

Power and Inequality

Power is a broad and complex concept that cuts across all fields in the humanities and social sciences. Written by a leading historian of economic thought, Power and Inequality presents a wide-ranging and multi-disciplinary analysis of power as an economic and social issue. Its aim is not to formulate a new abstract theory of power but rather to illustrate the different ways in which power is used to exacerbate social and economic inequality. Issues such as division of labour and its evolution, different forms of capitalism up to the money-manager economy, the role of networks (from the family to masonic lodges and the mafia), the state and the international arena, culture and the role of the masses are considered. The analysis of these elements, causing inequalities of various kinds, is a prerequisite for devising progressive policy strategies aiming at a reduction of inequalities through a strategy of reforms.

ALESSANDRO RONCAGLIA is Emeritus Professor of Economics, Sapienza University of Rome, and member of the Accademia Nazionale dei Lincei (since 2018 in its Presidency Council). He has also been President of the Italian Economists Society. His book The Wealth of Ideas (2005) received the Blanqui Prize. He also won the Guggenheim Prize in the History of Economic Thought for 2019.

Studies in New Economic Thinking

The 2008 financial crisis pointed to problems in economic theory that require more than just big data to solve. INET's series in New Economic Thinking exists to ensure that innovative work that advances economics and better integrates it with other social sciences and the study of history and institutions can reach a broad audience in a timely way.

Power and Inequality

A Reformist Perspective

ALESSANDRO RONCAGLIA

Sapienza University of Rome

Cambridge University Press & Assessment
978-1-009-37052-3 — Power and Inequality
Alessandro Roncaglia
Frontmatter
More Information

Shaftesbury Road, Cambridge CB2 8EA, United Kingdom
One Liberty Plaza, 20th Floor, New York, NY 10006, USA
477 Williamstown Road, Port Melbourne, VIC 3207, Australia
314–321, 3rd Floor, Plot 3, Splendor Forum, Jasola District Centre,
New Delhi – 110025, India
103 Penang Road, #05–06/07, Visioncrest Commercial, Singapore 238467

Cambridge University Press is part of Cambridge University Press & Assessment, a department of the University of Cambridge.

We share the University's mission to contribute to society through the pursuit of education, learning and research at the highest international levels of excellence.

www.cambridge.org
Information on this title: www.cambridge.org/9781009370523

DOI: 10.1017/9781009370493

© Alessandro Roncaglia 2024

This publication is in copyright. Subject to statutory exception and to the provisions of relevant collective licensing agreements, no reproduction of any part may take place without the written permission of Cambridge University Press & Assessment.

First published 2024

A catalogue record for this publication is available from the British Library.

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Names: Roncaglia, Alessandro, 1947– author.

Title: Power and inequality : a reformist perspective / Alessandro Roncaglia, Sapienza Università di Roma.

Description: Cambridge, United Kingdom ; New York, NY, USA : Cambridge University Press, 2023. | Series: Studies in new economic thinking | Includes bibliographical references and index.

Identifiers: LCCN 2023001410 | ISBN 9781009370523 (hardback) | ISBN 9781009370493 (ebook)

Subjects: LCSH: Power (Social sciences) | Equality. | Social policy.

Classification: LCC HN49.P6 R66 2023 | DDC 303.3–dc23/eng/20230502

LC record available at <https://lcn.loc.gov/2023001410>

ISBN 978-1-009-37052-3 Hardback

ISBN 978-1-009-37047-9 Paperback

Cambridge University Press & Assessment has no responsibility for the persistence or accuracy of URLs for external or third-party internet websites referred to in this publication and does not guarantee that any content on such websites is, or will remain, accurate or appropriate.

To
ROBERTO VILLETTI
(1944–2019)

Contents

Acknowledgements	page xi
1 Introduction	1
1.1 Why This Book	1
1.2 An Outline of the Book	3
1.3 The Political Objective and the Strategy of Structural Reforms	7
 PART I THE COLOURS OF POWER	 9
2 Interpretations and Fields of Application: The Multiple Faces of Power	11
2.1 A Backward Glance	11
2.2 Power as a Differential of Potential, as a Barrier to Entry, as a Weight	17
2.3 Types, Areas, Instruments, Motivations of Power	21
2.4 Cumulative Processes and Balancing Processes	24
3 The Origin of Inequalities: The Division of Labour	27
3.1 Division of Labour and the Wealth of Nations	27
3.2 The Origins of the Division of Labour and Social Stratification	34
3.3 Division of Labour and Alienation	43
3.4 Social Classes	45
3.5 Other Aspects of Social Stratification	49
3.6 Evolution of the Division of Labour and Social Stratification	52
3.7 The International Division of Labour	60
3.8 Utopias on the Division of Labour	63

viii CONTENTS

4	Modern Capitalist Property and Finance	70
4.1	From Primitive Accumulation to Merchant Capitalism and Manufacturing Capitalism	70
4.2	From Competitive Capitalism to Managerial Capitalism	73
4.3	Oligopoly as the Dominant Market Form	79
4.4	Domination Power and Network Power	83
4.5	Market Construction	86
4.6	The Capitalism of Financial Managers	91
4.7	Power in the Age of Finance	95
5	The Networks	99
5.1	The Utopia (or Dystopia?) of the Meritocratic Society	99
5.2	White Networks: Families, Religions, Parties	104
5.3	Grey Networks: From Amoral Familism to Freemasonry	109
5.4	Black Networks: P2	113
5.5	Organized Crime	117
6	The State	123
6.1	The Birth of the State (and Its Dissolution?)	123
6.2	Weber: The State as a Monopoly of Legitimate Force	126
6.3	Social Contract and Tacit Consent	130
6.4	The State as an Instrument of Class Power, as a Legal Construction of the Market and as a Spontaneous Order	134
6.5	Internal Order and the Administration of Justice	139
6.6	Defence and Military Power	145
6.7	The State as a Countervailing Power to Economic Power	147
6.8	Welfare State and Types of Regulation	151
7	Culture and Power	157
7.1	Public Discourse and Its Requirements	157
7.2	The Notion of Hegemony	161
7.3	The Masses	168
7.4	Civil Society and the State	173

7.5	The Role of Religions	175
7.6	Technocratic Knowledge and the Role of Elites	177
7.7	Specialization and General Culture: The Debate about Two Cultures	181
7.8	New Media and the Corruption of Public Discourse	183
8	The Spatial Dimension of Power	191
8.1	Spatial Levels of Power	191
8.2	Family and Family Clan	194
8.3	Local Powers	196
8.4	The Centralist State and the Federal State	198
8.5	Multinationals	200
8.6	Confederations and Alliances	202
8.7	The Clash of Civilizations	204
8.8	Migrations	206
8.9	The International Monetary System	209
8.10	The European Union	211
	PART II ETHICAL ASSESSMENTS AND POLICY PERSPECTIVES	215
9	The Ethics of Power between the Common Good and Equality	217
9.1	The Individual and Society	217
9.2	The Concept of the Common Good	219
9.3	Ideas about Justice	223
9.4	Ideas of Freedom	227
9.5	Justice and Freedom	230
9.6	The Utopias of Rainbow Power	233
10	The Strategy of Structural Reforms	237
10.1	Left and Right	237
10.2	Critique of the Objective of Absolute Equality	241
10.3	Equality and Capabilities	243

X CONTENTS

10.4	Progress Is Only Possible	246
10.5	The Strategy of Structural Reforms: The Theory	249
10.6	A Flow-Stock Scheme of Power Relations	252
11	Materials for a Reasonable Utopia	256
11.1	The Strategy of Structural Reforms: Practice	256
11.2	A Phase of Retreat	262
11.3	Neoliberalism and the Shortcomings of Economic Debate	266
11.4	Consequences and (Hopefully) Crisis of Neoliberalism	270
11.5	The Strategy of Structural Reforms: International Relations	274
11.6	The Strategy of Structural Reforms: Italy	279
11.7	Hopes and Cautions	283
	References	285
	Index	303

Acknowledgements

The project for this book was defined between 2008 and 2009, after a fair amount of preparatory work and lengthy discussions, together with Roberto Villetti; then Roberto fell ill and work came to a standstill. Even today, however, the ingredients have remained more or less unchanged, despite the mass of notes that I have gradually accumulated and the works that I have published on contiguous themes (Roncaglia 1977, 1983, 2001, 2005, 2009, 2015, 2019).

For years I had hoped to complete the project in collaboration with Roberto, as I considered his experience as an active politician and his remarkable interdisciplinary culture essential; but Roberto passed away, after a long illness, in September 2019. His advice, criticism and suggestions were essential in the setting-up phase of the work; I miss our long discussions very much today. I cannot involve him in the final result, of which I am sure he would as always have had much to say. But I do not think he would have minded having this book dedicated to him, with affection, in memory of our long collaboration.

My brother Gino, an expert in the new media that have taken on such importance in the most recent phase of the struggle for power, gave me a great deal of help, with reading suggestions, food for thought, critical observations.

Together with Roberto and Gino, I would like to thank, without involving them in the final result, two anonymous referees, Michele Alacevic, Marco D'Eramo, Anna Gialluca, Maria Chiara Malaguti, Roberto Petrini, Michele Salvati, Roberto Schiattarella, and above all Arnaldo Bagnasco, Carlo D'Ippoliti and Mario Tonveronachi, who read previous drafts of this work or some of its chapters and provided very useful critical and constructive

xii ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

comments. Finally, thanks are due to Thomas Ferguson for his very useful comments and reading suggestions and for his decisive support for the realization of this English edition, to Inet for a grant covering translation expenses, and to Graham Sells and Thomas Marshall for a most able stylistic revision.