

INDEX

Figures are indicated by fig. and tables by tab.

- acquiescence to blunt force regulation, 5, 132, 137–8
- adaptive governance (ambiguous policy mandates). See also Chinese central government
- advantages offered, 122–4
 - and local policy innovation, 52, 187–90
 - and political signaling, 54
 - generally, 6, 36, 108, 124
 - public distrust consequence, 190–3
- air pollution control. See pollution control
- Amengual, Matthew, 109
- anti-corruption campaigns, 87–8, 153, 188–9
- Argentina, bottom-up environmental enforcement, 109
- ‘arm’s length’ environmental regulation. See environmental regulation, law-based
- asymmetries of information in environmental enforcement, 54–6, 59, 111
- authoritarian compromise theory, 18–19, 108, 122–5, 184
- Beijing (city), 49–50, 101
- Beijing (metonym). See Chinese central government
- blunt force regulation
- and Chinese central government. See under Chinese central government
 - bottom-up enforcement alternative. See bottom-up environmental enforcement
 - campaign-style enforcement compared, 38–40
 - characteristics, 1–2, 6, 17–18, 30–1, 34, 39, 183
 - command-and-control regulation compared, 28–9, 31–2, 35–6
 - comparative studies. See weak state capacity theory, comparative implications
 - effects. See effectiveness of blunt force regulation; inefficiencies of blunt force regulation
 - examples. See examples of blunt force regulation
 - political risks of. See political risk mitigation
 - protests against. See protests against blunt force regulation
 - rationales for. See rationales for blunt force regulation; weak state capacity theory
 - regulatory bans compared, 36–8
 - regulatory complexity, relationship with, 60–2
 - research methodology, 21–2
 - ‘transition phase’ view, 187–8
- Boracay, Philippines, blunt force regulation in, 14, 165–9
- bottom-up environmental enforcement
- advantages, 110–12, 119
 - central government ambivalence towards, 16–17, 57, 112–13, 128–9
 - authoritarian dilemma, 108, 122–5, 184
 - District X case study, 113–21, 125–7
 - other explanatory theories, 24, 107–8, 117–19
 - in developing countries, 109–10, 171
 - future use in China, 125–8, 184–7
 - limitations in weak institutional settings, 103, 111, 119–21, 190–3
 - strategy outlined, 15–16, 107–10, 128
- business responses to blunt force regulation
- investments deterred, 6–7, 20, 40–3, 142, 148–9
 - non-compliance with environmental policies, 6–7, 29, 42–4, 64, 148–9
 - protests, 43–4, 133–4, 149–51, 155
- California, 42, 61
- campaign-style enforcement, 38–40, 44, 67–8, 124, 162
- cement factory demolitions. See Shijiazhuang city, cement factory demolitions
- Centeno, Miguel Angel, 163
- central government. See Chinese central government
- ceramics factory closures, 28, 30, 37, 186
- chemicals industry, blunt force regulation against

INDEX

- chemicals industry, blunt force regulation against (cont.)
 adverse consequences, 30, 64
 examples, 30–1
 firecracker production bans, 36, 149
 local enforcement to offset risk, 41–2
 protests, 43–4, 133–4
- Chinese central government. See also local bureaucracy
 adaptive governance strategy. See adaptive governance
 blunt force regulation, ambivalence towards, 44–5, 83, 88
 blunt force regulation, role outlined, 89 bottom-up enforcement, ambivalence towards. See under bottom-up
 environmental enforcement
 funding for blunt force regulation, 153–4 funding for environmental regulation, 8–10, 44–5, 162, figs. 1.1–1.2
 high coercive capacity, 3–6, 152, 161, 163
 local government, control over, 51–2, 152 SOEs protected by. See SOEs (state-owned enterprises)
 weak enforcement capacity. See weak state capacity theory
- citizen-driven enforcement. See bottom-up
 environmental enforcement
- Clean Air Act (US), 32, 35–6
- coal-fired factory closures, 1, 38, 191–2
- collective action. See social unrest
- command-and-control regulation, 28–9, 31–2, 35–6
- community-driven enforcement. See bottom-up environmental enforcement
- comparative studies. See weak state capacity
 theory, comparative implications
- compensation
 damages action, Anhui Province, 149
 of SOEs (state-owned enterprises), 132–3, 135, 140–1, 150, 153, 189
- corruption, local level, 7, 11–12, 111, 139
 anti-corruption campaigns, 87–8, 153, 188–9
- COVID-19 pandemic, 15, 33, 133, 174–8, 183–4
- damages action, Anhui Province, 149
- deforestation measures, 39–40
- Delhi, blunt force regulation in, 14, 169–73
- deterrence rationale for blunt force regulation, 67–9, 74–5
- developed countries, COVID-19 pandemic
 responses, 33, 174–8, 183–4
- developing countries
 bottom-up environmental enforcement in,
 109–10, 171
- business uncertainty in, 20
- India, blunt force regulation in, 14, 169–73
- institutional weaknesses, 13–14, 55–6, 163–4, 173–4
- Philippines, blunt force regulation in, 14, 165–9
- Ding, Iza, 89, 117–18
- discretionary governance. See adaptive
 governance
- Duterte, Rodrigo, 165–8, 171
- Eaton, Sarah, 148–9
- economic effects of blunt force regulation, 2, 5, 132, 137–8, 151–2
- effectiveness of blunt force regulation
 air quality improvements, 2, 14, 23, 49–50, 83, 187
 research studies. See nationwide study of blunt force regulation; Shijiazhuang city, cement factory demolitions compared with other approaches, 39, 100, 119–21, fig. 2.1
 economic effects, 2, 5, 132, 137–8, 151–2
 environmental damage, short-term, 30–1, 151
 immediacy and predictability of outcomes,
 5–6, 13, 31–2, 49–50, 59–60, 68 long-term consequences. See inefficiencies of
 blunt force regulation
- emissions monitoring, 9, 44–5, 56–7, fig. 1.2
- environmental regulation, law-based. See also
 pollution control
 authoritarian resistance to, 18–19, 108, 122–5, 184
 blunt force regulation compared, 28–9, 31–2, 35–8
 citizen-driven enforcement. See bottom-up
 environmental enforcement
 non-compliance. See non-compliance with environmental policies
 predictability of, 111–12
 property rights, interaction with, 31, 56 resources for, 8–10, 44–5, 162, figs. 1.1–1.2
 risk-based versus rules-based, 33–4 sanctions, 9–10, 12–13, 19, 57–60
- e-waste industry, Qingyuan. See Qingyuan
 e-waste factory closures
- examples of blunt force regulation
 in cement industry. See Shijiazhuang city, cement factory demolitions
 in ceramics industry, 28, 30, 37, 186
 in chemicals industry. See chemicals industry, blunt force regulation against coal-fired factory closures, 1, 38, 191–2
 comparative studies. See weak state capacity
 theory, comparative implications
 in e-waste industry. See Qingyuan e-waste factory closures

- firecracker production bans, 36, 149
 nationwide study. See nationwide study of blunt force regulation steel production bans, 59, 81, 91, 107
 in Hebei Province, 76, 90, 133, 150–1, 155
 in textiles industry, 61–2, 73–4
 traffic restrictions, 49
 winter production bans, 29–30, 44, 150
- firecracker production bans, 36, 149
 food safety regulation, 61
 force of habit rationale for blunt force regulation, 17–18 foreign investment policies, 185–6 forestry protection measures, 39–40
 Fürst, Kathinka, 16
- global south. See developing countries
 Goldstone, Jack, 161
 Great Leap Forward, 39
 Gunningham, Neil A., 190
- Handan factory closures, 38
 Hebei province
 cement factory demolitions. See Shijiazhuang city, cement factory demolitions central government subsidies to, 153
 steel production bans, 76, 90, 133, 150–1, 155
- Heilmann, Sebastian, 6, 18–19
 Heller, Patrick, 110
 Hong Kong, COVID-19 pandemic response, 177
 Hsueh, Roselyn, 62
- India, blunt force regulation in, 14, 169–73
 Indonesia, bottom-up environmental enforcement, 109 industrial policy rationale for blunt force regulation, 69–71, 75, 81–3, 141–2, 186 inefficiencies of blunt force regulation. See also effectiveness of blunt force regulation business investments deterred, 6–7, 20, 40–3, 142, 148–9 environmental non-compliance encouraged, 6–7, 29, 42–4, 64, 148–9 large-scale polluters protected. See SOEs (state-owned enterprises) local policy innovation deterred, 153, 188–90 pollution, recurrence of, 15, 34–5, 106–7 public distrust, 190–3
 regulatory capture/corruption unaddressed, 7, 11–12, 111, 139 small-scale polluters targeted. See SMEs targeted by blunt force regulation informal enforcement. See bottom-up environmental enforcement information asymmetries in environmental enforcement, 54–6, 59, 111
- Japan, air quality initiatives, 5
 Jiang Junyan, 74
 Johnson, Boris, 176–7
 judicial (in)dependence, 12–13, 24, 51, 55–8, 149
- Kostka, Genia, 148–9
- labor protests, 133, 135–8
 large-scale polluters. See SOEs (state-owned enterprises)
- Li Ganjie, 15, 44, 88, 151
 Li Keqiang, 44, 88
 Li, Lianjiang, 18, 122
 Li, Yao, 120, 124
 Lindblom, Charles E., 183
 Linyi factory closures, 1
 local bureaucracy. See also Chinese central government bureaucratic environmental policy compliance, analysis of, 77–80 central government control, 51–2, 152 central government funding, 8, fig. 1.1
 concession to blunt force measures, 104, 151–5 environmental policy innovation, 52, 153, 187–90 local regulatory enforcement campaigns, 40, 44, 67–8
 non-compliance with environmental policies, 12, 15, 19, 52–4, 58–9, 61–2
 blunt force regulation in response. See weak state capacity theory opposition to blunt force regulation, 134 regulatory capture and corruption, 7, 11–12, 111, 139
 anti-corruption campaigns, 87–8, 153, 188–9
 SOEs protected by. See SOEs (state-owned enterprises)
- Lorentzen, Peter, 139
 Luquan, cement factory demolitions. See Shijiazhuang city, cement factory demolitions
- Mann, Michael, 16, 51, 110
 Mertha, Andrew C., 53, 88, 125, 152

INDEX

- nationwide pollution inspections campaign (2016-17), 39, 100, 121, 126, 162 nationwide study of blunt force regulation air quality improvement findings, 92-4, 98-101, figs. 5.5-5.6, tab. A5.1, figs. 5.1-5.3, tab. 5.1
 data, 76-8, 94-5, tab. 4.1
 dependent variable (pollution levels), 94-5, tab. A4.1, tab. A5.2
 explanatory and control variables, 77-9, 95-6, tab. A4.1, tab. A5.2
 fixed effect model specifications, 97 hypotheses tested, 74-6 independent variable (bureaucratic policy compliance), 77-80, tab. 4.2, tab. A4.1, tab. A5.2
 neighboring cities, air pollution impacts, 100-1
 SMEs targeted, 143-5, figs. 7.1-7.2
 SOEs (state-owned enterprises) shielded, 145-7, figs. 7.3-7.4, tab. 7.1
 variations in blunt force regulation across cities, fig. 4.1, fig. 5.4
 weak state capacity theory, support for, 65-6, 81-3, 89, 134, tab. 4.3
 neighboring cities, air pollution impacts, 100-1
 non-compliance with environmental policies
 bottom-up enforcement to address. See bottom-up environmental enforcement
 by businesses, 6-7, 29, 42-4, 64, 148-9
 by local officials, 12, 15, 19, 52-4, 58-9, 61-2
 blunt force regulation in response. See weak state capacity theory sanctions for, 9-10, 12-13, 19, 57-60
 O'Brien, Kevin, 18, 122
 O'Rourke, Dara, 16
 outcomes of blunt force regulation. See effectiveness of blunt force regulation; inefficiencies of blunt force regulation penalties for environmental infringements, 9-10, 12-13, 19, 57-60
 Perry, Elizabeth J., 6, 18-19
 Philippines, blunt force regulation in, 14, 165-9
 Pingshan, cement factory demolitions. See Shijiazhuang city, cement factory demolitions PITI (Pollution Information Transparency Index), 77-9, 96-7, 196 pluralistic enforcement. See bottom-up environmental enforcement political risk mitigation inefficiencies arising from. See inefficiencies of blunt force regulation labor protest risks, 135-8
 local officials' opposition, 104, 151-5
 SMEs targeted. See SMEs targeted by blunt force regulation SOEs protected. See SOEs (state-owned enterprises)
 summary of risks, 24, 129, 133-4 political theater/signaling rationale for blunt force regulation, 72, 75-6, 87-9, 101-3 politically connected polluters. See SOEs (state-owned enterprises)
 pollution control
 blunt force regulation, air quality effects, 2, 14, 23, 49-50, 83, 187 research studies. See nationwide study of blunt force regulation; Shijiazhuang city, cement factory demolitions emissions monitoring, 9, 44-5, 56-7, fig. 1.2
 future policy emphasis, 184-7 law-based. See environmental regulation, law-based nationwide inspections campaign (2016-17), 39, 100, 121, 126, 162
 neighboring cities, air pollution impacts, 100-1
 non-compliance. See non-compliance with environmental policies regulatory complexity of, 60-1 rollbacks on policies, 15 urgency of need in China, 4-6
 US Clean Air Act, 32, 35-6
 Pollution Information Transparency Index, 77-9, 96-7, 196 prefectural cities study. See nationwide study of blunt force regulation principal-agent dynamics of blunt force regulation, 74, fig. 4.1
 production bans, temporary, 29-30, 44, 150 property rights, 31, 56
 protests against blunt force regulation. See also social unrest acquiescence more common, 5, 132, 137-8
 by businesses, 43-4, 133-4, 149-51, 155
 by citizens, 191-2
 by local officials, 134
 by workers, 133, 135-8
 public participation in enforcement. See bottom-up environmental enforcement punishments for environmental infringements, 9-10, 12-13, 19, 57-60 Qingyuan e-waste factory closures
 acquiescence to, 138
 deterrence rationale questioned, 68-9
 funding for, 153
 industrial policy rationale questioned, 70-1 measures adopted, 66-73, 139, 156

- political theater/signaling rationale
 - questioned, 72
- positive effects anticipated, 153–4
- weak state capacity theory, support for, 73–4
- rationales for blunt force regulation
 - authoritarian compromise theory, 18–19, 108, 122–8, 184
 - deterrence strategy, 67–9, 74–5
 - force of habit, 17–18
 - immediacy and predictability of outcomes, 5–6, 13, 31–2, 49–50, 59–60, 68
 - industrial policy, 69–71, 75, 81–3, 141–2, 186
 - political theater/signaling, 72, 75–6, 87, 101–3
 - research studies testing. See nationwide study of blunt force regulation; Qingyuan e-waste factory closures
 - resource shortages, 8–10, 44–5, 162
 - figs. 1.1–1.2
 - urgency of environmental problem, 4–5
 - weak state capacity. See weak state capacity theory
- regulatory bans, 36–8
- regulatory capture, local level, 7, 11–12, 111, 139
 - anti-corruption campaigns, 87–8, 153, 188–9
- regulatory complexity and blunt force regulation, 60–2
- regulatory enforcement campaigns, 38–40, 44, 67–8, 124, 162
- regulatory pluralism. See bottom-up environmental enforcement
- resource shortages rationale for blunt force regulation, 8–10, 44–5, 162
 - figs. 1.1–1.2
- risk- versus rules-based regulation, 33–4
- Rooij, Benjamin van, 15–16, 40
- sanctions for environmental infringements, 9–13, 19, 57–60
- Scott, James C., 178
- Shijiazhuang city, cement factory demolitions
 - acquiescence to, 5, 132, 137–8
 - air quality improvement, 99–100
 - economic effects, 5, 132, 137–8, 156
 - official justification, 71, 86–7
 - political theater/signaling rationale
 - questioned, 87–98
 - SOEs (state-owned enterprises)
 - compensated, 140–1, 153, 189
 - SOEs (state-owned enterprises) shielded, 136–7, 139–40, 156
- Singapore, COVID-19 pandemic response, 176
- SMEs targeted by blunt force regulation
 - examples, 90–1, 106–7, 139–40, 156
 - generally, 41, 138–9, 141–2
 - research evidence, 143–56, tab. 7.1, figs. 7.3–7.4
- social unrest. See also protests against blunt force regulation
 - environmental enforcement leveraging. See bottom-up environmental enforcement
 - frustrated citizens' resort to, 106–16, 120
 - measures to prevent, 4–5, 8–9, 184
 - waste incineration plants, protests against, 190–1
- SOEs (state owned enterprises)
 - compensated for blunt force regulation, 132–3, 135, 140–1, 150, 153, 189
 - pollution by, 148–9
 - shielded from blunt force regulation, 132, 134–7
 - examples, 90, 120, 139–40, 150–6
 - research evidence, 145–56, figs. 7.3–7.4, tab. 7.1
- Soifer, Hillel, 161
- steel production bans, 59, 80–1, 91, 107
 - in Hebei Province, 76, 90, 133, 150–1, 155
- Stern, Rachel E., 15–16
- Strike Hard anti-crime campaign, 40, 68
- temporary production bans, 29–30, 44, 150
- textile factory closures, 61–2, 73–4
- theories for blunt force regulation
 - rationales for blunt force regulation
- Thompson, Mark R., 165
- traffic restrictions, 49
- United Kingdom
 - COVID-19 pandemic, vacillating policies, 176–7
 - regulatory ban on livestock carcass disposals, 37–8
- United States
 - California, 42, 61
 - Clean Air Act, 32, 35–6
 - COVID-19 pandemic impact, 175
 - environmental regulatory enforcement, 9–10, 55, 60–1
- urban planning, blunt force regulation for, 70
- Vietnam, bottom-up environmental enforcement, 109
- waste management policies, 185–6, 190–1, See also Qingyuan e-waste factory closures
- water pollution control. See pollution control
- weak state capacity theory
 - comparative implications. See weak state capacity theory, comparative implications

INDEX

- weak state capacity theory (cont.)
 - high coercive capacity paradox, 3–6, 152, 161, 163
 - low enforcement capacity, 161–4
 - information asymmetries, 54–6, 59, 111
 - sanctions lacking credibility, 12–13, 19, 57–60
 - observable implications, 13–14, 74
 - political risk mitigation strategies. See political risk mitigation
 - principal-agent dynamics of blunt force regulation, 74, fig. 4.1
 - research studies testing. See nationwide study of blunt force regulation; Qingyuan e-waste factory closures
 - summary of, 3–13, 45–6, 50–1, 65, 160, 184
- weak state capacity theory, comparative implications
 - China and (other) developing countries compared, 13–14, 55–6, 163–4, 173–4
 - comparative studies, overview, 164–79, fig. 8.1
 - COVID-19 pandemic responses of developed countries, 33, 174–8, 183–4
 - generalized conclusions, 169, 173, 178–9
 - India, blunt force regulation in, 14, 169–73
 - introduction to discussion, 19–21, 160–1
 - Philippines, blunt force regulation in, 14, 165–9
- Weber, Max, 188
- Weinberg, Jonathan, 34
- Western Europe, COVID-19 pandemic lockdowns, 33, 174–8, 183–4
- winter production bans, 29–30, 44, 150
- worker protests, 133, 135–8
- Xi Jinping
 - administration of. See Chinese central government
 - presidential term limit abolished, 152, 161
- Yasuda, John K., 61