

Index

- ability concepts
 - capacities, contrasted with, 88–89
 - Sen, Amartya, 96–97
 - Sugden, Robert, 96
- action (doing), 201–202
- adaptive adjustment behavior, 86–87
- adaptive individuals
 - concept, 30–32
 - stock–flow reasoning and, 90–91
 - time and, 86–90
- adaptive reflexive individuals, 51–52, 104–107
- adjustment behavior feedback
 - patterns, 86–87, 93–96
- affordances, 198–200
- agency
 - autonomy and, 240–241
 - defined, 106
 - loss of individual, 137–138
 - social embeddedness and, 112–113, 156, 159, 244–245
 - social policy built around, 215
 - stigmatized individuals and, 121
- agents, group interests as, 137–138, 196–197
- Akerlof, George, 31–34, 32n1, 40–41, 54
- Allais, Maurice, 31, 32, 48–52, 54
- anchor ideals, 183–184, 216
- Anscombe, Elizabeth, 10, 10n5
- Aristotle, 11, 13, 22, 89n4
- Arrow, Kenneth, 7–8
- Arthur, Brian, 155–156, 233–234
- autonomy, individual
 - externalist views of, 31, 62–77, 109–110, 241n11
 - internalist views of, 31, 60–61
 - overview, 55
- Bacharach, Michael, 50–51, 55–56, 67–69
- Baujard, Antoinette, 205
- Bayesian decision theory, 50, 51n13, 77, 83
- behavioral psychology, 65n5, 222n2, 228–229
- Behavioral Welfare Economics, 53–60, 241n11
- Being There: Putting Mind, World, and Body Back Together* (Clark), 201–202
- belief reversals, 25n16
- Bénabou, Roland, 56, 63–66
- Bernheim, Douglas, 53–55, 57–59
- Binmore, Kenneth, 50
- Black–Scholes–Merton option pricing model, 75–77
- Boulding, Kenneth, 182
- Boumans, Marcel, 92–93
- boundaries, 154, 202–203, 221–226, 229–232. See also interdisciplinary research
- Buonomo, Valerio, 107
- Byrne, Ruth, 102
- Callon, Michel, 75
- capability. See also ability concepts; intentionality, collective
 - abilities, contrasted with 88–89
 - adjustment behavior and, 103–104
 - basic, 136
 - collective, 149–153
 - deficits, 111, 127–128, 133
 - devaluations, 80–81, 111, 120–123, 133
 - economics, 161
 - maintenance, 103–104

- capability (cont.)
 - personal identity and, 106–107, 158–159, 207. See also subjectivity
- capability development
 - counterfactual thinking and, 103–104
 - democracy and, 142n2, 153
 - enhanced, 135–136
 - habit formation and, 213–214
 - Human Development Report* (United Nations, 2019) and, 142–143
 - individual realization ideal and, 179
 - paternalism problem and, 180–182
 - reflexive adaptive individuals, identity of and, 104–107
 - social embeddedness and, 132–134, 162
 - social stratification and, 62, 79–80, 108, 111, 113–114, 116n2, 119n6, 136–137, 142n2
 - stigmatization, selective, 114, 120–121
 - stratified economies and, 135
 - subjective, 211
 - utility maximization and, 194
- capability shortfalls
 - benchmarking, 122
 - capability gains and, 179
 - individual autonomy and, 159
 - policy design and, 180–181, 217
 - selective stigmatization and, 111, 121
 - social power imbalances and, 79, 87–88, 138, 140–141
- cascade theory, 40
- Case, Anne, 136–137
- Cat, Jordi, 185–187, 190, 229
- categorical social identity
 - collective capabilities and, 152
 - defined, 115–116
 - overview, 115–117
- causality/causal process
 - counterfactual reasoning and, 101, 101n17
 - economic method, shifts in and, 167, 243
 - feedback mechanism and, 93–96
 - modeling, formal and, 236–237, 243
 - proceduralism and, 156
 - social science explanations of, 129
- Chalmers, David, 61, 201–203, 206
- choice architects
 - libertarian paternalism and, 69–71
 - paternalism problem and, 214
 - small and large worlds and, 84, 95n13
 - social and economic embeddedness of, 76
- choice behavior, 29–30, 83–87. See also context-dependent preferences
 - adaptive individual concept and, 29–30, 88–104, 84n1
 - independence axioms and, 31–32
 - individual, 31–32, 186n10
 - mechanism design and, 75
 - rational versus psychologically-based, 58–60
- Clark, Andy, 61, 201–203, 201n4, 206
- Classical Ricardian theory, 229–230
- closed science economics. See also open science economics
 - methodological analysis and, 19–20
 - methods of investigation and, 20–21
 - principle practices of, 15–16
- Coase, Ronald, 36–38, 41–42, 43n10, 68
- cognitivism, 198–200
- collective capabilities, 150–152
- comparative statics reasoning, 12–13
- complexity modeling, 16–18, 16n10, 19n12, 25n16, 187n11
- computational complexity economics, 93–95
- conflict, 22–23, 57, 114, 116, 119–120. See also realistic conflict theory
- connectedness, 105–106
- context-dependent preferences
 - context independence and, 58–60
 - embeddedness and, 2
 - Homo economicus* doctrine and, 29–30, 54–55
 - independence axioms and, 63
 - individual fragmentation and, 77
 - reflexive adjustment ability and, 86

- socially shared meanings and, 47
- stock-flow, state description/process description of, 77
- contingents, future, 11
- counterfactual reasoning, 87, 98–101, 98n14, 101n17
- counterfactual thinking, 98–99, 98n14, 101–104, 103n18
- counterfactuals, close
 - counterfactual thinking and, 98
 - imagined possibilities and, 102, 104
 - non-“close counterfactuals” and, 102–103
- counterperformativity, 75–76
- Cretan liar paradox, 35–36, 36n5
- crossdisciplinary, defined, 185–187

- Deaton, Angus, 136–137
- Debreu, Gerard, 7–8
- decision rules, adjustments in, 17–18, 18n11
- decoy effect, 45, 65n5
- default rules, 71–72, 72n8
- democracy
 - fairness and, 147–149
 - legitimization of, 144–146, 145n3
 - in modern political theory, 141–142
 - open systems procedural view of, 154–156
- Dewey, John, 200
- DSGE (dynamic stochastic general equilibrium) model, 39
- “dual selves” view of individuals
 - Behavioral Welfare Economics and, 56–60
 - individual reconstruction strategies and, 54–55, 58n3, 60
 - utility maximization and, 211
- dynamic stochastic general equilibrium model (DSGE), 39

- ecological rationality-embodied
 - heuristics, 197
- economic activity
 - as capability generation process, 140, 143–144
 - democratic societal structure and, 140–141
 - as income generation process, 138–140, 143–144
 - institutional base for, 139
 - misconceptions about, 5–6
 - reconceptualization of, 140–141, 143–144
 - socially embedded subjectivity and, 161
- economic cognitive institutions, 197
- economic methods, 167–168
- economics. See also utility
 - maximization; value
 - disentanglement; value
 - entanglement
 - anchor ideals in, 183–184, 216
 - capabilities approach to, 179–180
 - change in as discipline, 162–163, 219–224, 232–234
 - efficiency analysis and, 171–172
 - empirical research in, 237
 - ethics in, 187–191
 - failings of, 167n1
 - forces influencing change in, 224–225, 234, 241–243
 - formal modeling in, 236–237
 - individual realization ideal in, 161, 170–174, 177–179, 183–184, 192–196
 - instrumental rationality, 239
 - just society and, 183–184
 - as normative discipline, 165–166, 170–174, 183–185
 - objective value-laden approach to, 168–169, 216–218
 - paternalism in capability development and, 180–182
 - positive, 165, 168
 - post-Keynesian, 183
 - preference/utility behavior in, 172–174
 - self-expression values and, 239–241
 - self-interest and, 6
 - specialization in, 234–236
 - theory versus modeling in, 236–237
 - value-free, 166–167
 - as value-laden discipline, 30–31, 161–162, 165–167, 169–170, 189, 190
 - values in play in, 183
- EDC (embodied and distributed cognition), 194–198, 195n1, 200

- efficiency analysis, 171–172, 193
- emancipative values, 239–241
- embeddedness. See also social embeddedness
 - economic, 76
 - economic agents and, 18
- embodied and distributed cognition (EDC), 194–198, 200
- embodied subjectivity, 197–198, 207–208
- epistemology, 28
- equilibrium
 - adjustment model, 12
 - context-dependent preferences and, 55
 - dynamic stochastic general equilibrium model (DSGE), 39
 - general theory of, 230–231
 - indeterminacy, contrasted with, 8–10
- essentialism
 - abstract, 9–10
 - as fundamental error, 22
- EUT (expected utility theory), 48–51
- exclusion
 - economic, 127–128
 - social, 133
 - by social group identity, 111, 128–132
- expected utility theory (EUT), 48–51
- experimentalism, 226–228
- experimentation, 8, 196, 227–228
- externalities, 122, 174–175, 174n4

- fairness, 147–149
- fallacious inferences, affirming the consequent, 34–35
- fatalism, 1, 5, 10–13, 11n7
- feedback relationships, 17–18. See also reflexivity; time
- Finetti, Bruno de, 49
- Foundations of Statistics, The* (Savage), 48
- free market rationale, 158n9
- freedom. See human freedom
- Frege, Gottlob, 7–8
- Frisch, Ragnar, 7–8
- Fuller, Chris, 158–159, 208–209, 211
- functionings, 128

- Gallagher, Shaun, 197, 201n4
- game theory
 - “Holmes–Moriarty” problem, 35–36
 - interdisciplinary research and, 227
 - market competition and, 237
 - as stimulus to change in economics, 219
 - “variable frame” theory, 50–51, 51n13
- Gibson, James, 198–201, 203
- Gigerenzer, Gerd, 196
- Gilardone, Muriel, 205
- Gödel, Kurt, 7–8
- Gödel incompleteness problems, 35–36
- Grayot, James, 195n1, 197
- group formation, 113

- habitual behavior, 97–98, 209–210
- harm principle (Mill), 69–72, 70n6
- HDI (Human Development Index), 103
- Hermann-Pillath, Carsten, 197
- heuristic and biases behavioral economics research program, 29–30, 83–84, 169n2, 186n10, 195n1, 222n2
- hierarchical social role settings, 114, 116n2
- Hodgson, Geoffrey, 197
- “Holmes–Moriarty” problem, 35–36
- Homo economicus*, 9
 - doctrine explained, 6
 - individual conception, 44–45
- Human Development Index (HDI), 103, 103n19
- Human Development Report* (United Nations, 2019), 135–136, 138–139, 142–143, 152
- human freedom
 - choice and, 30–31
 - mainstream economics and, 142n2, 171, 241n11
 - tenseless time and, 11
 - value blindness and, 10
- human rights, 141–142

- identity
 - analysis, 27–32
 - concepts, 31–34

Index

283

- identity cascades. See cascade theory
- IIA (independence of irrelevant alternatives) riskless choice axiom, 44–45, 67–68
- income maximization, 139–140
- independence axiom (IA), 44–45
- independence of irrelevant alternatives (IIA) riskless choice axiom, 44–45, 67–68
- indeterminacy, 10, 10n5
- individual choice behavior. See choice behavior
- individual identity
 - Akerlof–Kranton initiative, 32–38
 - Allais, Maurice, 51–52
 - explications of, four versions, 55–56
 - as opportunity sets, 96
 - preferences issue and, 157
 - Sen’s account of, 41–44, 51–52
 - Simon’s account of, 51
 - unintegrated self-narratives and, 195–196
 - World Values Survey assessment of, 244–245
- individual realization ideal, 161, 169n2, 170–174, 177–179, 183–184, 184n8, 192–196
- individual reconstruction strategies
 - “dual selves” view of individuals and, 54–55, 60
 - libertarian paternalism as, 68–74, 88
 - mechanism design theory as, 73–77
 - nonsuccess of, 77–78
 - overview, 62–63, 77
 - preferences issue and, 51–52
 - social interaction as, 63–66
 - teams and team reasoning as, 66–69
- individuation criteria, 28–29
- inequality. See social group hierarchies; social stratification
- inequality aversion, 33
- information cascades, 40
- Inglehart-Welzel World Cultural Map, 238
- institutional economics, 139
- instrumental rationality, 239
- intentionality, collective, 151–153
- interdisciplinary research
 - behavioral psychology and, 228–229
 - contemporary economics and, 33n2, 226–229
 - defined, 185–187
 - disciplinary boundaries and, 221–226, 229–232
 - experimentalism in, 226–228
 - game theory and, 227
 - quantitative methods, 227
- interfield research
 - defined, 185–187
- interdisciplinarity and, 226–227
- multidisciplinary economics and, 232
- intersectionality
 - Feminist theory on, 116, 116n2
 - stigmatization, selective and, 119–121
- justice, 205n5
- Kahneman, Daniel, 51, 101–102
- Keynes, J. M., 35
- Keynes–Knight uncertainty, 50
- Kranton, Rachel, 31–34, 32n1, 40–41, 54
- Kuhn, Thomas, 23
- Livet, Pierre, 106–107, 207
- logicism, 7
- Lucas critique, 92–93
- Mackenzie, Donald, 75–76
- Margalit, Avishai, 184
- Marschak, Jacob, 7–8
- McTaggart, J. M. Ellis, 13n8
- meaning attached to things, 157–158
- mechanism design theory, 73–77, 74n9
- Merton, Robert, 93
- methodology, open, 13–14
- microeconomics theory, 39
- Mill, John Stuart, 69–72
- Mitrouchev, Ivan, 107
- mixed methods methodological analysis, 18–19
- Mongin, Philippe, 48–49
- Morgan, Mary, 8n4
- Morgenstern process, 7–8, 92, 92n9

- multidisciplinarity, 185–187, 186n10, 232–234, 243
- multiple selves problem
 - Beinabou and Tirole contrasted with Sen conception, 65–66
 - capabilities concept of individual, 210–214
 - economics' individual conception and, 63
 - identity fragmentation and, 210–214
 - individual realization and, 195–196
 - mechanism design theory and, 74
 - Parfit's connectedness idea and, 105
 - present-bias and, 63, 210–211
 - regret and, 56–57
 - Sen's three utility function types and, 41–44
- narratives, life, 136–137. See also self-narratives
- negative feedback disinvestment, 24, 25
- neoclassical economic theory, 7–8, 53–54, 57, 59–61, 95, 171–174, 223
- neoclassical marginalism, 183
- Neumann, John von, 7–8
- Neumann–Morgenstern utility function theorem, 38
- nonidentity problem, 148, 148n5
- objectivity, science of, 9
- ontology, 28, 210
- open science economics
 - methodological analysis and, 19
 - methods of investigation and, 20–21
 - principle practices of, 15, 16
- open science movement, 13–14
- open/closed science conceptions in economics, 15–16
- option pricing model, 75–77
- ordinal preference relation, 6–7
- Parfit, Derek, 105–106, 148n5
- paternalism
 - asymmetric, 68–73
 - capability development and, 180–182
 - libertarian, 68–74, 88, 214–215
 - overview, 214–216
- Pereira, Gustavo, 212n7
- performative economics, 74–76
- personal identity capabilities, 106–107, 158–159, 207. See also subjectivity
- person-invariant narratives, 204–206, 205n5, 218
- Petracca, Enrico, 197
- philosophy of science, 20, 20n13
- physical indeterminism, 10, 10n5
- Pierce, C. S., 200
- Plato, 9, 11n7
- pluralism, 153–154
- political economy, 223
- political legitimacy, 144–146
- predictability, 10
- preference formation, 71
- preferences. See also present-bias
 - adaptive preferences as own, 174–176
 - bad, 21n14, 176–178
 - concept, 7–8, 7n2, 7n3, 10n5
 - higher-order (meta-), 177–178
 - ILA assumption and, 45–48
 - private, 69, 73, 157, 158n9, 177–178
 - rational, 57–60
 - relation, 9
 - subjective, 6, 157–158
 - theories of, 34n3, 46–47, 58n3
 - “true,” 58n3
 - utility behavior and, 172–174
 - value concept, 21–22
- present-bias
 - children and, 64–65
 - “dual selves” and, 56–58, 57n2
 - multiple selves problem and, 63, 210–211
 - rational choice and, 69
 - weakness of will problem and, 65
- principle-agent theory, 33–34, 117
- proceduralism, 154–156
- Production of Commodities by Means of Commodities* (Sraffa), 229–230
- public expenditure, 144
- public reason, 145–147
- Putnam, Hilary, 161, 166–168, 188–189
- quantitative methods, 227

- Ramsey, Frank, 49
 Rangel, Antonio, 55, 57–59
 rational choice theory adaptive individual conceptions and, 29–30 background, 7–8
 behavioral economics and, 3, 231
 behavioral psychology and, 231
 Chicago School economics and, 223 collective intentions and, 152 independence axioms (IA) and, 25 mainstream economics' reliance on, 8–10 philosophical background of, 7–8 preference theory and, 46–47, 58n3 standard axioms of, 6 rational expectations, 17
 rationality, human, 198n2
 Rawls, John, 145, 184, 205n5 realistic conflict theory, 113, 123–125.
 See also conflict reconciliation problem, 53–56, 74–75, 83–84 reconstitutive downward effects, 197 reflexive adaptive behavior, 92–96, 92n7, 92n8, 93n10 reflexive adaptive individuals, identity of, 104–107 reflexive adjustment process, 83–87, 103–104 reflexive feedback effects, two-way, 17–18 reflexivity consequences, unintended, 93n10, 94–95n12 feedback loop effects of, 93–96, 93n10, 94–95n12
 Lucas critique, 92–93
 Morgenstern process, 92
 re-identification, 29–30, 104–107
 relational social identity
 collective capabilities and, 152 complex systems model (Simon) and, 132
 defined, 115
 overview, 115–117
 settings, 80, 121–122
 types of, 114
 representative agent concept, 31, 38–41, 67, 110, 113, 174 Republic (Plato), 9
 riskless choice axiom (ILA), 44–45
 risky choice axiom (IA), 44–45, 47n11, 69
 “Robbers Cave” experiment, 39, 40, 113
 Rogers, Carl, 107, 158–159, 162, 208–209
 Ross, Don, 196–197
 Russell, Bertrand, 7–8
 Samuels, Warren, 153–154
 Samuelson, Paul, 7–8, 47n11, 57n2
 Santa Fe artificial stock market analysis, 18n11
 satisficers (Simon), 84–87
 Savage, Leonard, 48–51, 51n13, 54
 SC (situated cognition), 194–200, 195n1 science, advances in, 233–234 science economics. See open/closed science conceptions in economics scientific revolutions, 23–26 self-actualization, 209
 self-esteem, 208n6
 self-expression values, 239–241
 self-image, 208n6
 self-interest, 6, 171n3 self-narratives, 107, 158, 162, 195–196, 206–208. See also narratives, life self-realization, 212n7. See also self-actualization self-reference problem, 35–36, 52
 Sen, Amartya
 ability concepts, 96–97
 adaptive individuals' reflexive adjustment behavior, 106 adaptive reflexive individuals and, 51–52 capabilities and, 105
 individual autonomy and, 156
 individual identity and, 31, 41–44, 43n10 opportunities for living and, 140, 140n1 personal identity capability and, 106 positional objectivity and, 204–205, 205n5 reflexive individuals and, 32

- Simon, Herbert
 basic complexity model and, 233 complex systems model and, 129–132 complexity theory analysis and, 16–17, 80 heuristics and biases behavioral economics program and, 56 individual identity and, 51 rationality theory and, 36 relational social identity and, 132 satisficing behavior, 84–87 situated cognition and, 199–200 situated cognition (SC), 194–200
 Smith, Adam, 177
 Smith, Vernon, 196
 social contract theory, 145
 social embeddedness capabilities view of, 79–80
 capability development and, 132–134, 162
 capability gains and, 80
 capability shortfalls and, 80–81, 111 complex formulation for, 38, 76
 individual autonomy and, 156, 159
 individual identities and, 33 strong sense of, 111–114, 112n1 subjectivity and, 162, 213 weak sense of, 111, 112 social good, 150–152
 social group hierarchies, 80, 111, 116n2, 117n3 social group identity theory, 67–68 social identity. See also categorical social identity; relational social identity hierarchical relational role settings and, 116–117
 individual identity and, 110–111, 231n7 theory, 38–41, 112–113
 social network theory, 113 social preferences, 33, 112, 177–178 social science(s)
 anchor values in, 170
 economics as objective, 168, 196, 205–206, 216–218 economics' relationship with, 18, 30, 225, 241–242 economic/social differences, views of, 129 failures of, 157
 social stratification, 108–110, 116n2, 119–120, 119n6, 133, 142n2
 social values
 World Values Survey categories of, 238–239
 Sophocles, 11n7
 Soros, George, 24
 specialization, 154–156, 234–236, 235n9
 spillovers/externalities, 124, 174, 174n4
 Spong, Heath, 195, 209–210, 213–214
 Sraffa, Piero, 229–230, 230n5, 230n6, 242–243 stigmatization, selective. See also social group hierarchies; social stratification capability devaluations and, 120–123
 defined, 117
 gender and, 118–119, 119n6
 identity fragmentation and, 212–214
 intersectionality exploitation and, 119n6, 120–121 mechanisms for, 128–132
 overview, 111
 race in US and, 117–118, 118n4, 118n5, 119n6 social inequality and, 114, 117–120 stereotype threat as, 117 substitution effect and, 120–121 stock–flow reasoning, 90
 stratification economics
 autonomy and, 109–110
 capability development and, 113–114
 club goods versus common pool goods location in, 125–127 distortion and burden effects and, 122–123 exclusion by social group identity, 111 income mobility statistics and, 125 income/wealth inequality statistics and, 124–125
 overview, 123, 124
 realistic conflict theory and, 123–125
 segregation and, 125–127

- stigmatization mechanisms and, 128–132
 - unregulated commons and, 126–127
- subjective capabilities, 208–209
- subjective preference, 6
- subjectivity
 - embodied, 195, 202–206
 - individual realization ideal and, 192–196
 - mainstream, 204
 - private values and, 157–158
 - socially embedded, 161, 162, 202–203
 - Wittgenstein’s private language and, 61
- Sugden, Robert, 53–56, 66–67, 96
- Sunstein, Cass, 45, 68–73
- sustainability, 143
- technology, evolutionary processes in, 233–34
- Thaler, Richard, 45, 68–73
- theory of the firm, 39
- theory of the household, 39
- time
 - adaptive behavior as adjustment process and, 87
 - adaptive individuals and, 86–90
 - choice theory and, 10
 - as dynamic temporal idea, 10–11, 13
 - equilibrium adjustment model and, 12
 - feedback loop pattern as adjustment strategy and, 93–95
 - future contingents, problem of, 11
 - identity and, 93–95
 - overview, 10–11
 - as static temporal idea, 11, 12
 - tenseless, 11
 - two conceptions of, 86–87
 - unreal, 13, 13n8
- Tirole, Jean, 55–56, 63–66
- transdisciplinarity, 161–162, 185–187, 187n11, 232
- Tversky, Amos, 101–102
- UNDP Human Development Report 2019, 135–136, 138–139, 142–143, 152
- United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), 103–104, 135–136
- United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights, 141–142
- US mainstream economics
 - World Values Survey social values and, 239–240
- utility function, individual, 32–38, 41, 54–55, 112n1
- utility maximization, 39
 - autonomy-promoting institutions and, 73, 215
 - capability development and, 194
 - choice and, 47–48
 - “dual selves” view of individuals and, 211
 - income maximization and, 139–140
 - individual, concept of and, 51–52
 - individual identity and, 33–34, 34n3, 77
 - individual well-being and, 170–171
 - mainstream economics and, 139–140, 171–174
 - representative agent thinking and, 39–40
 - self-referentiality and, 36
 - social benefits of, 177
 - tenseless time and, 11–12
- value
 - concepts, 8
 - mainstream conception of, 9
 - neutrality, 21–23, 21n14, 25n16
 - spectrum, expansion of, 22
- value disentanglement, 161–162, 169–170, 179–180
- value entanglement, 161–162, 166–168, 179–180
- value blindness, 1, 6, 10
- “variable frame” theory, 55–56, 67–68
- Veblenian tradition, 94–95n12, 197, 210
- view from nowhere conception of science, 14–15
- view from somewhere conception of economics, 13, 205–206
- von Neumann–Morgenstern utility function theorem, 38

Weber, Max, 145	individual realization ideal and, 161, 170–173, 178, 190–191
well-being	preference/utility satisfaction and, 194
adaptive preferences and, 175, 180	social policy and, 193, 214, 215
anchor ideals and, 184	stratified societies and, 153
bad preferences and, 176–177	sustainability and, 143
capability approach to, 194, 216–217	White, Mark, 187
economics as normative discipline and, 183	Wilcox, Nathaniel, 210
economy as capability generation process, 140	Williams, Bernard, 166
economy as income generation process and, 140, 143–144	Wittgenstein, Ludwig, 22, 45–48, 61, 157
individual capabilities and, 150	“world in the model” postwar modeling, 8n4
	World Values Survey (WVS), 238–240, 239n10, 243–245