

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-86548-7 - Post Walrasian Macroeconomics: Beyond the Dynamic Stochastic
General Equilibrium Model

Edited by David Colander

Index

More information

Index

- academic fashion, and monetary policy, 361–362
- ACE (agent-based computational economics) and game theories, 184 and ideal skills, 202 and interacting agents, 177–8 and normative understanding, 181–2 research, and empirical understanding, 180–1 and statistical validation, 187
- ACE methodology, and computational construction, 177, 179, 183
- ACE modeling, 11–12
- ACE models, and pedagogy, 201–2
- ACE Trading World and equilibrium, 191–6 an exposition, 191–3
and macro/micro relationship, 178–202
- adaptive approach, and coordination flexibility, 367
- AE/AP model, as framework for macroeconomics, 52–3
- agent interaction, and passive mediation, 176
- agent rationality, and multiple equilibria, 8
- agent-based approach, and uncertain outcomes, 234
- agent-based computation economics.
See ACE
- agent-based economics, and
A. Marshall, 31–2
- agent-based financial markets, and new approaches, 221
- agent-based markets, and simple objectives, 234
- agent-based modeling, and behavior rules, 78–9
- agent-based models compared to representative agent model, 231–2 and computer advances, 14–15 and current behavioral finance research, 222 described, 10–12
and dynamics of heterogeneity, 221 and impressive explanations, 234 and policy invariance, 79 and policy questions, 234 and single risky asset, 224–32, 233 and their versatility, 234
- agent-based simulations, and equilibrium issues, 45
- agents and autonomy, 182 table 3, 183 table 4, 184 table 5, 185–6, 205 and the central bank, 78–9 and choices, 126–8
and communication, 185
distributions of sizes, 161
and DSGE, 67
and equilibrium, 184–5

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-86548-7 - Post Walrasian Macroeconomics: Beyond the Dynamic Stochastic
General Equilibrium Model

Edited by David Colander

Index

More information

402

Index

- agents (cont.)
 exchangeable, 161
 and heterogeneity, 207–8
 and their information, 179, 180, 181, 182, 184 and information-poor environment, 69, 77 and interaction, 179, 180–1, 184–5, 187, 344 interacting in dynamic systems, 177 and interdependent choice, 161, 163–7, 168, 169 and their knowledge, xiv–xv and their lack of knowledge, 116, 123, 124–5 and learning process, 44 and their methods, 179, 184
 in multi-agent systems, 205–6 and necessity for correct models, xvii and optimal choice, 61 random partitions of sets, 161 range of identity, 177, 179, 184 and reasonable behavior, xiv as software entities, 179 and strategic complementarities, 335–6 and dealing with uncertainty, 71 agents, representative. See representative agent, 204, 207 agents' actions, and their beliefs, 136, 139–42, 143–6 choices, and RPE, 135–7 aggregate behavior, and non-rational choices, 233–4 aggregate economy, and mathematical structure, 4–5 aggregate effects, and direct interaction, xix–xx aggregate level, and loss aversion, 233 aggregate outcomes, and individuals, 249 aggregate phenomena, and social interaction, 98 alternative view, and four basic themes, xiv analytical macroeconomics, and MAS, 217–21 animal spirits and analysis of the future, 73–4 and social interactions, 111–12
 anthill theory and an economy, 347–8, 361–2 and Post Walrasian adaptive processes, 366–7 and Post Walrasian viewpoint, 347 and its rejection, 349
 Arrow-Debreu theory, xv–xvii asymmetric information, and Walrasian economics, 176 asymptotic methods, and conducting inference, 300
 Austrian economists and apriorism, 247
 and Keynesian models, 58 autonomy, of agents, 182 table 3, 183 table 4, 184 table 5, 185–6, 205 backward-looking behavior, and monetary policy, 359–61 Bayesian statistics, and model uncertainty, 121–2 β -convergence, income and growth, 117 behavioral finance, and rationality in economics, 232 behavioral heterogeneity, and dynamics, 221 bond rate, and stochastic trends, 326 bottom-up economics, and Post Walrasians, 81 bounded rationality, and its difficulties, 208 bubble economies, 28
 business cycle and the Great Depression, 114 and money movement, 41
 and social interactions, 111, 114
 and K. Wicksell, 32 business cycle analysis, and New Classicals, 66, 67 capital, and its marginal efficiency, 35
 Capital Asset Pricing Model.
See CAPM

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-86548-7 - Post Walrasian Macroeconomics: Beyond the Dynamic Stochastic
General Equilibrium Model

Edited by David Colander

Index

More information

- capital assets, and how they are valued, 73, 75, 79
- CAPM, 75–6
- causality, theoretical/empirical treatment, 312
- CEE (consistent expectations equilibrium), and stochastic process, 145–6
- central bankers and interest rates, 76
and uncertainty, 70, 71, 78–9
- ceteris paribus* assumptions, and statistical inference, 301, 304, 330
- choice, dependent and independent, 164, 168
- circular flow, and ACE modeling, 190–1
- classical economists, and treatment of uncertainty, 71–4
- Classical thought, and complex macroeconomy, 47–50
- classification, 15–21, 15–16, 16–22
- cluster effects. See combinatorial effects
- clusters of agents, non-homogeneous, 169–70
- cobweb model, 149–52
- cointegrated approach. See VAR approach
- collusion, and Walrasian economics, 176
- combinatorial effects and Japanese economy, 162, 167–8, 169 and Post Walrasian economics, 161–9, 170
- communication and agents, 185
macroeconomists and econometricians, 258–9
- complementarity and incentives to behave like others, 101–2, 109 and social forces, 108
- complex adaptive system and its characteristics, 178–9
and Post Walrasians, 82
- complex dynamical systems, and present-day versatility, 44–5
- complex system, and its characteristics, 178
- complexity and economics' tools, 14–15 and MAS economy, 212
and Post Walrasian work, 47–9
- complexity, and Santa Fe, 9
- computational models, and multi-agents, 207–8
- computational power, and micro/macro linkages, 205
- computer generation, and games, 89
- computer power, and MAS macromodels, 220
- consistent expectations equilibrium. See CEE
- constrained optimization, and economic agents, 28–31
- consumer dollars, rivalry for, 197–8
- consumption, as function of current income, 35
- coordination and its complexity, 7–9 and Great Depression, 348 and the market, 34
and rational expectations, 349–50
and U.S. economy, 347
- coordination failure, 336
and government intervention, 346
and Walrasian economics, 176
- coordination games and coordination failure, 336–7
and government intervention, 338
and multiple equilibria, 336, 337–40
and number of players, 337
- Cowles Commission and apriorism, 247 and causal structures, 240 and distinguishing models, 260 and experimentation, 259 and identifiability tests, 281–2 and structural equation systems, 279 and theoretical knowledge, 240 and Walrasian apriorism, 247 and wrong notions, 286

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-86548-7 - Post Walrasian Macroeconomics: Beyond the Dynamic Stochastic
General Equilibrium Model

Edited by David Colander

Index

More information

404

Index

- cross-country growth regression
 - and control variables, 117, 121
 - and its problems, 108–9
- culture, and cross-country growth differences, 108–9
- data, cointegrated but nonstationary, 260, 262
- decision theory, and psychological games, 90
- designing good policies, and exploiting natural experiment, 275–6
- destabilizing the economy, and inflation, 356
- direct interaction among individuals, xiv
- direct interaction,
 - among agents, xiv, xix
 - among individuals, basic theme of alternative view, xiv
- distributive justice, and monetary theory, 27
- DSGE (Dynamic Stochastic General Equilibrium)
 - and aggregation problem, xiii
 - and CAPM, 75, 76
 - and designing good policies, 275–6
 - and model's problematic results, xx
 - and the macroeconomic problem, 67
 - and the New Synthesis, 67–8, 70
 - and ordinary difference equations, 285
 - and simplicity, 161, 162
 - and social interactions, 111
 - and uncertainty, 75, 76–7, 79
 - and VARs, 68
 - and Walrasian question, 4–7
- DSGE model
 - and Gaussian maximum likelihood, 287
 - and state space models, 287–90
- dynamic models, and optimizing behavior, 232–3
- dynamic stochastic general equilibrium. See DSGE.
- dynamics, and adaptive processes, 28–30, 32, 36, 37
- econometric analysis, and principles of good practice, 301
- econometric models, and Post Walrasians, 93
- econometrics
 - and combining with rational expectations, 259
 - and development in 1940s, 52
 - and model uncertainty, 117
 - and social interactions models, 103–8
 - and statistical models, 287
 - and the theory of design, 240–1
 - and the theory of errors, 240–1
- economic agents
 - and Alfred Marshall, 31–2
 - and constrained optimization, 28–31
- economic reality
 - and identifiability, 279, 281
 - and intuition, 278
 - and mathematical puzzles, 278
- economic systems, and how to understand them, 182–3
- economic theory, and identifying assumptions, 279
- economy organization, and the anthill, 347–8
- econophysicists, and MAS macromodels, 220
- econophysics, and power laws, 223–4
- Ellsberg Paradox, and model uncertainty, 125–6
- emergence, in a MAS economy, 213, 220
- empirical behavior, and inadequate theory model, 326–9
- empirical understanding, and ACE research, 180–1
- endogenous, distinguished from exogenous, 306–7
- endogenous effects, and how the group affects the individual, 99
- equilibrium
 - in ACE trading world, 191–6
 - and agents, 18, 40, 185
 - alternative notion of, xvii–xx
 - and Arrow-Debreu, xvi
 - convergence on, xviii–xxx

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-86548-7 - Post Walrasian Macroeconomics: Beyond the Dynamic Stochastic
General Equilibrium Model

Edited by David Colander

Index

More information

- in economy in continual movement, xiv
- and full employment, 32
- and heterogeneity, 148–52
- and information, xvi–xvii
- and necessary information, xvi–xvii
- equilibrium point, and its different definitions, 310–12
- equity premium, and volatility, 224
- exchange rate targeting, and monetary policy, 361–2
- exogenous effects, and how the individual affects the group, 99
- expansionary monetary policy, and success despite academic theory, 362
- expectation formation
 - and model uncertainty, 122–3, 124–5
 - and Walrasian economics, 176
- expectations
 - and Post Walrasian theory, 358
 - and strategic complementarities, 335–6
 - and variations in inflation hypotheses, 318–21
 - versus wait-and-see, 358–60
- experimental economics, and coordination games, 337
- experimental games, and bad outcomes, 88
- externalities, and Walrasian economics, 176
- fashions, and strategic complementarities, 335
- Federal Reserve, and model uncertainty, 123
- field data, and Post Walrasian research, 91
- financial market, and model uncertainty, 123–5
- financial markets
 - and behavioral results, 221
 - and empirical questions, 234
 - and intuitive sense for functioning of real markets, 221
- fiscal policy, and monetary support, 54–7
- financial time series, and financial prices, 222
- fiscal policy debate, and Keynesian revolution, 53–4
- Fisher, Irving, and distributive justice, 27
- fluctuations, and social interactions, 111
- forecasting
 - and complicated dynamics, xvii–xviii, xviii–xxi
 - and Walrasians, 7
- free riders,
 - and “fifteen small societies” project, 91
 - and natural selection, 88
 - and their punishment, 85
- frequentists, and model uncertainty, 121–2
- Friedman, Milton
 - and money supply as sole stabilizing factor, 348–9
 - policymakers’ uncertainty, 348
- full employment
 - and Alfred Marshall, 32, 33
 - full employment, and interest rate targeting, 356
 - and IS–LM, 357–8
 - and J.M. Keynes, 32–4, 36, 42
 - and monetary policy, 356
- future, macroeconomics of, xx–xxi
- game theories, and ACE, 184
- game theory
 - in multi-agent systems, 205–6
 - stochastic, 90–1
- games
 - and computer generation, 89
 - coordination. See coordination games
 - public goods, 83–84
 - theory of, 89–90
- Gaussian maximum likelihood, and economic models, 285, 291–5, 300

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-86548-7 - Post Walrasian Macroeconomics: Beyond the Dynamic Stochastic
General Equilibrium Model

Edited by David Colander

Index

More information

406

Index

- GDP, and foreign exchange trading volume, 224
- general equilibrium theory, and market-mediated interdependences, 97 and Léon Walras, 51
- The General Theory*, and the book's influence, 50–2
- general-to-specific analysis, and macroeconomic data, 301, 302, 329–30
- goal-direction, 178
- government intervention and confidence-building, 340 and coordination failures, 346 and coordination games, 338–47
and identification problem, 335–6, 346 when less is better than more, 360–1
and multiple equilibria, 337–41, 346
and optimization problem, 340–1
and strategic complementarities, 335–6, 337–44
- government policy
and identification problem, 344–5
and multiple equilibria, 335–6, 337–41, 346
- Great Depression and coordination breakdown, 347 and government policy, 345–6
and laissez-faire, 53
and social interactions, 114
and stability, 32, 34, 35, 114
- group, groups also see social interaction
- group behavior, related to individual decisions, 100–1
- group effects, unobserved, 105–8
- groups, membership in, 99
- Hangman's Paradox, and decision theory, 90
- heterogeneity, behavioral, 221
- history of economics, structure of, 27
- ideal model, and zero errors, 243
- identifiability and its abandonment, 281–3, 286 and economic reality, 286
- identifiability tests, and Cowles Commission, 281
- identification and data generated by rational expectations, 266 and exclusion of variables, 243–4
and government policy, 344–5 and multiple policy regimes, 273–4 and single-policy regimes, 273 and sound macroeconomic principles, 270–4 and technological complementarities, 342–4
- identification problems, and socioeconomic data, 103, 107, 108
- identifying assumptions, and econometrics, 278–9
- IGE (intertemporal general equilibrium theory)
and Irving Fisher, 27–9
as intellectual trap, 44
- income inequality, and social interactions, 114–15
- increasing returns, and Austrian economics, 28–9
- increasing returns to scale, and aggregate fluctuations, 111
- incorrect inference, and DSGE models, 287
- indeterminacy, and nonfundamental shocks, 268–70
- individual decisions and baseline model, 100 factors in modeling, 99 and maximizing payoff function, 100 related to group behavior, 100
- industrialization, and contributing forces, 109–10
- inefficiencies, and strategic complementarities, 335–6
- inflation and constant monetary growth rate, 356–7 and credible inflation targeting, 68 and the interest rate, 327–9
and model uncertainty, 123–5

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-86548-7 - Post Walrasian Macroeconomics: Beyond the Dynamic Stochastic
General Equilibrium Model

Edited by David Colander

Index

More information

- and money growth/productivity growth, 303–5, 330
- and nominal interest rates, 40–41
- and real rate of interest, 350–4
- and shocks, 308–10
- and tradeoff with unemployment, 61
- inflation hypotheses, and role of various expectations, 318–23, 330
- inflation rate, and cointegration with interest rates, 326
- inflation targeting
 - and coordinating individual decisions, 6
 - in Japanese economy, 167
 - and learning from experience, 365–6
 - and its success, 362–7
 - and monetary policy, 361–2
 - and politicians, 365
 - and its success, 362–7
- information effects, and social interaction, 99–100
- information
 - and continual adaptation, 234
 - and equilibrium, xvi–xvii
 - what kind is it, xvii
 - limited, 116, 176
 - perfect/less than perfect, 4, 5
 - how it is processed, xiv, xv, xvi, xvii, 7–8
 - and rational expectations, 141
 - who has it, xiv, xi
- information effects, and social interaction, 99–100
- information-poor environments, and agents, 77
- instability
 - and New Keynesian model variant, 354–6
 - and Post Walrasian theory, 358
- instability analysis, and rational expectations, 351–4
- institutions, and economic progress, 176–7
- integration of coefficients, and theoretical/empirical interpretation, 312
- intention, and Post Walrasians, 89–90
- interaction, and aggregate phenomena, 98
- interaction, and its categories, 82–3
- interaction, and computer-enabled representation, 209
- interaction, and general equilibrium theory, 97
- interaction, and identification of parameters, 342, 346
- interaction, and Post Walrasian man, 82–3
- interactions, complex, 180 table 1, 181 table 2, 182 table 3, 183 table 4,
- interactive agent behavior, and aggregation, xix–xx
- interdependency of agents, 163–7, 168–9
- interest
 - and liquidity preference, 37
 - and loanable funds, 37
- interest rate, and inflation, 327–9, 350–4
- interest rate targeting, and full employment, 356
- interest rates, and central bankers, 76
- international capital markets, and domestic macroeconomy, 328–9
- internet packet traffic, and 224 trading volume mechanisms, 224
- intertemporal decision, 61
- IS curve
 - and model uncertainty, 130
 - and New Keynesian model variant, 355–6
- IS–LM
 - its benefits and limitations, 37
 - and coordination problem, 59
 - and full employment, 357–8
 - and, and J.M. Keynes' equilibrium model, 36, 37, 51–2
 - and monetarism, 58
 - and monetarist controversy, 39, 53–4
- its persistence, 42
 - and Phillips curve, 60
 - and uncertainty, 58

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-86548-7 - Post Walrasian Macroeconomics: Beyond the Dynamic Stochastic
General Equilibrium Model

Edited by David Colander

Index

More information

408

Index

- Japan
 - and its economy in the 1990s, 162–8
 - and liquidity trap, 162–3
- Keynes, J.M.
 - and decisionmakers' uncertainty, 348
- and The General Theory, 50–2
 - and stabilizing systems, 348–9
 - and the macroeconomic problem, 62–3
- Keynesian demand, and disequilibrium, 62
- Keynesian macro model, and macroanalysis, 52
- Keynesians, and their diversity, 57–9
- kurtosis
 - and financial markets, 223
 - and heterogeneity, 221
- labor force participation, and social interactions, 111
- laboratory work, and Post Walrasian man, 83–92
- laissez-faire, and economic policy, 53
- language, and strategic complementarities, 335
- large moves, and heterogeneity, 221
- law of large numbers, and heterogeneity, 221–2
- laws of motion
 - and learning models, 89
 - and science of handling uncertainty, 72
- learning
 - and agents, 184
 - and economic life, 82
 - and macroeconomic models, 198
 - and model uncertainty, 124–5
 - mutual, 176
 - process in macroeconomics, 44
 - and rational expectations, 122–3, 124–5
 - by theorists from practitioners, 362–4
 - learning, and dealing with the unknown, 139, 140
 - learning process, and fluctuations in expectations, 360–1
 - liquidity, and monetary policy, 361–2
 - liquidity preference, and interest, 37
 - liquidity rate, and inflation rate, 326–7
 - liquidity trap, and Japanese economy, 162–3
 - loanable funds theory, and interest, 37
 - long memory process, and time series, 224
 - long-term economic growth, and social interactions models, 108–10
 - Lucas critique,
 - and cross-equation restrictions, 259
 - and intentional agents, 240–1
 - and linear rational expectations models, 265–6
 - Lucas model, 152–5
 - macroeconometrics
 - and microeconomics, 278
 - and synthetic microanalysis, 251–7
 - macroeconomic catastrophes, and the social order, 36
 - macroeconomic models,
 - and agent independence, 161
 - and their weaknesses, xiii
 - macroeconomic time series data, and repeated observations, 240
 - macroeconomic/microeconomic relationship, and Leon Walras, 172–7
 - macroeconomics,
 - and identifying its problem, 245–8
 - its theoretical and applied branches, 1–2
 - macroeconomists
 - and relevant empirical evidence, 247
 - and what they know, 347
 - macroeconomy, construction of, 196
 - macropolicy, its meaning, 35
 - marginal physical productivity, and colony behavior, 208–9
 - market crashes, and heterogeneity, 221
 - market power, and Walrasian economics, 176
 - markets, and solving the uncertainty problem, 76

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-86548-7 - Post Walrasian Macroeconomics: Beyond the Dynamic Stochastic
General Equilibrium Model

Edited by David Colander

Index

More information

- Marshall, Alfred
and methodological approach, 51
compared to Walras, 44–5
- Marshallian econometrics, and how to do it, 239
- Marshallian methodology, and Walrasian theory, 256–7
- MAS (multi-agent systems), and analytical macroeconomics, 217–21 large scale, 206–10, 214–15 small scale, 206
- MAS macro model and its artificial inhabitants, 210–15 and its development, 220 and its relevance, 216–18
- mathematics, and theoretical macro, 168
- ME (misspecification equilibrium) and best-performing models, 137 and underparametrized forecasting models, 146–59
- methodology, and its advancement of understanding, 183
- micro/macro gulf, and its existence, 250, 256–7
- micro/macro links, emergent, 204–5, 212–13, 216
- microeconomic theory, and macroeconomic theory, 1–2
- microfoundations and archaeology, 248–9 and computational power, 203 and engineering, 248 and its health, 81, 84
and macro issues, 29–31, 90, 111, 112, 114–15 and macroeconomics, 207, 248, 249
and Phillips curve, 60–61
and the representative agent, 204, 207
- microfoundations, of macroeconomics, 196, 203
- microfoundations of economics, and quantum physics, 249–50
- micro-irrationality, and aggregate financial prices, 233
- microtheoretical basis, and macroeconomics, 245
- minimax preferences, and model uncertainty, 126–8
- misspecification and inability to detect, 136, 142–4 and Keynesian econometric models, 266 of models, 136, 144, 146, 290–1, 300 and optimal monetary policy, 148, 158–9
and RPE, 136–7, 142–4
of structural parameters, 259–60
- misspecification equilibrium. See ME
- misspecified models and coordinating incentive, 154 and model averaging results, 122
- model also see model space, model uncertainty modeling models cobweb, 149–52
as framework for macroeconomics, 52–3, 54
Harold/Domar, 57 of individual optimization, 52
Lucas, 152–5
random walk, 164
Solow growth, 57, 70
Walrasian type, 57
- model space
fixed and evolving, 122 and information, 116–17 and models local to baseline, 116
- model uncertainty also see uncertainty.
and behavior, 116–18 and Ellsberg Paradox, 125–6
and econometrics, 117
and expectations formation, 122–3, 124–5 and the financial market, 123–5 and learning, 124–5
and macroeconomics theory, 118, 120–28 and policy evaluation, 118, 128–34 and policymaking, 128–34 and preferences, 126–8 and total uncertainty, 118–22 and unobserved variables, 118

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-86548-7 - Post Walrasian Macroeconomics: Beyond the Dynamic Stochastic
General Equilibrium Model

Edited by David Colander

Index

More information

410

Index

- modeling
 - uses for ACE, 200–1
 - agent-based, xx–xxi
 - and individual decisions, 100
 - and its limitations in early macro work, 49–51
- models
 - and credible identifying restrictions, 260
 - game-theoretic, 80, 83
 - and Keynesian/monetarist debate, 57
 - linear rational expectations, 265–6
 - misperceived, 144
 - multiplier accelerator, 354, 356
 - nonlinear, 145
 - and robustness, 117
 - and self-confirming equilibrium, 144–6
 - of social interaction, 97–115
 - and teaching, 52
 - and testability, xiv, 12–1
 - and testable conclusions, xiv
 - true, 116
 - Walrasian, 187–90
- modern macro debate, and suitable terminology, 15–21, 15–16, 16–22
- modern macroeconomics, and Robert Lucas, 249
- monetarism, 28
 - and the monetarist controversy, 39–41, 45
 - and monetary policy, 361–2
 - and Robert Lucas, 43
- monetarists,
 - and their diversity, 57–9
 - and neoclassicals, 54–7
- monetary growth rate, and inflation, 356–7
- monetary policy
 - and backward-looking behavior, 359–60
 - and full employment, 356
 - and the growth rate of output, 354–6
 - and liquidity, 361
 - and misspecification, 148, 155–9
 - and monetarism, 361
 - and natural rate of unemployment, 360–61
 - and Post Walrasian approach, 71
 - and NeoClassical/NeoKeynesian debate, 53–7
 - and Post Walrasian viewpoint, 347
 - practiced in advance of monetary theory, 362–5
 - and rational expectations equilibrium, 355, 359–60
 - and systemic stability, 367
 - and theory of less intervention, 360–1
 - and uncertainty, 348
 - what is a good one?, 266–73
- monetary theory
 - and Irving Fisher, 27
 - monetary theory, and relation to policy, 361–2
 - and Kurt Wicksell, 27
- money, and strategic complementarities, 335, 336
- money demand
 - and motives for holding money, 305
 - and VAR analysis, 321–6
- money supply, in Japanese economy, 167
- multi-agent systems. See MAS,
- multiple equilibria
 - and complementarity, 101–2
 - and coordination games, 336, 337–41
 - and government intervention, 337–8, 341, 346
 - and government policy, 335–6, 337–41, 344–6
 - and Lucas model, 152–5
 - and uncertainty, 166–7, 168
- multiplier analysis, and Keynes' role, 49, 53–4
- multipliers, social, 102
- NAIRU (natural rate of unemployment), 34–5, 41–2
 - how is it achieved, 41–2
 - and Milton Friedman, xv, 41–2
 - and full employment equilibrium, 43
 - and monetary policy, 360–1
 - and Say's Law, 42

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-86548-7 - Post Walrasian Macroeconomics: Beyond the Dynamic Stochastic
General Equilibrium Model

Edited by David Colander

Index

More informationIndex

411

- neoclassical economics, original, 44
- neoclassical synthesis, its evolution, 37–8, 43–4, 45
- neoclassical theory, and its shifting foundations, 28–31
- NeoClassical/NeoKeynesian synthesis, 47, 53–60
- neoKeynesian synthesis model, 6, 14, 37–8
- network effects, and model bias, 209
- new classical macroeconomists, and Walrasian theory, 245, 247–8
- New Classical revolution
 - comparative to intertemporal, 60
 - and its origins, 63–8
 - and Post Walrasian work, 47
- New Classical work
 - and DSGE, 5
 - and its elements, 65–7
- New Keynesian economics, and contracts, 62–3
- New Keynesian model variant, and instability, 354–6
- New Keynesian work, and DSGE, 5
- New Synthesis
 - and clarity, 14
 - and its components, 70
 - and DSGE, 67–8
- Newcomb's Paradox, and decision theory, 90
- nonlinear models, and bounding the stochastic state, 145–6
- normative understanding, and good economic designs, 181–2
- objective models, and confrontation with real-world data, 367
- optimization problem, and government policy, 340–1
- output growth, and monetary policy, 354–6
- partial equilibrium, and Alfred Marshall, 51
- path dependence, static model/ stochastic model concepts, 313
- peer effects, and social interaction, 99–100, 109
- perceived law of motion. See PLM,
- persistence, of volatility, 223
- Phillips curve
 - and backward-looking behavior, 359–61
 - and excessive inflation, 144
 - and model uncertainty, 136
 - and New Classical revolution, 60–61
 - and New Keynesian model variant, 355–6
- PLM (perceived law of motion), and forecasting models, 142–4
- policy
 - and dynamics, xx, 4–7
 - and monetary theory, 361–2
 - its role, 53
 - and stabilizing mechanisms, 348–9
- policy intervention, Post Walrasian role, 78
- policy invariance, and agent-based models, 79
- policy shocks
 - and SVAR analysis, 245–6
 - and VARs, 260
- policymakers, and data analysis, 300
- policymaking, and model uncertainty, 128–34
- population genetics, and Post Walrasian economics, 161
- Post Walrasian
 - agenda, and its components, 16–23
 - approach compared to Classical approach, 13
 - basics, xiv, 12–17
 - econometric practice, 286
 - economics, and modeling money demand, 305
 - literature, and ever-shifting relationships, 350, 353
 - macro feasibility, 15
 - research program as alternative, 1
 - as term for new macro developments, 15–16
 - tool kit, 162, 171, 177, 178

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-86548-7 - Post Walrasian Macroeconomics: Beyond the Dynamic Stochastic
General Equilibrium Model

Edited by David Colander

Index

More information

412

Index

- Post Walrasian man, characteristics of, 80–82, 93
- Post Walrasian macro, and its development, 14–15
- Post Walrasian perspective, and monetary policy, 347
- Post Walrasian program, and stable economics, 256
- Post Walrasian success, and adaptive processes, 366–7
- Post Walrasian theory, and expected instability problem, 358
- Post Walrasian thought, and anthill viewpoint, 347
- Post Walrasian uncertainty, and technology, 78
- Post Walrasian work, and how agents operate, 69
- Post Walrasians
 - and agent-based modeling, 78–9
 - and disciplined research, 80–81
 - and DSGE, 7
 - and intention, 89–90
 - and policy intervention, 78
 - and uncertainty, 76–9
- power laws, and econophysics, 223–4
- precautionary motive, for holding money, 305
- predation, and Walrasian economics, 176
- price level stabilization, 27
- price-setting, and strategic complementarities, 335–6
- pricing mechanism
 - and the real world, 198–9
 - and Walrasian Auctioneer, 176
- prisoner's dilemma, and Post Walrasian beliefs, 84–5
- production technology, and interaction of agents, 342–4
- public goods, and game theory, 83–4, 87, 88
- quantity theory
 - and endogenous determination, 28, 40–41
 - and exogenous determination, 28, 40–41
- and Irving Fisher, 27
- and macro issues, 47–50, 53, 54–5
- and monetarism, 58
- random fields models, and social interactions models, 101
- rational expectations
 - advantages and limitations, 135–6
 - and agents' knowledge, 64–7, 124–5
 - and aggregate expectation formation, 242
 - and CAPM, 75, 76
 - and challenge to, 116
 - and constraints of inflation targeting, 364–5
 - and coordination, 349–50
 - and DSGE, 67
 - and evasion of limited knowledge issue, 347
 - and expansionary monetary policy, 41–2, 43, 128–34
 - and forward-looking expectations, 259, 260
 - and instability analysis, 351–4
 - and learning, 122–3, 124–5, 198
 - and its merits, 259
 - and neoclassical economics, 43–4
 - and observed reality, 301
 - and outcomes, 141
 - and RPE, 137–44
 - subjectivity, 141–2
- rational expectations equilibrium, and monetary policy, 355, 359–60
- real business cycle, and CAPM, 75
- real business cycle model, as benchmark of new synthesis, 70
- real-world macroeconomics, and its essentials, 197–200
- reasonable behavior, of agents, xiv
- reduced form models, and simultaneous equations, 259
- REE (rational expectations equilibrium)
 - and self-fulfilling prophecy, 139
 - and stochastic process, 139–40
- reliability, and asymptotic results, 287
- representative agent
 - and microeconomic theory, 247–8

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-86548-7 - Post Walrasian Macroeconomics: Beyond the Dynamic Stochastic
General Equilibrium Model

Edited by David Colander

Index

More information

- and pseudo microfoundation, 249
- the single decision-maker, 104
- representative agent theory, vs. chaos, 242–3
- representative agents, and neoclassicism, 81
- research
 - and ACE collaboration, 202
 - disciplined, 80
- resting point, in VAR models, 310, 311–12
- restricted perceptions equilibrium. See RPE
- returns to investment, and strategic complementarities, 335
- role model effects, and social interaction, 99–100
- RPE (restricted perceptions equilibrium)
 - and agents' choices, 136–7
 - and misspecification equilibrium, 146–59
 - and rational expectations, 137–44
 - and stochastic process, 136, 137
- Santa Fe, and complexity work, 9
- saving, its relation to investment, 35
- Say's Law
 - and excess demand, 34
 - and J.M. Keynes' rejection, 37, 38
 - and macro issues, 47–50
 - and its persistence, 42, 53, 66
- SCE (self confirming equilibrium), and dynamic macroeconomic models, 144–6
- science, and learning from technology, 363
- shocks
 - and model uncertainty, 124
 - permanent distinguished from temporary, 308–10
 - and social interactions, 112–14
 - unanticipated distinguished from anticipated, 307–8
- simplicity, and practical policy advice, 162
- SOAR model, and cognitive behavior, 208
- social interaction also see group, groups and strategic complementarities, 335–6, 336
- social interactions models
 - and econometrics, 103–8
 - and macroeconomic contexts, 108–15
 - and models in other fields, 101
 - and phase transition, 102, 111
 - and their properties, 101–3
 - and social multipliers, 102
 - and unobserved group effects, 106–8
- social interactions
 - and animal spirits, 111–12
 - and the business cycle, 111, 114
 - and DSGE, 111
 - and economic fluctuations, 111
 - and the Great Depression, 114
 - and income inequality, 114–15
 - and new growth theory, 109–10
 - and shocks, 112–14
 - and strategic complementarities, 341–2
 - and sunspot effects, 112
- social interactions research, and economic modeling, 97–115
- social networks in a MAS economy, 209–10
- social norms
 - and social interaction, 99–100
 - and Walrasian economics, 176
- socioeconomic data, and social interactions models, 103–8
- solid state physics, and macroeconomics, 249–50
- Solow growth model, 57, 70
- specific-to-general analysis, and macroeconomic data, 301
- speculative motive, for holding money, 305
- stability, and monetary policy, 367
- stabilizing mechanisms, and policy decisions, 348–9
- stagnation, Japanese, 167
- statics, and formalization, 28–30, 36

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-86548-7 - Post Walrasian Macroeconomics: Beyond the Dynamic Stochastic
General Equilibrium Model

Edited by David Colander

Index

More information

414

Index

- statistical issues, and identifiability, 281–4
- statistical mechanics models, and social interactions models, 101
- statistical models
 - and making choices, 295–7
 - and valid inferences for economic models, 287
- statistical physics, and Post Walrasian economics, 161, 170
- statistical validation, and ACE, 187
- statistics
 - and model uncertainty, 117
 - and the problem of inference, 297–9
- step-wise regression, and reduced form equations, 284–6
- stochastic formulation, and economic models, 288
- stochastic game theory, and experimental anomalies, 90–91
- strategic complementarities
 - and agents, 335–6, 337–40
 - and social interactions, 341–2
- strategic interaction, and Walrasian economics, 176–7
- structural model
 - and combination of parameters, 274–5
 - and rational expectations, 262–5
- structure of markets, and strategic complementarities, 335–6
- sunspot effects, and social interactions, 112
- sunspot fluctuations, and production function, 343, 346
- survival, of firms/consumers, 197
- SVAR (structural vector autoregression), as stable representation of the economy, 246–7
- synthetic microanalysis
 - and macroeconometrics, 251–7
 - and macrophenomena, 250
- tax rates, and strategic complementarities, 335–6, 339
- teaching, broad treatises v. models, 52
- technical innovation, and rational expectations, 42
- technological complementarities, 342–4
- technology, and Post Walrasian uncertainty, 78, 79
- testing, of macroeconometricians' models, 280
- theory
 - and accurate match to economic reality, 242
 - and its content, 240
 - and Cowles Commission, 240
 - its role in econometrics, 239
- theory model, and inadequate description of empirical behavior, 326–9
- tools, and their effect on theory development, 37, 219
- total uncertainty, and model uncertainty, 118–22
- trading networks, and development, 109–10
- trading volume, and heterogeneity, 221, 224
- transaction costs, and Walrasian economics, 176
- transactions motive, for holding money, 305
- U.S., and coordinated economy, 347
- U.S. monetary policy, as an economic system, 261–2, 268–9, 274
- ultrametrics, and macro models, 161, 162
- uncertainty. also see model uncertainty
 - and agent-based modeling, 78
 - and CAPM, 75
 - and classical economists, 71–2
 - and classicals' laws of motion, 72
 - and decision making, 348
 - and DSGE, 75, 76–7, 79
 - and intertemporal general equilibrium, 74–5
 - and Keynesian animal spirits, 73–4, 77, 78
 - and macroeconomic outcomes, 120
 - and markets' role, 75–6

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-86548-7 - Post Walrasian Macroeconomics: Beyond the Dynamic Stochastic
General Equilibrium Model

Edited by David Colander

Index

More informationIndex

415

- and monetary policy, 348
- and 1990s Japanese economy, 162–3, 165–8
- and Post Walrasians, 76–9
- and strategies for dealing with it, 71
- total, 118–22
- and the world of finance, 73, 78–9, 123–4
- uncertainty trap, and Japanese economy, 162–3, 167–8
- understanding
 - and economic systems, 182–3
 - and the economy, 9
- unemployment
 - equilibrium, 86
 - and miscoordination, 62
 - natural rate, 61–2
 - persistent, 85
 - as worker discipline device, 86
- unit root variables. See nonstationary variables
- unobserved variables, and model uncertainty, 118
- VAR (vector autoregression)
 - analysis, and money demand, 321–6
 - approach, and extraction of information, 302–3
 - and atheoretical macroeconomics, 245
 - and computer power, 63
 - and DSGE, 68
 - and extraction of information, 329–31
 - and money demand/supply, 316
 - and policy analysis, 244–24
 - and pulling/pushing forces, 313–16, 318–19, 321–6, 329, 330
- VAR program, and macrofoundational program, 245
- variables, stationary distinguished from nonstationary, 310
- vector autoregression. See VAR, volatility
 - and equity premium, 224
 - and financial markets, 222–3
- wait-and-see, versus expectations, 358–60
- Walras, Léon
 - and the role of individual reason, 72
 - and macro/micro relationship, 172–7
 - and methodological approach, 51
- Walrasian approach, interdependent equations analysis, 13
- Walrasian Auctioneer
 - elimination of, 187, 190–1
 - and pricing, 176
- Walrasian demand, and equilibrium, 62
- Walrasian economics
 - and data description, 258
 - and interdependence of markets, 246–7
 - and modeling money demand, 305
 - and strategic behavior, 176–7
- Walrasian macroeconomics, and aggregation of agents' decisions, xiii
- Walrasian methodology
 - and its characteristics, 248–9
 - and primacy of theory, 247
- Walrasian modeling, simple economy, 187–90
- Walrasian models, and aggregate behavior, xix
- Walrasian problem, and simplifying assumptions, 4–5
- Walrasian question, and dynamic optimal control theory, 4–7
- Walrasian research program, dominance, 1, 2–4, 4–7
- Walrasian/Post Walrasian contrast, xiv–xvii, 1–23
 - and acceptable simplification, 9
 - and agent-based models, 11–12
 - and assumed priors, 13
 - and general equilibrium, 13
 - and knowing/not knowing the right model, 10–13
 - and macroeconometric approaches, 12–14
 - omniscient agents vs. limited agents, xiv–xv

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-86548-7 - Post Walrasian Macroeconomics: Beyond the Dynamic Stochastic
General Equilibrium Model

Edited by David Colander

Index

More information

416

Index

Walrasian/Post Walrasian contrast (cont.)

and policy lessons drawn from theory, 13–14, 78, 79

and stability/chaos, 9–10

Wicksell, Kurt, and distributive justice 27 worker/firm interaction, and experimental work 86–7

World War II, and the economic system 53