

CONTENTS

List of Figure	page vii
Foreword by David Sedley	ix
Acknowledgements	xvi
1 The Early Academy	I
Plato, Platonists, and Platonism	I
The Early Academy and Its Leading Figures	3
The Academy and Plato	8
The Doctrine of Principles and the Abandonment of the Theory of Forms	II
The Academy and the Sciences: Cosmogony, Cosmology, and Mathematics	21
Epistemology and Dialectic	27
Ethical Issues	30
The Practical Turn: Polemo and Crantor	33
Coming to Plato's Aid	36
2 Platonism and Scepticism? The Academy in the Hellenistic Centuries	38
Platonism and Scepticism?	38
The Academy in the Hellenistic Age	40
Discourses on Method	44
The Debate on Knowledge	45
Knowledge, Opinion, and Action	50
Other Polemics against the Stoics: Freedom, Fate, the Gods, and Ethics	53
Philo of Larissa and the Moderate Turn	56
Scepticism and Platonism	59
The Case of Antiochus	66
3 Towards the System: Platonism in the Early Imperial Age	75
The End of the Academy and the Decentralisation of Philosophy	75
In Search of an Identity: A Map of (Middle) Platonism	78
Editions and Classifications	83
	v

Contents

	Eudorus and the Beginnings of Platonism in Alexandria	86
	The Doctrine of Principles	90
	Cosmological Issues: The Debate on the Eternity of the Universe	95
	Epistemology and Logic	97
	The Ethical Doctrines and the Problem of Fate	100
	Numenius and the Pythagorising Platonists	103
	Platonism and Eastern Religions	110
	A Philosophy for the Empire	114
4	The Triumph of the System: Neoplatonism	116
	A Map of Neoplatonism. The First Stage:
	Ammonius and Plotinus	118
	Platonism in the Third and Fourth Centuries:
	The Contrast between Porphyry and Iamblichus	121
	The School of Athens	126
	Neoplatonism in Alexandria	129
	The Doctrine of Principles: The One and the
	Hierarchical Structure of Reality	132
	From the One to the Many: Intellect and Soul	140
	The Sensible World and the Problem of Evil	147
	The Doctrine of the Soul and Debate on Human Nature	153
	The Aim of Human Life: From Ethics to Contemplation
	and Theurgy	160
	Platonisms: Some Final Remarks	168
	Appendix 1: The Platonists and Politics	171
	Platonists and Politics	171
	Two Platonic Political Doctrines from Speusippus to the
	Neoplatonists	175
	Two Political Platonists: Marcus Tullius Cicero and
	Flavius Claudius Julianus	177
	Christians, Platonism, and Politics: Eusebius and Augustine	185
	Appendix 2: Platonism and Christianity	189
	Platonists against Christianity	190
	Christian ‘Platonisms’	195
	Bibliography	205
	Index	231