GRAMMAR

Verbs followed by gerunds

Use the gerund form after these verbs. I enjoy going to parties where I don't know everyone. I avoid expressing my feelings and ideas in public. I don't mind giving up my time to help other people.

Use the gerund or infinitive form after these verbs. I can't stand being / to be in a messy room. I love taking / to take my friends to cool new clubs. I hate getting up / to get up for early morning classes.

Use the gerund form after these expressions containing prepositions. I insist on making my own decisions. I always feel like going dancing! I'm into going out to new foreign restaurants.

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 106

- A Look at the Starting Point on page 2 again. Can you find other expressions that are followed by gerunds? Which of them can also be followed by infinitives?
- B Pair work How do you feel about these things? Discuss your answers using verbs or expressions followed by gerunds and infinitives.
 - 1. tell people that I'm angry with them
 - 2. help with chores around the house
 - 3. listen to people's personal problems
- 4. eat a full meal late at night
- 5. start conversations with people I don't know
- 6. go to places where I have to use English

"I usually avoid telling people that I'm angry with them. I guess I'm just afraid of making them angry at me."

Personal profiles

A Look at the information about these people. Which person is most similar to you? Why?

B Class activity Write a similar profile for yourself. Don't write your name. Your teacher will take your profile and give you the profile of another student. Ask questions around the class to find the other student.

WRITING Topic sentences

The main idea is usually found in the first sentence of the paragraph. This sentence is called the topic sentence.

A Read these paragraphs about people's best and worst qualities. Underline the topic sentence in each paragraph.

File Edit View Insert Format Tools Table Window Help

I think that my most positive quality is that I'm always pretty calm and cool, especially when something breaks. I'm really into solving tricky problems and finding solutions to things. My specialty is electronics. People come to me if something goes wrong with their computers or phones. For example, two days ago, my dad's brand new tablet suddenly froze up. He was afraid of causing more damage, so he asked me to figure out the problem. It only took me 15 minutes to fix it, and I loved doing it!

- B Think about your own personal qualities. Make a list. Then decide which quality is the most positive and which is the most negative. Circle each one.
- C Write a paragraph about either your most positive or your most negative quality. Make sure your paragraph has only one main idea.
- D Pair work Exchange paragraphs with a partner. Then answer the questions.
 - 1. What is your partner's topic sentence? Underline it.
 - 2. What examples does your partner give to support the topic sentence?
 - 3. What do you find most interesting about your partner's paragraph?

LESSON B > Every family is different.

STARTING POINT Different types of families

A Look at the families in the pictures. What's different about each type of family?

What's Your Family Like?

The Watsons, Sydney "My wife and I both work now, and the extra money is great. The only trouble with being a two-income family is we don't spend as much time together."

The Wangs, Vancouver "We're an extended family now that Grandma has moved in. The big advantage of having her at home is that she can babysit more often."

The Patels, London "We're a typical nuclear family – it's just my sister, my parents, and me. The only bad thing about living in our house is there's only one bathroom!"

B Pair work What are some more advantages and disadvantages of each type of family in part A? Compare ideas.

"In a nuclear family, you might not see your grandparents every day. That's a disadvantage."

LISTENING & SPEAKING

How are their families different?

A Group work Do you tend to rely more on friends or family for help and advice? Why? Discuss with your group.

Who celebrates birthdays and holidays with you? Who do you call when a crisis hits or when good luck strikes? If your answer is "my friends," you may have a "tribe."

hen Ethan Watters took stock of his life a few years ago, the San Francisco writer realized that he was more dependent on friends than family, who lived hundreds of miles away.

"My friends were the centerpiece of my social life," he says. "They had taken on all the responsibilities that family members typically tackle - connecting me to the city, being a matchmaker, and helping me find jobs and places to live."

This circle of friends had become a tribe, which started when a group of artists, writers, and photographers began meeting for dinner every Tuesday night. Before long, they had begun functioning as a family of choice.

Watters grew to believe that non-family members forming close-knit social networks was a growing trend in the United States, and he wrote a book about it called Urban Tribes: Are Friends the New Family?

Modern tribes like Watters's often grow out of a shared interest or experience, but not every group of friends becomes a tribe.

The shift from "circle of friends" to tribe happens when members begin to treat each other like family - offering support without expectation of repayment; sheltering each other from gossip, stress, and attack; and looking out for everyone's overall well-being in life, work, and relationships.

> Modern tribes often have a regular meeting place, annual parties, and group trips. Shared rites and rituals create a tribal story. "The members of the group may change," Watters says, "but the story of that group has central elements that remain. It gives the group a history."

Every tribe usually has an individual or core group that tends to its growth and survival. These tribal leaders are the ones who get everyone together on a regular basis and make the phone calls that get members excited about upcoming events.

Like families, tribes have a way of shaping their members: Individuals feel more confident, secure, loved, and stable. Even if your own family is close-knit, you may benefit from cultivating a family-like circle of friends. "The love and support we get from one," Watters says, "does not take away from the love and support we get from another."

B Read the article and answer the questions. Then compare answers with a partner.

- 1. In what ways does Watters's circle of friends function as a family?
- 2. According to the article, what are some differences between a tribe and a family?
- 3. How does a group of friends become a tribe?

C Group work Discuss these questions. Then share your answers with the class.

- 1. What are some advantages and disadvantages of relying on friends for family-like support?
- 2. Do you consider yourself a member of a modern tribe? Why or why not?

STARTING POINT

Learning the hard way

A Read about these people's problems. What mistake did each person make?

What Did I Get Myself Into? Three mistakes that led to big messes

I was supposed to be studying for a math test this weekend, but my friends made me go to the beach with them instead. I mean, I didn't have to go with them, but I did. Now the test is in two hours, and I'm totally unprepared. I should have stayed home and studied! - Alicia, Tepic, Mexico

In high school, I had to wear a uniform, so I didn't have a lot of fashionable clothes. When I started college, I thought I needed to have more, so I wasted a lot of money on trendy outfits. But I really shouldn't have done it. Now I'm broke! Kenichi, Osaka, Japan

We weren't supposed to cook in our dorm rooms, but I had a microwave anyway. The cafeteria was right next door, so I really didn't need to have it. Anyway, I got caught making popcorn last week, and the school took the microwave away.

True

B Pair work What should each person do differently in the future? Compare ideas.

"I don't think Alicia should listen to her friends in the future." "Yeah, I agree. She shouldn't let them influence her like that."

LISTENING I'll never do that again!

A Listen to Frank talk about a bad decision he made. What was his decision? Why was it a bad one?

• B Listen again. Are these statements true or false? Choose the correct answer.

	True	False
1. Frank and his neighbor were good friends.
2. Frank knew he was allergic to cats.
3. Frank marked his calendar to remember to feed the cat.
4. Frank forgot what time his train was going to leave.
5. Frank remembered to feed the cat on Saturday.

DISCUSSION

Past experiences

A Look at the survey and choose the items that are true for you.

Have you ever . . .

- enjoyed doing something you weren't supposed to do?
- not done something you should have done?
- done something foolish that you didn't need to do?
- had to follow a rule you didn't like?
- ☐ had to enforce a rule you didn't like?

B Pair work Discuss your answers. Ask follow-up questions.

"Have you ever enjoyed doing something you weren't supposed to do?"

"Sure. At my old job, I wasn't supposed to take a long lunch, but I took long lunches at the park, anyway. How about you?"
