

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-88880-6 - Destructive Leaders and Dysfunctional Organizations: A Therapeutic Approach

Alan Goldman

Index

More information

Index

- adult ADHD in a leader 6–7 see also Javaman, Jason
- Americans with Disabilities Act
 - and DTS/DTO (danger to self/danger to others) diagnosis 145
 - protections 119, 121, 129, 188
- anthropological approach to consultancy 5–7
- antisocial personality disorder 132–155
 - abusive behavior permeates the organization 141–142, 145–146
 - Americans with Disabilities Act 145
 - challenges of DSM use in management 149–153
 - company faced with an abusive leader 132–133
 - consequences of inadequate assessment 134–135
 - consultation approach 138–139
 - consultation with an abusive leader 142–144
 - danger to self (DTS), danger to others (DTO) diagnosis 143–145
 - dangers of trivializing pathologies 153–155
 - degrees of toxicity in leader and company 134–135
 - DSM-IV-TR application to organizational systems 149
 - DSM-IV-TR guided differential diagnosis 143–144
 - ineffectiveness of internal systems 132–133
 - interdisciplinary approach to toxic leadership 152–155
 - interplay of individual and systems pathologies 147–149
 - lack of DSM expertise in organizational researchers 149–153
 - need for DSM assessment in high-toxicity cases 134–135, 136–138
 - need for external expertise 132–133
 - personal history of an abusive leader 139–140
 - physically and emotionally abusive leader 140–142
 - research studies addressing toxic leadership 133–134
 - Rick Boulder case study 138–155
 - Rick Boulder diagnosis 19–20, 143–144
 - search for objective standards of assessment 136–138
 - situation after the leader resigns 145–146
 - threat from pre-existing pathology in a leader 146–147
 - training required for DSM application 149–153
 - use of DSM within the management discipline 136–138
- Arthur Andersen 27
- assessment instruments
 - client preoccupation with 4–5
 - looking beyond 13–14
- Beach Harbor Heart Institute see narcissistic personality disorder (Dr. Gina Vangella)
- Bear Stearns 27
- Black Valley Enterprises see leader sabotage
- Blackman, Dr. Hudson, passive aggressive personality disorder 19–20 see also leader sabotage
- body dysmorphic disorder (Josh Julia)
 - aftermath of Julia's dismissal 185–187
 - Americans with Disabilities Act protection 188
 - company background 177–178
 - consequences for the organization 180–181, 182–184, 185–189
 - consultant's formal assessment of behavior 181–182
 - counterproductive workplace behaviors 184–185
 - decision to call in external consultants 181–182
 - definition 176

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-88880-6 - Destructive Leaders and Dysfunctional Organizations: A Therapeutic Approach

Alan Goldman

Index

More information

- diagnosis 19–20, 176, 181–182
- DSM-IV-TR diagnosis 176, 181–182
- dysfunction in the R&D division
 - 180–181, 182–184, 185–189
- early successes 177–178
- emergence of dysfunctional behavior
 - 178–180
- extremes of toxic leadership 174–176
- future research into disturbed leadership
 - behavior 189
- leader's withdrawal from the workplace
 - 178–181
- morphing into division-wide pathology
 - 187–189
- organizational challenge of a disturbed
 - leader 175–176
- somatoform disorders 176
- transformation of an exemplary leader
 - 175–176
- borderline personality disorder (Favio Burnstein)
 - Americans with Disabilities Act protection 119, 121, 129
 - coexisting brilliance and pathology 113–114
 - company's desire to retain Burnstein 119–121
 - creative leader steeped in psychopathology 122–123
 - decision to seek external expertise 119–121
 - depression 19–20
 - DSM-IV-TR diagnosis 123, 128–129, 130–131
 - dual leadership intervention 127–128
 - dysfunctional background narrative 114–116
 - employee complaints and grievances 116–119
 - erratic dealings with employees 116–119
 - humiliation and harassment in the workplace 116–119
 - impacts of a transient organizational culture 124–125
 - individual and organizational toxicity 130
 - influence on the organization 116
 - interventions for individual and organizational pathology 125–126, 127–128
 - need for specialist expertise in high-toxicity cases 130–131
 - needs assessment consultation 119–121
 - personality disorders among US leaders 129
 - pre-existing pathology 123–125, 129–130
 - satisfying individual and company needs 124–125
 - triggering factors in the organizational environment 124–125
- Boulder, Rick see antisocial personality disorder
- Burnstein, Favio
 - Americans with Disabilities Act protection 119, 121, 129
 - borderline personality disorder 19–20, 123–125
 - coexisting brilliance and pathology 113–114
 - company's desire to retain Burnstein 119–121
 - creative leader steeped in psychopathology 122–123
 - decision to seek external expertise 119–121
 - depression 19–20
 - DSM-IV-TR diagnosis 123, 128–129, 130–131
 - dual leadership intervention 127–128
 - dysfunctional background narrative 114–116
 - employee complaints and grievances 116–119
 - erratic dealings with employees 116–119
 - humiliation and harassment in the workplace 116–119
 - impacts of a transient organizational culture 124–125
 - individual and organizational toxicity 130
 - influence on the organization 116
 - interventions for individual and organizational pathology 125–126, 127–128
 - need for specialist expertise in high-toxicity cases 130–131
 - needs assessment consultation 119–121
 - negative and positive qualities 15
 - personality disorders among US leaders 129
 - pre-existing pathology 123–125, 129–130
 - satisfying individual and company needs 124–125

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-88880-6 - Destructive Leaders and Dysfunctional Organizations: A Therapeutic Approach

Alan Goldman

Index

More information

212 INDEX

- Burnstein, Favio (cont.)
 separation anxiety disorder 19–20
 triggering factors in the organizational environment 124–125
- Cavendish & Bodark Haute Couture see
 histrionic personality disorder (Markus Renee)
- client–consultant interactions 20–25
 client resistance see leader sabotage coaching for leaders, prototypes 25 companies on the edge 1–2 company narratives information from 8 range of 3–5
 consultancy approaches anthropological approach (“gorillas in the mist”) 5–7 companies on the edge 1–2 complexity of dysfunctional scenarios 2–3 consultant engagement and emergent insights (wild cards) 7–8
 detective work in the diagnostic phase 7–8
 DSM-IV-TR diagnosis 3, 6–7
 encouraging self-disclosure 6–8 exploitative consultancy companies 7–8 focus on a high-impact problem 3 information from company narratives 8 leader’s psychological history 6–7
 one hundred day assessment and intervention phase 6–7 participant observer consultant 5–7 psychological evaluation and treatment 3, 6–7 psychological history of the leader 6–7 psychotherapy and psychiatry issues 1–2, 6–7 range of consultation narratives 3–5 search for a nexus 3 tackling the dark side of leadership 9
 why companies seek external experts 1–3 wild cards (emergent insights) 7–8
 consultant engagement and emergent insights (wild cards) 7–8
- Cornelius Ltd. see unintentionally toxic leader
- danger to self (DTS), danger to others (DTO)
 diagnosis 143–145
 dark side of leadership 9, 12–13
- depression, Favio Burnstein 19–20
 detective work in the diagnostic phase 7–8
 diagnosis
 approaches to toxic leadership 20–25 detective work 7–8 high-toxicity leaders 19–20
 hypodermic needle (top-down) approach 20–22 participatory approach 20–25 psychological disorders in leaders 17–19
see also DSM-IV-TR
- disturbed leadership (Elija Engineering Ltd.)
 aftermath of leader’s dismissal 185–187
 Americans with Disabilities Act protection 188
 company background 177–178
 consequences for the organization 180–181, 182–184, 185–189
 consultant’s formal assessment of behavior 181–182
 counterproductive workplace behaviors 184–185
 decision to call in external consultants 181–182
 definition of body dysmorphic disorder 176
 diagnosis of body dysmorphic disorder 19–20, 176, 181–182
 DSM-IV-TR diagnosis 176, 181–182
 dysfunction in the R&D division 180–181, 182–184, 185–189
 early successes 177–178
 emergence of dysfunctional behavior 178–180
 extremes of toxic leadership 174–176
 future research into disturbed leadership behavior 189
 leader’s withdrawal from the workplace 178–181
 morphing into company-wide pathology 187–189
 organizational challenge of a disturbed leader 175–176
 somatoform disorders 176
 transformation of an exemplary leader 175–176
- DSM-IV-TR (Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders)
 antisocial personality disorder 143–144
 application to organizational systems 149

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-88880-6 - Destructive Leaders and Dysfunctional Organizations: A Therapeutic Approach

Alan Goldman

Index

More information

- body dysmorphic disorder 176, 181–182
- borderline personality disorder 123, 128–129
- challenges of use in management 149–153
- Cluster B Personality Disorders 128–129
- consultancy approach to diagnosis 3, 6–7
- diagnosis of toxic behavior 17–19
- histrionic personality disorder 169, 173
- interdisciplinary approach to toxic leadership 152–155
- lack of DSM expertise in organizational researchers 149–153
- narcissistic personality disorder 40–41, 49–51
- need for DSM assessment in high-toxicity cases 134–135, 136–138
- obsessive compulsive disorder 107
- obsessive compulsive personality disorder 107
- somatiform disorders 176
- training required for DSM application 149–153
- use within management disciplines 136–138, 153–155
- usefulness in high-toxicity cases 130–131

- Ebbers, Bernard 11, 16
- Elija Engineering Ltd. see disturbed leadership
- Enron 11, 17, 27
- exploitative consultancy companies 7–8
- external experts, why companies seek them 1–3

- Gaston, Dr. Raymond (obsessive compulsive leader) 86–112
 - alternatives to dismissal 110–112
 - attempt to address the problem internally 93–94
 - aversion to handling money 98–99, 108–109
 - background to the problem 86–87
 - clinical diagnosis 107
 - consultant's initial impressions 101–102
 - consulting and therapeutic interventions 109–112
 - customer service ethos of the company 89–90
 - decision to seek external expertise 88–89, 99
 - destructive impacts on the organization 108–109
 - DSM-IV-TR diagnosis 107
 - early days of the new leadership 91–92
 - forewarning of toxicity 95–96
 - gaining awareness of emotional cost 104
 - HR recruitment process shortcomings 99–101, 112
 - impact of change of manager 90–91
 - implications of change at senior level 112
 - leadership coaching sessions 102–104
 - leadership therapy 105–107
 - leadership therapy following diagnosis 110–112
 - micromanagement and destructive behavior 96–99
 - needs assessment interviews with consultant 99–101
 - obsessive compulsive disorder diagnosis 107, 108–109
 - obsessive compulsive personality disorder diagnosis 19–20, 107, 108–109
 - organizational culture 89–90
 - organizational impacts 108–109
 - “perfection or destruction” attitude 102–104, 105–107, 108–109
 - personal costs 108–109
 - public altercations and staff discontentment 96–99
 - search for a replacement 109–110
 - signs of culture clash 91–93
 - signs of deeper problems 96–99
- Geffen, David 40
- Global Crossing 11, 17
- Greystone, Sidney, histrionic personality disorder 19–20 see also leader sabotage
- highly toxic leaders 132–155
 - abusive behavior permeates the organization 141–142, 145–146
 - challenges of DSM use in management 149–153
 - company faced with an abusive leader 132–133
 - consequences of inadequate assessment 134–135
 - consultation approach 138–139
 - consultation with an abusive leader 142–144

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-88880-6 - Destructive Leaders and Dysfunctional Organizations: A Therapeutic Approach

Alan Goldman

Index

More information

214 INDEX

- highly toxic leaders (cont.)
 - danger to self (DTS), danger to others (DTO) diagnosis 143–145
 - dangers of trivializing pathologies 153–155
 - degrees of toxicity in leader and company 134–135
 - DSM-IV-TR application to organizational systems 149
 - DSM-IV-TR guided differential diagnosis 143–144
 - ineffectiveness of internal systems 132–133
 - interdisciplinary approach to toxic leadership 152–155
 - interplay of individual and systems pathologies 147–149
 - lack of DSM expertise in organizational researchers 149–153
 - need for DSM assessment 134–135, 136–138
 - need for external expertise 132–133
 - personal history of an abusive leader 139–140
 - physically and emotionally abusive leader 140–142
 - research studies 133–134
 - Rick Boulder case study 138–155
 - search for objective standards of assessment 136–138
 - situation after the leader resigns 145–146
 - threat from pre-existing pathology in a leader 146–147
 - training required for DSM application 149–153
 - use of DSM within the management discipline 136–138
- histrionic personality disorder (Markus Renee)
 - allure of the toxic leader 170–171
 - Cavendish & Bodark organizational culture 157–159
 - CEO's desire to salvage Renee 167, 172–173
 - constant need to be the center of attention 163–165
 - debriefing and de-escalation of dysfunction 171
 - decision to call in a consultant 167–168
 - diagnosis of histrionic personality disorder 19–20, 169, 173
 - DSM-IV-TR diagnosis 169, 173
 - emotional volatility in the workplace 156–157
 - employee complaints and grievances 161–162
 - emulation by employees 164–165
 - end of the honeymoon period 161–163
 - followership empowers toxicity 170–171
 - hire of Markus Renee 159–161
 - hiring criteria for Cavendish & Bodark leaders 159–161
 - individual and organizational interventions 169–170, 171
 - leadership coach and psychotherapist assessment 168–169
 - leadership style of Markus Renee 162–163
 - MBWA (management by walking around) 162–163
 - melodrama and instability in the organization 164–167
 - organizational fit of Markus Renee 159–161
 - reducing toxicity to functional levels 167, 172–173
 - spread of the disorder into the organization 169
 - timely detection delayed by allure and charm 172
- histrionic personality disorder (Sidney Graystone) 19–20
- hubris and leadership fantasies, Black Valley Enterprises 77–78
- hubris and narcissism in leaders 11–26
 - and organizational dysfunction 20
 - client–consultant interactions 20–25
 - damaged, pathological, troubled leaders 15–17
 - diagnosing high-toxicity leaders 19–20
 - diagnosing psychological disorders 17–19
 - diagnostic approaches 20–22
 - DSM-IV-TR diagnosis of leader behavior 17–19
 - empowering the client in the diagnosis 22–25
 - extreme hubris of toxic leaders 11–12
 - hypodermic needle (top-down) approach to diagnosis 20–22
 - looking beyond metrics 13–14
 - narratives of toxic leadership 14–15

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-88880-6 - Destructive Leaders and Dysfunctional Organizations: A Therapeutic Approach

Alan Goldman

Index

More information

- negative aspects of leadership 11–12
- negative impacts on the organization 15–17
- nexus of dysfunction 15–17
- organizational context of toxic leadership 15–17
- participatory approach to diagnosis 20–25
- psychological complexity of toxic leadership 14–15
- psychopathology behind the behavior 17–20
- unethical behavior in leaders 11–12
- unexpected psychopathology 17–20
- unveiling the dark side of leader and company 12–13
- hypodermic needle (top-down) approach to diagnosis 20–22
- intermittent explosive disorder, Jason Javaman 19–20
- Javaman, Jason 6–7
 - adult ADHD diagnosis 19–20, 34–35
 - clinical psychotherapy 34–35
 - consultant meetings with CEO 31–32
 - dysfunctional leadership behavior 28–29
 - enigma of the toxic leader 31–34
 - from needs assessment to intervention 32–34
 - impact of the toxic leader 29–31
 - inability of the organization to assess behavior 38–39
 - individual and organizational interventions 35–36
 - intermittent explosive disorder 19–20
 - leadership coaching 34
 - salvaging a toxic yet productive leader 36–37
 - source of unintentional misbehavior 34–35
 - spread of toxic behavior 31–32, 34–35
 - toxic behavior in remission 37–38
 - unintentional misbehavior 38–39
- Jobs, Steve 40
- Johnstone-Mumford International Bank see obsessive compulsive leader
- Julia, Josh (body dysmorphic disorder)
 - aftermath of Julia's dismissal 185–187
 - Americans with Disabilities Act protection 188
 - company background 177–178
 - consequences for the organization 180–181, 182–184, 185–189
 - consultant's formal assessment of behavior 181–182
 - counterproductive workplace behaviors 184–185
 - decision to call in external consultants 181–182
 - definition of body dysmorphic disorder 176
 - diagnosis of body dysmorphic disorder 19–20, 176, 181–182
 - DSM-IV-TR diagnosis 176, 181–182
 - dysfunction in the R&D division 180–181, 182–184, 185–189
 - early successes 177–178
 - emergence of dysfunctional behavior 178–180
 - extremes of toxic leadership 174–176
 - future research into disturbed leadership behavior 189
 - leader's withdrawal from the workplace 178–181
 - morphing into division-wide pathology 187–189
 - organizational challenge of a disturbed leader 175–176
 - somatiform disorders 176
 - transformation of an exemplary leader 175–176
- Kozlowski, Dennis 11, 16, 17
- Lay, Kenneth 11, 16, 17, 40
- leader
 - as nexus of dysfunction 15–17
 - psychological history 6–7
- leader sabotage (Black Valley Enterprises) 55–85
 - company history 57–59
 - complex probing of psychopathology in leadership 80–83
 - consultation assessment 71–73
 - consultation with VP Graystone 59–63
 - deeper source of toxicity 66–67
 - defiant, resistant client 64–66
 - dysfunctional HR hiring process 74–75
 - earlier unsuccessful Zenton consultation 73–74

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-88880-6 - Destructive Leaders and Dysfunctional Organizations: A Therapeutic Approach

Alan Goldman

Index

More information

216 INDEX

- leader sabotage (cont.)
 - erratic and defiant CEO behavior 55
 - failures of a deeply toxic culture 55–56
 - histrionic personality disorder in Sidney Graystone 19–20
 - hubris and leadership fantasies 77–78
 - incremental approach to the problem 69–71
 - negotiating a small wins rapid-cycle consultation 67–71
 - passive aggressive personality disorder in Dr. Blackman 19–20
 - power of toxic leadership 84–85
 - rapid interventions in recruitment and selection 78–80
 - recruitment and hiring failure rate 55–56
 - resistance to an employee assistance program (EAP) 62–63
 - results of interventions 80
 - spread of toxicity 84–85
 - systemic dimensions of the problem 69–71
 - toxic effects throughout the company 74–75
 - toxic nexus in leadership 75–77
 - upper-echelon sabotage 56–57
- leadership, tackling the dark side 9
- leadership coaching prototypes 25

- Messier, Jean-Marie 11, 16, 17
- metrics
 - client preoccupation with 4–5
 - looking beyond 13–14

- narcissistic personality disorder (Dr. Gina Vangella) 41–54
 - allure of the toxic leader 40–41
 - consultation 47–49
 - criticism from colleagues and staff 44–47
 - demand for adoration 42–47
 - diagnosis of narcissistic personality disorder 19–20, 22–25, 49–51
 - DSM-IV-TR diagnosis 49–51
 - internal complaints and grievances 47
 - leaders with mental and emotional duress 53–54
 - narcissistic personality disorder criteria 40–41
 - organizational impacts 42–47, 52–54
 - organizational inability to deal with 53–54
 - possibility of company-wide narcissism 52–53
 - pre-existing pathology 52–53
 - self-diagnosis 49–51
 - toxic leadership behavior 41–42
 - treatment 51–52
 - see also* hubris and narcissism in leaders
- narratives of toxic leadership 14–15
- negative aspects of leadership 11–12
- nexus of dysfunction
 - consultant's search for leadership toxicity in Black Valley Enterprises 75–77
 - toxic leaders 15–17

- obsessive compulsive leader (Dr. Raymond Gaston) 86–112
 - alternatives to dismissal 110–112
 - attempt to address the problem internally 93–94
 - aversion to handling money 98–99, 108–109
 - background to the problem 86–87
 - clinical diagnosis 107
 - consultant's initial impressions 101–102
 - consulting and therapeutic interventions 109–112
 - customer service ethos of the company 89–90
 - decision to seek external expertise 88–89, 99
 - destructive impacts on the organization 108–109
 - DSM-IV-TR diagnosis 107
 - early days of the new leadership 91–92
 - forewarning of toxicity 95–96
 - gaining awareness of emotional cost 104
 - HR recruitment process shortcomings 99–101, 112
 - impact of change of manager 90–91
 - implications of change at senior level 112
 - leadership coaching sessions 102–104
 - leadership therapy 105–107
 - leadership therapy following diagnosis 110–112

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-88880-6 - Destructive Leaders and Dysfunctional Organizations: A Therapeutic Approach

Alan Goldman

Index

More information

- micromanagement and destructive behavior 96–99
- needs assessment interviews with consultant 99–101
- obsessive compulsive personality disorder diagnosis 19–20, 107, 108–109
- obsessive compulsive disorder diagnosis 107, 108–109
- organizational culture 89–90
- organizational impacts 108–109
- “perfection or destruction” attitude 102–104, 105–107, 108–109
- personal costs 108–109
- public altercations and staff discontentment 96–99
- search for a replacement 109–110
- signs of culture clash 91–93
- signs of deeper problems 96–99
- one hundred day assessment and intervention phase 6–7
- organizational context of toxic leadership 15–17
- organizational dysfunction and toxic leadership 15–17, 20
- participatory approach to diagnosis 20–25
- passive aggressive personality disorder, Dr. Blackman 19–20
- perfectionism see obsessive compulsive leader
- personality disorder see antisocial personality disorder; borderline personality disorder; histrionic personality disorder; narcissistic personality disorder; passive aggressive personality disorder
- psychological complexity of toxic leadership 14–15
- psychological evaluation and treatment, consultancy approach 3, 6–7
- psychological history of the leader 6–7
- psychopathology behind toxic leadership 17–20
 - complex probing 80–83
- psychotherapy and psychiatry issues, consultancy approaches 1–2, 6–7
- Renee, Markus (histrionic personality disorder)
 - allure of the toxic leader 170–171
 - Cavendish & Bodark organizational culture 157–159
 - CEO’s desire to salvage Renee 167, 172–173
 - constant need to be the center of attention 163–165
 - debriefing and de-escalation of dysfunction 171
 - decision to call in a consultant 167–168
 - diagnosis of histrionic personality disorder 19–20, 169, 173
 - DSM-IV-TR diagnosis 169, 173
 - emotional volatility in the workplace 156–157
 - employee complaints and grievances 161–162
 - emulation by employees 164–165
 - end of the honeymoon period 161–163
 - followership empowers toxicity 170–171
 - hire of Markus Renee 159–161
 - hiring criteria for Cavendish & Bodark leaders 159–161
 - individual and organizational interventions 169–170, 171
 - leadership coach and psychotherapist assessment 168–169
 - leadership style of Markus Renee 162–163
 - MBWA (management by walking around) 162–163
 - melodrama and instability in the organization 164–167
 - organizational fit of Markus Renee 159–161
 - reducing toxicity to functional levels 167, 172–173
 - spread of the disorder into the organization 169
 - timely detection delayed by allure and charm 172
- self-disclosure, encouraging 6–8
- separation anxiety disorder, Favio Burnstein 19–20
- Sergio Mondo Fashion House see Burnstein, Favio
- Skilling, Jeffrey 11, 15–16, 17
- small wins rapid-cycle consultation 67–71
- toxic leaders
 - dysfunctional agendas 27–28
 - extreme hubris 11–12

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-88880-6 - Destructive Leaders and Dysfunctional Organizations: A Therapeutic Approach

Alan Goldman

Index

More information

218 INDEX

- toxic leaders and dysfunctional organizations consequences of mismanaged toxicity 190–191
 extent and seriousness of the problem 190 importance of early assessment and intervention 190–191
 movement towards outside experts 196–197
 organizational inability to diagnose 192–194
 organizational inability to recognize toxicity 191–192
 organizational resistance and avoidance 192–194
 questions to consider 191
 research streams and consultant implications 197–198
 toxin “detectors” and “healers” 194–196
- Tyco 11, 17
- unethical behavior in leaders 11–12
- unintentionally toxic leader (Jason Javaman)
 adult ADHD diagnosis 19–20, 34–35
 clinical psychotherapy 34–35
 consultant meetings with CEO 31–32
 Cornelius Ltd. (case study) 28–39
 dysfunctional leadership behavior 28–29
 enigma of the toxic leader 31–34
 from needs assessment to intervention 32–34
 impact of the toxic leader 29–31
 inability of the organization to assess 38–39 individual and organizational interventions 35–36
 intermittent explosive disorder 19–20
 leadership coaching 34
 possibility that behavior is unintentional
 27–28
- salvaging a toxic yet productive leader
 36–37
 source of unintentionally toxic behavior 34–35
 spread of toxic behavior 31–32, 34–35
 toxic behavior in remission 37–38
- Vangella, Dr. Gina 41–54 collaborative diagnostic approach 22–25 consultation with 47–49
 criticism from colleagues and staff 44–47
 demand for adoration 42–47
 diagnosis of narcissistic personality disorder 49–51
 DSM-IV-TR diagnosis 49–51
 internal complaints and grievances 47 leaders with mental and emotional duress 53–54
 narcissistic personality disorder 19–20, 22–25
 narcissistic personality disorder criteria 40–41
 organizational impacts of a narcissistic
 leader 42–47, 52–54
 organizational inability to deal with 53–54
 possibility of company-wide narcissism 52–53
 pre-existing pathology 52–53
 self-diagnosis 49–51
 toxic leadership behavior 41–42
 treatment 51–52
- Vivendi Universal 11, 17
- wild cards (emergent insights) 7–8
- WinnerWear International see antisocial personality disorder
- Winnick, Gary 11, 16, 17
- WorldCom 11, 17