

Contents

Preface	page ix
1 The Communist Party of Iraq: Origins and Foundations	I
Iraq Before the First World War	I
Foreign Influences	4
British Ascendancy	7
Al-Raḥḥâl and the First Challenge	17
Early Communist Organization	20
The Importance of al-Aḥâlî	24
The Party in the 1940s	25
The Party in the 1950s	40
Nasser's Pan-Arabist Challenge	58
Rebuilding the Party	59
2 Ascent of the ICP in Iraqi Politics	71
Politicization of the Army and the Qâsim Coup	74
The Communists After the 14 July 1958 Revolution	79
The Fall of the Clique of Four	102
The Fall of Qâsim	106
The Rashid Putsch and the Death Train	109
3 Party Rift: The Emergence of the Central Leadership	114
Grassroots Reaction to the August Line	125
Party Leadership Responds to Internal Tensions	137
The Formation of the ICP-CL	154
The Factions Face the Ba'ṯh	159
4 Alliance with the Ba'ṯh	166
The Third National Congress	177
The Ba'ṯh Turn on the ICP-CC	181
The Public Dimension – Issues and Pronouncements	188

5	The Rebirth of the Central Leadership in the 1970s	204
	The Basic Ideology of the ICP-CL	207
	Mahmūd's Grounding of ICP-CL Thought	212
	The Plenary Session of the Central Committee (July 1959)	214
	The Moscow Meeting (November 1960)	217
	The Failures of the National Democratic Movement	219
	Portrait of a Torture Victim from the ICP-CL	225
	The Third Party Conference (January 1974)	226
	Wihdat al-Qâ'idah and the Splintering of the ICP-CL	236
	The Theory of al-Muṣhtarak	241
	The Interpretations of al-Muqâydah	247
	The Iraqi Progressive Opposition After the First Gulf War	258
	The ICP-CL Responds to the American Empire (1990–Present)	261
6	Crisis: Disintegration or Renewal?	264
	The Iraqi Communist Party and Kurdistan	268
	The Iraqi Communist Party and Perestroika	269
	Preparations for the Fifth Congress	272
	The International Situation	279
	The Arab Front	280
	The Local Level	281
	An Examination of the By-laws and Their Relationship to the Party Programme	283
	The Concept of Democratic Centralism	285
	The Fifth National Congress	286
	The Kurdish Connection	289
	The Sixth Congress	291
	The ICP and the US Occupation	296
	The ICP Before Occupation	297
	The Governing Council	301
	Whither Socialism?	303
	The Iraqi Communist Party Cadre	304
7	Conclusion: From Vanguard Activism to Rearguard Opportunism	311
	Vanguard Activism	311
	Rearguard Opportunism	316
	Journey's End?	318
	Index	323