

Index

- a posteriori* identities, 152–3, 159 a posteriori physicalism, 208–9n.5 a posteriori statements concepts vs. properties, 208
 and contingency, 210–16
 justification of K-identity statements without reduction, 216–23
 of K-identity statement, 209
a priori physicalism, 79–86, 208–9n.5
a priori statements
 concepts vs. properties, 208
 and contingency, 210–6
 justification of K-identity statements
 without reduction, 216–23
 of K-identity statement, 209
 Abel, T., 101–2, 103
 Abelson, Raziel, 92
 Abrahamsen, A., 48
 acquaintance
 phenomenal concept strategy, 21, 30–1 quotational account, 16–17
 anomalous monism, 167–72, 177
 Anscombe, Elizabeth, 237
 Armstrong, D.M., 153–4
 asymmetric epistemology, 20, 26

 Balog, Katalin, 13, 19
 Barsalou, Lawrence W., 144
 Bates, Jared, 225–6
 Bechtel, William, 10–11, 44n.1, 48, 54, 61, 106–7, 186–7, 194, 195
 Beckermann, Ansgar, 6
 Bennett, Karen, 234–5
 Benzer, S., 49
 Bickle, John, 11, 102–6 biological systems, 54–60, 61–2
 Block, Ned, 66, 77–9, 82, 174, 176–7, 181, 210
 Brandt, Richard, 66–7 bridge laws
 inter-level bridge principles, 74–5, 81n.16, 81–2

 intertheoretic reduction, 92–5 reductive explanation, 68, 271–2, 274–5
 Broad, Charles D., 73–6, 81–2, 83
 Burge, Tyler, 27, 143n.9

 Carey, Susan, 144
 Carrasco, Marisa, 141–2 Cartesian modal argument, 11, 13 causal foundationalism, 245 causation
 causal closure of physical domain, 231–4, 247–8
 causal overdetermination, 231–6, 253 counterfactual view of, 230–1, 240–1, 244–6
 epiphenomenalism, 254–6
 nonreductive physicalism, arguments of, 233, 235, 236–40
 in physics, 243–7
 production view of, 230–1, 237–40 type physicalism, arguments for, 4, 230–1 type-type identity, 153–7, 163–5
 in zombie worlds, 251–4 zombie worlds, alternative laws in, 261–3 zombie worlds, physical indiscernibility in, 253, 256–61
 central state identity theory advantages of, 129–30
 claims of, 127–8
 qualitative awareness, 143–6 weakness of, 146
 see also type materialism Chalmers, David
 correlations, 191–2, 196
 epiphenomenalism in zombie worlds, 254–6
 Grand Conjunction, 219, 220 Perry's argument against zombie worlds, 251–4 phenomenal concepts, 28
 qualia, 113, 251
 reductive explanation, 80–1, 96, 216–7 zombie argument, 11, 18–19, 182, 252–3

- Chun, Marvin, 198–201
 Churchland, Patricia, 91, 94–5, 98, 193
 Churchland, Paul, 76n.8, 91, 94, 189, 193 circadian rhythms evolutionary descent with modification, 56–60 features of, 45
 independent origin of, 57–60 mechanistic explanations, 48–50, 61–2 multiple realizations, 52–4 CN-K-identity statement arguments against unjustifiability, 209–10
 contingency in, 210–6
 justification with inference to the best explanation, 221–7 justification without reduction, 216–23
 meaning of, 209
 see also K-identity statement Coghill, Robert C., 131 cognitive neuroscience, 43–7, 99
 compositional variation identity theory, 268–70
 and multiple realization, 275–85
 and reduction, 270–5
 conceivability-possibility principle, 213–6 concepts, 22–4, 208
 conceptual dualism
 in central state identity theory, 127–8
 qualitative awareness, 144–6
 and type physicalism, 12–14 see also phenomenal concept strategy conscious states, 21–2, 31 consciousness
 and functional reduction, 96–8
 molecular and cellular cognition (MCC), 106
 phenomenal concept strategy, 20–2, 31
 conserved mechanisms in evolutionary systems, 55–60, 61–2 consolidation of memories, 3 constitutional account of direct phenomenal concepts, 22–32 contingency, 210–6, 266 contingent identity, 152–3, 159 core cognition, 144
 correlations
 correlation thesis, 221–3
 qualia, 131–4
 in type-type identity, 151–3, 157–9 counterfactual view of causation, 238–9, 240–3, 244–6 Craver, C.F., 48

 Darden, L., 48
 Darlington, T.K., 56
 Davidson, D., 167–72, 177

 defeaters, 208n.4
 Dennett, Daniel, 180
 descent with modification, 55–60, 61–2 direct phenomenal concepts constitutional account of, 22–32
 and phenomenal experience, 38–9 quotational account of, 16–17, 32–8
 type not completely determined by token, 37–8 Dowe, Phil, 238, 241
 Dretske, Fred, 129
 dualism
 in central state identity theory, 127–8
 meaning of, 18
 qualitative awareness, 144–6
 and type physicalism, 4–5, 11–14
 zombie argument, 18–19
 dynamic mechanistic explanations, 48

 eliminative materialism, 94 endogenous attention to pain, 141–2 epiphenomenalism, 169–170, 252, 253, 254–6 epistemic implication, 219 events see mental events; physical events evolutionary descent, 55–60, 61–2 experiences
 God hypothesis, 122–3
 phenomenal properties, identity of, 116–21
 qualitative awareness, 129–30, 143–6
 explanatory gap
 justification of K-identity statements without reduction, 217–23
 phenomenal concept strategy, 21, 28–32 reductive explanation of identity, 68–73, 75–6 explanatory physicalism, 182

 face perception, 197–204
 Feigl, Herbert, 90–1, 251, 264, 265–70
 Feyerabend, Paul, 90, 92–3 Fodor, Jerry, 167, 173–6, 177, 194n.1, 264, 270–3 functional reduction, 96–8 functionalism
 meaning of, 8
 and physicalism, 178
 state of subject vs. subject, 160–2 type identity supplanted by, 43–5 type-type identity, 153–7

 Gekakis, N., 56
 Gertler, Brie, 252–3, 256
 God hypothesis of phenomenal experience, 122–3
 Goldbetter, A., 49
 Gozzano, Simone, 13

Cambridge University Press & Assessment
 978-1-107-00014-8 — New Perspectives on Type Identity
 The Mental and the Physical Edited by Simone Gozzano, Christopher S. Hill

Index

More Information

290

Grand Conjunction, 218–23
 Greenspan, Ralph, 59–60
 Griffin, E.A., 57

Hall, J.C., 49
 Han, J.-H., 102
 Hardin, P.E., 49
 Harman, Gilbert, 129, 145
 Hasson, Uri, 201–2
 Hawkins, Robert, 94
 Hebb, Donald, 91
 Heider, Fritz, 9–10
 Heraclitus, 264
 heuristic identity theory (HIT) human face perception in the brain, 197–204
 outline of, 186–7, 191–7
 science and identity theory, 187–91
 Hill, Christopher, 6, 14, 77, 128, 129, 181
 Hooker, Clifford, 93, 94
 Horgan, Terence, 93, 176–7
 Hubel, David, 91
 Hughes, Christopher, 114 human face perception, 197–204
 Hume, David, 144
 Husserl, E., 189

identity claims
 features of, 45–6
 mechanistic explanations, 47–50, 60–2
 and reduction, 46–7
 see also property identity identity statements see CN-K-identity statement; K-identity statement

identity theory
 arguments for type physicalism, 3–8, 183
 compositional variation, 268–70
 heuristic identity theory (HIT), 186–7, 191–7 inaugural ideas, 66, 265–70
 and multiple realization, 264, 275–85
 objections to, 150–1, 186
 and reduction, 264–5, 270–5 science and, 187–91
 see also type identity; type physicalism;
 type-type identity

incorrigibility, 20–1, 27 indirect phenomenal concepts, 25–6 indiscernibility, 253, 256–61 infallibility, 20–1, 27
 inter-level bridge principles, 74–5, 81n.16, 81–2
 see also bridge laws

internalism, 162
 intertheoretic reduction, 92–5 intuition, 20–1, 27, 36
 irreducible mental events

Index

causal overdetermination, 233–6 nonreductive physicalism, arguments of, 236–40
 production view of causation, 239–48

Jackson, Frank, 8, 11, 28, 79–86, 179, 219, 220, 220

Jessell, Thomas, 99
 Josselyn, S.A., 101

Kandel, Eric, 94, 99, 101, 102
 Kanwisher, Nancy, 198–201
 Kertész, Imre, 16

K-identity statement
 contingency in, 210–16
 justification with inference to the best explanation, 221–7
 justification without reduction, 216–23
 meaning of, 209
 see also CN-K-identity statement

Kim, Jaegwon
 causal relevance of mental events, 7, 230–6
 correlations, 191
 functional reduction, 96, 97
 K-identity statements, 223–5, 226–7 production view of causation, 239–48
 property identity, 66–7, 68, 72
 responses to causal relevance argument, 236–40
 token physicalism, 2

Klein, Colin, 274–5
 K-model, 213–16
 knowledge argument for dualism, 11, 20, 26
 Konopka, R.J., 49

Kripke, Saul argument against type identity, 111, 112–16 compatibility of views with type identity, 123–4
 contingency, 211, 212, 213, 214, 215–6
 dualism, 11
 phenomenal properties, identity of, 116–21
 semantics, 82–3, 112
 stipulated situations, 121–3

Kripkean identity statement see K-identity statement

Landreth, Anthony, 102–5
 LaPorte, Joe, 271
 Latham, Noa, 183
 laws, 167–72
 see also bridge laws

Levine, Joseph, 68–73, 75–6, 77n.9, 83, 96–8, 217 Lewis, D., 7–8, 153–4, 215, 240, 240, 266 linguistic competence, 84–6

- Llinas, Rodolfo, 94
 Loar, B., 24–5, 128
 Loewer, Barry, 238, 239, 241–1, 243–4, 246
 Lycan, William G., 129
- Macdonald, Cynthia, 176
 Machamer, P., 48
 Mackie, J.L., 240, 244–5, 245
 MCC (molecular and cellular cognition), 99–108
 McCauley, Robert, 11, 44n.1, 186–7
 McDermott, Josh, 198–201
 McLaughlin, Brian, 6, 77, 128, 181
 mechanistic explanations
 conserved mechanisms in evolutionary systems, 55–60, 61–2 identity claims, 47–50, 60–2 and the multiple realization objection, 50–4, 275–85
 and reduction, 50, 73–6, 81–2, 106–7 mechanistic reductionism, 106–7 Medlin, B.H., 153–5
 Melnyk, Andrew, 178, 179 memories, consolidation of, 3 Mendel's laws, 47
 mental events
 anomalous monism, 167–72
 causal overdetermination, 231–6 Fodor's view, 174–6
 irreducible mental events, 233–6
 meaning of, 171–3
 nonreductive physicalism, causation argument of, 233, 235, 236–40
 production view of causation, 230–1, 237–40
 token physicalism, 171–3, 176–8 type physicalism, causation argument of, 4, 6–7, 230–1 mental properties, 163–5 mental states
 internalism of, 162
 vs. state of subject, 160–2
 type-type identity, 153–7 metascientific reduction, 98–108
 Milner, Brenda, 91 mind-body supervenience
 anomalous monism, 171–2
 as physicalism, 178–9, 182
 mind-brain reductionism functional reduction, 96–8
 intertheoretic reduction, 92–5
 metascientific reduction, 98–108 and neuroscience, 88–9, 107–8 translational reduction, 89–92
 see also reduction misrepresentation of pain, 141–2
- model systems in biology, 54–60, 61–2 modulatory effect of A β fibers on perceived pain, 132–3, 137–40 molecular and cellular cognition (MCC), 99–108
 Moore, R.Y., 48
 multiple realization biological systems, identification of similarities in, 54–60, 61–2 and compositional variation, 275–85
 heuristic identity theory (HIT), 193–5, 200
 and identity theory, 264, 275–85
 and intertheoretic reduction, 93 mechanistic perspective, 50–4, 275–85
 molecular and cellular cognition (MCC), 105–6 objection to type identity, 43–5, 60–2 objection to type physicalism, 8–11, 43–5, 60–2, 173–4 objection to type-type identity, 160–2
 and reduction, 50–4, 270–85
 Mundale, Jennifer, 10–11, 54, 61, 194
- Nagel, Ernest, 92–5, 265, 273–4
 Nagel, Thomas, 113, 189, 190, 251
 Nakajima, M., 58
 naturalism, 187–91 neurobiologicalism
 arguments against unjustifiability, 209–10
 contingency in K-identity statement, 210–6 justification with inference to the best explanation, 221–7 justification without reduction, 216–23
 and phenomenal consciousness, 207–8, 209–10 as type materialism, 207–8 type of state of, 207 neurophysiological properties and intertheoretic reduction, 93 neuropsychology, 99
 neuroscience
 and functional reduction, 96–8
 and heuristic identity theory (HIT), 191–7 human face perception in the brain, 197–204
 and intertheoretic reduction, 92–5 and metascientific reduction, 98–108 and mind-brain reductionism, 88–9, 107–8 and translational reduction, 89–92 Ney, Alyssa, 7, 240
 nonreductive physicalism causation of mental events, 233, 235, 236–40 origins of, 270
 and type physicalism, 230–1
 non-supervenience and intertheoretic reduction, 93

Occam's razor, 4, 151, 192 Oppenheim, P., 271–3 overdetermination of events, 231–6, 253 pain cortical responses, 129, 131 and damage, 131–2, 135–7 multiple realization argument, 8–9, 10 perceived intensities, 132–4, 136–42 peripheral disturbances, 131–4 peripheral state theory of pain, 134–42

 qualitative awareness, 129–30, 143–6
 Papineau, D., 24, 33n.42, 66, 76–7, 78–9, 82, 128, 181, 247
 Pellionisz, Andrea, 94
 Penfield, Wilder, 91 perception intensities of pain, 132–4, 136–42
 qualitative awareness, 143–6
 peripheral state theory of pain, 134–42
 Perry, John, 251–4, 262–3
 phenomenal concept strategy
 constitutional account of, 22–32 features of phenomenal concepts, 20–2 and phenomenal experience, 38–9
 quotational account of, 16–17, 32–8
 type not completely determined by token, 37–8
 and type physicalism, 181
 see also conceptual dualism phenomenal concepts in central state identity theory, 127–8 phenomenal consciousness and neurobiologicalism, 207–8, 209–10
 type of state of, 207, 209
 phenomenal experience, 38–9 phenomenal properties identity of, 116–21
 Kripke's argument, 112–16
 Kripke's semantics, 112
 stipulated situations, 121–3 type identity conditions for, 111, 123–4
 and type physicalism, 180–2, 183
 phenomenal states see qualia philosophical naturalism, 187–91 philosophy, and science, 187–91 physical domain, causal closure of, 231–4 physical events
 anomalous monism, 167–72
 Fodor's view, 174–6
 meaning of, 171–3
 token physicalism, 171–3, 176–8 physical indiscernibility, 253, 256–61, 262–3 physical minimality thesis, 218–19, 222–3 physicalism

 a priori physicalism, 79–86, 208–9n.5
 and acquaintance, 16–17
 anomalous monism, 167–72
 causal closure of physical domain, 247–8
 explanatory physicalism, 182
 Fodor's view, 173–6
 and functionalism, 178
 meaning of, 17–18
 and phenomenal concepts, 38–9 realization physicalism, 178 reductive explanation, arguments against, 76–9, 82–3 supervenience, 178–9, 182
 see also token physicalism; type physicalism physics, 243–7, 260–1
 Place, U.T., 66, 88, 91, 128, 153, 186, 264, 265–70
 Platonic universals, 214–15
 Polger, Thomas, 11
 Porro, Carlo A., 131
 Posner, M.I., 142
 possible worlds, 215
 posteriority-conceivability principle, 215 predicates, 82–3, 84–5
 Prinz, Jesse J., 144
 production view of causation, 230–1, 237–40 properties, meaning of, 208 property exemplification account of events, 174–5 property identity
 a priori physicalism, 79–86
 explanatory gap, 68–73, 75–6
 mechanistic explanations, 73–6, 81–2 reductive explanation, early proponents, 76–9, 82–3 reductive explanation, reasons for, 66–8 see also identity claims prosopagnosia, 197–204 psychological properties, 3 psychological state, effect on perceived pain, 133–4, 137–40 psychology
 and heuristic identity theory (HIT), 191–7
 human face perception in the brain, 197–204 reduction as defeat for, 264–5 psychophysical identity, 1–3 Putnam, Hilary, 8–9, 51–2, 68, 82–3, 115, 178, 264, 269, 270–3

qualia
 anti-reductionist arguments, 97–8 central state identity theory, 127–8, 129–30 and epiphenomenalism in zombie worlds, 254–6

- God hypothesis, 122–3 nature of, 251
 peripheral disturbances and pain, 131–4 peripheral state theory of pain, 134–42
 phenomenal concept strategy, 21, 30–1 phenomenal properties, identity of, 116–21 phenomenological argument against type identity, 112–16 qualitative awareness of pain, 129–30, 143–6 representationalism, 128–31
 and type physicalism, 180–2, 183
 and zombie worlds, 251–4, 262–3 zombie worlds, alternative laws in, 261–2 zombie worlds, physical indiscernibility in, 253, 256–61, 262–3 qualitative awareness of pain, 129–30, 143–6 qualitative properties, 2–3 Quine, Willard Van Orman, 5, 191 quotational account of direct phenomenal concepts, 16–17, 32–8
- realization physicalism, 178 realization properties, 23 reduction
a priori physicalism, 79–86
 arguments against, 76–9, 82–3
 and compositional variation, 270–5 early proponents of, 66–8 explanatory gap, 68–73, 75–6
 identity claims, 46–7
 and identity theory, 264–5, 270–5
 justification of K-identity statements without reduction, 216–223 mechanistic reduction, 50, 73–6, 81–2, 106–7
 and multiple realization, 50–4, 270–85
 and nonreductive physicalism, 230–1 see also mind-brain reductionism
- representationalism
 advantages of, 130, 146
 doctrines of, 128–31
 peripheral disturbances and pain, 131–4 peripheral state theory of pain, 134–42
 qualitative awareness, 143–6
 transparency thesis, 20
- response expansion effect on perceived pain, 134, 135–7 Richardson, Robert, 193, 273–4
 Rorty, Richard, 91
 Rosbash, M., 49
 Russell, Bertrand, 243–4, 246
 Ryle, Gilbert, 154
- Salmon, Wesley, 241
 Schaffner, Ken, 93
- Schwartz, James, 99
 science, and identity theory, 187–91, 243–7, 260–1 Searle, J., 189–90
 semantic implication, 219–20
 semantics
 Kripke's argument, 82–3, 112
 semantic features, 23–4 teleosemantics, 33n.42
 type identity compatibility with, 123–4 sensitization effect on perceived pain, 133, 135–7 Shapiro, Lawrence, 11
 Shoemaker, Sydney, 178, 179, 236–7, 261
 Sider, Ted, 239, 241
 Siewert, Charles, 117
 Silva, A., 101, 102–5
 Simmel, Mary-Ann, 9–10
 simplicity argument for type physicalism, 3–5 Smart, J.J.C., 3–4, 66, 89–90, 91, 128, 153, 169, 181, 264, 265–70 spatial summation effect on perceived pain, 132, 135–7 Staknis, D., 57
 Stalnaker, Robert, 66, 77–9, 82, 181, 210
 Steeves, Jennifer, 202–3
 Stevens, S.S., 134
 stipulated situations, 121–3 Strevens, Michael, 240, 245
 supervenience
 anomalous monism, 171–2
 as physicalism, 178–9, 182
 systems neuroscience, 99
- Tauber, E., 60
 teleosemantics, 33n.42
 temporal summation effect on perceived pain, 132, 135–7 Timmermann, Lars, 131
 token physicalism
 alternative formulations of, 176–8 anomalous monism, 167–72, 177 failure of, 176–9
 meaning of, 1–2, 174
 mental events, 171–3, 176–8
 origins of, 167
 physical events, 171–3
 rejection of, 182, 183
 vs. type physicalism, 167, 173–6
- tokens, 155–7
 translational reduction, 89–92
 transparency thesis, 20, 26–7, 35–6 Tye, Michael, 129, 220
 type identity
 Kripke's semantics, 82–3, 112
 multiple realization argument, 43–5, 60–2

- type identity (cont.)
 - phenomenal properties, conditions for, 111, 123–4
 - phenomenal properties, identity of, 116–21
 - phenomenological argument against, 112–16
 - stipulated situations, 121–3
 - see also* identity theory; type physicalism; type-type identity
- type materialism
 - arguments against unjustifiability, 209–10
 - contingency in K-identity statement, 210–16
 - justification with inference to the best explanation, 221–7
 - justification without reduction, 216–23
 - neurobiologicalism as, 207–8
 - and phenomenal consciousness, 207–8, 209–10
 - type of state of, 207
 - see also* central state identity theory
- type physicalism
 - arguments for, 3–8, 183, 230–1
 - causal overdetermination, 231–6
 - causation argument of, 4, 6–7, 230–1
 - causation arguments of nonreductive physicalism, 236–40
 - and dualism, 4–5, 11–14
 - explanatory power of, 4, 5–6
 - meaning of, 1–3
 - and multiple realization, 8–11, 43–5, 60–2
 - and nonreductive physicalism, 230–1
 - objections to, 8–14
 - problems of, 179–82
 - production view of causation, 230–1, 237–40
 - and qualia, 180–2, 183
 - vs. token physicalism, 167, 173–6
 - see also* identity theory; type identity; type materialism; type-type identity
- type-type identity
 - arguments against, 150–1
 - causal role of mental properties, 153–7, 163–5
 - correlations of mental and brain states, 151–3, 157–9
 - early arguments for, 151–3
 - functionalist argument, 153–7
 - internalism of mental states, 162
 - multiple realizability objection, 160–2
 - see also* identity theory; type identity; type materialism; type physicalism
- Van Gulick, Robert, 238
- variation see compositional variation
- warrants, 208
- Weitz, C.J., 57
- Wiesel, Torsten, 91
- Wittgenstein, Ludwig, 154
- Yablo, S., 214
- zombie argument
 - alternative physical laws, 261–2
 - and epiphenomenalism, 252, 253, 254–6
 - Kripke's argument, 121
 - meaning of, 18–19
 - Perry's response, 251–4, 262–3
 - phenomenal concept strategy, 21, 28
 - physical indiscernibility requirement, 253, 256–61, 262–3
 - and type physicalism, 182