

Contents

List of Figures	page ix
Acknowledgements	x
List of Characters	xiii
Introduction	1
Pono’s Directions	48
Part I ‘Where Are You From? Where Are You Going?’: The Geographies of Tswana Kinship	49
Ko Gae : House and Home	50
1 Going Up and Down	61
2 ‘ Ke a Aga ’: Lorato, Building	68
3 Geographies of Intervention	78
Conclusion: Part I	87
Interlude: Ear Wiggle	88
Part II ‘Who Is Taking Care of Your Things?’: Care, Contribution, and Conflict in the Economies of Kinship	89
Contribution	94
4 Children of One Womb	99
5 Taking What Belongs to You	114
6 Supplementary Care	125
Conclusion: Part II	131
Interlude: An Incident	134 vii

viii Contents

Part III ‘We Are Seeing Things’: Recognition, Risk, and Reproducing Kinship	137
Recognition	140
7 Recognising Pregnancy	144
8 Recognising Marriage	154
9 Managing Recognition in a Time of AIDS	164
Conclusion: Part III	170
Interlude: Family Portrait	171
Part IV ‘They Were Far Family’: Circulating Children and the Limits of Kinship	173
Circulation and Distinction	175
10 Far Family	181
11 Living Outside	188
12 Children in Need of Care	195
Conclusion: Part IV	203
Interlude: Tumi’s Note	205
Part V ‘We Show People We Are Together’: Making Selves, Families, Villages, and Nations	207
13 The Village in the Home: A Party	213
14 Lifting up Culture: A Homecoming	224
15 A Global Family	239
Conclusion: Part V	254
Interlude: The Incident Concluded	256
Conclusion: ‘We Have a Problem at Home’: The Ordinary Crisis of Kinship	258
An Epidemic Epilogue	274
Glossary of Setswana Terms	279
Bibliography	284
Index	302