

Contents

Illustrations	page x
Preface	xv
I PROLEGOMENA
I Fade-In	3
1 Antiquity, the Cinema, and New Ways of Seeing	4
2 Film Directors on Antiquity	11
3 On Reading and Viewing	17
II PROGYMNASMATA: WAYS OF SEEING
2 Douris' Jason: Reckless Interpretations and the Ongoing Moment	27
1 The Literary Background of Douris' Image	30
2 Gerhard, Welcker, Robert: Clashes of Academic Titans	31
3 From Lycophron to Simon and Giangrande	42
4 Douris' Visual Narrative and the Aristotelian Now	50
5 The Now as kairos : Lessing's "Fruitful Moment"	56
6 Enter Photography: Cartier-Bresson's "Decisive Moment"	60
7 Ways of Seeing the Ongoing Moment	63
3 Classical Cinematism	72
1 Aristotle and the camera obscura	72
2 Francastel and the Birth of Pre-Cinema	75
3 Word and Image: A Pre-Cinema Survey	84
4 Heron, the camera obscura , and Damascius	108
5 Homo cinematographicus : The Cinema as Aristotelian Thought Machine	115

III COMPLEX CINEMATISM

4	Motion Images in Ecphrases	123
1	Homer the Painter, Homer the Filmmaker	123
2	Lessing on Text and Image	131
3	After Lessing: Eisenstein's Homer	140
4	Catullus and Virgil	144
5	Shadows and Caves: The Cinema as Platonic Idea and Reality	156
1	In Plato's Cave	158
2	Shadow Play: Mistaking the False for the True	162
3	Bergson and the Philosophy of the Cinematographic Mind	169
4	Plato's Cave on Screen: La Jetée , The Conformist , and Related Films	177
5	The Cinema Returns to and from Plato's Cave	189
6	Light and Shadows	194
7	The Platonic, Cinematically	199
8	"The Like Real World"	203
9	Varda and Ophüls on Memory and History	212
6	Static Flight: Zeno's Arrow and Cinematographic Motion	215
1	The Filmstrip and the Arrow's Flight	217
2	Zeno and Motion on Film: Pro and Con	220
3	High-Speed Photography, Bullet Time, and Beyond	224
4	Zeno's Onscreen Comedy Cameo	232
7	Lucretius: Dream Images and Beyond the Infinite	233
1	Cinematic Illusions: Lucretius on Dreams	233
2	Sinsteden and Plateau on Lucretius	238
3	The Aftermath	242
4	Lucretius and Screen Media: Varieties and Vicissitudes	249
5	2001: A Space Odyssey as Lucretian Film	254
8	The Cinematic Nature of the Opening Scene in Heliodorus' An Ethiopian Story	267
1	Heliodorus' Opening and Cinematic Technique	269
2	Heliodorus' Opening as Screenplay	270
3	Comments	274
4	Welles's Touch of Evil and Hitchcock's Psycho	276
5	Classical Rhetoric and Cinematic Style	280
6	Complex Flashbacks	283
7	Lying Flashbacks	288
9	The Face of Tragedy: Mask and Close-Up	295
1	Tragedy on Stage and Screen	295
2	Masks and Faces in Tragedy	298
3	The Emotional Power of Mask and Close-Up	310

	Contents	ix
	4 The Close-Up: Revelation of the Invisible	313
	5 Garbo's Face: A Beautiful Zero	335
IV THE CINEMA IMAGINES DIFFICULT TEXTS
10	Apollonius and the Golden Fleece; or, The Case of the Missing Ecphrasis	347
	1 The Golden Fleece in Apollonius' Argonautica	348
	2 Neo-Mythologism: Hercules, The Giants of Thessaly, Jason and the Argonauts (1963)	351
	3 CGI: Jason and the Argonauts (2000) and Percy Jackson: Sea of Monsters	361
	4 Film Technology and the Supernatural	367
	5 Medea	369
	6 The Golden Thing	373
11	Arrow and Axes in the Odyssey ; or, The Case of the Insoluble Enigma	377
	1 The Textual Problem	377
	2 From the Verbal to the Visual	380
	3 No Clear Picture	382
	4 Odissea (1911)	387
	5 Ulysses	390
	6 Odissea (1968)	395
	7 The Odyssey (1997)	400
	8 Animation and CGI	412
	9 Homeric Surprises	427
12	Peckinpah's Aristotle; or, How Well Does The Wild Bunch Fit The Poetics ?	430
	1 Peckinpah and the Greeks	430
	2 Peckinpah Scholars on Catharsis	433
	3 Aristotelian Catharsis	436
	4 Styles of Violence: Euripides and Peckinpah	437
	5 Peckinpah's Tragic Protagonist	449
	6 Summation: Visual Poetry	454
V EPILEGOMENA
13	Fade-Out	459
	1 Cleopatra's Zoetrope	461
	2 The Cinema's Paths to the Greeks	463
	Bibliography	467
	Index	524