

Contents

Acknowledgements	page vi
Introduction: Romanticism and the Bio-aesthetics of the Military Literary World	i
1 Writing and the Disciplinarisation of Military Knowledge	23
2 Strategy in the Age of History: Henry Lloyd’s Sublime Philosophy of War	73
3 Robert Jackson’s Medicalisation of Military Discipline	114
4 More a Poet than a Statesman: The Epic Vigour of Charles Pasley’s Military Policy	149
5 Thomas Hamilton’s Wordsworthian Novel of War: Sexuality, Wounding and the Bare Life of the Soldier	192
Afterword: Trauma, Security and Romantic Counter-Strategies	230
Bibliography	247
Index	279