

Contents

Preface	1
PART I PRELIMINARY CONSIDERATIONS	3
1 Introduction	3
2 Metaphysics, Modality, and Conceptual Analysis	6
3 Two Kinds of Authority: Epistemic and Practical	9
4 The Razian Theory of Practical Authority	10
PART II THE EXISTENCE CONDITIONS OF PRACTICAL AUTHORITY	14
5 The Constitutive Properties of Authoritative Tellings	14
6 Other Candidates for Constitutive Properties of Authoritative Tellings	15
PART III CLAIMS (1) THROUGH (7) AND THE SANCTIONS THESIS	17
7 Practical Authority as Telling People What to Do	17
8 Practical Authority as a Source of Reasons to Comply	19
9 Practical Authority as a Personal Relationship	25
10 Practical Authority as Rational	29
11 Practical Authority as the Power of Will-Imposition	35
12 Practical Authority as Grounded in a Claim of Right	41
13 Practical Authority as Giving Rise to Obligations	49

Contents	v
14 Must Authoritative Tellings Create Exclusionary Reasons?	56
15 Objections: Of Angels and Emergency Volunteers	60
Conclusions	63
Bibliography	64