

Contents

---

Preface	page vii
Introduction: always in question	1
1 Thersites and the personification of anti-authority	16
2 Socrates and the quest for authority	31
3 Rome and the founding of authority	47
4 Augustus: a role model for authority through the ages	70
5 Medieval authority and the Investiture Contest	95
6 Medieval claim-making and the sociology of tradition	124
7 Reformation and the emergence of the problem of order	149
8 Hobbes and the problem of order	181
9 The rationalisation of authority	206
10 The limits of the authority of the rational	229
11 Taming public opinion and the quest for authority	247
12 Nineteenth-century authority on the defensive	273
13 Authority transformed into sociology's cause	299
14 The rise of negative theories of authority	328
15 By passing authority through the rationalisation of persuasion	350

vi	Contents
16	In the shadow of authoritarianism	376
	Conclusion: final thoughts	403
	Bibliography	410
	Index	438