

The Mind of Jihad

This book examines contemporary jihad as a cult of violence and power. All jihadi groups, whether Shiite or Sunni, Arab or not, are characterized by a similar bloodlust. Laurent Murawiec characterizes this belief structure as identical to that of Europe's medieval millenarians and apocalyptics, arguing that both jihadis and their European cousins shared in a Gnostic ideology: A God-given mission endowed the Elect with supernatural powers and placed them above the common law of mankind. Although the ideology of jihad is essentially Islamic, Murawiec traces the political technologies used by modern jihad to the Bolsheviks. Their doctrines of terror as a system of rule were appropriated by radical Islam through multiple lines of communication. This book brings history, anthropology, and theology to bear to understand the mind of jihad that has declared war on the West and the world.

Laurent Murawiec taught philosophy, was a foreign correspondent, cofounded and managed a consulting company for geopolitical and geoeconomic affairs, and taught at the Ecole des Hautes Etudes en sciences sociales. He has served as a consultant for the French Ministry of Defense and as a Senior International Policy Analyst with the RAND Corporation and is currently a senior Fellow of the Hudson Institute. He is the author of La Guerre au XXI^e siècle (2000 [in Chinese, 2004]), L'Esprit des Nations: Cultures et géopolitique (2002), La Guerre d'Après (2003), Vulnerabilities in the Chinese Way of War (2004), and Princes of Darkness: The Saudi Assault Against the West (2005) as well as an acclaimed French translation of Clausewitz's On War (1999).

L'homme n'est ni ange ni bête, et le malheur veut que qui veut faire l'ange fait la bête.

Blaise Pascal

Though this be madness, yet there is method in't.

William Shakespeare

When people think they possess the secret of a perfect social organization which makes evil impossible, they also think that they can use any means, including violence and deceit, in order to bring that organization into being. Politics then becomes a “secular religion” that operates under the illusion of creating paradise in this world.

John Paul II

There are circumstances in which keeping silence means lying. I have just heard a morbid and senseless cry: Long live death. This barbaric paradox is repugnant to me.

Miguel de Unamuno

If anyone wishes to write against this, I will welcome it. For true and false will in no better way be revealed and uncovered than in resistance to a contradiction, according to the saying: “Iron is sharpened by iron.”

Thomas Aquinas

The Mind of Jihad

LAURENT MURAWIEC

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Cambridge University Press & Assessment
 978-0-521-88393-1 — The Mind of Jihad
 Laurent Murawiec
 Frontmatter
More Information

CAMBRIDGE
 UNIVERSITY PRESS

Shaftesbury Road, Cambridge CB2 8EA, United Kingdom
 One Liberty Plaza, 20th Floor, New York, NY 10006, USA
 477 Williamstown Road, Port Melbourne, VIC 3207, Australia
 314-321, 3rd Floor, Plot 3, Splendor Forum, Jasola District Centre, New Delhi – 110025, India
 103 Penang Road, #05-06/07, Visioncrest Commercial, Singapore 238467

Cambridge University Press is part of Cambridge University Press & Assessment, a department of the University of Cambridge.

We share the University's mission to contribute to society through the pursuit of education, learning and research at the highest international levels of excellence.

www.cambridge.org

Information on this title: www.cambridge.org/9780521883931

© Laurent Murawiec 2008

This publication is in copyright. Subject to statutory exception and to the provisions of relevant collective licensing agreements, no reproduction of any part may take place without the written permission of Cambridge University Press & Assessment.

First published 2008

A catalogue record for this publication is available from the British Library

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication data

Murawiec, Laurent.

The mind of Jihad / Laurent Murawiec.

p. cm.

Includes bibliographical references and index.

ISBN 978-0-521-88393-1 (hardback) – ISBN 978-0-521-73063-1 (pbk.)

1. Terrorism – Religious aspects – Islam. 2. Jihad. 3. Islam and world politics.

4. Islamic fundamentalism. I. Title.

HV643I.M865 2008

322.4'2088297-dc22 2008000787

ISBN 978-0-521-88393-1 Hardback

ISBN 978-0-521-73063-1 Paperback

Cambridge University Press & Assessment has no responsibility for the persistence or accuracy of URLs for external or third-party internet websites referred to in this publication and does not guarantee that any content on such websites is, or will remain, accurate or appropriate.

Contents

Acknowledgments	page vii
Introduction	i
1 “We Love Death”	5
2 “An Elite of Amoral Supermen”	59
3 The Gnostic Mahdi	90
4 Manichean Tribalism	132
5 The Odd Pedigree of Modern Jihad	169
6 The Mutated Virus: “Islamic Revolution”	256
7 Jihad as Terror	295
Conclusion	324
Bibliography	327
Index	351

Acknowledgments

It is my distinct pleasure to acknowledge the debt I have incurred in researching this subject and putting it on paper. I have received the invaluable help of highly knowledgeable scholars. I have received the benefit of their science, their advice, and their criticism, and this book would have been much poorer without their contribution.

In the first place, Prof. Wolfgang G. Schwanitz introduced me to entire areas and topics of research; his wealth of knowledge always was a prime helper: I could not have connected many dots without his friendly support. Dr. David Wurmser followed step by step the development of the research and the writing and was permanently a stimulating partner in discussion. Prof. Mohamed ibn Guadi's deep well of science and friendship was always open.

For their suggestions, remarks, and criticisms, I would like to thank my friends and colleagues at the Hudson Institute, Dr. S. Enders Wimbush, Mr. Eric Brown, and Dr. Hillel Fradkin; M. Michel Gurfinkiel of the Institut Jean-Jacques Rousseau in Paris; Mr. Praveen Swami of Frontline in New Delhi, Prof. Lynn Addington of American University, Washington, D.C.; Ms. Ladan Archin, Dr. Roya Boroumand of the Boroumand Foundation; Prof. Yossi Kostiner and Prof. Azar Gat, both of Tel-Aviv University; Prof. Efraim Inbar of Bar-Ilan University, Prof. Efraim Karsh of King's College, London; my old friend Juliette Minces; Prof. Richard Landes of Boston University; Mr. David Pryce-Jones of London; Prof. Joshua Mitchell of Georgetown University; Mr. Muhammad Akyol; Mr. Paul Goble; Col. Norville "Tex" DeAtkine (U.S. Army, ret.); Prof. Wolfgang Leidhold of the University of Cologne, Germany; Prof. Michael Stürmer of the University of Erlangen-Nürnberg; Dr. Joel Fishman of the Jerusalem Center for Public Affairs; Prof. Emeritus Jean-Paul Charnay of the University of Paris – Sorbonne;

Dr. Shmuel Bar of the Interdisciplinary Center in Herzliya; Mr. Alex Alexiev, Mr. Steven Emerson, and Mr. Ryan Evans of The Investigative Project; Mr. John Taylor of the National Archives of the United States; Prof. Alain Besançon of the Ecole des Hautes Etudes en sciences sociales; Prof. Françoise Thom of the University of Paris; Mr. Ramin Parham; Prof. Hussain Haqqani of Boston University; and Prof. Bernard Lewis of Princeton University. May they all accept the expression of my heartfelt appreciation. I would also like to thank Ms. Maria Farkas, Mrs. Grace Paine Terzian of the Hudson Institute, and my research assistants Ms. Dora Molnár and Dr. Niki Nagy. Particular thanks go to Dr. Ivan Borrello, M.D. I further want to express my gratitude to Prof. Fouad Ajami of Johns Hopkins University (SAIS) and Prof. Robert Lieber of Georgetown University for their support, and to Mr. Lewis Bateman of Cambridge University Press for the interest he took in the project.

Special thanks go to Mr. Andrew Marshall of the Office of Net Assessment at the Department of Defense, who originally commissioned the work this book came from and supported it throughout with unflagging interest. I would not have been able to sustain several years of this research without his support.

This book is, selbstverständlich, dedicated to my wife Dr. Claudia Kinkela, first reader, first critic, first in my heart.