

Index

Page numbers in italic and bold refers to figures and tables.

- Abraham, William Emmanuel, 49, 71, 86, 94, 117
- Abuja Declaration, 90
- Adesanmi, Pius, 47
- advertisers and media, 43–44
- affinity, 157–160
- African country, 63
- African frames, 120. See also framing
- African atrocity
 - civil war frame, 125–130
 - crime frame, 130–134
 - ethnic conflict frame, 142
 - genocide frame, 134–137
 - humanitarian emergency frame, 137–140
- African Journalism. See also field
- advertisers and media, 43–44
 - Africanness, 20, 120–121, 157, 159, 166–167
 - ‘alternative’ publications, 43
 - audience targeting, 177
 - Benson’s model, 10
 - challenges, 171
 - colonial-era laws and attitudes, 44
 - colonialism on African journalism, 94
 - coloniality, 9
 - commercial interests, 43–44
 - communication technologies, 178
 - development journalism, 40
 - discursive struggle, 164–168
 - framing Darfur, 167
 - free media, 34, 41
 - government control, 45
 - habitus, 11
 - identity and belonging, 166, 167
 - impact on coverage of events, 14
 - indigenous-owned newspapers, 37–39
 - journalism and politics, 37–39
 - journalism in colony, 36–39
 - journalism in post-colony, 39
 - Kenyan journalist’s articulation of actors, 167
 - liberalization and, 42–43
 - market-driven and legislative narrative control, 43–46
 - market-driven censorship, 44
 - mass media, 177
 - master code, 39
 - missionary paper, 36–37
 - nation-building, 34, 39–42
 - native informants for “foreign donors,” 46
 - negative moment, 42
 - Nkrumah speech, 34, 46–47
 - non-African carrier groups, 175
 - non-African voices, 165–166
 - power dynamics in, 11–12
 - press autonomy, 47
 - print media history, 36
 - radio and television, 39
 - role and freedom of media, 40
 - Rwanda’s journalism field, 45
 - self-censorship, 43

- African Journalism (cont.)
 settler-owned newspapers, 38
 state and journalism field, 46
 Structural Adjustment Programs, 42
 study of press, 35
 studying, 172
 tragedy of, 50
- African journalism fields, 17, 21–24, 75, 90, 94–95, 161–163, 177.
See also field
- cognitive performance, 95
 colonial logics and, 165 content analysis, 18
 cosmopolitan subfield, 32
 Darfur's coverage, 80, 81
 empirical vs. apocryphal, 79–82
 everydayness of colonization, 82–91
 examination of “African reporting” of atrocities, 80
 focusing on manifest frames, 18
 habitus, 78
 human rights violations, 79
 interviews with journalists, 18–19
 journalism's primary function, 76
 knowledge construction, 78–79
 national subfield, 32
 news stories, 18
 normative ideas, 95
 overreliance on wire agencies, 76 perspective behind news stories, 79–80
 positionality, 19–21
 professional practice, 95 responsibility of African journalists, 75–79 transnational, 78, 163–164, 174
- African modes of self-writing, 161
- African National Congress (ANC), 45
- African news organizations, 31–32
- African Standard*, 35
- African Union (AU), 105, 129
- African voices
 lack of, 97
 marginalization, 97, 168
 silencing, 100
- Africanness, 20, 29, 120–121, 158–159, 166–167
- Africans at margins, 96, 118
 carrier groups, 96, 99
 colonization's everydayness, 115
 epistemic struggles, 99
 hierarchy of credibility, 98
 journalists' cognitive scripts, 97
 lack of African voices, 97
 manipulation by carrier groups, 99 news selection, 97
 reducing marginalization, 97 role of sources in news coverage, 97
 sources and journalists, 97–99
- alternative publications, 43
- Aluko, Akinyele, xvii
- Aluko, Shirley Houston, xvii
- American and Chinese actors in transnational organizations, 101
- Amin, Samir, 49
- Amnesty International, 101, 109
- ANC. See African National Congress
- Anibal, Quijano, 9
- Arabness, 120
- AU. See African Union
- Ba, Oumar, 21
- Benson, Rodney, 10–14, 36
- Bouka, Yolande, 20
- Bourdieu, Pierre, 14. See also field colonialism and racism, 14 conceptualization of “field,” 9
 field theory, 8
 habitus, 11
 positionality, 14, 19–21
- Brooke, Chambers, xvi
- Cape Town Gazette and Africa Advertiser*, 36
- carrier groups, 96, 99
 Darfuris, 113–115
 manipulation by, 99
 non-African, 175
 public diplomacy, 101
 rebels, 106
 state actors, 101–105
 transnational organizations, 105–106
- Chakravartty, Paula, xvii
- Church Missionary Society, 36
- civil war frame, 124
 civil war in Darfur, 125–130
 Darfur conflict coverage, 127
 in Rwanda, 128
- Clooney, George, 96–97, 107, 118, 139
- colonial education policy, 49
- colonization's everydayness, 115
 doxa, 115–117
 habitus, 117–118
 knowledge, 118

Index

205

- conflict coverage, 65–69
 content delivery, 59–61
 cosmopolitan subfield, 82, 84–85.
 See also field
 dominance of, 90
 interaction between subfields, 83
 reliance on, 86–88
 role in African journalism, 92
 crime of genocide, 134–137
 criminality frame, 130
 criminality of Sudanese state, 130
 Khartoum's criminality, 131
 nation-specific contexts and, 130 use of crime frame in Kenya, 133
 views of Kenyan on Darfur, 132
- Daily Nation*, 17, 44, 68, 90, 92, 114–115, 156
- Darfur, 5, 25
 articles on, 81
 as case study, 26
 conflict coverage, 66–67, 80, 127
 coverage in Nigeria, 80
 framing, 121, 167
 INGOs about, 108
 Janjaweed, 26
 journalists views on criminality in, 130–131
 political history of Sudan, 24
 rebel movements, 26
 rebels, 111
 Rwanda's coverage of, 93, 103–104
 violence in Golo and El Fasher, 25–26
- Darfur Liberation Front (DLF), 25
- Darfur, epistemic struggles over,
 99–101, 140
 American and Chinese in transnational organizations, 101
 categories of sources, 98
 Darfuris, 113–115
 government-funded trips, 102
 International Criminal Court, 105–106
 international media, 100
 military personnel as sources, 104
 nationality of sources used by subfields, 100
 prioritizing African sources, 104
 public diplomacy, 102
 rebels, 106
 reliance on INGOs, 101
- Rwanda and Kenya's national
 subfields, 100
 silencing African voices, 100
 state actors, 101–105
 transnational organizations, 105–106, 107–110
- Darfur, framing, 125–128.
 See also framing African atrocity
- civil war in Darfur, 125–130
 conflict coverage, 128
 crime of genocide, 134–137
 crimes in Darfur, 130–134
 fields and, 126, 127
 as genocide, 134–136
 as humanitarian emergency, 137–140
 views of Kenyan journalists in, 132
- Darfuris, 113–115. See also carrier
 groups
- Dauphinee, Elizabeth, 21
- David, Pellow, xv
- Daystar Nairobi, colleges in, 56
- Daystar University, 55
- Dee, xviii
- definitional struggle, 46, 164–168
- DLF. See Darfur Liberation Front
- doxa, 10–11, 29, 51, 78, 91, 101, 115–117, 133, 164, 172
- ELF. See ethno-linguistic fractionalization
- ethnic/ethnicity
 conflict frame, 143–144, 151–152, 160, 167
 frame in context, 149–150
 as framing device, 147, 155 identity, 160
 as lived experience, 150–153
 as social reality, 150
- ethnicization of conflict in Africa, 144, 155
 affinity and Othering, 157–160 claiming approach to ethnicity, 149–150 critiques of Africa's representation in journalism, 145
 journalists claim to objectivity, 154–155 knowledge entrepreneurs, 153–155 knowledge repository, 145
 labeling Arabs/Muslims as outsiders, 159
 lazy journalism, 148
 linking ethnicity to religious identity, 156
 narrative construction, 144
 national and cosmopolitan subfields, 164

- ethnization of conflict in Africa (cont.)
 nuanced understanding of ethnicity, 155–157
 Other, 158
 perception vs. reality, 147–149 radically Other, 159 reification of identity, 159
 rootedness of narratives, 144 shared trauma, 158
 shared victimhood, 152
 view of ethnicity in Rwanda, 152
 ethno-linguistic fractionalization (ELF), 146
 Eurocentrism, 15
 everydayness of colonization, 82–84
 cosmopolitan subfield, 82, 83–87, 88, 92, 94
 economic considerations, 87–91
 editors' vs. journalist explanations, 84–87
 financial constraints of newspaper, 87–88
 influence of colonialism, 94
 interaction between subfields, 83
 journalists role negotiations, 90 loss of narrative control, 85
 national subfields, 82, 83–84, 92–93
 Rwanda's coverage of Darfur, 93
 Rwanda's national subfield, 93
 transnational African journalism field, 93
 vestiges of colonial logics, 91–94

 Fanon, Frantz, 9, 14, 23, 166–167, 172
 field, 9. See also African journalism fields;
 cosmopolitan subfield
 Bourdieu's conceptualization of, 9 conceptualization of, 9 and framing Darfur, 126
 logic, 12
 position, 11–12
 postcolonial field theory, 173–174
 role as watchdog, 61 role of subfield, 32, 89
 site, 54–57
 structure, 13–14
 theory, 8–9, 14
 understanding journalistic, 10–11
 field theory, 9, 14
 elision of Algeria, 15
 eurocentrism in journalism, 15
 relational quality, 15

 frames, 124
 framing African atrocity, 119, 141–142.
 See also crime; ethnization of conflict in Africa
 African representations, 119
 civil war frame, 125–130
 conflict coverage, 127
 crime frame, 130–134
 editorial cartoon, 129, 129
 ethnic conflict frame, 142
 fields and framing, 124, 126
 genocide, 134–137
 humanitarian emergency frame, 137–140
 Khartoum's criminality, 131
 knowledge construction, 123
 knowledge receptacles, 121–123
 media framing, 119
 narrating Darfur, 123–124
 national context of, 122, 131
 news framing, 122
 politics of naming, 140–141 postcolonial project of “self-writing,” 120
 representation of continent, 119 risk of complicating global perception, 121
 shaping African political thought, 122
 South African journalists, 121
 stopgap frame, 130–131
 Fred, xviii
 Frederick, Lugard, 37, 145
 Frey, Barbara, xvi

 genocide frame, 134
 Darfur as genocide, 133, 135, 137
 global North exportation of norms from, 69–71
 field theory, 15
 journalists, 4, 145, 149
 Golo and El Fasher violence, 25–26.
 See also Darfur
 good journalism, 57
 government-funded trips, 102
 Gowan, Teresa, xi, xvi

 habitus, 11, 91, 115, 117–118, 150
 habitus in postcolony, 48, 91
 becoming journalist, 51–54
 being “political analyst,” 66
 classes attended by the author, 57

Index

207

- colleges in Daystar Nairobi, 56
- colonial education policy, 49
- conflict coverage, 65–69
- contextualization in journalism education, 58
- Daystar University, 55
- debate on journalism education in Africa, 49
- entering field site, 54–57
- future journalists training, 57–61
- good journalism, 57
- insufficiently qualified instructors, 54
- IPI training programs, 52
- journalism education, 49–51, 54, 57–58
- journalism training institutes, 55
- journalist in African country, 63
- journalists from global South, 69
- lack of African intellectual material, 54
- legitimizing illusion of education, 50
- mode of content delivery, 59
- norms from global North fields, 69–71
- perspectives in journalism classes, 62
- readings listed in undergraduate class, 58–59
- self-identification, 67
- student's motivation for bringing change, 63–65
- student-professionals, 56, 61–63
- students' experiences at journalism school, 51
- training quality, 53
- twinning programs, 52
- University of Nairobi's journalism program, 55
- watchdog, 61
- westernization of journalism curricula, 52
- Hanitzsch, Thomas, 69, 95, 97, 161
- Hayes, Mabweazara, xviii
- Hegel, GFW, 145
- hierarchy of credibility, 98
- Hopkinson, Tom, 52, 163
- Human Rights Watch, 101
- humanitarian emergency frame, 137–140.
See also framing African atrocity
- ICC. See International Criminal Court
- IDP camps. See internally displaced persons camps
- Imvo Zabantsundu*, 36
- Indigenous-owned newspapers, 37–39
- informants, paid native, 46
- INGOs. See International NonGovernmental Organizations
- Inkanyiso yase*, 37
- insider–outsider tension in African journalism, 20
- intellectual contact tracing*, 169–171
- internally displaced persons camps (IDP camps), 17, 102, 110, 114
- International Criminal Court (ICC), 17, 105–106, 122, 130–136
- International NonGovernmental Organizations (INGOs), 107
- access to communication channels, 107
- Amnesty International, 109
- criticisms on, 110
- effect on news narratives, 107–108
- reliance on, 101
- with religious affiliations and narratives, 108
- International Press Institute (IPI), 12, 52
- IPI. See International Press Institute
- Ireri, Kioko, 53
- Iwe Ithorin*, 36
- Jabavu, John Tengo, 36–37
- Janjaweed, 105, 114, 127, 131.
See also Darfur
- JEM. See Justice Equality Movement
- Joachim, Savelsberg, xv, 6, 64, 67–68, 79, 97, 116, 137
- Johannesburg, 83
- Jolie, Angelina, 96
- journalism, 141
- construction of knowledge, 78–79
- construction of narratives, 144
- critiques of Africa's representation, 145
- fields, 21, 71
- as nation-building agenda, 34, 40
- primary function of, 76
- program, 55
- struggles, 5
- studies, 161, 171–174
- use of ethnicity as frame, 145
- journalism education, 49–51, 170
- classes attended by author, 57
- colleges in Daystar Nairobi, 56
- colonial education policy, 49
- contextualization in, 58
- Daystar University, 55
- debate on, 49
- good journalism, 57

- journalism education (cont.)
 - insufficiently qualified instructors, 54
 - and internal tensions, 50
 - IPI training programs, 12, 52
 - journalism program, 55
 - lack of African intellectual material, 54
 - lecture mode of delivery, 59
 - mode of content delivery, 59–61
 - perspectives of graduate students, 62
 - readings listed in undergraduate class, 58–59
 - role in promoting democracies, 57–58
 - student-professionals, 56
 - students' experiences at journalism school, 51
 - training future journalists, 57–61
 - training institutes in Kenya, 55
 - training quality, 53
 - training student-professionals, 61–63
 - twinning programs, 52
 - University of Nairobi's journalism program, 55
 - westernization of journalism curricula, 52
- journalism scholarship, 4
 - addressing challenges, 171
 - ethnicizing conflicts, 6
 - hegemonization of journalism studies, 170–171
 - intellectual contact tracing, 169–171
 - journalism studies, 171–174
 - media framing, 6
 - media interactions with social actors, 7
 - narratives of marginalization, 168–169
 - national subfields, 168
 - negative moments, 173
 - postcolonial field theory*, 173–174
 - press representations and crisis-related topics, 7
 - rethinking, 168–174
 - Reuters, 168–169
 - strands of, 5–8
 - trajectories, 6, 8
- journalists, 162, 167–168
 - access to conflict zone, 113
 - in African country, 75–79
 - becoming, 51–54
 - being “political analyst,” 66
 - claim to objectivity, 154–155
 - cognitive scripts, 97
 - difficulty in interviewing Darfuris, 114
 - from global South, 69
 - and military sources, 104
 - and rebels, 111
 - role negotiations, 90
 - self-identification of, 67
 - sources and, 97–99
 - South African, 121
 - training future, 57–61
- Justice Equality Movement (JEM), 25
- Kasoma, Francis, 50, 58
- Katshuga, Jen, 21
- Kenya
 - journalism education, 58
 - journalists, 167
 - Kenyan journalist's articulation of actors, 167
 - national subfields, 100
 - newspapers in, 177, 179
 - post-electoral violence in, 3
 - training institutes in, 55
 - use of crime frame in, 133
 - views of Kenyan on Darfur, 132
- Khartoum's criminality, 131
- knowledge, 117
 - construction, 78–79, 123
 - entrepreneurs, 153–155
 - receptacles, 121–123
 - repository, 145
 - sociology of knowledge approach, 24
- L'Action Tunisienne, 36
- Lagos, 83, 89, 143
- Lagos Weekly Record, The, 36
- lazy journalism, 148
- legitimizing illusion of education, 50
- Lenape, xiii
- Lerner, Daniel, 53, 69–70, 163
- Mafeje, Archie, 151
- Mail and Guardian, 17, 76, 107, 111, 129, 137
- Mamdani, Mahmood, 24–25, 80, 96, 107, 122, 136, 160
- marginalization narratives, 168–169
- market-driven censorship, 44
- master code, 39
- Mbembe, Achille, 5, 39, 42, 49, 97, 119, 149, 161, 173
- Mboya, Tom, 41, 76–77, 170

Index

209

- media. See also African Journalism;
framing African atrocity
advertisers and, 43–44
framing, 119
representations of Africa, 4
metajournalistic discourse, 23, 33, 46, 51, 71, 128, 141
Mia Hôlô, 36
Minnawi, Minni, 111, 113
Moon, Ruth, xviii, 45, 128, 133, 140, 172
Msimulizi, 37
Mungai, Chris, xviii
Musandu, Phoebe, 35–36, 46
- Nairobi, 26, 48, 51, 55–56, 80, 83, 88, 92, 102, 112
nation's collective memory of traumatic events, 6
national subfields, 82, 84, 92–93, 124, 168
criminality frame and, 130
genocide, 135
interaction between subfields, 83
of Kenya, 100
of Rwanda, 92, 100, 128
use of ethnic conflict frame by, 149–150 native education policy. See colonial education policy
Ndlovu-Gatsheni, Sabelo, xiii, 15, 47, 120
Neff, Timothy, 36
negative moment, 42
New International Information Order
(NIIO), 22
New Times, The, 45, 93, 104, 118, 131, 154
news sources
categories of, 98
and journalists, 97–99
military personnel as, 104
nationality of, 100
prioritizing African, 104–105
role in shaping news coverage, 97
Ng'weno, Hillary, 41 Nigeria
being “outsider” or “insider” in, 20
Darfur coverage in, 80
ethnic conflict frame, 151
experiences with violence, 67
financial constraints of media, 88
framing Darfur, 125
ICC as a source of information, 105
interviews with journalists from, 18
online archive, 178
relationship between journalists and military sources, 104
reliance on a cosmopolitan subfield, 89
NIIO. See New International Information Order
Njata ya Kirinyaga, 38
Nkrumah, Kwame, 34, 36, 46–47, 175
non-African carrier groups, 115, 118, 175
Nyabola, Nanjala, 5
Nyamnjoh, Francis, 5, 12, 37, 39, 50, 58, 69–70, 162, 170
Nyseth Brehm, Hollie, xviii, 68
Nyseth Nzitarira, Hollie. See Nyseth
Brehm, Hollie
- Office of the Prosecutor (OTP), 17, 133
Okediji, Ruth, xvii
Okediji, Tade, xvii, 155
Onoko, Achieng, 37–38, 41
Other/Othering, 157–160. See also
ethnicization of conflict in Africa
OTP. See Office of the Prosecutor
- Philips, Miray, xvi
politics of naming, 140–141
positionality, 19–21
postcolonial. See also transnational African journalism field
field theory, 173–174
theory, 16
post-electoral violence in Kenya, 3, 12, 63, 109, 134
Prendergast, John, 96
public diplomacy, 101, 104, 128, 141
- radically Other, 159. See also ethnicization of conflict in Africa
rebels, 111. See also carrier groups
Darfur, 113
journalists and, 111
Minni Minnawi, 111, 113
role in regional conflicts, 112 threat of “being got,” 112
Reuter, Julius, 32, 168–169
Rodny-Gumede, Ylva, x, 44–45, 58, 87
Rogers, Everett, 53, 69–70, 163–164
Rossouw, Mandy, xvi
*Royal Gazette and Sierra Leone
Advertiser*, 36

- Royal Gold Coast Gazette*, 36
- Rwanda. See also African Journalism civil war frame in, 128
coverage of Darfur, 93, 103–104
journalism field, 45
national subfield, 92, 100, 128
newspapers, 179
view of ethnicity in, 152
- Schramm, Wilbur, 53, 54, 69–70, 163–164
self-censorship, 43
Senghor, Leopold, 157, 166–167, 172
settler-owned newspapers, 39
SLA/SLM. See Sudan Liberation Movement/Sudan Liberation Army social structure, 10
sociology of knowledge approach, 24
South Africa
being “outsider” or “insider” in, 20
Black South African, 153
cosmopolitan subfield, 85, 90–91
court system and Darfur conflict, 106
framing Darfur, 125–126, 129, 134–135, 139, 141
influence of cultural perceptions, 19
interviews with journalists from, 18
journalists’ motivations for covering mass atrocities, 68
military personnel as sources, 104
in multiple peace negotiations, 22 national context and decision-making processes, 116
national subfield, 92, 100, 115, 135, 141, 146
seeking out African sources, 104
shared affinity between South Africans and “black Africans,” 152–153
sources from INGOs, 110
statutory mechanism, 44–45 understandings of victimhood, 120 using ethnic conflict frame, 148
- Sowetan, The*, 17, 107
SPLA. See Sudan People’s Liberation Army
Standard, The, 17, 44, 84, 109, 127, 132, 156
state actors, 101–105. See also carrier
groups
stopgap frame, 130–131. See also framing
African atrocity
Structural Adjustment Programs, 42
student. See also journalism education student-professional training, 61–63
student-professionals, 56
subfields, 124. See also cosmopolitan subfield; national subfields
and framing Darfur, 126
interaction between subfields, 83
nationality of sources used by
subfields, 100
Sudan Liberation Movement/Sudan
Liberation Army (SLA/SLM), 25
Sudan People’s Liberation Army (SPLA), 26
Sudan political history. See Darfur
Svec, Joe, xvi
- Tageldin, Shaden, 167
Taveta Chronicle, 37 training institutes, 55
transnational African journalism field, 14–16, 33, 78, 93, 118, 142, 163–164.
See also African journalism fields colonization and, 174
eurocentrism, 15
field theory, 14–16
fielding transnationalism, 14
postcolonial theory, 16
South African journalism field, 16 transnational field with national and subfields, 15
transnational organizations, 105, 133
American and Chinese actors in, 101
International Criminal Court, 105–106
U.N. and A.U., 105
twinning programs, 52
- Ugboajah, Frank, 69–70
Umushumayeli Wendaba, 37
UNAMID. See United Nations African Union Mission in Darfur
United Nations (U.N.), 105
United Nations African Union Mission in Darfur (UNAMID), 127
University of Nairobi’s journalism
program, 55
- Weber, Max, 8, 35, 96
West African Herald, The, 36
Western Echo, The, 36
westernization of journalism curricula, 52
Wunpini, Mohammed, xviii, 82