

Index

- abstract ideas, 161, 163, 165, 182
- abstract subject matter, 185
- Alice v. CLS Bank*, 155, 164
- American Joint Committee on Horticultural Nomenclature, 206
- Applied Data Research, 126
- artificial substances, 28
- asexually reproduced plants, 200
- aspirin patent, 104
- Association for Molecular Pathology v. Myriad Genetics*. See Myriad
- Bachelard, Gaston, 37
- basic patent for plants, 212
- biological patents, 228
- biological specimens, 282
- biological subject matter, 229
 - dematerialisation of, 191, 244
 - evaluating, 251
 - history, 191
 - how accommodated, 233
 - and mechanical inventions, 191
- breeders as inventors, 202–3, 205
- breeding
 - as inventing, 202
 - as a scientific activity, 235
- Brenner v. Manson*, 99
- bundling of software and hardware, 120
- Burbank, Luther, 203
- Burpee, David, 193
- Calvert, Jane, 232, 257, 266–67
- central dogma of molecular biology, 226
- Chakrabarty*, 195, 204, 219, 229, 234, 236, 253
- chemical card index, 111–12, 114
 - impact of, 114
 - organisation of, 111
 - role of empirical formula, 112
- chemical compounds. See also chemical subject matter
 - bounded, 53
 - description, 60–62, 64–65, 70, 72
 - as discoveries, 32
 - empirical nature of, 42
 - fickle, 38, 56, 61–62
 - growth, 71
 - identification of, 60
 - ingredients, 38, 59
 - internal organisation, 25
 - as inventions, 39
 - not inventions, 32–33
 - name, 87
 - novelty, role of structural formula, 92
 - obviousness, role of structural formula, 91
 - reasons for protecting untested compounds, 98
 - as research tools, 29
 - testing of, 97–98
- chemical formula, 22. See also structural formula
- chemical information, impact on patent law, 110
- chemical inventions. See also chemical subject matter
 - decoupled from physical material, 93
 - treated as tangible object, 89
- chemical laboratory. See laboratory
- chemical literature, 112
- chemical names relation to structural formula, 86, 88
- chemical nomenclature, 88
 - to identify chemical inventions, 89
 - in patent law, 88
- chemical patents
 - families and classes of, 94
 - faulty, 68
 - German, 54, 68
 - ignored, 36
 - medical. See medical patents
 - product patents, attempt to exclude, 17

- chemical products compared to chemical process, 16
- chemical specimens, 46–48, 52–53, 72, 282
 - compared to biological specimens, 75
 - end of, 93
 - Germany, 54–55
 - nature of, 73
 - role of, 73–76
 - shift away from, 75–76
 - trust, 75
 - United Kingdom, 53
- chemical subject matter, 15, 101. See also chemical compounds
 - acceptance of, 17
 - dematerialisation of, 76
 - description, 59, 65
 - qualitative, 63
 - quantitative, 63
 - empirical nature of, 41, 56, 59
 - fickle, 27
 - Germany, 16
 - informed, role of, 59
 - lack of shape or form, 59
 - nature of, 18–19
 - and physical compounds, 44
 - problems with, 16
 - product patents, 16
 - quantitative, 101
 - rate and speed of change, 27–28
 - relation to physical compound, 58
 - speculative, 100–1
 - tangible, 77
- class-based chemical claims, 94
- classes of inventions, patents for, 282
- composition of matter, 38
 - chemical, 60–61
- compounds, internal organisation, 23
- computer programs
 - as mental process, 132
 - per se, 148
- computer-related subject matter
 - conflicting views of, 118
 - dematerialisation of, 118
 - interest in intellectual property protection, 123
 - as machine, 132
 - physicality, 175, 177, 179–82
 - problems with, 131
- conception, of invention, 41
- concreteness as test for eligibility, 189
- copyright registration for software, first, 127
- Crouch, Dennis, 155
- DDR Holdings*, 186
- dematerialisation, 2–3, 271, 279
 - of chemical subject matter, 101
 - of computer-related subject matter, 180, 190
 - of gene-based inventions, 257
 - impact of, 4, 281–82
 - importance of the physical, 277
 - and the tangible, 277
- deposit, 237
 - of biological material, 237, 241–43
 - to describe molecular inventions, 237
 - of genetic material, and description, 242
 - of physical material, ongoing importance of, 276
 - plant material, 216–17
 - relation to the intangible, 218
 - role of, 218
 - and trust, 218
 - of plasmids, 241
 - seed, 216
- description, chemical compounds, 70
- Diamond v. Chakrabarty*, 189
- Diamond v. Diehr*, 161
- Diaz, Gerardo Con, 131
- digital sequence information, 2
- discoveries, 32, 36, 202
- doctrine of equivalents, 45, 171, 173
- empirical formula, 22–24
 - role of in describing inventions, 62
- empirical sciences, 20, 194
- Enfish*, 186
- Ensmenger, Nathan, 130
- epistemic things, 269–70
- equity of an invention, 45
- eugenics, 274
- ex parte Christensen*, 272
- Ex parte Eagle*, 96
- ex parte Latimer*, 90
- Ex parte Markush*, 107–8
- excluded subject matter, 157, 163, 165
 - categorisation, 161
- experiment, role of, 21
- experimental science, 29
- experimental tests in patents, 65–66
- experts, 5, 66–67
 - in patent law, 102
 - role of, 66
- families or classes of chemical compounds, 95
- Farm Act*, 2018, 192
- Funk Brothers*, 254
- fuzziness in science, 268

286

Index

GenBank Sequence Database, 248 gene patents, 233
 biological representation, 236
 as chemical compounds, 236
 gene-based inventions, description of, 237 general chemical formula claims, 95 generic chemical claims, 96 genes as carriers of information, 255
 changing nature of, 260
 as chemical compounds, 232, 255–56
 decoupled from physical form, 257 as information, 257
 consequences of, 257
 legal image of, 260
 as master molecule, 226–27, 262, 266 uncertainty about, 261, 265 genetic determinism in patent law, 267 genetic engineering, 227
 Geneva Congress 1892, 86–87
 Geneva system, 92
 German chemical industry, 17
 German Patent Office, 54
 German patents, 17–18
 Goetz, Martin, 126
Gottschalk v. Benson, 135, 146–47

 hardware relation to software, 151 hardwired computers, patenting of, 151–52
 Hepler-Smith, Evan, 87
 Hill, Edwin A., 110
 Human Genome Project, 262

 IBM
 antitrust, 116–17, 122
 bundling of hardware and software, 116–17
In re Bilski, 163
In re Le Grice, 196
In re Prater, 144
 information-based inventions, 2–4 information-based subject matter, 279, 281 impact on patent law, 280 informed material, 180, 221 informed subject matter, 44
 role in patent law, 282
 ingredients, 38
 inorganic chemicals, 19 intangible limits of, 210
 nature of, 1, 4, 277–78
 in plants, 209
 relation to tangible, 1, 209
 role of, 208
 tracing, 59

intellectual property protection of software reasons for, 124, 126
 rise of, 123
 role of banks, 123 role of lawyers, 124 invention agency, 204
 and discovery, 194
 as a human affair, 279
 reconfiguration of, 204, 234
 inventor, role of, 33
 isomerism, 23

 Jacobs, Morton, 116

 Kayton, Irving, 124
Kuehnmsted v. Farbenfabriken, 104

 laboratory, 20, 22
 Patent Office, 67–68, 74
 law, science, and technology, 5 impact of law on science, 6 law and technology, gap between, 156
 laws of nature, 34, 161
 legal-scientific hybrid, 109
 Lemley, Mark, 188
 Luhmann, Nicholas, 14

 machine figure of, role, 4 machine-based jurisprudence, 280
 Markush claims, 107–9 criticisms of, 109
 materiality
 role in patent law, 279–82
 shift away from, 281
Matheson v. Campbell, 103
McRo, 187, 189
 means-plus-function claims, 171 mechanical model of invention, 195, 205 medical patents, 15
 ethical issues, 16–17
 Merges, Robert, 155 models, patent, 47, 53, 72 molecular subject, 230 changes created by, 233 characteristics of, 230–31
 dematerialisation of, 277
 molecularisation of biological subject matter, changes, 234
 mRNA vaccines, patents for, 2
 Müller-Wille, Staffan, 266, 268, 270
Myriad, 107, 253–56, 260

- naming chemical compounds, 86
- nature as a legal category, 251–52
- networks, legal, 12
- novelty, 9, 12, 37, 44, 76
 - chemical inventions, 110
- obviousness, 12, 45
- O'Reilly v. Morse*, 175
- organic chemistry, 20
 - history, 19
- Parke-Davis v. Mulford*, 102
- Parker v. Flook*, 161–62
- patent attorneys, 167
- patent drafting, importance of, 168
- patent law
 - mechanical inventions, 15
 - reliance on chemistry, 101
 - uncertainty, role of, 10
- Patent Office
 - chemical card index. See chemical card index
 - early approaches to software, 138–40
 - laboratory. See laboratory
 - problems with examination, 143
- Patent Office Examination Guidelines, 1968, 147
 - computer-related subject matter, 142
- patent protection for software
 - opponents, 128–29
 - reactions to, 128
 - reasons for, 127–28
 - supporters, 128
- Patent Reform Bill*, 1967, 142
 - exclusion of computer programs, 141
- patents as immutable mobiles, 10, 270
- pharmaceutical patents, 15
 - ethical issues, 16–17
- physicality
 - role of, 174
 - as test for eligibility, 187
- Plant Patent Act*, 1930, 191, 207
- plant subject matter as informed material, 221
- Plant Variety Protection Act*, 1970, 191, 207
- plant-based intangible, features of, 209–10, 214
- plant-based subject matter
 - changing nature of, 228
 - compared to other biological subject matter, 274
 - description of, 195, 199
 - fluid nature of, 199
 - peculiarities of, 193, 210
 - representing, 236
 - role of the physical, 205
 - secretive nature of, 194–95, 204
- plants
 - description, 221–22
 - as informed material, 222
 - patent protection of, 191
- point of novelty, 160–61
- postgenomic subject matter, 266, 268, 271–73, 275, 277
 - role of the tangible, 275
- postgenomics, 262, 265
- Prater and Wei*, 144
- President's Commission on the Patent System*, 141, 158
- prevention, 282
 - and biological subject matter, 246
 - chemical inventions, 21
 - lack of, 21, 26, 30, 36, 46
 - mechanical inventions, 46
- prior art, chemical, 115
- priority of invention, 41
- product patents, 16
- public domain, organisation of, 158
- rational formula, 22–26, 62
 - in patent law, 26
- reduction to practice, of invention, 41
- Rheinberger, Hans-Jörg, 227, 266, 268, 270
- Robinson, William, 39–40, 280
- Ruby, Charles, 31–32, 34, 37
- saccharine, 34
- science and technology
 - impact in patent law, 102–3, 283
 - role of, in law, 5
- science, impact in law, 58
- secretive subject matter, 281
- sequence identity, 258–59
- sequence information, 244, 250, 256, 258, 275, 277
 - consequences of, 250
 - first uses in patents, 246
 - Patent Office problems with, 247
 - to describe invention, 244
 - to represent molecular subject matter, 247
- sequence-based inventions, 258
- sexually reproduced plants, 201
 - protection of, 207
- Smith v. Bousquet*, 42
- software
 - as heterogeneous subject matter, 130
 - connection to hardware, 128
 - different views of, 129, 131
 - in the 1960s, 118–19
 - how valued, 120
 - legal protection, 120
 - sources of, 119

- software products, emergence of, 121
- software products industry, emergence of, 121
- software-related subject matter. See also
 - computer-related subject matter
 - confusion, 155
 - different views of, 135, 138, 156
 - hardware manufacturers view of, 131
 - interpretation of, 160
- specificity
 - and shift away from the physical, 190
 - as test for eligibility, 185, 187–88
 - dematerialisation, 190
- specimens. See chemical specimens
- speculative chemical inventions, 281
- standardization of chemical naming. See
 - chemical names relation to structural formula
- Standardized Plant Names: A Catalogue of Approved Scientific Names of Plants in American Commerce* 1923, 206
- structural formula, 18, 22, 78
 - compared to empirical formula, 79
 - for large classes of compounds, 96
 - impact in patent law, 83–84, 90–91, 93
 - impact on chemical subject matter, 101
 - in patents, 88
 - nature of, 79–81
 - replacing chemical samples, 93
 - to identify chemical inventions, 89
- structural theory, 77
 - impact in patent law, 89
- subject matter
 - acceptance of, 158
 - as informed material, 13
 - decoupling, 3
 - dematerialisation, 4
 - eligibility, 6
 - excluded, 8
 - heterogonous, 13
 - informed, 58
 - interpretation, 157
 - new, 6–7, 9
 - open-ended, 10
 - physicality, 184
 - requirements, 9
 - substances, chemical. See chemical specimens
 - super-double nasturtium, 193, 212
 - Supreme Court and technology, 159–60
 - synthetic chemicals, 70
 - tangible relation to intangible, 1
 - technical things, 270
 - technology, speed of change, 156
 - trade secrecy and early software, 127
 - unbundling of hardware and software, 122–23, 180
 - as dematerialisation, 118
 - uncertainty in patent law, 271
 - utility, chemical inventions, 30
 - vitalism, 19
 - in patent law, 230
 - Von Bramer*, 91
 - voucher specimens, plants, 217
 - Whitehead, Alfred North, 13
 - whole contents approach, 161
 - whole genome sequencing, 263