CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-88374-0 - Intervention and Resilience after Mass Trauma
Edited by Michael Blumenfield and Robert J. Ursano
Index
More information

Index

Note: The following abbreviations are used: ASD: acute stress disorder; CBT: cognitive behavioral therapy; CISD: Critical Incident Stress Debriefing; DSM-IV: Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders; PTSD: post-traumatic stress disorder accident survivors positive effect of CBT 97–98 see also motor vehicle accident survivors acute stress disorder (ASD)

  assessment of 92–93
  criticism of ASD diagnosis 87–88, 93
  definition of 86–87
  and dissociation 87
  future challenges 98
  history of 86
  incidence of 88
  and subsequent development of PTSD 88–90 treatment of 93–98, 118–119
  see also post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) Adams, R. E. 131
adaptation nature of normal 160, 163–164 through rule-driven behavior 161 trauma as challenge to 161–163 adrenergic mechanisms, human stress response 109 apathy, potential barrier to community resilience 60 ASD see acute stress disorder assessment
  of acute stress disorder 92–93
  clinical assessments 36–37 cultural factors 37
  at population levels 35–36 of underlying vulnerabilities 38 atypical antipsychotic medications 117–118 belief systems
  of different cultures 139–141 mourning rituals 142 protective nature of 135–136 and natural disasters 3, 7–8 Bell, C. C. xv, 134, 136 benzodiazepines, ineffective for PTSD 118 bereavement 15–16
  clinical interventions 27
  early interventions 21–22
Bernal, G. 130
bioterrorism response, role of public in 61–63
Blacks
  cultural responses to trauma and loss 139–140 experiences with terrorism 135 help-seeking tendencies 137 higher rates of previous exposure to violence 132 National Trauma Survey findings 135 victimization of 134–135 Boscarino, J. A. 131 brain function see human stress response, psychobiology of Bryant, R. A. xv, 96–97
business systems 10

calming, promotion of 75
Carter, R. T. 130
CBT see cognitive behavioral therapy children
  assessment of 36
  early life cycle interventions 18–19 resilience studies 155–156
  school systems 10
  trauma exposure 26

© Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-88374-0 - Intervention and Resilience after Mass Trauma
Edited by Michael Blumenfield and Robert J. Ursano
Index
More information

CISD see Critical Incident Stress Debriefing clinical intervention bereavement interventions 27
  children and families 28, 36 delivery of early intervention services 33–34 early intervention, assessment for 36–37 evolving disorders 28
  guidelines for PTSD 23
  other stressor exposures 27
  rehabilitation 28
  self-care and information 28–29 service providers, accreditation of 34 for trauma exposures 26–27, 36–37
  see also pharmacotherapy cognitive-behavioral therapy (CBT) effective in treatment of PTSD 72, 94–98 limitations of 72, 98, 175 modifications of CBT model 73
Cohen, A. P. 50
communication
  and community resilience 56
  systems for 12
communities
  characteristics of 50–51
  early intervention agenda 38–39 effect of disasters on 51 response to disaster 12–13 spontaneous community actions 25
  see also community resilience community resilience 49, 52–53, 65 assumptions 58–59
  barriers to 59–60
  contributing factors 53, 62–63
    communication 56
    connectedness, commitment and shared values 53–54 critical reflection and skill building 55 disaster prevention, mitigation, preparedness and response 56 participation 54
    resources 54–55
    structure, roles and responsibilities 54 support and nurturance 55 individual resilience overriding 52 properties of resilience 56 rapidity 58
    redundancy 57
    resourcefulness 57–58
    robustness 56–57
  ways of enhancing 60–61 adopt a holistic wellness approach 64 create consciousness about community resilience 61 develop and practice disaster plans 64–65 input and engagement 61–63
  see also resilience
Community Resilience Summit 59–60 complex systems 2, 6
connectedness, promoting 53–54, 76
"coping efficacy" view 160
corticotropin releasing factor (CRF) 110
CRASH, cultural competence model 130
Critical Incidence Stress Debriefing (CISD) 20–21, 71–72 cultural issues 127
  Blacks, trauma experienced by 134–135 care-seeking tendencies of different ethnic groups 137 CRASH, cultural competence model 130
  cultural assessments 37 diversity within America 127–128 higher rates of PTSD in veterans 132–133 Hispanic immigrants, rates of PTSD 133–134 immigrants and refugees 133 influencing treatment response 129–130 involvement of target culture in early interventions 138 medication, tolerance for 137–138 mental health disaster response 18 monocultural ethnocentrism 128–129
  native Americans 135
  protective effect of culture 135–137 race-based traumatic stress 130–132
  resources 139–143
  Southeast Asian refugees 134 violence, rates of exposure to 132

Davidson, J. R. T. 90
debriefing models 20–21, 71–72 diagnosis of acute stress disorder (ASD) 86–87
  criticisms of 87–88, 93
Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders (APA) 86–87, 92, 142–143
"disaster culture" 3
Disaster Victim Identification (DVI) 21–22 disasters
  and community resilience 56

© Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-88374-0 - Intervention and Resilience after Mass Trauma
Edited by Michael Blumenfield and Robert J. Ursano
Index
More information

developing and practicing emergency plans 64–65 effect on communities 51 expert consensus recommendations 73–74 behavioral interventions 74–75 intervention principles 75–76 looking after those involved in 39 psychological effects of 69 commonly observed effects 70–71 epidemiological studies 69–70 factors influencing severe 70 response planning, systems for 7–8 governance and co-ordination 4–5 international 5
organizations, USA 6
tracking those affected by 38 victim identification 21–22 see also natural disasters; terrorism dislocation, effects of 16 dissociation 87
beneficial effects of 92 biochemical model 112
during trauma see peritraumatic dissociation diversity of culture, race and ethnicity within America 127–128 documentation, collecting 38 dopaminergic system, stress response 114 DSM-IV (Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders)
cultural guidelines 142–143 diagnosis of acute stress disorder 86–87
criticisms of 87–88, 93
and peritraumtic dissociation 92

early intervention xiii, 14 assessing needs for 35
clinical assessments 36–37
cultural assessments 37
population assessments 35–36 underlying vulnerabilities 38
badging and selling 40 clinical platforms 26
bereavement 27
children and families 28
evolving disorders 28
other stressor exposures 27
pharmacological 28
rehabilitation 28
trauma exposures 26–27
critical issues in 174–175
delivery of 1, 30
accredited providers, need for 34 briefing and mobilization 35 clinical services 33–34
by communities and NGOs 38–39
education and training 34 government policy and planning 30–31 implementing the mental health response plan 39–40 and looking after those involved 39 population and public health strategies 32–33 systems, engagement with 31–32 tracking and documentation 38 involvement of target culture's population in 138 meaning of term 14
planning future of 175–177 population/public health platforms capacity for mental health, building 26, 29 consultancy models 25 early childhood prevention programs 14, 18–19 information as intervention 24 occupational mental health systems 25
preparation and planning 24
psychological first aid (PFA) 22–23
spontaneous community actions 25
strengthening positive aspects of system response 25 science of 1, 29–30
clinical programs 14
cultural variables 18
and human malevolence 23–24 intervention for the bereaved 21–22 intervention with children 18–19 population-focused approach 14, 22–23 PTSD, clinical intervention guidelines for 23 research focus 15–17, 71–73 scientific methodologies 14–15 trauma studies 19–21
vulnerable individuals 17–18
vulnerable populations 17
systems for 1, 2–13
earthquakes xiii, 52
education
for disaster response 34 schools 10, 31

© Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-88374-0 - Intervention and Resilience after Mass Trauma
Edited by Michael Blumenfield and Robert J. Ursano
Index
More information

emergency response systems 5, 149 early intervention programs for workers 20–21 formal and informal 4
  in the USA 6–7
ethnicity see cultural issues evolving disorders, early clinical interventions for 28 expert consensus conferences, recommendations from 73–76

families
  assessment of 36
  early intervention 28
  school systems 10
  trauma exposure 26
Foa, E. B. 90, 94–95
Frank, Sidney E. 13–14
Friedman, M. J. xv, 64

GABA (gamma-aminobutyric acid), effect on stress response 112–113
Galea, S. 70, 86, 131, 149
Glass, T. A. 61–63
glucocorticoids, effect on brain function 110–111 glutamate, role in human stress response 111–112 governments and complex systems 6 disaster responses 4–5, 6–7 mental health response plan, implementation of 39–40 policy, planning, preparation and programs 30–31 political leadership 13 grief
  complicated grief 21
  counseling 27, 33
  and mourning, cultural norms 142

health systems 11–12, 32
Herman, J. 129
Hispanic immigrants, risk of PTSD 133–134 holistic wellness approach, community resilience 64 Honoring Differences: Cultural Issues in the Treatment of Trauma and Loss 139–141 hope, instilling 76
human malevolence 23–24 human stress response, psychobiology of adrenergic mechanisims 109
  corticotropin releasing factor (CRF) 110
  dopaminergic system 114
  evidence from clinical trials 114–115 GABA neurotransmitter 112–113
  glucocorticoids 110–111
  glutamate 111–112
  neurocircuitry 108–109
  neuropeptide Y (NPY) 110
  serotonergic system 113
  treatment of acute stress responses 108–119 hydrocortisone, positive effect on PTSD 116–117 hypnosis with CBT, positive effect on PTSD 97

ICD-10 diagnosis of acute stress reaction 86 imipramine, role in reducing stress 117 immigrants, risk of PTSD 133–134 information communication systems 12
  on coping support, providing 78 dissemination of 74
  as intervention 24
  manipulation of 166
  on self-care 28–29
  for tracking "victims" 38
institutional systems 8 international response 5 intervention 173–174
  critical issues in 174–175
  principles identified by expert consensus 75–76 target culture involvement 138 see also clinical intervention early intervention Israeli's ways of coping with terrorism 162–163

Janet, P. 87
Jenkins, E. J. 134
Jerusalem, M. 58

King, D. W. 14–15
Kinzie, J. D. 134
Kretzmann, J. P. 61

Labonte, R. 61, 62–63
Latinos
  coping with trauma 140–141 exposure to traumatic events 131–132 Laverack, G. 61, 62–63

© Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-88374-0 - Intervention and Resilience after Mass Trauma
Edited by Michael Blumenfield and Robert J. Ursano
Index
More information

Lavizzo, E. A. 131
Layne, C. M. 153
leadership, political 13
loss see bereavement

Marshall, G. N. 131
Masten, A. S. 155–156
McKnight, J. L. 61
McNally, R. J. 26, 80
media
  dramatization of reporting 165 early intervention role 24, 39 influence of 12
medication
  tolerance variability in different ethnic groups 137–138
  see also pharmacotherapy
mental health
  cultural guidelines 142–143
  disaster response plans implementing and evaluating 39–40 low priority of 7
    organizations in the USA 6
    US Deptartment of Health guidelines 6–7 World Health Organization guidelines 5 systems for protection of 8, 9, 11 see also early intervention
Mental Health All Hazards Disaster Planning Guidelines (US Department of Health and Human Services) 6–7
Mental Health: Culture, Race, and Ethnicity – A Supplement to Mental Health: A Report of the Surgeon General (US Dept of Health and Human Services) 142 military settings
  early intervention in 19–20 effects of stressful exposure 157 use of CISD 71
  see also veterans
monocultural ethnocentrism 128–129
motor vehicle accident survivors benefits of CBT 96–97
  propanolol treatment protecting against PTSD 115 reduced cortisol levels and later PTSD 116 mourning, cultural norms 142

National Child Traumatic Stress Network (NCTSN) 19
  Field Operations Guide 22, 76, 77, 141–142
National Trauma Survey (NTS) 135
native Americans 135, 140
natural disasters xiii community resilience to 52 impact of repeated 3 systems for preparation and recovery 3, 7–8 Neighbors, H. W. 137
neurocircuitry underlying response to stress 108–109 neurogenesis, agents promoting 113
neuropeptide Y (NPY) 110
neurotoxicity, prevention of 111 neurotransmitters
  corticotropin releasing factor (CRF) 110
  GABA (gamma-aminobutyric acid) 112–113
  glutamate 111–112
  neuropeptide Y (NPY) 110
non-government organizations (NGOs) 3, 38–39

occupational mental health systems 25
"ordinary magic" view of resilience 155–156 implications of 161–163 organizational systems 8
Orlando, M. 131

panic attacks 91
Parra, C. G. 140–141
Perilla, J. L. 131
peritraumatic dissociation 87 adaptive nature of 92 catastrophic appraisals of 91, 92
  and subsequent development of PTSD 90–91 differing from persistent dissociation 92 and hyperarousal following trauma 91 and panic attacks 91 personal resilience 52
PFA see psychological first aid pharmacotherapy 107–108 clinical trials evidence 114–115
    atypical antipsychotic medications 117–118 benzodiazepines 118
    hydrocortisone 116–117
    imipramine 117
    propranolol 115–116
  human stress response
    adrenergic mechanisims 109

© Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-88374-0 - Intervention and Resilience after Mass Trauma
Edited by Michael Blumenfield and Robert J. Ursano
Index
More information

pharmacotherapy (cont.)
corticotropin releasing factor (CRF) 110
dopaminergic system 114
GABA (gamma-aminobutyric acid) 112–113
glucocorticoids 110–111
glutamate 111–112
neurocircuitry 108–109
neuropeptide Y (NPY) 110
serotonin system 113
treatment of acute stress responses 118–119
Pole, N. 132
political systems 13
population assessments 35–36
population-focused early intervention 14, 22–23 population health models 14, 19, 26 population health strategies 32–33 post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) and September 11, 2001 terrorist attacks 150 and catastrophic appraisals of trauma 91 clinical intervention guidelines 23 and DSM-IV diagnosis 86 early intervention research 15 guidelines for treatment of 142 in immigrants and refugees 133–134 linked to hyperarousal following trauma 91 management program 73
medication for see pharmacotherapy predicted by acute dissociation 90–91 predicted by ASD 88–90
prevalence of 152
and resilience 149–150
transient nature of 85–86 treatment with CBT 72, 93–98
Practice Guideline for the Treatment of Patients with ASD and PTSD (APA) 142 programs for early intervention 14, 19 propranolol pharmacotherapy 115–116
psychological first aid (PFA) 22–23, 24–25, 69
background research
early post-trauma intervention 71–73 effects of disasters 69–71 context of 79
coping strategies 78
core actions of 77
cultural sensitivity issues 141–142
definition of 76
disaster response, expert recommendations 73–76 evaluation of effectiveness, need for 79
Field Operations Guide 22, 76, 77, 141–142
group application of 77 long-term impact unknown 78, 79 principles of 75, 175
calming, promotion of 75
connectedness, promoting 76
hope, instilling 76
self-efficacy, promoting 76
sense of safety, promoting 75 self-help advice 78
Psychological First Aid: Field Operations Guide (National Child Traumatic Stress Network and National Center for PTSD) 141–142
PTSD see post-traumatic stress disorder public health perspective xiii
education and training 34
information provision 24 need for skilled providers 34 occupational mental health systems 25
preparation and planning 24
psychological first aid (PFA) 24–25
spontaneous community actions 25 strategies for early intervention 14, 32–33
strengthening positive aspects of system response 25 Pynoos, R. S. 21, 26–27

racism
experienced by Blacks 134–135 impact on mental health 131 and rates of PTSD 131–132 rape victims, effects of CBT on PTSD 94–95 Raphael, B. xiv
rapidity, property of resilience 58 redundancy, property of resilience 57 refugees, higher rates of PTSD in 133–134
rehabilitation 23, 28
Reissman, D. B. xiv
research
early post-trauma intervention 71–73 prevailing focus of 15–17 psychological effects of disasters 69–71 resilience xiv, 51–52
bio-ecological studies 150–151
in child development studies 150 definitions of 152–153, 153–155 generic characteristics of 156 boundaries and failure to cope 159–160

© Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-88374-0 - Intervention and Resilience after Mass Trauma
Edited by Michael Blumenfield and Robert J. Ursano
Index
More information

domain-, time- and situation-specific 159 follows stressful exposure 156–157 individual as active agent 160–161 multifactorial view 158–159 normal adaptation to change 160 rule-driven behavior, maintaining 161 stressful events and life transitions 157–158 historical perspective 155–156 identifying boundaries of 164–165
"ordinary magic" view of 155–156, 161–163 perceived as "the default" 153 properties of 56–58
versus PTSD 149–150
ways to miss or weaken 165–166
see also community resilience resourcefulness, property of resilience 57–58 response systems 4
mental health 32
for terrorism and disaster 7–8 see also emergency response systems robustness, property of resilience 56–57 rule-driven behavior, adaptive role of 161 Rutter, M., characteristics of resilience 156–161 safety, promoting sense of 75 Schoch-Spana, M. 61–63

school systems 10, 31
scientific methodologies 14–15
screening 37
self-efficacy, promoting 76
self-help programs 78
September 11 terrorism attacks, New York 69–70, 86, 131, 135, 150 serotonergic system, human stress response 113 sexual assault victims, treatment using CBT 94–95 Shalev, A. Y. xv, 129, 149
Sidney E. Frank conference xiv
Silver, R. C. 149
social capital 2, 15
soldiers see military settings; veterans Solomon, Z. 19, 157
somatization disorders 16–17
Southeast Asian refugees 134, 141
Stamm, B. H. 140
Stamm, H. E. 140
stressful exposures 152
bereavement and loss 15–16 bi-directional effect of 157–158 clinical interventions for 27 dislocation from home 16 effect on non-white cultural, racial and ethnic groups 131–132 multiple-causation/multiple-outcome view of 158–159 resilience following 156–157 see also military settings; trauma/traumatic events supportive-counseling, CBT trials 95–97 systems 1, 2
business 10
communication 12
community 12–13
contexts and related systems 2–3 disaster and terrorism prevention 3–4 health 11–12, 32
political 13
relevance for early intervention 2 school 10, 31
traumatogenic 9–10
variables 13
see also belief systems; response systems terrorism

bioterrorism response, role of public 61–63
Black people's experiences with 135 Israeli's ways of coping with 162–163 planning systems for 4–7 response systems for 7–8 September 11 attacks, New York 69–70, 86, 131, 135, 150 systems for prevention 3–4 training 34, 75
trauma/traumatic events adaptation to 161–163
assessment measures 36–37 behavioral consequences 26–27 dimensional view of early responses 163–164 and early intervention 19–21 grief counseling for 33 interventions for 26–27 paradoxical findings from research 149 and psychiatric disorders, risk of 85 rape victims, CBT treatment 94–95 response of Blacks to 135 survivor preferences, importance of 79–80
"transition generating events" 157–158

© Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-88374-0 - Intervention and Resilience after Mass Trauma
Edited by Michael Blumenfield and Robert J. Ursano
Index
More information

trauma/traumatic events (cont.)
traumatic brain injury, positive effect of CBT 97 see also post-traumatic stress disorder traumatogenic systems 9–10
Tully, M. A. 139–140

Vega, W. A. 131
Velez-Ibanez, C. G. 140–141
veterans
racial differences in rates of PTSD 132–133 resilience following stress exposure 157 see also military settings violence, previous exposure to 132 vulnerability assessment of underlying 38 vulnerable individuals 17–18
vulnerable populations 17

war stress see military settings Watson, P. xv, xvii
World Health Organization (WHO), guidelines for disaster planning 5

© Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org