GENERAL INDEX

References to works by Ernest Hemingway appear under his name, as do those to his residences. Literary and theatrical works by others appear alphabetically by the title of the work, as well as under the author's name. Paintings and musical works appear under the artist's name only. Newspapers, magazines, and films are alphabetized by title. Indexed references to automobiles (owned by EH), boxers, bullfighters, guns (models, manufacturers, and sellers), ships (including boats and shipping companies), songs, strikes, and trains and railways are consolidated under those categorical headings. All biblical references are gathered under "Bible." References to localities within a particular city (hotels, restaurants, bars, bookstores, churches, schools, museums, monuments, and other sites) appear as subentries under the name of the city.

Persons are listed according to the names by which they are primarily known in the context of this volume, including married names, professional names, and pseudonyms. When necessary for clarity, maiden names and nicknames are indexed alphabetically with a See reference to the name under which page references to that person appear. Spanish names are alphabetized by the paternal surname, which generally appears next to last in the sequence of a full formal name and is followed by the maternal surname (which is often dropped in common usage); for example, the matador Rafael Gómez Ortega is listed under "bullfighters" as "Gómez Ortega, Rafael."

In addition to appearing in the "Index of Recipients," the letters in this volume are indexed here as well, listed under the recipient's name and the subentry "EH letters to." Only the first page of each letter is cited.
