state, 217, 236–37 and third sector actors in the market, 222–23 and transformation of social objectives, 213–16, 231–34, 237–52 and use of informal norms, 224–25 and use of soft law, 147, 223–24, 242–44 IMF, 57, 130, 131, See also IFIs; World Bank import substitution industrialization policies, 75, 123, 150, 196 in Africa, 61
decline of, 84
as dirigiste dogma, 133 dismantling of in neoliberal era, 130, 137, 138 and exports, 148
IMF support of, 114
in Indonesia, 61
and the L&D movement, 78, 178, 181 as leftist, 96, 166
post-neoliberal, 154, 167 post-WWII, 5, 58–59, 102, 104, 105, 106–8, 168–69, 172 in pre-WWII Latin America, 56 second stage, 110–11, 116, 117, 127–28 International Court of Justice, 122 international financial institutions. See IFI; World Bank judiciary and judicial reform, 2, 6, 9, 92, 139, 221–22, 253, 255, 265, 268, 276, 277, 278, 279, 292, 295, 296, 297, 298 and constitutional courts, 68–70 in current moment, 11
in developing countries, 123
and distribution issues, 15 and international courts, 122 and judicial review, 11, 70, 139, 141 and judicial supremacy, 69, 70–71 in the second globalization, 44–46 and the World Bank, 12–13, 159, 282–86
Kennedy, David, 11, 17
Kennedy, Duncan, 10, 13, 103–4, 120, 123, 161, 297
Kesey, Ken, 62
Keynes, John Maynard, 57, 98 labor and worker rights, 27, 47, 92, 109, 166, 233 in classical legal thought, 27, 35–37 and collective bargaining, 243–44 and IFIs’ resistance to labor market rules, 226 market rules, 246
and unemployment, 154–55 laissez-faire policies, of neoliberal period, 133–36, 146 Lal, Deepak, 133–35, 148, 151
Lasch, Christopher, 62
Latin America, 3, 49, 84, 148, 150, 295, 298
Index

and economic crisis from neoliberalism, 6, 96 and import substitution industrialization, 56, 58, 102 legal system in, 76
Law and Development movement, 120, 121, 174–79, See also post-WWII law and economic development doctrine critical moment of, and ambitions for Marxian social theory of law, 185 critical moment of, and the international political economy (1974–1985), 182–87, See also Commonwealth School of Law and Development movement inaugural moment of (1960–1974), 179–82 and legal education reform, 76–77, 190 post moment in, 193–202, See also current moment, of law and economic development doctrine revivalist moment of, and rule of law, 187–93, See also neoliberal law and economic development doctrine and rule of law reforms, 74–82 theory building project of, 79–80, 181–82, 200–2 law and economic development doctrine and development expertise. See development expertise, political associations of history of ideas about, 1, 2, See also current moment, of law and economic development doctrine; development expertise, political associations of; first globalization, and diffusion of classical legal thought; Law and Development movement; neoliberal law and economic development doctrine; rule of law, as development strategy; second globalization, and the social agenda post-WWII globalization, and the rule of law. See rule of law, as development strategy; World Bank Law of the Sea negotiations, 116, 122 Lectures on Jurisprudence (Austin), 27 legal education, reform of by L&D movement, 76–77, 190 legal pragmatism, 112, 121 legal reform. See current moment, of law and economic development doctrine; development expertise, political associations of; first globalization, and diffusion of classical legal thought; IFIs; judiciary and judicial reform; Law and Development movement; neoliberal law and economic development doctrine; post-WWII law and economic development doctrine; rule of law, as development strategy; World Bank legal transplantation, 6, 13, 78, 80, 86, 90, 91, 92 liberal constitutionalism, 121, 123–25 López Medina, Diego, 23 market economy. See neoliberal law and economic development doctrine market failures, 88, 146, 161, 170, 250, See also neoliberal law and economic development doctrine and IFIs, 212 and state intervention, 6–7, 8, 11, 15, 87, 91, 194, 212
and the World Bank, 225
Marx, Karl, 28
Mexico, 140, 162, 283, 293 federal labor laws of the 1930s, 48 modest interventionism. See under development expertise, political associations of multilateral aid, and developing countries, 115–16 Mystery of Capital, The (de Soto), 144 NAFTA, and developing countries, 18, 293

neoliberal law and economic development doctrine, 3, 5–6, 10, 69, 128–66, 274, See also IFIs; rule of law, as development strategy; second globalization, and the social agenda; second globalization, and the social agenda post-WWII; World Bank and anti-corruption, 142–47 and collapse of the Soviet Union, 82 and critique of, 6–7, 10, 11, 87–94 and critique of by Stiglitz, 152–56 and distribution, 16–17 and focus on economic growth, 6 and formalism, 142–47 and laissez-faire, 133–36, 146 political associations of, 147–50 and revivalist moment of Law and Development movement, 187–93 and rule of law strategies, 137–47 and unemployment, 154–55

New Deal, The, 42, 54, 104, 127, 217, 237, See also United States and antiformalism, 103, 105, 125 New International Economic Order. See NIEO

New International Economic Order, The (essay, Bedjaoui), 119, See also NIEO

Newton, Scott, 17

NGOs, 68, 70

NIEO, 116, 117–20, 123, 124, 126–28, 168, 186 in the 1980s, 130, 148 oil shocks, of the 1970s, 96, 110, 116, 182 one size fits all policy, 7, 9, 18, 86, 91, 92, 154, 165, 169, 204, 228, 239, See also current moment, of law and economic development doctrine; neoliberal law and economic development doctrine

Open Method of Coordination (OMC), 243–44 policy analysis, 10, 11–13, 18, 63–65, 68, 69 post-neoliberal law and economic development doctrine. See current moment, of law and economic development doctrine post-WWII law and economic development doctrine, 2, 5, 56–62 and antiformalist social legal theory, 106 and distribution issues, 108–10 and import substitution industrialization, 58–59 and Keynes, 57 and the modest interventionist consensus (1945–1970), 98–110, See also current moment, of law and economic development doctrine; import substitution industrialization policies; Law and Development movement; neoliberal law and economic development doctrine; second globalization, and the social agenda post-WWII

Pound, Roscoe, 49

poverty alleviation, 6, 7, 93, 238 and bargaining power, 101 and the World Bank, 275–76

Poverty of Development Economics, The (Lal), 133 pragmatic legal thinking, 120

private and public law, 25

private law, 31–32

property and contract rights, 14, 35, 66, 147, 163, 202, 212, 222, 225, 226, 228, 244, 272, 282 in classical legal thought, 65 in current moment, 9 and IFIs, 224 property rights, 14, 123, 139, 141 in classical legal thought, 9 and human rights, 8 World Bank program of, 286–89

Raz, Joseph, 259

rights and adjudication, 120, 123, 222

Rittich, Kerry, 11, 13, 15

© Cambridge University Press

www.cambridge.org
Index

rule of law. See also World Bank: and use of rule of law in development conceptions of, 256–66 institutional conception, 259–63, 266, 275, 281 instrumental version, 256, 258, 260–61, 263–65, 276, 281, 299 substantive conception, 157, 266, 271–73, 275, 277, 281 rule of law, as development strategy, 137–47, 156–58, See also IFIs; World Bank as amalgalm between project of democracy and project of markets, 85–86 and changes in development policy, 90 and changes in thinking about, 90–91 critique of, 253–55, See also IFIs; World Bank critique of neoliberal first stage, 87–89 current moment in, 89–90
and distribution issues, 170–73 future of social agenda of, 93–94 and international law firms, 83 and market institutions, 84–85 and the human rights movement, 84 and the 1960s Law and Development movement, 74–82 as objective in its own right, 1, 212, 276 post-Cold war influences, 81–83 Russia, 55
market shock transition of, 6, 150, 151, 152
Santos, Alvaro, 12, 13, 15, 92, 159
Schmitt, Carl, 72
Scholars in Self Estrangement (article, Trubek and Galanter), 13, 19 second generation reforms. See current moment, of law and economic development doctrine; IFIs second globalization, and the social agenda, 10, 37, 102–3, See also first globalization, and diffusion of classical legal thought; second globalization, and the social agenda post-WWII; third globalization and corporatism, 41–42 and the family, 50–54
and gender, 50–54
global reception of, 46–47 and import substitution industrialization in Latin America, 56 and innovation in the juristic field, 44–46 and institutionalism, 41 and land regimes, 54–56 and nationalism, 47–50
pluralist position in, 40 and social legislation, 42–44 and the welfare state, 54 second globalization, and the social agenda post-WWII, 56–62 critiques of, 59–62
and globalization, 58–59 and globalization of Bretton Woods institutions, 57–58
and import substitution industrialization, 58–59
and Keynes, 57
Sen, Amartya, 11, 67, 157, 207 criticism of for opposing neoliberal policies, 134 and intrinsic version of rule of law, 265–66
Shalakany, Amr, 48
Shihata, Ibrahim (General Counsel and Senior Vice President of the World Bank), 269–75, 277, See also World Bank social objectives, and development, 7, 8, 11, 14, 112, 150, 156–58, See also development as freedom; distribution issues; human rights movement; IFIs; labor and social objectives (cont.)
Index

worker rights; poverty alleviation; second globalization, and the social; second globalization, and the social agenda post-WWII; women’s rights and critique of rule of law strategies, future of, 93–94 and identity rights discourse, 65–68 soft laws, IFIs use of, 147, 223–24, 242–44 squatters, 70, 144, 289
Stiglitz, Joseph, and critique of neoliberalism, 11, 152–56

Tamanaha, Brian, 179
Thatcher, Margaret, 17
third globalization, 63–73, See also current moment, of law and economic development doctrine; first globalization, and diffusion of classical legal thought; second globalization, and the social agenda; second globalization, and the social agenda post-WWII trade regimes, 18, 139–41, See also GATT; NAFTA and developing countries; WTO transnational law firms, 10, 68–69, 83
in developing countries, 83
Trubek, David, 19, 101, 112, 182, 202 unemployment. See under labor and worker rights during neoliberal era, 139, 150 United States. See also New Deal, The legal thought of, 24–25 legal thought of, in current moment, 67–71 Vietnam War, 61, 96, 110 von Jhering, Rudolf, 37, 57 von Savigny, Friedrich Carl, 27, 35, 50

Washington Consensus. See neoliberal law and economic development doctrine Weber, Max, 74, 260, 266, 270, 271 and critique of the social agenda of the second globalization, 60 and instrumental version of rule of law, 261 will theory. See classical legal thought: diffusion of Wolfhenson, James D. (President of the World Bank), 268, 273 women’s rights, 12, 53, 92, 232, 246 and education, 53, 161–62, 171 IFI’s resistance to, 227 and the second globalization, 50–54 and the World Bank report on, 245 World Bank, 74, 81, 91
changes in reform agenda of, 91–92 and the Comprehensive Development Framework, 11, 203–4, 268, See also IFIs: and incorporation of the social critique of knowledge base, 92–93 and the Doing Business report, 280, 289, 292–95 during structural adjustment period, 267 for elimination of corruption, 273–75 and the governance period, 268 and Ibrahim Shihata, 269–75, 277 and internal dynamics between bank units, 290–5 as institutional framework, 270–71
and judicial reform, 12–13, 159, 282–86
and the Legal Department, 278–79, 290–95, 299
and market failure, 225 and poverty alleviation, 275–76, See also IFIs: and incorporation of the social and the Private Sector Development group, 279–80 and property rights program, 286–89 <table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Index</th>
<th>309</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>and the Public Sector Unit, 279, 290–95, 299</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>and the Rapid Response Unit, 279–80, 292–95</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>and relationship with developing countries, 298</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>report on gender equality, 245</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>as substantive rights and regulations, 271–73</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>and use of rule of law in development, 298–300</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>and the World Bank Institute, 281, 292–95, 299</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>WTO, 67, 140, 160, 162</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>and developing countries, 18</td>
<td></td>
</tr> </tbody>
</table>