

Index

- 9/11
 - as iconic ‘crisis’ event 224
 - rebuilding effort 94–95
 - security driven interventionism 285
- access, inequality of 71–72
- accountability in warfare 144–146, 163–164, 179
 - see also* justification for warfare
- action, levels of, in informational warfare 82–85
- adaptability of humans 201–203
- ad hoc-ratic leadership 210–211
- advocacy, crisis situations 221
- Afghanistan war
 - defining military success 171–172
 - as Forever War 11–12
 - NATO offensive 173–177
- Al Qaeda
 - public opinion 155–156
 - role in 9/11 224
 - role in Syria 237
 - ties with Iran 12
- alternative truths 35–53, 81–82, 93–95
 - see also* post truth
- Anti-Maidan + say no to Fascism Community* 265
- Arab Spring
 - branding 234
 - media characterisation 293–300
 - social media use 86, 204
 - transformation of the global order 7
- Arab Winter 127, 234
- Aristotle 118
- armed forces see military personnel
- armed suasion 162
- artificial intelligence
 - detecting fake news 208–209
 - impact on society 200–201
 - perception 101
 - post-humanity 105–106
- Assange, Julian 122–123
- “Big Five” personality traits 89–90
- bots 27–28
- branding (media communication) 234, 275, 283–284, 288–289
- Brexit 90
- Bruce-Lovett Report 238–239
- Bush, George W. 67
- Cambridge Analytica 88–91, 102
- Cameron, David 151
- character assassination
 - impact power 94–95
 - introduction of concept 98
 - targets and tools 91–93, 97
 - weaponry 97–99
- character attack 94
- China
 - centralized society 107–108
 - COVID-19 pandemic 326, 331, 334, 336
 - role in Syria 297
 - transformation of the global order 5–7
- Chinese approach to war
 - compared to Western approach 64–65
 - strategy 128–129
 - Sun Tzu 60–61
- civil society
 - Euromaidan movement, Ukraine 289–290
 - leaderless revolutions 86–88
 - Niccolo Machiavelli 62–72
- civil war
 - defining 278–279
 - geopolitics 278–284
 - Syria 293–302
 - Ukraine 286–293, 300–302
- classical geopolitics 249
- cognitive dissonance 92, 115
- Cold War era
 - changing global order 3–4, 9
 - civil wars 280
 - global geopolitical landscape 246–247

354 Index

- Cold War era (cont.)
 - impact on wars and warfare 162–163
 - informational warfare 33
 - nature of wars and warfare 144
 - subversion 237–238
- collective (street demonstrations) 87
- collective consciousness 86–88
- Colour Revolutions 234–236
- commercial information 65
- communications
 - in crises 221–222
 - and critical geopolitics 249–250
 - decentralization 107
 - the internet 115–116
 - perception of conflicts 274–278
 - theory and practice in warfare 152–161
- Communism, use of subversion 237–238
- confirmation bias 93–106
- conspiracy theories
 - COVID-19 pandemic 333–334
 - use of language 119–122
 - Western hybrid warfare 231–232
- contra-flow 149–150
- coronavirus see COVID-19 pandemic
- counter terrorism see Global War On Terrorism (GWOT)
- counterinsurgency (COIN) 165–166
- coups 237–239
- covert operations
 - in contemporary conflicts 10
 - military success 168–170
 - US foreign policy 7
 - of the West 156–161
- COVID-19 pandemic 18
 - as crisis situation 316–320, 343
 - fake news 25–42
 - fear about 52
 - impact on human behavior and society 308–309
 - impact on international relations and global security 309, 319–330
 - informational warfare 334–337
 - isolation effects 310–312
 - lessons learned 330–335
 - Michelangelo effect 314–316
 - professional elites and democracy 316–319
 - social media relationships and false identities 313–314
 - as threat to humanity 309–313
- crises
 - COVID-19 pandemic 316–320, 343
 - defining 220–221
 - Euromaidan movement, Ukraine 257, 262–265
 - iconic events 224–225
 - manufacturing a crisis and its implications 220–224
 - public perception of 219–220, 347
- critical geopolitics 249–250
- Cuban Missile Crisis 345
- culture
 - dualistic nature of war 16–17, 113
 - international relations 5
 - international values 135–137
 - Western philosophy 128–135
- cyber warfare
 - as first type of informational warfare 21–22
 - security in the digital age 155–156
 - Web 2.0 68
- deception
 - tactics of Niccolo Machiavelli 62
 - tactics of Sun Tzu 61
 - Western foreign policy 158–159
- defamation 98–100
 - see also* character assassination
- defensive accommodative strategies 122–123
- democracy
 - COVID-19 and the professional elites 316–319
 - development of 33–53
 - ideological and political warfare 233–234
 - impact of social media 189, 198–201, 204–211
 - impact of technology 186, 203–205
 - informational warfare 91
 - as justification for warfare 172–173, 284–286
 - liberalism 133–134
 - political correctness 193–194
 - self-belief of West 138–139
 - sentimentalization 191
 - Western hybrid warfare 229–232
- democracy assistance programmes 227
- democracy resistance 231–232
- democratization, of truth 104, 207–208
- Disinformation 2.0 49–51
- disinformation campaigns 25–42, 46–52, 61
 - see also* fake news; informational warfare
- drone technology 197–198
- drug trade 176–177
- dualistic nature of war 16–17, 113
- “echo chambers” 28, 45
- economic crises 320
- electorate, role of social media 88–91, 204–211

- electronic warfare (EW) 30–31
 see also informational warfare
- elite society 235–236
- emotions
 - COVID-19 pandemic 52, 316–326
 - levels of action 84–85
 - post-factual 103
 - prestige motive 131–132
 - and rational thinking 44–46
 - revenge 130–131
 - rhetoric 52–53, 119–122
 - social mobilisation and political behaviour 246–247
 - terrorism 70, 147–148
- Endless Wars see Forever Wars
- enthusiasm 246–247
- Euromaidan movement, Ukraine
 - anti-Euromaidan 254, 262–265
 - media portrayal 246–247, 286–293
 - pro-Euromaidan 253–254, 259–262
 - social media research project 252–254, 266–267
 - TechCamps 289–290
- European Union (EU)
 - approach to security 195–196
 - disinformation campaigns 25–44
 - fake news 40
 - informational warfare 25–26
- extremism see political extremism
- fake news 20
 - communication technology 159–161
 - confirmation bias 93–106
 - Disinformation 2.0 49–51
 - identification of 44
 - informational warfare 39–44, 49–51
 - relativisation of information 52–53
 - Romania 85–102
 - trust in leadership 47–48
 - use of AI 208–209
- Falklands War 68
- fear
 - COVID-19 pandemic 52
 - emotions and rational thinking 44–46
 - social mobilisation and political behaviour 246–247
 - of terrorism 70
- Ferguson, Niall 107, 209
- fog of war 226–228
- foreign policy
 - changing global order 7–8, 273
 - crisis situations 222
 - current debates in 1–2
 - purpose in 1–2, 73, 295
- subversion and covert operations 234–240
- warfare as goal 343–344
- Western 156–161, 229–232
- Forever Wars
 - denialism 170–173
 - political support for 11
 - results and costs of 144–145
 - troops in Afghanistan 11–12
 - Western foreign policy 159
- free information 65
- freedom of speech 91
 see also media censorship
- G2 320–321
- G20 321
- G7/G8 321
- GCHQ 120
- geopolitics
 - civil war 278–284
 - critical geopolitics and communication 249–250
 - defining 281
 - persuasion and influence 247–249
 - shatterbelts 281–284
 - and social media 17, 246–247
 - trends and transformations of 21st century warfare 349–351
- Ukraine as case study 255–259
- Ukrainian protestors research project 252–254, 266–267
- Web 2.0 250–252, 259–265
- West vs Russia 291–292
- Giuliana, Rudolph 94–95
- global order, transformation in 1–2
 - changing foreign policies 273
 - COVID-19 pandemic effects 319–330
 - erosion of US position 3–9, 160–161
 - multipolarity 1–2
 - New Cold War 74–75
 - symbolism and positioning 123–128
 - trends and transformations of 21st century warfare 349–351
- Global War On Terrorism (GWOT)
 - informational warfare 147–148
 - nature of wars and warfare 144
 - political support for 11
 - results and costs of 144–145
- globalisation
 - COVID-19 pandemic 326
 - impact on wars and warfare 163
 - informational warfare 28–29
 - Western-Centric global order 4
- The Great Delusion: Liberal Dreams and International Realities* (Mearsheimer) 4

356 Index

- guerrilla diplomacy 236–237
- Guerrilla warfare 61
- Haas, Richard 4–5
- hegemonic flow 149–150
- hegemony see global order, transformation in
- historical context
 - 20th century warfare 9–10
 - 21st century warfare as qualitatively different 342–345
 - culture and identity 135–137
 - intangible elements of war 60–64
 - Western-Centric global order 3–4
- humanitarian crises
 - defining 220–221
 - Euromaidan movement, Ukraine 257, 262–265
 - iconic events 224–225
 - manufacturing a crisis and its implications 220–224
 - public perception of 219–220, 347
 - ‘humanitarian’ interventions
 - democracy assistance programmes 227
 - as justification for warfare 164, 285–286
 - language used 72–73, 122–123
 - Responsibility To Protect concept 126
- hybrid warfare
 - 21st century warfare as qualitatively different 342–345
 - in contemporary conflicts 285–286
 - defining 230–231
 - see also* Western hybrid warfare
- iconic ‘crisis’ events 224–225
- identity
 - COVID-19 pandemic and social media 313–314
 - definitions of 277–278
 - impact of social media 192, 194–200
 - international relations 211–213
 - international values 135–137
- ideology 233–234
- image manipulation 102
- India, transformation of the global order 5–7
- inequality of access 71–72
- infodemic 120
 - COVID-19 pandemic 308, 336
- information, role in warfare 13–15, 148–152
- Information Age 21–22, 228
- information flows
 - concepts and role in armed conflict 148–152
 - language 116–117
 - production of knowledge 75
 - theory and practice of communication 152–161
 - types of information 65
 - Web 2.0 266–267
- information security 65–69
- Information Superiority 275–277
- informational power 22–23
- informational representation 115–120
- informational warfare
 - altering reality 100–102
 - Cambridge Analytica, like-ography and contemporary developments 88–91
 - character assassination 91–93, 97
 - complementary issues and research 52–53
 - a concept that unites multiple fields 95–97
 - COVID-19 pandemic 18, 332–337
 - defining 20–26
 - disinformation and militarisation 31–32
 - Euromaidan movement, Ukraine 259–265
 - expansion and development 33–35
 - fake news 39–44, 49–51
 - generations of 16, 79–85
 - influence on society 46–52
 - instrumentation and functionality 35–53
 - inter-relation of physical, informational and cognitive components 275–278
 - levels of action 82–85
 - military approach 30–31
 - offensive weapons 93–95
 - post truth 100–108
 - rationalising the concept 26–30, 44–46
 - the social construct in the virtual space 86–88
 - theoretical and institutional approaches 21–24
 - as threat and opportunity 65–69
 - truth 16
- insurgency
 - prerequisites for 165–166
 - as tactic 69–71
- intangible elements of war 16, 58–60
 - effects of 346
 - historical framing 60–64
 - information as threat and opportunity 65–69
 - Information Superiority 275–277
 - prestige motive 131–132
 - revenge 130–131
 - symbolism and positioning 123–128
 - targeting tangible versus intangible assets 69–76

- Western hybrid warfare 219
- interdisciplinarity, informational warfare 26–30
- international community 234
- international relations
 - COVID-19 pandemic 309, 319–330
 - crisis situations 222
 - culture 5
 - identity and leadership 211–213
 - impact of technology 203–205
 - persuasion and influence 247–249
 - subversion 237
 - see also* global order, transformation in
- international travel 331
- international values 135–137
- the internet
 - communication via 115–116
 - cyber warfare 21–22, 68, 155–156
 - informational warfare 27–28
 - post truth 104
 - threats to security 186
 - Web 2.0 68, 250–252, 259–265
- Iraq war
 - defining military success 171–172
 - nature of 73
 - political considerations 64, 67
 - terrorism as justification 12
 - use of metaphor 117–118
- isolation (COVID-19 pandemic) 309–313, 315–329
- Just War 124–127
- justification for warfare
 - countering terrorism 11–13, 64, 295–296
 - democracy 172–173, 284–286
 - ‘humanitarian’ interventions 285–286
 - impact on military personnel 73–74
 - influencing perceptions 72–73
 - intangible elements of war 72–73, 76–77
 - Just War and R2P 123–128
 - political language 11–13, 116
 - prestige motive 131–132
 - revenge 130–131
 - spreading democracy 172–173
 - symbolism and positioning 123–128
 - Western versus Chinese approach 64–65
- kinetic military force 63–64
- Kissinger, Henry 75–76
- knowledge, meaning of 276–277
- Kogan, Alexandr 90
- Korean War 129
- Kosinski, Michael 89
- language 114–123
 - Carl von Clausewitz 63
 - definition and labels 147
 - dualistic nature of war 16–17, 113
 - fake news 39–44
 - influencing perceptions 72–73
 - justifying warfare 11–13, 116
 - metaphor 116–118
 - naming of military operations 122
 - nature of wars and warfare 143–144
 - rhetoric 118–120
 - role in warfare 13–15
 - terrorism 147–148
 - use and misuse of 113–114
- leaderless revolutions 86–88
- leadership
 - COVID-19 and the professional elites 316–319
 - COVID-19 and global security 319–330
 - identity and international relations 211–213
 - influencing perceptions 72–73
 - morality and behaviours 95–97
 - populism 210–211
 - and social media 184–191
 - trust in 47–48
 - war and politics 68
- legitimacy of warfare
 - Euromaidan movement, Ukraine 266–267
 - external expertise 155–156
 - informational representation 115–120
 - intangible elements of war 76–77
 - political consensus 9–10
 - political language 11–13, 121–122
 - propaganda 227
 - regime change 150–152
 - rhetoric 118–120
 - Web 2.0 250–252, 269–271
 - Western hybrid warfare 229–232
 - see also* justification for warfare
- Lévy, Bernard-Henri 103, 105, 207
- liberal hegemony 4
- liberalism 133–134
- Libya war
 - crisis situation 223–225, 238–239
 - legitimacy of regime change 150–152
 - Responsibility To Protect (R2P) 127
 - US regime change 64
- like-ography 88–91
- the lobby 83–98

358 Index

- Machiavelli, Niccolo 61–62, 71–72
 mainstream media (MSM) narratives
 iconic ‘crisis’ events 225
 propaganda and creating the fog of war 226–228
 mal-information 40–41
 Marxist Revolutionary Warfare 232
 Maslow’s hierarchy of needs 234 mass protest movements 86–88
 mass society 235–236
 May, Theresa 285–286
 Mearsheimer, John 4 media
 branding 234, 275, 283–284, 288–289
 crisis situations 225
 decentralization 107
 fake news 20, 39–44
 inequality of access 71–72
 information security 66–67
 informational warfare 26–28
 instrumentation and functionality 35–53
 the internet 115–116
 legitimacy of regime change 150–152
 militarisation of information 31
 perception of events 82, 274–278
 political elements in war 58–59
 propaganda and creating the fog of war 226–228
 role of information in warfare 14–15
 terrorism coverage 71
 use and misuse of language 113–114
 Web 2.0 250–252, 259–265
 Western foreign policy 156–161
 Western hybrid warfare 241–242
 media censorship 105
 Mediocracy 212–213
 Mediocracy 212–213
 meritocracy
 COVID-19 pandemic 313–317
 in democracy 193–194
 metaphor 116–118
 Michelangelo effect 314–316
 Middle East and North Africa (MENA) region 282–283
 see also individually named countries
 Middle Eastern disequilibrium 282
 militarisation of information 31–32
 see also informational warfare
 military personnel
 cost of the Global War On Terrorism 144–145 suicides among 73–74
 military power
 Carl von Clausewitz 63
 Niccolo Machiavelli 61–62
 political and military philosophies 77
 Western approach to war 73–74
 Western historical experiences 164–165
 Western versus Chinese approach 64–65
 military success
 clear goals and objectives 64 different understandings of 168–170
 NATO offensive in Southern Afghanistan 172–173
 misinformation 40–41, 205–211
 see also fake news; informational warfare moral justification see justification for warfare morality 95–97
 dualistic nature of war 113
 international values 135–137
 symbolism and positioning 123–128
 mortality, COVID-19 cases 331
 multipolarity, global order 1–2 narrative effectiveness 154–155 national security
 communications with foreign audiences 148
 countering terrorism 11–13, 64, 295–296
 Euromaidan movement, Ukraine 253–254
 five dimensions of security 204
 new generation of threats 185–187, 194–197
 social media 194
 Western approach to war 138
 National Security Decision Directive (NSDD) 274–275 nationalism
 Cold War era 164
 language 116
 social media 190–192, 199
 NATO
 approach to security 186–195
 fake news 25–42
 informational warfare 26
 offensive in Southern Afghanistan 173–177 threats to national security 185–186
 Nazi Germany 67–68, 224, 263 neo-liberalism 284–286
 neo-realism 130
 New Cold War
 geopolitical narrative 249–250 global order 74–75
 political language 121–122
 Nietzsche, Friedrich 103–104
 Nye, Joseph 134

- Obama, Barack 153, 172
- Occupy Wall Street* 86–88
- OCEAN psychometric model 89–90
- offensive role of advocacy 122
- operational information
 - influence on cognitive domain 177–179
 - targeting tangible versus intangible assets 69
 - three levels of battlespace 161–162
- operational security 30–31
 - see also* informational warfare
- Organised Persuasive Communication (OPC) 276–277
- OSINT 32
- ‘othering’ opponents 113
- “OUG 13” 87
- personality trait modeling 89–90
- philosophy
 - post truth 102–103
 - vs Sophism 104
 - Western philosophy about war and conflict management 128–135
- polarization 97–98
- political consensus
 - legitimacy of warfare 9–10
 - narratives and myths 14
- political control, centralized society 107–108
- political correctness 193–194
- political elections, social media targeting 88–91, 204–211
- political elements in war 58–60
 - 21st century warfare 345–349
 - historical framing 60–64
 - inter-relation of physical, informational and cognitive components 275–278
- political extremism 188–201
- political language see language
- political leadership see leadership
- political security
 - assessing threats 200–214
 - five dimensions of security 204
 - impact of digitalisation 198–201
 - impact of social media 189–191
- populism
 - COVID-19 pandemic 317–325
 - identity and international relations 211–213
 - impact of social media 191–194, 210–211
 - post truth 104–105, 208
- post-factual 103
- post-humanity 105–106, 208
- post-reality policy 103
- post truth 20
 - development of human reality 207
 - impact on the society and individuals 51
 - informational warfare 100–108
 - and populism 104–105, 208
 - social media 104, 190–199
- press freedom 105
- prestige motive 131–132
- professional elites, as leaders 316–319
- promotional culture 276–277
 - see also* branding (media communication)
- propaganda
 - informational warfare 28, 33–35, 46–52
 - instrumentation and functionality 35–53
 - levels of action 83–95
 - negative associations 227
 - Western hybrid warfare 226–228
- protest movements 86–88, 331–332
- proxy wars 167–168, 299
- psychological operations (PSYOPs) 30–31, 155, 274–275
 - see also* informational warfare
- psychological state 84–85
 - see also* emotions
- psychological warfare 153–154
- psychometric modeling 89–90
- psychosis, COVID-19 pandemic 309–313
- public opinion
 - COVID-19 pandemic 319–330
 - democracy and neo-liberalism 284–286
 - generations of informational warfare 81
 - lobbying 83–98
 - managing and manipulating the perception and opinion of 147–148
 - metaphor 116–118
 - perception of credibility 155–156
 - resolving ‘crises’ 219–220
 - rhetoric 118–120
 - symbolism and positioning 127
- Putin, Vladimir 326–330
- rational thinking
 - and emotions 44–46
 - false propositions 47–48
 - lobbying 83–98
- realism 130
- reality
 - alternative truths 35–53, 81–82, 93–95
 - informational representation 130
 - informational warfare 100–102
 - managing and manipulating the perception and opinion of 147–148
 - see also* post truth
- regime change 17, 64
 - countering terrorism 64

360 Index

- regime change (cont.)
 - Euromaidan movement, Ukraine 246–247, 286–293
 - information and legitimacy 150–152
 - international relations 247–249
 - security threat 66
 - subversion 232–240
 - US foreign policy 295
 - Western hybrid warfare 232–242
- relativisation of information 52–53
- religion, as justification for warfare 125–126
- Repression in Ukraine* group 254, 264–265
- Responsibility To Protect (R2P)
 - crisis situations 222–224
 - Libya 127
 - psychological warfare 153–154
 - symbolism and positioning 123–128
 - Syria 127, 298–299
- revenge 130–131
- rhetoric 52–53, 118–120
- Romania 85–104
- Russia
 - Cold War era 3–4
 - COVID-19 pandemic 334–335
 - fourth generation informational warfare 80
 - informational warfare 25–26, 31–35
 - intervention in Ukraine 282–290
 - role in Syria 288–297
 - tension with NATO 176–177
 - transformation of the global order 5–7
 - Vladimir Putin 326–330
 - vs Western liberalism 291–292
- Russian hybrid warfare 230–231
- Russia-Ukraine war (from 2022) 16, 268–269, 292–293
- security
 - COVID-19 pandemic 319–330
 - five dimensions of 204
 - information security 65–69
 - societal 194–199
 - and stability 66–67
 - state, society and individual 186–195
 - see also* national security
 - selective exposure 93–106
 - self-censorship, social media 204–211
 - sentimentalization of democracies 191
 - shaping (war of ideas) 233
 - shatterbelts 281–284
 - Syria 299–300
 - Ukraine 287–288
 - Snowdon, Edward 120
 - social distancing (COVID-19 pandemic) 309–313, 315–329
 - social media
 - Cambridge Analytica, like-ography and contemporary developments 88–91
 - COVID-19 pandemic and superficiality 313–314
 - emotions and feelings 45
 - Euromaidan movement, Ukraine 252–254, 266–267, 289–290
 - fake news 41
 - geopolitics in the age of 17, 246–247
 - impact on democratic societies 189, 198–201, 203–211
 - impact on political life 184–204
 - impact on societal security 194–199
 - influence of 17
 - informational warfare 27–28
 - objectification of the social construct in the virtual space 86–88
 - and populism 191–194, 210–211
 - post truth 104, 190–199
 - role of information in warfare 14–15
 - in the Russia-Ukraine War 268–269
 - see also* Web 2.0
 - social movements
 - in the Information Age 251–252
 - Ukrainian protestors research project 252–254, 266–267
 - societal security 194–199
 - assessing threats 200–214
 - five dimensions of security 204
 - impact of digitalisation 198–201
 - Sophism 104
 - Soviet Union
 - changing global order 3–4
 - global geopolitical landscape 246–247
 - informational warfare 31
 - Special Operations Command (SOCOM) 168–170
 - stability, and security 66–67
 - the state, role in national security 65–66
 - Stop Fake 254, 261–262, 267
 - StratCom Centre 41
 - strategic information 65, 69
 - strategy in warfare 143
 - Chinese approach 128–129
 - distinction from tactics 161–162
 - stress, COVID-19 pandemic 316–326
 - subversion, in regime change 232–240, 282–290
 - success see military success
 - suicides, military personnel 73–74
 - Sun Tzu 60–61, 71–72
 - surrogate warfare 167–168

Index

361

- surveillance, drone technology 197–198
 Sweden, COVID-19 331
 symbolism in war 123–128, 136–137
 Syria
 conflict in mainstream literature 17–18
 covert operations 156–157
 crisis situation 225
 defining military success 171
 ‘humanitarian’ intervention 122–123
 naming of military operations 122
 public representation of conflict 293–302
 Responsibility To Protect (R2P) 127, 298–299
 as shatterbelt conflict 299–300
 US and Al Queda 237
 Western communicative approach 228 tactical information 69 tactics distinction from strategy 161–162
 insurgency 69–71
 and military power 164–165
 Niccolo Machiavelli 62
 Sun Tzu 61
 TechCamps 289–290
 technological evolution
 adaptability of humans 201–203
 impact of 184–204
 impact of social media 198–201
 impact on societal security 197–198
 non-conventional threats 194–197 security and international relations 203–205 technology
 in contemporary conflicts 10, 148–152
 fake news 159–161
 generations of informational warfare 79–112
 influence of 17
 post truth 100–102, 104
 post-humanity 105–106
 security in the digital age 155–156
 tangible and intangible factors 77
 trends and transformations of 21st century warfare 350–351
 Tenet, George 24
 terrorism
 9/11 rebuilding 94–95
 iconic ‘crisis’ events 224–225
 as justification for warfare 11–13, 64, 295–296
 religious motivations 125–126
 as tactic 69–71
 use of fear 70
 see also Global War On Terrorism (GWOT)
 Tesich, Steve 102–103
 Thatcher, Margaret 68
 Thomas Theorem 47
 transparency approaches to warfare 163–164
 covert operations 168–170
 Western approach to war 144–146, 179
 trolls (fake profiles) 27–28
 Trump, Donald
 Chinese foreign policy 327
 election campaign 159
 fake news 50
 Russia Gate narrative 12–13
 Syria 171
 trust in leadership 47–48
 truth
 alternative truths 81–82
 democratization of 104, 207–208
 Disinformation 2.0 49–51
 informational warfare 16, 35–36
 openness of information 17
 post truth 20, 51, 100–108
 Twitter Revolution, Moldova 86
 UAVs (unmanned aerial vehicles) 197–198
 Ukraine
 anti-Euromaidan 254, 262–265 history and culture 136–137
 informational warfare 34
 media portrayal 17–18, 246–247, 286–293
 pro-Euromaidan 253–254, 259–262
 public representation of conflict 286–293, 300–302
 Russia-Ukraine war (from 2022) 16, 268–269, 292–293
 as shatterbelt conflict 287–288
 social media and influence 17, 266–267
 social media research project 252–254, 266–267
 TechCamps 289–290
 Ukraine Media Crisis Centre 253–254, 260–261
 UNESCO, fake news 40–41
 United Kingdom
 covert operations 156–161
 Forever Wars 172
 role in Syria 296–297
 United States
 changing global order 3–9, 160–161
 Cold War era 9
 covert operations 7, 156–161

362 Index

- United States (cont.)
 - COVID-19 pandemic effects 319–330
 - NATO offensive in Southern Afghanistan 172–173
 - number of wars being fought 168–170
 - provision of international information 274–275
 - purpose in foreign policy 73, 75–76, 295
 - role in Syria 237, 295–296
 - self-belief in liberal democracy 138–139
 - subversion and covert operations 234–240
 - symbolism and positioning 123–128
 - transparency and accountability 144–146
- Uniti Salvam Rosia Montana, Romania 87–104
- vaccines (COVID-19) 330–331
- values
 - crises 221–222
 - international values 135–137
 - metaphor 116–118
 - morality 95–97
- victory see military success
- Vietnam War 67
- the virtual space 86–88
- von Clausewitz, Carl 62–65, 71–72
- waging war
 - 21st century warfare as qualitatively different 342–343
 - clear goals and objectives 64
 - costs to the West 178–179
 - covert operations and lack of transparency 168–170
 - Forever Wars 170–173
 - political priorities 176–177
 - surrogate warfare 167–168
 - Western versus Chinese approach 64–65
 - see also* justification for warfare
- warfare
 - in the 20th century 9–10
 - in the 21st century 3
 - current debates in foreign policy 1–2
 - legitimacy of 9–13
 - role of information and politics 13–15
 - shades of armed conflict 161–173
 - targeting tangible versus intangible assets 69–76
 - see also* intangible elements of war; strategy in warfare
- weaponry
 - tangible and intangible factors 76–77
 - targeting tangible versus intangible assets 69–76
- Web 2.0
 - cyber warfare 68
 - geopolitics in the age of 250–252, 259–265
 - see also* social media
- Western approach to war
 - Carl von Clausewitz 62–65
 - compared to Chinese approach 64–65
 - costliness of approach 178–179
 - covert operations 156–161
 - culture and identity 135–137
 - Forever Wars 170–173
 - military power and tactics 164–165
 - Niccolo Machiavelli 61–62
 - “old” and “new” reasons for war 162–164
 - regime change 64
 - Russian expansion 291–292
 - self-belief in liberal democracy 138–139
 - subversion and covert operations 234–240
 - transparency and accountability 144–146, 179
 - trends and transformations of 21st century warfare 349–351
 - use of military power 73–74
 - from Western philosophy 128–135
- Western hybrid warfare 17, 219–220
 - defining 230–231
 - as a foreign policy tool 229–232
 - iconic ‘crisis’ events 224–225
 - manufacturing a crisis and its implications 220–224
 - propaganda and creating the fog of war 226–228
 - regime change 232–242
 - subversion 232–240
- Western-Centric global order 3–9
 - see also* global order, transformation in
- World Economic Forum 29–30
- World War II 67–68
- Yanukovich, Viktor 255–265, 288–289
- Yugoslavia, break-up of 116