

INDEX

- Albee, Ernest, 100
 Allais, Lucy, 12, 341
 Allison, Henry, 280
 Anderson, Elizabeth, 14 Anscombe, Elizabeth challenge, xi, 1–13, 16–20, 24, 35, 38, 101 consequentialism, critique of, 1 law conception, 1, 17–20, 25, 29 legislation, divine, 2
 Aquinas, Thomas, 11, 16, 17, 26, 64, 102
   Bonum honestum, 20
   eudaimonism, 26
   law eternal, 26–27, 92
     natural, 16–20, 26–27, 155
   Naturalism, Aristotelian, 17, 26
   perfectionism, 114
 Aristotle, 4, 5, 11, 15, 23, 36, 167, 204
   justice, distributive, 29
   naturalism, 7, 11, 12, 16, 17, 19, 25, 26, 28, 30, 40, 92, 97, 101, 102, 122, 147, 151, 152, 163, 168, 189
   perfectionism, 114–115
   wisdom, practical, 108
 Baier, Annette, 9
 Balguy, John
   accountability, 248, 287
   agency, 248–249
   akrasia, 249
   approbation, 249
   benevolence as insufficient and unnecessary for moral goodness, 248
   fitness, 249–250
   in relation to
     Butler, Joseph, 248–249
     Clarke, Samuel, 237–239, 247–250, 287
     Hobbes, Thomas, 287
     Hutcheson, Francis, 248–249, 287
     Price, Richard, 237–239, 287
     Suárez, Francisco, 250
   moral sense theory, rejection of, 252
   morality, deontic conception of, 238–239, 256
   motivation, 249–250
   necessity, 249
   obligation
     as normative relation, 242
     internal, 249–250
   practical and theoretical reasoning, parallel between, 249–250
   rationalism, 113, 229, 237–238, 248–250
   reason as source of moral motivation, 238, 248–250
   “the reason of the thing and the rectitude of the action,” 283, 287 virtue as rational determination of the mind, 248 Barbeyrac, Jean, 27, 34, 87
   on Grotius, Hugo, 15, 22–24, 32, 35 on Leibniz, Gottfried Wilhelm, 163–164 on Pufendorf, Samuel von, 87 Bentham, Jeremy, 162, 205
   in relation to Hume, David, 205
     Hutcheson, Francis, 177
 Bratman, Michael, 260

- Butler, Joseph
 accountability, 169–172, 194–197, 200, 239, 246, 256 action in circumstances as object of reflective judgment, 190
 agency, 168–172, 185–198, 200, 222, 241, 253, 256
 self-reflective, 165 Anglicanism, 184
 approbation, reflex, 142, 170 authority and mere power, distinction
 between, 185, 195, 209
 autonomy, 169–170, 187–188, 206, 221–222
 benevolence, 185, 186
 conscience, 147, 165–166, 168–172, 183–199, 200, 241, 248, 249, 255, 257, 259, 270
 and self-love, dualism between, 168–169
 authority of, 142, 151, 168–172, 184, 186–188, 192–197, 205,
 222, 238, 240, 246, 253, 259, 261–263
 teleological argument for, 192–194
 theological argument for, 192–194
 transcendental argument for, 193–197
 in relation to self-love. See Butler, Joseph:Self-love:In relation to conscience “cool hour” passage, 56, 189
 egoism, rejection of, 185, 199–200
eudaimonism, rejection of, 172, 189–190, 192
 “everything is what it is...,” 172, 185
 God as designer, 193–194
 good and right, 197–199
 happiness, 186, 189
 hierarchy, normative, 186–188, 255
 in relation to Aristotle, 189
 Clarke, Samuel, 196
 Cudworth, Ralph, 169–170
 Cumberland, Richard, 170–171
 Hutcheson, Francis, 165–166, 169–171, 185–192, 195, 197–199,
 205–206, 221–222, 238
 Leibniz, Gottfried Wilhelm, 166
 Locke, John, 100, 169–170
 Pufendorf, Samuel von, 194
 Shaftesbury (Anthony Ashley
 Cooper, Third Earl of), 142,
 147, 151, 165–166, 169–170, 185, 189, 192, 195, 199, 222, 238
 judgment
 deontic moral, 188, 191–192
 normative practical, 171–172, 186–197
 morality, deontic conception of, 168–172
 nature, 168, 187–189, 192–193
 obligation, 172
 passions, private and public,
 distinction between, 185–186
 proto-utilitarianism, rejection of, 166, 199, 206
 psyche constitution of, 169, 185–188, 194–195
 economy, 169, 185–188, 191–193
 psychology, moral, 165–166, 185–188, 200
 reason, 127
 reflection, principle of, 165, 171–172, 186–197, 222, 249, 255, 263, 270 Rolls Chapel, 184
 self-deception, 188
 self-love, 168–169, 184–193, 199–200, 261–262
 in relation to conscience, 186–188, 197 self-reflection, 190–192
 sermons, overview, 183–184 utilitarianism, indirect, 198, 200 vice as misery, 169
 virtue
 as conscientious self-guidance, 165, 166, 206, 241
 reduction to benevolence,
 rejection of, 166, 170–171, 205, 257
 watch analogy, 194
 Cassirer, Ernst, 140
 Cicero, Marcus Tullius, 11, 156–157

- Clarke, Samuel
 accountability, 246–247, 273
 agency, 10, 243, 245–247, 256, 273
 benevolence, universal, 246
 Boyle Lectures, 196, 243 circumstances, 243–246
 conscience, 196
   authority of, 246–247
 differences of things, 244–246
 equity, 243, 246
 fitness, 208, 241, 243–246
   as founded in the nature of things, 243, 244
   as synonymous with “right” and “reasonable,” 243
 golden rule, 243, 287
 good, universal, 243
 in relation to Balguy, John, 237–239, 247–250, 287
   Butler, Joseph, 196, 243, 246–247
   Cudworth, Ralph, 243, 248
   Fordyce, David, 240–246
   Hobbes, Thomas, 287
   Hutcheson, Francis, 245–246
   Leibniz, Gottfried Wilhelm, 157, 248
   Price, Richard, 237–239, 273, 287
   Reid, Thomas, 273
   Shaftesbury (Anthony Ashley
     Cooper, Third Earl of), 142
   Suárez, Francisco, 250
 internalism, motivational, 247, 255
 judgment, 244–247
 love, 243, 246
 mathematics and morality, analogy
   between, 244
 morality, deontic conception of, 238–239, 246–247, 256
 obligation, 196, 241, 244–246, 250
   as “eternal reason of things,” 246
   as normative relation, 242, 246
 rationalism, 113, 229, 237–238, 241, 243–248
   founder of British tradition, 243 reason as the source of moral motivation, 238
 reasoning, practical and theoretical, parallel between, 247, 249 relations, natural, 244–245
 supervenience, 245
 voluntarism, rejection of, 243, 248
 will, 247, 249
 Cudworth, Ralph, 10
 accountability, 112, 128–129, 135–139, 145–146, 148, 169–170
 agency, 112, 148, 158, 169–170
 anti-positivism, 111, See also Voluntarism, rejection of atheism, rejection of, 128
 autexousy, 136–139, 261
 autonomy, 169–170
 believing and judging, distinction
   between, 136–137
 benevolence, 134–135
 blame, 128, 135–136
 charity, 112, See Cudworth, Ralph: Love
 conscience, 139
 determination, practical, 132–139
eudaimonism, 169–170
 fault and sin, 137
 God, 117
   as ideal of moral agency, 133–135, 139 goodness, natural and positive,
   distinction between, 131
 government, divine, 128 guilt, 128, 135–136
 honesty, 138, 139
 idealism ethical, 131–134
   metaphysical, 130–131
 in relation to
   Hobbes, Thomas, 129, 130,
     132–133, 136, 138, 152
   Leibniz, Gottfried Wilhelm, 111
   Locke, John, 112, 128–129, 131, 169–170
   Plato, 130, 134
   Plotinus, 130
   Pufendorf, Samuel von, 128–129,
     131, 138
   Shaftesbury (Anthony Ashley
     Cooper, Third Earl of), 111, 151, 169–170
   Spinoza, Baruch, 111, 128
 internalism, autonomist, 133

- Cudworth, Ralph (cont.) judgment, practical, 112, 135–137
   justice, 134–135
   knowledge, 130–131
   life, “stories of,” “animal” and “divine,” 137, 139
   “light” in which agents view options, 137
   love, 112, 133–135, 138, 139, 141, 146, 243
   metaphysics, 128, 135
   mind, 130–135
     modifications of, 131–134
     of God, 131, 133–134
   morality, eternal and immutable character of, 111, 129–134, 208, 237, 252
   motivation. See determination, practical nature, necessary, 137
   obligation, 112, 131–133, 135–139
   rationalism, 270
   Sui-Potestas. See Cudworth, Ralph:autexousy
   virtue, ethics of, 113
   voluntarism, rejection of, 42, 70, 111–112, 128–134, 152, 248
   will, 260
     as “last practical judgment,” 136–137
     free, 112, 128, 135–139
       animal and moral, 112, 136–139, 169 Culverwell, Nathaniel, 92
 Cumberland, Richard
   agency, 88, 89, 101–108
   authority, divine, 103–104
   as epiphenomenal, 109
   benevolence, 88, 101, 102–105, 171
   best end as the greatest good of all, 103, 106–110, 171
   effects, 102–103, 105–108
   egoism, rejection of, 101
   empiricism, 87–89, 101, 102, 104–105
   envy and hatred, 105
   eudaimonism, rejection of, 101
   good as single normative standard, 109–110
     common, 88, 89, 103–108, 134, 177
     goods, natural, 106
     happiness, 102–104, 107–108
     in relation to Aquinas, Thomas, 102
       Aristotle, 101, 102, 104
       Grotius, Hugo, 87–90
       Hobbes, Thomas, 88–90, 101–102, 104–105, 107, 108
       Hume, David, 90
       Hutcheson, Francis, 90
       Leibniz, Gottfried Wilhelm, 90
       Locke, John, 88–90, 103–106, 109
       Pufendorf, Samuel von, 87–90, 103–104, 109
       Shaftesbury (Anthony Ashley
       Cooper, Third Earl of), 90
       Suárez, Francisco, 146
     instrumentalism, 105–108
     internalism, 90
     law, natural, 88–89, 102–105, 108–111, 141, 146
     love, 104, 105, 134
     morality as science, 87, 88
     naturalism, 87–90, 101–110
     nonaggression, mutual, 105
     obligation, 89, 103–104
       as epiphenomenal, 108–110
     peace, 105, 106
     propositions, practical, 102–103 punishments and rewards, 103–104
     reason, practical, 107–109, 171
       standard of, 107–108
     reductionism, 87–89, 106, 108–110, 171
     right, the, 106
       as epiphenomenal, 108–110
     sanctions. See punishments and rewards
     utilitarianism, 88–89, 100, 106, 109
     voluntarism, theological, 90, 101, 108–109
     will, consequence-directed rational, 105–107
 Descartes, René, 120
   dualism, 114
 Fichte, Johann Gottlieb, 334
   in relation to Reid, Thomas, 265 summons, xii

- Florentinus, 21, 22
 Fordyce, David
   accountability, 242, 246, 258
   affections, 240
   agency, 239–242, 258
   conscience
     authority of, 240–242
   conscientiousness and moral goodness, connection
       between, 241, 258
   empiricism, 239–241
   in relation to
     Butler, Joseph, 240–242
     Clarke, Samuel, 240–246, 251
     Hume, David, 240–241
     Hutcheson, Francis, 239–241, 258
     Locke, John, 239, 258
     Price, Richard, 239, 258
     Shaftesbury (Anthony Ashley
       Cooper, Third Earl of), 240
   morality, deontic conception of, 239–242, 246, 258
   motivation, 239–242
   obligation, 239–243, 245, 246, 258
     as indefinable, 239–241, 251
     as normative relation, 242
   reason, 239–241
   sense, moral, 239–242, 245, 258
   senses as source of ideas, 239–241
   sentimentalism, 239–246
   “state of moral obligation,” 242
   “state of the case,” 241, 244
   supervenience, 245
 Fricker, Miranda, 14

 Galileo, 45, 120
 Grotius, Hugo
   accountability, 23, 31, 34–38, 91, 155
   autonomy, 35
   Carneades, challenge of, 16, 25–31, 36, 156–157, 163–164, 197, 279
   collective action problem, 27–28, 37
   consentium gentium, 36, 40
   dignity, 33
   Dutch trading companies, 31 equality, right of, 21, 38, 64
   eudaimonism, 25
   golden rule, 36

   in relation to Aquinas, Thomas, 19, 20, 24
     Aristotle, 23
     Florentinus, 21, 22
     Seneca, 21
     Suárez, Francisco, 17–21, 23–25, 292 individualism, 40
   ius, 20–25
   law, moral, 34
   law, natural, 11, 16, 19, 24, 29–30, 36–38, 63–64, 111
   liberty, 32
   minimalism, 35, 36, 40
   morality as science, 34–36
   “morality,” use of word, 87
   Naturalism, Aristotelian, 11, 16, 25
   necessity, moral, 155
   obligation, 24–25, 29, 32–38
     perfect and imperfect, 62–63
   principles, general, 37, 38
   punishment, 31, 33–34
   recognition, mutual, 64, 91
   reparation, 32
   restitution, 32
   right, fountain of. See Grotius, Hugo: Sociability rights claim, 31–33
     natural, 24–26, 31–33, 35
     perfect and imperfect, 16, 22–23, 38, 62–63
   sociability, 19, 21–22, 24, 29, 34, 36–38, 40, 63–64, 73, 91, 265, 268, 269, 274, 277, 278 sovereign, 31
   speech, 37
   superiority, right of, 21, 38, 64
   voluntarism, rejection of, 19, 24
   war and peace, 42–43
   Will, 31
 Guyer, Paul, 288, 301, 306, 334

 Haakonssen, Knud, 15
 Hare, R.M., 162, 245
 Hart, H.L.A., 31, 33, 50
   point of view, internal, 216 rules, external and internal aspects of, distinction between, 219

- Hegel, Georg Wilhelm Friedrich, 10, 12, 265, 334
- Hobbes, Thomas
- absurdity and injury, 51
  - accountability, 36, 55, 56
  - attitudes, reactive (Strawsonian), 59–61
  - color analogy, 45–48, 89, 120
  - conscience, 58
  - consequence, 39, 43–44
  - contract and covenant, 41–44, 48–54, 61, 125, 215, 216, 219
    - violation of, 51–59
  - creatures lacking conception of right and wrong, 59
  - deliberation, 47–51, 60–61
  - desire and the good, 41, 43–49, 219
    - and the right, 48
    - metaethics of, 48, 59–61
  - egoism, 30
  - empiricism, 39–40, 44, 59, 61
  - Epicureanism, 89, 104
  - evil, 45, 46
  - expressivism, 45–48, 210
  - fool, 25, 30, 56, 52–59, 279
  - God, power of, 50
  - Golden Rule, 36, 54, 59, 73, 87, 287
  - in relation to
    - Grotius, Hugo, 30, 40–43
    - Suárez, Francisco, 18, 146, 292
  - individualism, 40
  - instrumentalism, 49
  - judgmentalism, 60
  - justice, 43
  - law, 54, 55
    - natural, 41, 44, 48, 52–59, 146
  - liberty, 41, 42, 49–51, 53
    - blameless, 33, 49, 55, 59, 75, 83
  - materialism, 39–40, 44, 51, 59, 61
  - minimalism, 40
  - morality as science, 39–40, 43–44, 47, 51
  - “morality,” use of word, 87
  - nature
    - right of, 41, 49, 53, 55, 75, 159
    - state of, 41, 52, 53, 55, 57, 58, 105, 213
  - nominalism, 39, 43, 130, 132
  - obligation and the right, 40–44, 54, 48–61, 68, 219, 239
    - and the good, 52–54
    - metaethics, 49
    - obligation, natural, 49–50
  - passions, 44, 45
  - power, normative, 41–42, 44, 61, 215
  - projectivism, 60, 61, 119–120,
    - See also* Hobbes, Thomas: expressivism
  - reasonable, the, 54–56
  - reciprocity theorem, 49, 54
  - reductionism, 44
  - sanctions, divine, 141
  - scarcity, natural, 105
  - self-preservation, 41, 48, 49, 53, 55, 59
  - sense, 39
  - slaves and servants, 57–58
  - sovereign, 49, 54–59, 125, 215, 216
  - subjectivism, 44–45
  - utility, expected, 52
  - war and peace, 41–45
  - War, English Civil, 40
  - will, 47, 51, 60, 120, 136
- Hohfeld, Wesley Newcomb, 65, 159
- rights, claim, 32
  - rights, liberty, 32, 33, 159
- Hume, David
- aesthetic and moral assessment,
    - analogy between, 143, 221, 230
  - approbation, 249, 264
  - as anatomist, 203
  - autonomy, 206
  - beauty, moral, 230
  - benevolence, 204–205, 212–215, 218
  - bigot, seditious, 205, 214
  - causation, 252
  - collective action problems, 204
  - color analogy, 69, 237
  - consequentialism, 211
  - constructionism, social, 212
  - convention, 205, 213–221
  - creatures, rational, 220–221, 232
  - desires, 201, 207
  - empiricism, 151, 241, 252, 259
  - Enlightenment, Scottish, 201
  - expressivism, 210
  - fact, matters of, 209–210

- free rider. See Hume, David: knave, sensible
- ideas, association of, 175, 204–205, 209, 211–212
- ideas, relations of, 207, 209, 244
- in relation to
- Balguy, John, 237–238
  - Butler, Joseph, 184, 190–191, 205–206, 214, 221–222, 229, 238
  - Clarke, Samuel, 208, 237–238, 243–247
  - Cudworth, Ralph, 208
  - Cumberland, Richard, 89–90
  - Grotius, Hugo, 30
  - Hobbes, Thomas, 213–214, 216–217
  - Horace, 211
  - Hutcheson, Francis, 166–167, 175, 177–179, 181–182, 201, 203–206, 210–211, 213–214, 218, 220–224, 229–230, 232, 237–241, 251, 254, 282
  - Price, Richard, 237–238
  - Shaftesbury (Anthony Ashley Cooper, Third Earl of), 113, 124, 140–144, 151, 172, 213, 238
  - Smith, Adam, 201–203, 220–224, 229–238
  - Spinoza, Baruch, 115, 122, 124, 127
- “is”/“ought,” 201, 209–210, 244
- judgments, ethical, 201–202, 208–213, 222, 229–231
- justice, 203–205
- artificial, 167, 204–205, 213–221, 232–233, 265
  - motive of, 218–220
  - practices, rule-governed
    - cooperative, 205, 213–221
- knave, sensible, 25, 30, 205, 217–218, 279
- mind, secret springs and principles of, 203
- “moral problem,” 201
- moral virtues and natural abilities, distinction between as purely verbal, 167, 177, 203–204, 211, 236
- morality, deontic, rejection of, 167
- motivation, theory of, 60, 206–212, 220
- motives as object of approbation, 214, 218, 222, 229
- naturalism, empiricist, 201, 203–204
- Newtonianism, 203–204, 211
- obligation, 89, 166, 171, 266–267
- interested, 141, 181, See Hume, David: Obligation: Natural
  - moral, 181, 205, 213, 217–220, 232, 240
  - natural, 141, 181, 213, 217–220, 240
  - rule, 219–220
- passion and reason, opposition of, rejection of, 206–208
- passions, calm and violent, 127
- performance, external, as lacking merit, 167, 213, 214, 220
- perspective, observer’s, 190, 203, 218, 221–223, 230
- philosophy as science, 139
- promising, 214–218, 266–267
- property, 214–219
- rationalism, rejection of, 201, 206–211
- reason as “slave of the passions,” 127, 316
- reason as motivationally inert, 166, 201, 206–210, 247, 255
- reasoning
- demonstrative, 207
  - probabilistic, 207, 209
- resentment, 221
- rowing example, 216
- seditious bigot, 37
- self-interest, 205, 213–214, 217–220
- self-love, 214–216
- sense, moral, 113, 210, 259
- rejection of, 203–204, 210–211, 264
- sentimentalism, 113, 143, 167, 190, 201, 206–212, 214, 218–220, 222–223, 229, 230, 237–241, 243–246, 263–264, 274
- subjectivism, 210
- sympathy, 175, 204–205, 209, 211–212, 220–224, 229–232, 264
- as emotional contagion, 211, 224
- utilitarianism, 205, 211
- utility as foundation of justice, 203, 205

- Hume, David (cont.)
 virtue “in rags,” 212
   amiable and awful, distinction
     between, 234
   artificial and natural, distinction
     between, 213
   ethics of, 167, 177, 204–205, 213–215, 251, 254
   will, 206–210, 220
 Hursthouse, Rosalind, 9
 Huseynzadegan, Dilek, 12, 341
 Hutcheson, Francis, 9
   agency, 248
   appetitus rationalis. See Hutcheson, Francis:will apprehension, rational, 179–180
   approbation and condemnation, 167–168, 174–177, 182, 204, 210, 211, 249, 251, 258, 263, 264
     moral, and nonmoral esteem,
       distinction between, 167
   beauty, 175
   benevolence, 133, 147, 151, 175–178, 199, 204–206, 211, 213, 214, 248, 254, 258, 261, 282–283
     calm extensive. See Hutcheson, Francis:benevolence, universal particular, 180
       universal, 166, 176–181, 184, 204, 232, 246
       universal, and self-love, dualism
       between, 168, 170, 181, 186
   choiceworthiness, moral, 133, 167, 168, 174, 177–178, 204, 205, 213, 218
   color analogy, 69, 176
   condemnation. See Hutcheson, Francis:approbation and condemnation desires, calm, 121, 127, 179–181 desires/affections and appetites/passions, distinction
     between, 178–181
   egoism, rejection of, 173, 229
   Enlightenment, Scottish, 201
   eudaimonism, rejection of, 168, 173, 178–181
   expressivism, 210
   God, 170
   goodness, 173–181
     moral, 167–168
     moral and natural, distinction
       between, 167–168, 173–176, 179–181
     natural, 166
     public, 122, 168, 178
   greatest happiness principle, 166, 177, 179–180, 204, 205, 213, 232
   in relation to Aristotle, 167–168, 177
     Balguy, John, 237–238
     Butler, Joseph, 165–166, 169–171,
       180, 183–192, 195, 197–199, 205–206, 221–222, 229, 238
     Clarke, Samuel, 237–238, 243, 245–246
     Cumberland, Richard, 89–90, 101, 105, 151, 168, 173, 177
     Hobbes, Thomas, 173, 174
     Hume, David, 177–179, 213,
       220–224, 229–230, 232,
       237–241, 251, 254, 282
     Leibniz, Gottfried Wilhelm, 124,
       153, 166
     Locke, John, 167, 173–174, 239, 251
     Mandeville, Bernard, 173
     Price, Richard, 237–238
     Shaftesbury (Anthony Ashley
       Cooper, Third Earl of), 113,
       124, 140–144, 147, 151, 165–
       166, 172–173, 177, 180–182,
       204, 213, 238
     Spinoza, Baruch, 122, 124, 127
   instinct, 179 judgments, moral, 222
   justice, 168, 232
   love, 166–167, 175
   moral virtues and natural abilities,
     distinction between, 211
   morality, deontic, rejection of, 166–168, 177, 204
   motives, contemplation of, 174–177, 198, 213, 214, 218, 222, 229, 251, 258
   naturalism, empiricist, 151, 166, 173–176, 201, 240, 241, 251, 259

- obligation, 89, 171, 173, 177–178, 181–183
  - of moral sense, 181–182, 213
  - of self-interest, 181–182, 240
- “ought” as “unlucky,” 181
- passions, calm and violent, 127
- perspective, observer’s, 165, 176–177, 190, 192, 198, 222–223, 232, 251, 258
- proto-utilitarianism, 177–178, 199
- psychology, moral, 165–166
- rationalism, rejection of, 201, 229
- reason as motivationally inert, 168, 179
- reason, practical, 178–181, 184
- reflection, calm rational, 168
- right, the, 232
- rights
  - alienable and inalienable, 178
  - perfect and imperfect, 174, 178
- self-reflection as interfering with moral virtue, 165, 180
- sense, moral, 113, 165–168, 173–183, 190–191, 198, 203–204, 210, 213, 218, 222–223, 229–230, 239–240, 248, 251, 259, 263
- sentimentalism, 113, 143, 167, 201, 203–204, 218, 230, 237–241, 243–246, 248, 263, 274
- utilitarianism, 162, 204, 205
- virtue
  - as coinciding with self-interest, 181
  - ethics of, 166–168, 173, 176–183, 204–206, 213, 251, 254
- will, 179
- Irwin, Terence, xiii, 10–12, 15, 16, 19, 20, 28, 30, 64, 92, 97, 147, 151, 162–164, 189
- Israel, Jonathan, 115, 122
- Johns, Christopher, 159
- Kant, Immanuel, 10
  - accountability, 273, 280, 283, 285–288, 292–294, 309, 314, 324–325, 331, 333, 336
  - agency, 208, 269, 322, 278–340
  - finite rational, 10, 273–274, 278–281, 284–286, 290–292, 324–326, 329–333, 339–340
  - perfect rational, 10, 273, 284, 285, 289–290, 324, 329–331, 334, 340
  - autonomy, 10, 136, 153, 221, 313, 322
    - and heteronomy, distinction between, 271–272
  - freedom, positive, 271, 309–312
  - of the will, 271–277, 280, 287, 300, 302, 308–315, 317–323, 325, 333–334, 336, 337, 339
  - benevolence, 282–283, 285, 309, 314, 322, 324, 328
  - “categories of freedom,” 271–272
  - challenge, morality as chimerical, 25, 30, 279–280, 288, 301, 309, 318, 321–322
  - common humble person example, 326–329
  - conscience, 330–331, 333
  - constraint, 284
    - external, 335–339
    - self, 314, 335–340
  - deliberation, 10, 273–274, 280, 285, 294, 300, 309–316, 321, 322, 327, 339–340
  - desire, 208, 286, 289, 299, 306–307, 309, 312–314, 316–321, 323–324, 328, 331
  - dignity, 12, 203, 234, 321, 322, 327, 341
    - as an end in oneself, 299–308
    - disposition, morally good, 307
  - duty, 273–274, 278–288, 290, 293–295, 301–302, 307, 326, 329–338
    - as the necessity of an action from respect for law, 283, 330
  - ethical, 335–336
  - good will, 281–288
  - of right, 335–338
  - perfect and imperfect, distinction between, 295
  - strict and wide, distinction between. See Kant, Immanuel: Duty: Perfect and imperfect, distinction between

- Kant, Immanuel (cont.)
     to oneself, 335
     to others, 295, 302, 335, 338
     empirical, the, 271, 278, 316–320, 325–326, 332
     false testimony example, 323–325 force. See constraint freedom, 10
         as ratio essendi of the moral law, 314, 323
     autonomy. See Kant, Immanuel:autonomy
     external, 272–273, 336–339
     laws of, 66, 127, 153, 278, 288–289, 311 negative, 309–311
     of choice, 272–273, 284, 306, 334, 336 positive. See Kant, Immanuel:autonomy:
         freedom, positive
     goodness, 279–293, 307–308, 311–313, 317, 319–322, 325, 330–334, 336
     hindrance, 283, 337
     idealism, transcendental, 273, 300, 314
     ignorance, veil of, 304–306
     imperative, categorical, 36, 208, 273, 279–281, 285, 287, 288, 291, 298, 309, 315, 317, 320–322
         Formula of Autonomy (FA), 302–303, 306, 308, 321, 334
         Formula of Humanity (FH), 295, 299–303, 306, 308, 321, 334
         Formula of the Kingdom of Ends (FKE), 206, 306, 308, 321 Formula of the Law of Nature (FLN), 294
         procedure, 294–299, 303–306, 320 universal law formula (FUL), 285–290, 293–299, 301–303, 306, 308, 321, 334
     imperatives, categorical and hypothetical, distinction
         between, 271, 288–291
     imperatives, hypothetical, 208, 271, 288–292
         assertoric, 292 problematic, 292
     in relation to Balguy, John, 283, 287
         Butler, Joseph, 221
         Clarke, Samuel, 273–274, 287
         Cudworth, Ralph, 270
         Grotius, Hugo, 30, 277, 279, 338
         Hobbes, Thomas, 279, 287, 292
         Hume, David, 221, 279
         Hutcheson, Francis, 221, 282–283
         Leibniz, Gottfried Wilhelm, 125,
             153–154, 157, 160, 270
         Locke, John, 100
         Paul the Apostle, 282–283
         Price, Richard, 252, 270, 273–274, 287
         Pufendorf, Samuel von, 300, 309
         Rousseau, Jean-Jacques, 269,
             274–278, 300, 304, 308, 336
         Shaftesbury (Anthony Ashley Cooper, Third Earl of), 142, 151
         Smith, Adam, 203, 221, 300
         Suárez, Francisco, 18, 292–293
         Wolff, Christian, 153, 270
     incentives, 325–328
     inclinations, 271, 273, 284–286, 289–290, 313, 314, 316–317,
         323–324, 329–330, 334, 339–340
     insincere debtor example, 295–299, 301–302
     kingdom of ends, 304–306
     law
         moral, 271–275, 278–281, 284, 286–291, 303–310, 323–335, 337–340
         as ratio cognoscendi of freedom, 314, 323
         awareness of being bound by, 272, 280, 314–315, 323–324, 333 moral and practical, distinction
             between, 271, 273, 279, 286, 290–291, 303–304, 331, 339
         practical, 271–273, 279, 281, 286–287, 289–290, 293–295,
             299, 303–304, 311, 314–320, 322, 330–332, 334, 339

- lawgiving, 306, 308–309
  - external, 334–339
  - internal, 334–340
- logic, transcendental, 271
- love, 277, 282–283, 285, 314, 322, 324, 335
  - self, 319, 328
- lust and gallows example, 323–324
- matter, 271, 316–319
- maxims, 271, 275, 280–282, 285–289, 293–299, 302–303, 306, 315–320, 334
- morality
  - deontic conception of, 269, 273–274, 278–288, 290, 293, 301, 307, 308–311, 314–315, 318, 320–340
  - deontic, normative
    - epiphenomenality of, 273, 280–281, 283–285, 309, 333
  - foundations of, a priori, 279
  - supreme principle of. See Kant, Immanuel: Imperative, categorical
- nature, laws of, 66, 127, 272, 278, 288–289, 311
- necessitation, 273–274, 280–281, 283–285, 289–290, 302–304, 307, 309, 314, 325, 329–331, 334–340
  - necessity, inner, 289–290
  - necessity, natural, 289, 292
- obligation, 153, 273–274, 278, 281, 283–287, 290, 293, 314, 324–325, 330–333, 335–337
  - authoring of, 302–303
- narrow and wide. See Kant, Immanuel: duty: perfect and imperfect, distinction between
- ought
  - narrow and wide scope readings, 291–292
- principles, material, 314–320
- principles, material and formal, distinction between, 271, 294
- prudence, 281, 292–293, 320
- prudent shopkeeper example, 281
- racism, 12–13, 340–342
- rational egoist example, 297–298
- rationalism, 10, 269–272
  - critique of earlier rationalists, 270, 272, 320
- realm of ends. See kingdom of ends
- reason, objective law of, 284–286, 290
- reason, practical, critique of, 272, 270–274, 276, 279–280, 284, 288, 294, 307–309, 314–323, 333
- reason, pure practical, 208, 271–274, 276, 278–281, 283–284, 287–290, 301, 309, 314–315, 317–318, 322, 325–326, 330–334
  - fundamental law of, 273, 315, 317–318, 322, 332
  - synthetic use of, 279, 288
- reason, pure, antinomies and paralogisms of, 270
- reciprocity thesis, 280, 288, 322
- respect, 283–285, 290, 299–303, 314, 325–330
  - and humiliation, 328–329
  - appraisal, 307–308, 327–329
  - as a priori feeling, 326
  - as phenomenal feeling, 273–274
  - in relation to dignity, 300, 306–308, 321
  - observantia, 307
  - recognition, 307–308, 326–328
  - reverentia, 307
- Revolution, Copernican, 270, 320
- right, the, 273, 287, 300–302, 306–308, 325, 330–339
- Right, Universal Principle of (UPR), 272, 301, 306, 337–338
- sciences, 278
- self-conceit, 203, 326, 328–329
- sexism, 12, 13, 340–342
- sociability, 276–277
- status, social, 326–329
- sympathy, 282
- thinking, form of, 270–271, 312
- thought, theoretical, 272, 310–314, 320

- Kant, Immanuel (cont.)
 truth, synthetic a priori, 318 value, priceable and dignity,
   distinction between, 306–308
 volition, objects of, 153, 271, 272, 276, 279, 308, 311, 317–319, 325
 will determining ground of the, 271, 316–319, 326 form of the, 271, 272, 312, 317, 319–320, 322, 325
   goodness of the, 280–286, 288, 290, 293, 307, 308, 320, 327, 329, 332
   and duty. See Kant, Immanuel:duty:good will hindrance, 339
   holy, 153, 290
   world, phenomenal, 284
   worth, moral, 142, 151, 206, 278, 280–284, 325, 329
- Kennett, Basil, 67
- Kierkegaard, Søren, 10
- Korsgaard, Christine, 300 agency, deliberative, 313 autonomy, appeal to, 321
   constructivism, 320–321
   normativity, source of, 8, 172, 201
- Kosch, Michelle, xiii
- Leibniz, Gottfried Wilhelm agency, free, 157–158 anti-positivism, 112–113
   beneficence, 163
   benevolence, 124, 152–157, 163, 166
   charity, 124, 152, 155
   compatibilism, 158
   complaint, reasons of, 161
   demands, 153, 160–162
   eudaimonism, 124, 156, 163
   God, 117, 152
     as creator, 157
     as exemplar, perfectly virtuous, 152 wise and benevolent nature of, 154–159
   Golden Rule, 160–161
   good, the, 152–159
     dependence of moral goodness on motives, 154
- Greatest Happiness Principle, 153, 156, 166
- harmonizer, as, 152
- in relation to
   Aquinas, Thomas, 155
   Cicero, Marcus Tullius, 156–157
   Clarke, Samuel, 157
   Cudworth, Ralph, 111–113, 152, 158
   Grotius, Hugo, 155–157, 163–164
   Locke, John, 158
   Pufendorf, Samuel von, 112–113,
     152, 154–155, 163
   Shaftesbury (Anthony Ashley Cooper, Third Earl of),
     111–113, 152–155
   Spinoza, Baruch, 111, 122, 124, 156
   judge, sentencing criminal, 162
   justice, 152–157, 159–164
     as “the charity of the wise,” 125, 152, 155, 156, 159, 161
     as balanced relationship between self-love and love of others, 159 as universal benevolence, 152–154 “Kingdom of Grace,” 157
   love, 152, 156, 163
   metaphysics, 152, 155, 157–158
     teleology, 158
   moral quality, twofold, 159 Naturalism, Aristotelian, 163
   necessity
     moral and metaphysical,
       distinction between, 157–158
     moral and natural, 124, 152, 153, 155, 159
   obligation and the right, 152–155, 158–164, 171
   “science of right,” 153, 155, 158–159 claim rights, 160
   modes of right, 155
   obligations, bipolar, 160
   precepts, deontic, 160–161
     equity, 163, 164
     piety, 160
   perfectionism, 153, 155–157
   pleasure as knowledge of perfection, 156 possibility, moral, 155

- rationalism, 270
 reciprocity, principle of. See Leibniz, Gottfried
     Wilhelm:obligation and the right:precepts, deontic:equity
 reductionism, 124
 respect, 153, 162, 163, 166
 sanctions, eternal, 157
 theodicy, 152
 “Universal Republic of Spirits,” 157
 utilitarianism, 153, 156, 162–163
 virtue, ethics of, 154–158, 163
 voluntarism, rejection of, 111–112, 152, 154–155, 248
 wisdom, 155–157
 Lloyd, Sharon, 54
 Locke, John, 10
     accountability, 90, 95, 98–100, 145, 148, 169–170, 239
     agency, 2, 98–100, 148, 158, 169–170, 261 archetypal and ectypal concepts,
     distinction between, 91, 97
     authority, divine, 91, 90–94, 98, 103, 129
     autonomy, 98–100, 112, 169–170
     believing and judging, distinction
     between, 137
     bonum honestum. See Good,
     common
     collective action problem, 93–95, 103
     debitum naturale, 98
     egoism, 150
     empiricism, 167, 174
     Epicureanism, 104
     eudaimonism, 169–170
     externalism, 90, 96–98, 100
     Golden Rule, 87
     good, common, 95
     good, the, and the right, 92–100 hedonism, rational egoistic, 91, 93–97, 100, 170
     imputation, 99
     in relation to Aristotle, 97
     Confucius, 97
     Cudworth, Ralph, 100, 111, 112, 136, 169–170
     Cumberland, Richard, 88–90
     Grotius, Hugo, 34, 88–91
     Hobbes, Thomas, 90, 98
     Hume, David, 90
     Hutcheson, Francis, 90
     Leibniz, Gottfried Wilhelm, 90
     Pufendorf, Samuel von, 88–92,
     95–100
     Shaftesbury (Anthony Ashley Cooper, Third Earl of), 90,
     111, 139–140, 169–170
     Suárez, Francisco, 93, 95, 97, 98
 internalism, 90, 96
 knowledge, three-fold division of logic and semantics, 97 natural philosophy (theoretical knowledge), 97
     practical knowledge, 97 ethics, 97–98
 law distinction between divine, civil, and law of “Opinion or Reputation,” 96
     natural, 88–89, 91–95, 97–100
 morality as science, 88, 91
 “morality,” use of word, 87
 motivation, moral, 95–98, 100
 naturalism, 89
 nominal and real essences,
     distinction between, 91
 obligation, 90, 95–96
 person, 2, 35, 87, 99
 property, 94
 punishment, 90, 93, 95, 96, 99
 sanctions, 91
     divine, 98, 91–100, 103, 141, 170
 scarcity, natural, 94
 self-determination. See Locke, John:autonomy souls, immortality of, 93–94 utility, 92
 voluntarism, theological, 111, 117
 will, 96, 260
     divine, 103
     freedom of, 90, 98–100
 MacIntyre, Alasdair, 9
 Mandeville, Bernard, 173
 Marx, Karl, 341

- Masham, Damaris, 13, 111
 Mill, John Stuart, 8, 162, 177, 183, 197, 205, 229, 257
 Mills, Charles, 14
 Moore, G.E., 6–9
     egoism, refutation of, 107 fallacy, naturalistic, 209
     in relation to
         Butler, Joseph, 185
         Cumberland, Richard, 107
     supervenience, 245
     value, intrinsic, 122, 319

 Nadler, Steven, 121, 125
 Nietzsche, Friedrich, 3, 6–10
     in relation to Rousseau, Jean-Jacques, 274
         Spinoza, Baruch, 114, 115, 118–119, 121, 127
     morality, deontic, as illness, 115
     ressentiment, 118 unconscious, “dark workshop” of, 118 will to power, 121

 Oldenburg, Henry, 117

 Parfit, Derek, 6, 223
 Pashukanis, Evgeny, 341
 Paul the Apostle, 282–283
 Pettit, Philip, 267
 Plato, 4, 5, 127, 130, 134
     Socrates on justice, 4, 11, 16, 28, 217
 Platonists, Cambridge, 113, 139, 144, 173
 Plotinus, 130
 Price, Richard
     accountability, 250–251, 253–254, 256, 273
     agency, 251, 253–256, 273
     benevolence, instinctive and rational, distinction between, 254 capacity, moral, 253–254, 256
     fitness, 250–251, 253–257
     golden rule, 287
     ideas, normative, as indefinable, 239 ideas, simple, 209, 250
     in relation to Balguy, John, 250–252, 255–256, 274, 287
     Butler, Joseph, 253–257
     Clarke, Samuel, 237–239, 243, 247,
         250, 255–256, 273, 274, 287
     Cudworth, Ralph, 113, 252, 256
     Fordyce, David, 251
     Hobbes, Thomas, 287
     Hume, David, 251, 254, 255, 274
     Hutcheson, Francis, 251–252, 254, 257, 274
     Plato, 252
     Reid, Thomas, 237, 273
     Shaftesbury (Anthony Ashley
         Cooper, Third Earl of), 142
     Suárez, Francisco, 250
     internalism, motivational, 253–256
     intuitionism, 113, 252–253, 257, 263
     liberty, 253–254
     moral sense theory, rejection of, 251–252, 254, 258, 259
     morality
         as objective, necessary, and universally binding, 252–253
         deontic conception of, 113, 238–239, 251, 253–256, 258
     obligation, 242, 250–253, 256–258
         as indefinable, 250–253
     rationalism, 113, 229, 237–239, 250–258, 270
     reason, 250–258
         as the source of moral ideas, 251, 257, 258
         as the source of moral motivation, 238, 255–256
     Rectitude, 253–256
     self-determination through conscience, moral goodness
         as, 253–257 understanding, the, 251–253, 258
     virtue
         abstract and practical, distinction
             between, 256–257
         heads of, 257–258
 Prichard, H.A., 4–8, 219, 257
 Pufendorf, Samuel von
     accountability, 61–62, 67, 66–69, 71, 73, 80, 86, 91, 96, 164, 194, 202, 219, 239, 256, 309
     agency, 79, 82–86, 239, 256

- authority, divine, 62, 63, 65, 70, 76–82, 129
  - imposition of, 41, 42, 61, 62, 64, 66–72
- authority, mutual human, 76
- causes, moral, 68
- color analogy, 69
- compensation, 77, 78
- compulsion and obligation,
  - distinction between, 69, 75, 82–86, 91, 96
- conscience, 83
  - and shame, distinction between, 83–84
- consent, 81–82
- creation, divine, 66–67, 70, 72
- demands, authoritative, 62, 66
- dignity, equal human, 42, 62, 64, 68, 69, 74–76, 78, 79, 86, 234, 300
- effects, moral, 66–68, 75
- empiricism, 41
- entities, moral and physical, 65–67, 69, 72, 90
- esteem, 73–74, 76, 78–79
- goodness, natural, 69
- imputation, 62, 68–69
- in relation to
  - Grotius, Hugo, 38, 42–43, 62–65, 73, 78
  - Hobbes, Thomas, 41–43, 61, 65, 69, 83
  - Locke, John, 96
  - Suárez, Francisco, 62, 63
- injury, 74
- intercourse, 73–74, 83
- law, natural, 42, 62–65, 70–71, 73, 76–77
- “morality,” use of word, 87
- motivation, moral, 79–81, 84–86, 96
- nature, state of, 83
- necessity, moral, 155
- obligations and rights, 62, 68–70, 75–86, 239
  - bipolar, 64–66, 69, 70
  - mutual, 42, 74, 76, 86
  - natural, 160
  - perfect and imperfect, 62–64, 67, 71–73, 76–79, 81
  - to god, 42, 64, 67, 71, 76
  - violation of, 78
- pacts, 65, 66, 68, 79–81
- powers
  - natural, 68, 75, 83, 86
  - normative, 41–43, 62–75, 78–83, 86, 90
  - divine, 62, 83, 86
- promising, 65–66
- punishment, 77–78
- recognition, 61, 62
  - mutual, 62, 64, 67, 68, 72–73, 91
- sanctions, 66, 67, 69, 75, 77, 80, 83–86, 96
- self-defense, 76
- sociability, 22, 62–65, 71–75, 78–79, 83, 86, 91, 265, 268, 269, 274
- space, moral, 62, 66–67
- voluntarism, theological, 41, 62, 111, 117, 164
- war and peace, 42–43, 72, 74
- will, 67, 79, 80, 84–85
- Rawls, John, 9, 60, 116, 257
  - categorical Imperative Procedure, 294–299, 305, 320
  - constructivism, 320–321, 334
  - ignorance, veil of, 304–306
  - justice as fairness, 306, 331
  - justice, conditions of, 215
  - needs, true human, 305
  - nullifying and telishment example, 296–297
  - practice and summary conception of rules, 217
  - rational, the, 54
  - right, priority of, 331, 332
  - “self-originating source of valid claims,” 42, 300
- Raz, Joseph, 65
  - authority, theory of, 339–340
- Reid, Thomas
  - accountability, 260–262, 266–268, 273
  - agency, 259–262, 273
  - approbation, 263–265
  - attention, 261
  - benevolence, 261, 262
  - children, 266–268
  - cognitivism and noncognitivism, contrast between, 263–265

- Reid, Thomas (cont.)
 common sense, moral, 259
 conscience, 261–263
 conscience and self-regard,
     relationship between, 261–263
 deliberation, 261, 263
 empiricism, critique of, 259 faculty, moral, 259, 262 favor and injury, 265–266
 Golden Rule, 263
 gratitude, 265
 in relation to Balguy, John, 237
     Butler, Joseph, 259, 261–263
     Clarke, Samuel, 237, 273
     Cudworth, Ralph, 260, 261
     Fordyce, David, 258
     Grotius, Hugo, 265, 268
     Hume, David, 259, 263–267
     Hutcheson, Francis, 259, 261,
     263–265
     Kant, Immanuel, 260
     Locke, John, 260, 261
     Price, Richard, 237, 258–260, 263, 273 Pufendorf, Samuel von, 265, 268
     Smith, Adam, 265, 268
 incitements to the will and volition,
     distinction between, 260
 indignation, 265
 judgment, 259, 261–265
 justice, 260, 262, 265–268
 mind, power of, moral, 258–259, 262
 obligation, 259–263, 265–268
 power, active, 259–263
 promising, 266–268
 prudence, 260, 262–263
 purpose, fixed. see resolution rationalist/sentimentalist debate, reluctance to enter into, 237, 259 resolution, 260–261
 self-condemnation, 261–262
 self-determination. see reid,
     thomas:self-government,
     capacity of self-government, capacity of, 259–263
 self-love. see conscience and self-regard,
     relationship between
 sense, moral, 258–259
 sentimentalism, empiricist, rejection of, 263–265
 sociality, 265–269
 subjectivism, rejection of, 259, 264–265
 testimony, 267
 the animal, the mechanical, and the rational, distinction between, 260 trust and trustworthiness, 268
 virtue
     and the right, 259–262
     as conscientious conduct, 259–262
 will, 260–262
 Ripstein, Arthur, 336
 Ross, W.D., 185, 208, 247, 257, 258
 Rousseau, Jean-Jacques
     Amour de soi, 277
     Amour propre, 277–278
     association, political society as, 269, 274–275, 304
     contract, social, 274–277
     dignity, equal human, 269, 274, 277–278, 300, 308
     freedom, 274–278
     common, 275–276
     moral, 275–276, 278
     in relation to Grotius, Hugo, 269, 274, 277, 278
     Locke, John, 100
     Pufendorf, Samuel von, 269, 274
     Reid, Thomas, 269
     Smith, Adam, 269
 law, 274–278
 slavery, 275–276
 sociability, 269, 274, 276–277
 will, general, 274–277
     as compared with the “will of all,” 275
 Saint Augustine, 124
 Scanlon, T.M., 38
     reasonable, the, 54

- Schapiro, Tamar, 313
 Schneewind, J.B., 16, 152, 154, 163–164
 Seneca, 21
 Shaftesbury (Anthony Ashley Cooper, Third Earl of)
   accountability, 146
   “advice to authors,” 147, 149
   aestheticism, 142–145
   affections, 141–147
     degrees of, 142
   agency, 151, 169–170
   anti-positivism, 112–113
   autonomy, 169–170, see Shaftesbury, Anthony Ashley Cooper, Third Earl of:
     self-determination, self-critical beauty, see Shaftesbury, Anthony Ashley Cooper:
     third earl of:
       goodness:as beauty
       of:
         goodness:as beauty
   benevolence, 142, 151, 180
   deontic conception of morality, absence of, 140–141
   desires, “sly” and “insinuating,” 148–150
   education, liberal, 143 egoism, rational, 147, 150
   enthusiasm, noble, 144
   eudaimonism, 141, 147, 151, 173, 181, 180
   God as unifying creative mind, 144
   goodness, 113, 141–145
     as beauty, 142–145
       first order of, 145
     as natural, 141–143, 151
   hedonism, rejection of, 150
   honesty, 149
   ignorance, motivated, 148–149
   in relation to
     Butler, Joseph, 238
     Cudworth, Ralph, 111–113, 139– 140, 144–148, 150, 151, 169–170
     Cumberland, Richard, 89
     Descartes, René, 146, 147
     Epictetus, 146, 147
     Hobbes, Thomas, 139
     Leibniz, Gottfried Wilhelm, 111
     Locke, John, 100, 112–113, 138–140,
       145–148, 150–151, 169–170
     Locke, John, 152
     Mandeville, Bernard, 173
     Platonists, Cambridge, 173
     Spinoza, Baruch, 111, 115, 122, 124
     Suárez, Francisco, 141, 146
     Whichcote, Benjamin, 113 inspiration, 144–145 inspiring disease, 149 interest, public, 141, 143, 145
   love, 112, 142, 151
   mind, 142, 144–146
   natural order, teleology of, 141–145, 151
   Naturalism, Aristotelian. See Shaftesbury (Anthony Ashley Cooper, Third Earl of):
       eudaimonism
   obligation to virtue, 89, 140–141, 146–147, 171, 173, 180, 181, 213, 228, 240
   powers, creative and practical, 113 psyche as system, 147
   rationalism, 144
   reductionism, 181, 182
   self, the, 140
   self-converse. see Shaftesbury, (Anthony Ashley Cooper, Third Earl of):
     soliloquy
   self-determination, self-critical, 142, 145–151, 165, 180, 238
   self-government, 150–151
   self-love, 142
   sense, moral, 113, 140, 142–145, 151, 173, 181
   sentimentalism, 124
   soliloquy, 147–151
   systems, scorn of, 140
   taste, cultivated, 143
   theism, 144
   therapy, self-analytic reality, 148
   virtue, 140–148
     as intrinsic good, 151
     ethics of, 113, 140–142, 151, 173, 177
   voluntarism, rejection of, 111, 112, 139, 151, 152
   will, 151
 Shelby, Tommie, 14
 Sidgwick, Henry, 161, 185, 197, 257 ancient and modern ethics, contrast
     between, 4–7, 11–12, 19–20, 24–25, 28, 30, 62, 101, 151, 170, 200, 204, 217, 330–332

- Sidgwick, Henry (cont.)
 benevolence, rational, principle of, 107 “good from the point of view of the universe,” 122
 in relation to
   Butler, Joseph, 168, 184, 186, 189, 200
   Cumberland, Richard, 101, 107, 168, 184
   Hutcheson, Francis, 168, 184, 204
   Shaftesbury (Anthony Ashley Cooper, Third Earl of), 140 “ought,” irreducibility of, 209 reason, practical, dualism of, 168, 182, 184, 186
 utilitarianism, 162
- Slote, Michael, 9
- Smith, Adam
 accountability, 202–203, 221, 233–234, 236, 268
 Adam Smith Problem, 202 adoption and approval of mental states, 225–226
 autonomy, 221–222, 229
 benevolence, 229
 condolence, 227
 dignity, equal human, 202–203, 233–236, 300
 economics, 202, 234
 empiricism, 201, 231
 Enlightenment, Scottish, 201
 expressivism, 231
 fellow-feeling, 202, 225, 226, 231
 fittingness. see smith, adam:propriety
 gratitude, 231, 265
 hand, invisible, 202
 in relation to
   Balguy, John, 229, 237–238
   Butler, Joseph, 184, 221–222, 229, 234, 238
   Clarke, Samuel, 229, 237–238, 243–244
   Grotius, Hugo, 233
   Hume, David, 201–203, 220–224, 227–238
   Hutcheson, Francis, 201, 221–24, 227–230, 232, 234, 237
   Price, Richard, 229, 237–238
   Rousseau, Jean-Jacques, 235
   Shaftesbury (Anthony Ashley Cooper, Third Earl of), 147, 222, 228, 234, 238
 inductivism, 229
 judgment, aesthetic, 230–231
 justice, 221, 231–234, 265, 268
 magnanimity, 235
 merit and demerit, judgments of, 231–232 person outside society example, 230
 projection, imaginative, 202, 221–233
   epistemic function, 225–226 normative function, 222–223, 225–229
 projectivism, 231
 propriety, 202, 221–236, 243
 prudence, 229
 punishment and reward, 231–234
 psychology, moral, 202
 rationalism, rejection of, 201
 resentment, 221, 231–234, 265
 respect, 202–203, 234–236
 self-command, 222, 234–236, 238
   excellent exercise as perfect virtue, 222 self-government. see smith, adam:self-command
 self-love, 234, 235
 sentimentalism, 201, 202, 230, 237–239, 244–246
 simulation, 224
 situation, 202, 223–230, 244
 slavery, 235
 sociability, 269
 spectator, impartial, 202, 227–228, 232–233, 235
 sympathy, 202, 224–225, 227–231
 virtue, 222
   amiable and respectable, distinction between, 234–236
   ethics of, 228–231
- Smith, Michael, 201, 206, 209, 267
- Spinoza, Baruch
 accountability, 117–118
 action, 117–118
 activity, 121, 125
 Amsterdam, Portuguese Jewish, 116, 126
 atheism, 116

- badness as privation, 118, 119, 121
- bearing calmly, 123, 125–127
- blame, 118–119
- blessedness. see spinoza,
  - baruch:bearing calmly
- conatus, 115, 118–121
- consciousness, 114
- consequence, causal, 118
- demands, 123
- doctrine of free will, rejection of, 115
- duty. see spinoza, baruch:right, the
- Enlightenment, Radical, 116, 122
- eudaimonism*, perfectionist, 114, 119–128
- extension, 114
- fatalism, 117
- fear, motivation by, 118
- freedom, 114, 121, 125, 127
- God
  - as substance, 116–119
  - personal, rejection of, 115
- good, the, 118–126
  - apparent good and objective good, distinction between, 120–121
  - common, 114, 122, 124, 125
- happiness. see Spinoza,
  - Baruch:bearing calmly
- hate, 118–119, 126–127
- ignorance, 118
- in relation to
  - Aquinas, Thomas, 114
  - Aristotle, 114–115, 122
  - Cudworth, Ralph, 111, 117, 118
  - Descarte, René, 114
  - Hobbes, Thomas, 114, 119–120, 125, 126
  - Leibniz, Gottfried Wilhelm, 111, 117, 122, 124
  - Locke, John, 117
  - Pufendorf, Samuel von, 117, 118
  - Shaftesbury (Anthony Ashley Cooper, Third Earl of), 111, 122, 124
- indignation, 118, 126–127
- inquisition, the, 116
- intellect, 120, 126–127
- jealousy, 119
- joy, 126–127
- knowledge, 114, 120, 121, 125
- lens grinder, occupation as, 126
- liberalism, 116
- love, 118, 119, 126–127
- metaphysics, 116–118, 123
  - ethics as, 114–115
  - monism, 114, 122, 125
- morality, deontic, rejection of, 115–119
- nature, 113–126
  - human, model of, 121–122
- necessity, natural, 117–119, 123–124
- passions, 117–119
  - emotions, taxonomy of, 126–127
- perfection, 114–115, 119–126
- politics, democratic, 115–116, 125
- power, 118, 121, 122, 125, 126
- projectivism, 119–121
- reality, perfection as, 118
- reductionism, 121, 124–125
- remorse, 118
- repentance, 118
- right, the, 114, 122–125
- sadness, 119, 126–127
- sanctions, 117
- striving. see conatus
- virtue, 113–115, 121, 125
- voluntarism, rejection of, 111
- well-being, 114
- will, 120–121
  - appetites/desires and will/action, distinction between, 120
  - doctrine of free will, rejection of, 117–118, 127
- Stoics, 5, 11, 16, 28, 37
- Strawson, P.F.
  - attitudes, reactive, 30, 59, 196, 231, 239, 287
- Suárez, Francisco, 26
  - accountability, xii, 17–18, 164, 270
  - agency, xii
  - Bonum honestum*, 20, 92
  - eudaimonism*, 26, 30
  - externalism, 29
  - in relation to aquinas, thomas, 17, 19–20, 92
  - right, the, 68
  - law and counsel, xii, 8, 11, 17–19, 23, 29, 54, 141, 146, 155, 159, 164, 171, 181, 238, 250, 292–293

382

Suárez, Francisco (cont.)
    law, natural, 16–20, 26, 62, 63, 92
    Naturalism, Aristotelian, 19, 26
    voluntarism, 18–19, 24
    voluntarism, theological, 164
    will, 18

Thompson, Michael, 159 Tuck, Richard, 19, 31, 33, 63
Tyrell, James, 87

INDEX

Vázquez, Fernando, 32

Whichcote, Benjamin, 112, 113
Williams, Bernard, 3, 9, 165 morality system, critique of, 269
Wolff, Christian, 153, 270
Wollaston, William, 113, 237, 243
Wood, Allen, xiii, 300, 302

Yovel, Yirmiyahu, 116