

Contents

List of Figure, Tables and Maps	[Page x]
Maps	[xi]
Preface and Acknowledgements	[xxi]
Note on Dates	[xxv]
Note on Spellings	[xxvii]
Special Abbreviations	[xxix]
I The Acropolis of Greece	[1]
I.1 The Task	[1]
I.1.a The Topic	[1]
I.1.b Previous Work	[1]
I.1.c The Sources in Brief	[5]
I.1.d Outline of the Work	[9]
I.2 Historical Geography	[10]
I.2.a General Observations	[10]
I.2.b Regional Descriptions	[15]
I.2.c Geographical Issues	[27]
II Warfare and Control	[29]
II.1 A Narrative in Context	[29]
II.2 A Question of Upbringing: Hegemony and Anarchy down to Chaironeia (338)	[31]
II.2.a Earlier Spartan Domination	[31]
II.2.b Spartan Over-reach and Collapse (404–362)	[33]
II.2.c Waiting for the Macedonian (362–338)	[37]
II.2.d Retrospective of the Period down to 338	[39]
II.3 Temporary Kings: The Early Macedonian Years (338–301)	[40]
II.3.a Philip and Alexander: Acquiescence, Revolt, and Reaction (338–323)	[40]
II.3.b Further Unrest and Tighter Control (323–319)	[44]
II.3.c The Subversion of Antipater's System and Growing Antigonid Power (319–301)	[46]
II.3.d Retrospective of 338–301	[52]
II.4 The Military Philosophers: Resistance and Reaction under the Antigonids (301–222)	[54]
II.4.a First Interruption and Restoration of Antigonid Power (301–287)	[54]
II.4.b Gonatas Meets Resistance (287–c. 267)	[56]

	II.4.c	Concerted Revolt and Harsh Response (c. 268–c. 252)	[60]
	II.4.d	The Achaean League Erodes Gonatas' Control (c. 252–239)	[62]
	II.4.e	Sparta's Resurgence and Further Defeat (239–222)	[66]
	II.4.f	Retrospective of 301–222	[71]
II.5		The Soldier's Art: Achaea between Macedonia and Rome (222–197)	[73]
	II.5.a	Aitolian Opportunism and Spartan Alienation (222–217)	[74]
	II.5.b	From the Peace of Naupaktos to the Macedonians' Expulsion (217–197)	[79]
	II.5.c	Retrospective of 222–197	[85]
II.6		Control and Geostrategy	[86]
II.7		Epilogue: 197–146	[90]
III		Power and Politics	[92]
	III.1	Polis Societies	[92]
	III.2	Garrisons, 'Tyrants', and Macedonian Power	[97]
	III.2.a	Garrisons and 'Tyrants' Before Chaironeia (338)	[98]
	III.2.b	Garrisons and 'Tyrants' from Chaironeia to Kynoskephalai (338–197)	[105]
	III.2.c	Garrisons and 'Tyrants': A Balance-Sheet	[115]
	III.3	Politics and Stasis	[126]
	III.3.a	Political Divisions and Stasis Before Leuktra (371)	[128]
	III.3.b	Political Divisions and Stasis from Leuktra to Chaironeia (371–338)	[134]
	III.3.c	Political Divisions and Stasis After Chaironeia (338–197)	[142]
	III.3.d	The Role of Ideology	[146]
	III.4	Political Continuities	[154]
IV		Economies and Landscapes	[159]
	IV.1	Questions of Evidence	[159]
	IV.1.a	A Glass Half-Empty?	[159]
	IV.1.b	Economic Decline?	[160]
	IV.1.c	Demographic Decline?	[164]
	IV.1.d	Beyond 'Growth'	[167]
	IV.1.e	Resource Complementarity	[169]
	IV.1.f	Digression: Natural Forces?	[172]
	IV.2	Violence and Economies	[174]
	IV.2.a	Frequency and Distribution of Conflict	[174]
	IV.2.b	Economic Effects of Royal Policy	[176]
	IV.2.c	Economic Effects of Conflict	[178]
	IV.3	Rural Survey Data	[183]
	IV.3.a	Late Classical Survey Data	[185]
	IV.3.b	Hellenistic Survey Data	[186]

IV.3.c	Survey Data in a Social Context	[190]
IV.3.d	Economic Implications of Survey Data	[197]
IV.4	Epigraphy in a Landscape	[199]
IV.5	Built Landscapes	[201]
IV.5.a	Construction Projects of Late Classical Date	[202]
IV.5.b	Construction Projects of Late Classical or Early Hellenistic Date	[205]
IV.5.c	Construction Projects of Early Hellenistic Date	[207]
IV.5.d	Economic Implications of Construction Projects	[213]
IV.6	Material Culture	[215]
IV.6.a	The Non-Ceramic Record	[215]
IV.6.b	Pottery	[216]
IV.7	Coin Production and Monetization	[224]
IV.7.a	Coinage and Money	[224]
IV.7.b	Ranges of Values	[227]
IV.7.c	Economic Implications of Money	[233]
IV.8	Economic Interactions	[239]
V	Region, Network, and Polis	[243]
V.1	Factors in Change and Stability	[243]
V.1.a	The Interplay of Continuity and Change	[243]
V.1.b	Macedonian Aims	[245]
V.1.c	A Resistant Landscape	[250]
V.2	A Peloponnese of the Regions?	[254]
V.2.a	The Contribution of Scale	[255]
V.2.b	Peloponnesian Identity	[258]
V.2.c	Regional Unity and Inter-relatedness	[259]
V.2.d	Centralization within Regions	[262]
V.2.e	Limits of Regional Specificity	[264]
V.3	A Peloponnese of the Poleis	[270]
V.3.a	Good and Bad Neighbours	[270]
V.3.b	Routes and Connectivity	[271]
V.3.c	Routes and Scale	[273]
V.3.d	Connectivity and Regions	[278]
V.3.e	Changes in the Landscape of Poleis	[282]
V.4	The Persistent and Permeable Polis	[287]
	Works Cited	[295]
	Index Locorum	[339]
	General Index	[344]