

Contents

	List of tables	page ix
	Notes on contributors	xi
1	Remaking management: neither global nor national Brendan McSweeney, Chris Smith and Robert Fitzgerald	1
<hr/>
Part I	Conceptualising International and Comparative Management	17
	Preface: Dominance, diversity and the historical process in management practice Chris Smith, Brendan McSweeney and Robert Fitzgerald	19
2	Work organisation within a dynamic globalising context: a critique of national institutional analysis of the international firm and an alternative perspective Chris Smith	25
3	Cultural diversity within nations Brendan McSweeney	61
4	Business systems, institutions and economic development: the value of comparison and history Robert Fitzgerald	90
<hr/>
Part II	Systems in Transition	119
	Preface: System as same and different Brendan McSweeney	121

5	The post-socialist transformation and global process: knowledge and institution building in organisational settings Ed Clark	127
6	The diffusion of HRM practices from the United Kingdom to China Jos Gamble	156
7	Surviving through transplantation and cloning: the Swiss Migros hybrid, Migros-Türk Gül Berna Özcan	181
Part III Society as Open and Closed		207
	Preface: Society and comparative differences Robert Fitzgerald	209
8	Capitalism and Islam: Arab business groups and capital flows in south-east Asia Rajeswary Ampalavanar Brown	217
9	Challenges to the German theatrical employment system: how long-established institutions respond to globalisation forces Axel Haunschild	251
10	Between the global and the national: the industrial district concept in historical and comparative context Andrew Popp	271
11	Transnational learning and knowledge transfer: a comparative analysis of Japanese and US MNCs' overseas R&D laboratories Alice Lam	292
Part IV The Search for Global Standards		331
	Preface: Dominance, best practice and globalisation Chris Smith	333

12	The unravelling of manufacturing best-practice strategies Alan Pilkington	341
13	Policy transfer and institutional constraints: the diffusion of active labour market policies across Europe Michael Gold	358
14	Comparative management practices in international advertising agencies in the United Kingdom, Thailand and the United States Chris Hackley and Amy Rungpaka Tiwsakul	380
15	Corporate social responsibility in Europe: what role for organised labour? Axel Haunschild, Dirk Matten and Lutz Preuss	404
16	Can ‘German’ become ‘international’? Reactions to globalisation in two German MNCs Fiona Moore	428
	Index	459