absolute, the, 104, 168, 236, 237 absolute idea, the, 223, 233, 237 action caused by reason, 24
explanation of, 29, 128, 167
in Hegel’s Logic, 132
immediate, 214
intentional, 174
and intentions, 126–9 knowledge of, 125–7
primitive concept of, 118, 125
purposive, 24
spontaneous, 23, 30
teleological explanation of, 24
as a teleological process, 212–19
activity
immediate, 133, 214
and the subject matter of ‘Teology’, 132
Adorno, Theodor W., 93
agent knowledge, 125–6
Allison, Henry E., 24, 38, 53, 56
Ameriks, Karl, 19
animal organism
Hegel’s account of, 195–202
infinite, 196
as living universality, 196
as a perfect example of an inner end, 196
as a realised purpose, 197
self-contradiction, 196
subjectivity, 197
animals, 174
as subjects, 117
Anscombe, G. E. M., 72, 125–30
antinomy of judgement, the, 4, 26, 40, 49–57, 240 compared to the antinomy of reason, 52, 56, 137
Hegel’s criticism, 49–52
Kant’s solution, 53–6, 109
and the supersensible, 56
and transcendental idealism, 51
antinomy of reason, the, 2, 50, 52, see also third antinomy, the apagogical proof of its theses, 21
Hegel’s criticism, 23, 26, 30
and the idea of an absolute beginning, 157
Kant’s solution, 27–32, 38, 56
Kant’s views on the validity of its arguments, 23 antiscptical arguments, 121–30 appetites, 35, 84, 117, 118, 140, 141, 167 as external ends, 167
Aristotle
account of the soul, 76 approach to art, 68–75
arguments for natural teleology, 61–75, 82, 85, 145, 163 on art, 71–4
concept of first mover, 26 concept of inner purposiveness, 130–1 concept of life, 73–7, 134 corner of nature, 61, 174, 192 on concurrence, 162
definition of final cause, 67 on deliberation, 71–4
example of final cause, 62, 114 examples of purposiveness, 116 influence on Hegel’s account of purposiveness, 73, 79, 118, 136, 158–64, 166, 176, 239 on kinds of cause, 62, 68 on monsters, 193
on the origin of purposiveness, 156–7 on species of chance, 63 and verifications, 122
art Aristotle’s approach to, 68–75 and deliberation, 71–4, 127
and design, 66
as knowledge, 72
similarity to nature, 68–75

© in this web service Cambridge University Press & Assessment  www.cambridge.org
Index

253

as a logical object, 209, 213–14, 227, 233
as an objective organisation, 18
and spirit, 202, 221, 230
and the state, 225
as subjective purpose, 213–19
syllogism of, 233–19, 234
synthetic, 182, 215
as a teleological process, 212–19
coincidence, 49, 66, 81, 82, 103, 107, 156
as principle of explanation, 64
compatibilism, 30, 32, 159
concept, the
abstract objectivity, 221
captures what being is, 8
as cause, 181–3, 200
element of its realisation, 184
as end in and for itself, 182
existence as an individual, 221
existence as singularity, 184, 185
existence for itself, 170, 185, 220, 232
element quo concept, 17, 184, 219–22, 239
form of its existence, 235
immediate realisation, 174
objective, 41
as soul, 184
the truth of being and essence, 8, 169
unlike representations, 179
concepts
operational, 7, 143, 176
regulative, 47
teleological, 4
conceptual realism, 236
concrete universal, 200
consciousness, 118, 179, 205, 209, 216, 223, 225, 229, 230, 232
Fichte’s approach to, 114
and ‘Teleology’, 18, 116
the truth of, 114, 130
contingency, 65, 66, 88, 89, 93, 103, 174
of antecedent causes, 93
of the efficient-causal relation, 93
of the necessary, 81
of organisation, 67
contradiction
in the absolute, 237
in the animal organism, 196
in the antinomy of reason, 21, 105–6
and apperception, 151
in chemism, 101
in cognition, 237
in the concept of end, 142–5
and the concept of natural end, 47, 51
and the existence of the concept, 185
in Fichte’s refutation of dogmatism, 115
in the idea, 185

as a logical object, 209, 213–14, 227, 233
as an objective organisation, 18
and spirit, 202, 221, 230
and the state, 225
as subjective purpose, 213–19
syllogism of, 233–19, 234
synthetic, 182, 215
as a teleological process, 212–19
coincidence, 49, 66, 81, 82, 103, 107, 156
as principle of explanation, 64
compatibilism, 30, 32, 159
concept, the
abstract objectivity, 221
captures what being is, 8
as cause, 181–3, 200
element of its realisation, 184
as end in and for itself, 182
existence as an individual, 221
existence as singularity, 184, 185
existence for itself, 170, 185, 220, 232
element quo concept, 17, 184, 219–22, 239
form of its existence, 235
immediate realisation, 174
objective, 41
as soul, 184
the truth of being and essence, 8, 169
unlike representations, 179
concepts
operational, 7, 143, 176
regulative, 47
teleological, 4
conceptual realism, 236
concrete universal, 200
consciousness, 118, 179, 205, 209, 216, 223, 225, 229, 230, 232
Fichte’s approach to, 114
and ‘Teleology’, 18, 116
the truth of, 114, 130
contingency, 65, 66, 88, 89, 93, 103, 174
of antecedent causes, 93
of the efficient-causal relation, 93
of the necessary, 81
of organisation, 67
contradiction
in the absolute, 237
in the animal organism, 196
in the antinomy of reason, 21, 105–6
and apperception, 151
in chemism, 101
in cognition, 237
in the concept of end, 142–5
and the concept of natural end, 47, 51
and the existence of the concept, 185
in Fichte’s refutation of dogmatism, 115
in the idea, 185

artefacts, 45–8, 61, 76, 80, 85, 111, 117, 121, 149, 171, 174
and ideas, 181
as realised ends in ‘Teleology’, 148
as relative ends, 160
assimilation
process of, 186, 193–200
attractor, 89
Austin, John L., 126
Balme, David M., 72
Bildungstheor, 48, 54
Birch, Jonathan, 89
Bowman, Brady, 6, 11, 92, 93, 108
Brandon, Robert B., 8, 232, 238
Breitenbach, Angela, 53, 56
Buffon, George-Louis Leclerc de, 186, 201
Cameron, Rich, 68
cause. See also efficient cause, final cause.
absolutely spontaneous, 19, 22 accidental, 163
of action, 23
as (cause and) effect of itself, 44, 151, 185
as effect, 21
influence on living beings, 161 of itself, 76, 141–4, 158, 165, 170, 201, 241 kinds of (in Aristotle), 62 mechanical, 40, 98, 154, 161
mechanical object as indetermined, 96 of moral action, 26
natural event as, 26, 86
of nature, 154
non-moving, 31
non-transitive, 108
organisation as, 158
proximate, 89
rational (in Kant), 178
self-determining, 158
uncaused, 19, 23, 158
chance, 60, 62, 63, 66, 82, 89, 156, 157
as cause, 163
combined with necessity, 65 and proper functions, 157 species of (in Aristotle), 63 Charlton, William, 65, 72
chemism, 82, 100–4, 139, 197 real contradiction, 101 self-determination in, 102 cognition, 36, 37, 47, 56, 59, 70, 96, 123, 125
and contradiction, 237
as a form of life, 208, 221
as inner purpose, 233
as judgment, 221
life of, 176, 177

© in this web service Cambridge University Press & Assessment www.cambridge.org
contradiction (cont.)
between the individual and the genus, 102
in the Logic, 144
of the mechanical object, 97, 100 in mechanism, 93, 98, 106, 108 between mechanism and teleology, 41, 158, 160 in nature, 190, 220
in necessity, 81
in the purposive connection, 119 between substance and subject, 2
Cooper, Andrew, 16
Cummins, Robert, 16, 152, 155

Darwin, Charles, 3, 155–8, 201
Darwinism, 3, 16, 155, 201
Deacon, Terrence, 242
Dennett, Daniel C., 158, 242
Derrida, Jacques, 5, 9
determinism, 83, 98, 101, 105
Hegel’s approach to, 96
DeVries, Willem A., 113
dialectic, 7, 106, 237
dogmatism, 238
drive, 196, 214, see also needs and drives.
Duque, Félix, 113, 236–8

Earth, the, 194, 226
Echandía, Guillermo R. de, 193 efficient cause, 22, 66, 67, 68, 141, 146, 151, 158, 160

and explanation, 84–94, 159
indetermined causal role, 91, 94
Kant’s concept of, 67, 83
Empedocles, 65, 156
and Darwin, 157

end/purpose (Zweck), 3, 14, 45, see also natural end, purposiveness, purposive connection, subjective purpose, realised purpose.
abstract concept of, 116 action carried out for the sake of, 24, 69, 73 of art, 71–4
as cause, 37, 66, 77, 78
as cause of itself, 156, 141–4, 150
of cognition, 235
contradictory essence, 142–5 contrasted to efficient causes, 141 essential connection to a means, 120 and externality, 142–4
as final cause (in Aristotle), 62 and functions, 16
Hegel’s definition of, 82, 104, 105, 141–3 inner, 40, 76, 134, 137, 172, 183, 187, 196, 204, 226, 240
and intentional action, 125

in and for itself, 13, 40, 44, 55, 148, 150, 165, 173, 175, 177, 182, 196, 204, 234, 240
Kant’s definition of, 58, 142
kinds of, 8
as a logical object, 5, 10, 11
and metaphysics, 4
moral law as, 33
as natural cause, 71
of nature, 75
non-relative, 40, 123
objective, 12, 13, 55, 134
proximate, 74
of reason, 77
relative, 43
as represented cause (in Kant), 77 and subjectivity, 117
true, 79
ultimate, 74
unmoved, 225
essentialism, 16, 81, 201
Hegel’s purported, 16 ethical, the

logical characterisation, 224
evolution, 156, 191, 222 explanation, 12
of action, 24, 29, 30, 128, 167 by antecedent causes, 21, 67 in the antinomy of judgement, 57
in the antinomy of reason, 27, 30, 159
arbitrary, 107, 170
by coincidence, 64, 163 complete, full, 21–2, 28, 93 and conditions, 28
and determinism, 97
by efficient causes, 55, 64, 80, 84–94, 159 empty, 163, 170
functional, 152
of intentionality, 242
in interaction, 94
by laws of nature, 48, 64, 81, 83 of life forms, 154
limited causal, 85–94
in the Logic, 164
in matter, 64
mechanical, 51, 52, 54, 55, 66, 67, 93–104, 108, 159, 161, 163
natural, 222
of natural ends, 48
of organisms, 67, 153, 199 from parts to whole, 54, 101 of phenomena, 49
principle of, 20, 62, 70
and purposiveness, 52, 160
scientific, 81, 92
and self-determination, 108
Index

self-sufficient, 80
of species, 155
of spirit, 222
tautological, 97
teleological, 24, 54, 56, 73, 90, 146, 147, 152, 159, 176, 199
and truth, 108
of well-constituted things, 65, 67 external purposiveness, 11, 43, 79, 109, 148, 154 Kant’s approach to, 42–4
syllogism of, 197, 214
the truth of, 148, 164–7, 171
externality
in the animal organism, 195–201
of causality, 108
and chemism, 101
and cognition, 221
determination of the idea in nature, 190–4, 244 and the idea, 235
and mechanism, 82, 98, 100, 102, 132
and the process of the genus, 202
and purposiveness, 120, 142–4
Falcon, Andrea, 68
Ferrari, Alfredo, 8, 26, 176, 177, 212
Ferrini, Cinzia, 109
Fichte, Johann G., 89, 125, 149, 181 on being for itself, 208 and the refutation of mechanism, 114 final cause, 22, 41, 75, 98, 138, 146, 160, 161, 166, 167, 174, 192
Aristotle’s definition of, 67, 68
Aristotle’s example of, 62, 114 first mover as (in Aristotle), 26 Kant’s concept of, 67–8, 83
in Kant’s critical philosophy, 25 Kant’s example of, 68, 114 and the practical-causal role of reason, 25 Spinoza’s discussion of, 118 and the third antimony, 22–6 Findlay, John N., 9
first mover
in the antimony of reason, 22 Aristotle’s concept of, 26
definition of, 22
form, 147, 152, 156, 169
as cause, 156, 146, 180, 192
as end, 75, 159, 192
as idea, 178
individual, 199
and productive causes, 131 freedom, 129, 137, 225, 227, 238, see also transcendental freedom.
and the absolute idea, 223
causality of, 31–9
of the living, 161
practical, 20, 24, 38
spirit as, 219
Fulda, Hans-Friedrich, 9, 213 functions contemporary accounts of, 15–16 proper, 15, 157
of the soul (in Aristotle), 76
Gambarotto, Andrea, 59, 164, 242
Garon, Justin, 15
Gentry, Gerard, 240
genus, 44, 102, 103, see also process of the genus.
abstraction, 201, 221, 222 existence for itself, qua genus, 188, 206, 212, 232, 236
Ginsborg, Hannah, 50, 53, 14, 17, 66, 76
Glennan, Stuart, 96
Godfrey-Smith, Peter, 15
Goethe, Johann W., 191
Graham, Daniel W., 26
Guye, Paul, 39 habit, 17, 176, 184
and art, 73–4
form of existence of spirit, 228–32
and self-consciousness, 228
Haig, David, 158
Halbig, Christoph, 213
Harris, Errol E., 16
Heidegger, Martin, 75, 122, 219
Hobbes, Thomas, 159
Hölder, Vittorio, 9, 169, 215, 237–8
Houlgate, Stephen, 23, 106
Hudson, Hud, 30
Hume, David, 51, 159, 230
on causal explanation, 86–7 idea, the. See also ideas.
and contradiction, 185
different from the concept more generally, 177
immediate, 184
immediate verum mediate realisation, 189 means of realisation, 189, 220–1 and objectivity, 169
ture mode of existence, 203 idealism. See also transcendental idealism. and the finite (in Hegel), 91, 100
post-Kantian, 150
ideas
and artefacts, 181
as the concept of things, 178–83
definition of, 168, 177

© in this web service Cambridge University Press & Assessment  www.cambridge.org
Index

256

ideas (cont.)
as inner ends, 182
Kant’s account of, 177–8
objectivity, 177–83
Illeterati, Luca, 154
immediacy, 119–20, 131, 144 and mediation, 216–18
impulse, 131, 133, 143, 181, 182, 196, 198, 209
and inner purposiveness, 196
individual, 198
inadequacy to the immanent genus, 198
the state as, 226
individuality, 189, 191, 221, 222, 226, 227, 231 process of the living, 199 inner purposiveness, 11, 103, 130–1, 134, 138, 151, 153
of cognition and action, 218 and impulses and instincts, 196 and natural life, 172–5 projection in the Realphilosophie, 14
of spirit, 219
in ‘Teleology’, 118
the truth of external purposiveness, 148 the truth of teleology, 175 intentions, 73, 77, 84, 113, 118 and action, 126–9
expression, 121
language of, 129
and the subject matter of ‘Teleology’, 111–18, 132 interaction, 19, 90–4
Adorno on, 93
and explanation, 94
and the third antinomy, 107

Jacobi, Friedrich, 115, 137, 208, 222
Jaeschke, Walter, 213
Johnson, Monte R., 68
Jonas, Hans, 115
Juarrero, Alicia, 242
judgement
Kant’s approach to, 41
maxims of, 3, 49–57, 158, 172 judgment
absolute teleological, 43 categorical, 180
reason to, 221
evaluative, 180
in an objective sense, 188 positive, 180
teleological, 61, 113, 135, 157

Kant, Immanuel
account of purposiveness, 42 account of teleology, 3 account of the will, 33–7, 121 analysis of the concept of natural end, 45–9, 58–9, 67–8, 83, 151 approach to external purposiveness, 42–4 approach to judgement, 41 Aristotelian elements in his approach to natural teleology, 76

on causal explanation, 87–8
concept of efficient cause, 67, 83 concept of final cause, 67–8, 83 corner of process, 37
critique of the modern metaphysics of the
soul, 209–10
definition of end, 18, 142 definition of metaphysics, 4
example of final cause, 68, 114
on ideas, 177–8
on the inexplicability of organised beings, 48, 51 on moral duty, 24, 25, 32, 121, 178 on the moral law, 33, 35, 36, 38 on moral psychology, 34 on purposiveness and the origin of organised beings, 135
rigorism, 34
solution to the antinomy of judgement, 53–6 solution to the antinomy of reason, 38 solution to the third antinomy, 27–32 on Spinoza’s idealism of purposiveness, 138 on the validity of the arguments of the antinomy of reason, 23

Krippner, Franz, 16, 186, 201
Kreines, James, 8, 9, 11, 92, 93, 97, 101, 108, 112, 123, 153, 164, 186, 201, 213, 223, 240
Kripke, Saul, 87

language, 17
abstract character, 233
the existence of spirit, 230
and habit, 230
intentional versus scientific, 129 and recognition, 231

Lasalle, Ferdinand, 158 law of nature, 32, 41, 46, 48, 66, 129
and contingency, 90
exceptionless, 88, 93
and mechanical, 49, 52, 64, 71, 83, 85, 153 in the Phenomenology of Spirit, 92
Leibniz, Gottfried W., 89
Lennox, James G., 72
Lenzsen, Mariska, 62, 63, 68, 76 life
Aristotle’s concept of, 75–7
element of its realisation, 176
imperishable form of the idea, 170

and inner purposiveness, 76
for itself, 187, 199, 242
kinds of, 169–70, 175–7, 183, 206
logical concept, 169, 183 as presupposition of cognition, 222
purpose, 75–7
spiritual, 184, 205–12
the truth of, 188
Lindquist, Daniel, 201 Logic, the characteristic abstraction, 223
and contradiction, 144
and explanation, 164
as metaphysics, 138, 151, 223 method, 168
not an epistemology by other means, 7, 213, 239 object, 1, 4, 5, 7, 177
purpose, 14, 221, 236–9
and thought, 7
Longuenesse, Béatrice, 4
MacDonald, Graham, 242
Malabou, Catherine, 18, 176, 232, 236
Malcolm, Norman, 115
Marx, Karl, 118
maxims, 36, 178
of judgement, 3, 49–57, 118, 172
McDowell, John, 176
McFarland, John D., 53
McLaughlin, Peter, 15, 16, 51, 53, 54, 56, 186 means, 5, 14, 33, 51, 69, 94, 102, 109, 119, 128, 148, 174, 176, 184, 197, 215–17, 228, 234, 237
and deliberation, 72
as end, 12
and external purposiveness, 42
Hegel’s examples of, 111
mechanism as, 10, 54, 81, 103, 132 of realisation of the idea, 189, 212, 214, 222–1
as a realised purpose, 116, 119, 142, 147, 150, 165, 202, 204, 218
reference to an end in itself, 148
as relative ends, 43, 113, 144, 151, 165
as subject matter of ‘Teleology’, 113, 140 as a teleological concept, 10 mechanical object
as a contradictory object, 97
Hegel’s account of, 95
indetermination, 95
mechanical process, 99–100 mechanism
and appearance, 98
free, 146
Hegel’s concept of, 94
subordination to the purposive connection, 109

the truth of, 82, 104–10
as the truth of the causal relation, 94
Meerbote, Ralf, 30
Menke, Christoph, 176
Merkel, Barbara, 176
metamorphosis, 191, 237
metaphysics, 2–8
and abstract questions, 5 and epistemology, 4
Kant’s definition of, 4
and the logic, 138
misguidings concerning, 5–7 possibility, 6
and ‘Teleology’, 138
and transcendental philosophy, 4
Michelini, Francesca, 164, 242
Millikan, Ruth G., 15, 112, 137, 202, 242 moral duty and the causality of action (in Kant), 24, 25, 121, 178 moral law, 130
authority of (in Kant), 35, 38 source in reason (in Kant), 36 and the will (in Kant), 33, 38
Moran, Richard, 129
Mossio, Matteo, 16

natural end (Natursinn), 40, 241 compared to artefacts, 46
definition of, 44
Kant’s analysis of, 45–9, 58–9, 67–8, 83, 111

nature
Aristotle’s concept of, 61, 192
as cause, 61
double aspect (in Hegel), 191
as final cause, 66
as a form of the idea, 191
Hegel’s account of, 190–4
impotence, 190–3
and lack of purpose, 62 mechanism of, 44, 51
order of, 42
as principle of self-production, 75–7 and prototypes, 193
and purpose, 61
similarity to art, 68–75 of something, 61, 179
as source of purposiveness, 61
substrate of, 56
truth of, 176
as unresolved contradiction, 190, 220 Neander, Karen, 15, 152, 202 necessity, 66, 174
combined with chance, 65, 67, 85
and contingency, 98
Index

language of, 2
need for, 1
programme of Hegel’s, 2
Pinkard, Terry, 2, 176
Pippin, Robert B., 4, 9, 12, 93, 96, 97, 112, 123, 191, 169, 201, 232, 240
Plato, 92, 168, 178, 181 process of the genus, 172–5, 186–90, 197–202
and the state, 226–7
purposive connection (Zweckbeziehung), 82, 83, 151, 237, 243
and contradiction, 119
purposiveness (Zweckmaßigkeit), 52, 174, see also external purposiveness, inner purposiveness.
Aristotle’s examples of, 116
derivative, 73–4
Hegel’s examples of, 117
and immediacy, 119–20, 130–1
Kant’s account of, 42
the truth of necessity, 163
Quarfood, Marcel, 50, 53, 54, 56
Quine, Willard V. O., 87
Rand, Sebastian, 198, 200 realised purpose, 120, 148, 200, 226, 234, 235
animal organism as, 197
means as, 116, 119, 142, 147, 150, 165, 204, 218
the state as, 227
reason, 21
as cause of action, 24
and dialectic, 106
Hegel’s concept of, 237
implications of Kant’s critique of, 36 source of the moral law (in Kant), 36 representation, 37
of the moral law (in Kant), 34
as paradigm of final cause (in Kant), 68 purposiveness and mental, 153
and transcendental idealism, 27
unlike the concept, 179 reproduction, 147, 186, 196
Rosy, Richard, 1, 9, 238
Roth, Martin, 155
Sartre, Jean Paul, 129
Schelling, Friedrich W. J., 108 on the conceivability of organisation, 206–8 on the state as an organism, 181 Schmied-Kowarzik, Woldetrich, 208 second nature, 176, 184, 202, 228 and the existence of concepts, 17
Sedgwick, Sally, 23, 108, 219
Sedley, David, 65

necessity (cont.)
explanatory alternative to chance and purposiveness, 64 inherent to matter, 65, 162 needs, 155, 147, 196, see also needs and drives. needs and drives, 117, 134, 138, 182
Ng, Karen, 83, 91, 95, 108, 124, 161
Nietzsche, Friedrich, 179 on Hegel and Darwin, 17 nominalism, 15, 16, 201 non-observational knowledge, 125–7 nutrition, 76, 186, 199, 201 objectivism, 18
objectivity, 1, 4, 96, 98, 100, 105, 118, 133, 164, 166, 222
and the absolute idea, 234
animated by an intention, 127 of the concept, 8, 104–10, 177
of ideas, 169, 177–83
immediate, 144
indifferent, external, 119, 140, 143 and life, 131, 184–8
of the self, 210–11
of spirit, 212, 219–32
sublation, 133, 144, 149–53, 188
and the syllogism of cognition, 214–18 of thought, 8
organisation, 44, 109
as cause, 158
and mechanical laws, 48 of a natural end, 46
organised being/organism, 44, 65, 66, see also animal organism.
Aristotle on purposiveness and the origin of, 156–7
as cause and effect of itself, 76
geological, 194–5
Hegel on purposiveness and the origin of, 155–8
inner purposiveness, 172
and interaction, 94
Kant on purposiveness and the origin of, 155
Kant on the inexplicability of, 48, 51
Kant’s concept of, 77
kinds of (in Hegel), 194
as logical concept, 227
the state as, 225
syllogism of, 197
vegetable, 195
Papineau, David, 242
Peperzak, Adriaan Th., 176
philosophy
Hegel’s account of, 238

Cambridge University Press & Assessment
978-1-009-30494-8 — True Purposes in Hegel’s Logic
Edgar Maraguat
Index
More Information
self-activity, 76
self-consciousness, 228
and habit, 228
Hegel’s account of, 210–11
logical form, 205–12
the truth of consciousness, 114, 130 self-determination, 108 self-end (Selbstzweck), 13, 137, 169, 177, 181, 196, 234 self-knowledge, 130
self-organisation, 46, 172 essential to natural life, 195 self-realisation, 213 self-reference, 187
Sellars, Wilfrid, 129
sex relation, 102, 188
singularity, 189, 202, 204
as form of existence of life, 221 as form of existence of the concept, 184 of the living individual, 189
soul, 170
Aristotle’s account of, 76
as concept, 184, 197
metaphysics of, 210–11
Spahn, Christian, 9, 108, 169
Spallanzani, Lazaro, 133 species, 155, 199–202
Hegel’s account of, 17
speculative sentence, 2, 158, 160, 218 Spinoza, Baruch, 140, 198, 162, 222 on appetites, 117, 167
and the critique of arguments for natural teleology, 84
on final causes, 118
on teleological terms, 3 spirit, 132, 170
absolute, 226
as cognition, 202, 230
element of its existence, 220–1, 227–32 emergence, 189, 221–2
existence in the form of an objective world, 221, 224, 228
as freedom, 219
as habit, 228–32
imperishable life, 239
Kant’s and Fichte’s traditional approach to the teleology of, 18
manifestation of itself, 175, 219
objectivity, 219–32
objectivity qua spirit, 224 purposiveness, 183, 219, 220 and subjective purpose, 213 the truth of nature, 176, 202 and universality, 212
as universality that is for itself, 189 state
absolute, unmoved end, 225 Hegel’s example of idea, 181 immanent end of the ethical, 225
logical characterisation, 224–7
as an organism, 225
and the process of the genus, 226–7
as a self-sufficient individual, 226
Stecher-Weithofer, Firmin, 12, 123, 161
Stern, Robert, 6, 92
Stone, Allison, 84
Strawson, Peter F., 123 subjective purpose, 14, 130, 148, 209, 219
of cognition, 213–19
Hegel’s examples of, 138
as impulse, 143
and spirit, 213
subjectivity, 1, 117, 124, 151, 195, 209, 222
of the animal organism, 197
of the concept, 177
of subjective purposes, 209
sublation, 236–7
of the antinomy of judgement, 19, 240 of the antinomy of reason, 19
of cognition, 233
of externality, 120
of mechanism in teleology, 104–10 of objectivity, 133, 144, 149–53, 188
operational concept, 143
of the particularity of individuals, 189, 224 syllogism
of cognition, 213–19, 234
of external purposiveness, 214, 215 of inner purposiveness, 217 of practical (or immediate) realisation, 215 Taylor, Charles, 11, 123, 125–30
teleology
as abstract purposiveness, 79
Aristotle’s arguments for a natural, 61–75 centrality in Hegel’s philosophy, 9
of cognition and action, 218
as external purposiveness, 79 and God’s designs, 113
Hegel’s monistic account of, 14, 166
immediate, 130
Kant’s account of, 3
maxim of, 3, 49
objective, 40
reliable sign of, 75
as suspect for modern philosophy, 3
the truth of, 118, 149, 161, 168
as the truth of mechanism, 60, 104–10

Index
260

Index

truth, 217
Hegel’s approach to, 6, 166, 179, 209
operational concept, 176
subject matter of the logic, 209 unconditioned, the, 5, 177
and metaphysics, 4
universality, 188, 221
animal organism as, 196
form of existence of spirit, 254
of the genus, 198
of the idea, 189, 222
for itself, 189
of spirit, 212, 219

Varela, Francisco J., 242
Wandschneider, Dieter, 16
Weber, Andreas, 242
Westphal, Kenneth, 108
will, 205
effective power, 32
in Hegel’s Logic, 132
Kant’s account of, 33–7, 121
the state as substantial, 224
Willaschek, Marcus, 26
Wittgenstein, Ludwig, 72, 87, 125
Wolf, W. Clark, 198, 201
Wolff, Michael, 18, 171–7, 197, 222, 230
Wood, Allen W., 20
Wouters, Arno, 15
Wright, Larry, 152
Yeomans, Christopher, 11, 91–4, 99, 112, 115, 132, 163

Zammito, John H., 52, 242
Zanetti, Véronique, 51, 56
Žižek, Slavoj, 176

Teleology, the chapter argument, 112
conclusions, 12, 120, 134, 164, 168–71, 175 enigma for the reception, 9 Hegel’s examples in, 148 poses an aporia, 12, 116, 119, 134, 144–5 positioning, 8
purpose, 11
relevance, 153, 169, 203
results, 10, 153
subject matter, 79, 111–18, 131–4, 138–42 as a transcendental argument, 123 turning point, 119, 150 teleosemantics, 242
things in themselves, 27–9, 53
possibility, 51, 52
third antinomy, the, 20–32, 115 and efficient causes, 88 and final causes, 22–6
Hegel on contradiction in, 105–6
Hegel’s resolution, 19, 107–8
Kant’s solution, 27–32
and the truth of mechanism, 104–5 thought, 222, 234, 235
and the logic, 7
pure, 235
thought-determinations, 1, 201, 223 characteristic abstraction of (in the logic), 1, 131–2
and operational concepts, 176
pure, 1–8
transcendental arguments, 123–30
transcendental freedom, 5, 22
practical reality, 36
scope of Kant’s proof of the objective reality of, 31–8
transcendental idealism, 27, 30, 39 and the antinomy of judgement, 51 and perspectives, 29, 30, 51, 56, 159 and the self, 210