

Contents

List of figures	page xi
Acknowledgements	xii
Introduction	i
PART I THE PERSISTENCE OF BLASPHEMY
1 The persistence of blasphemy: the Bible as a public edifice in the ‘secular’ state	9
PART II BIBLICAL EXHIBITIONS/ BIBLICAL EXHIBITIONISM
2 The exquisite fruit-corpse: the surrealist works of God	99
3 Prophetic scatology: prophecy and the art of sensation	129
PART III INAPPROPRIATE INVOLVEMENT IN THE BIBLICAL TEXT
4 A recently discovered letter from Isaac to Abraham (annotated)	179
5 Passion–binding–passion: sacrifice, masochism and the subject	195
PART IV BEYOND ‘THE BIBLE AS LITERATURE’
6 ‘Not with a bang but a whimper’: shrunken eschatologies of the twentieth/twenty-first centuries – and the Bible	229

x	Contents
7	The fear of loss inherent in writing: Jeremiah 36 as the story of a self-conscious scroll (Co-written with Mark Brummitt)	252
8	John Donne and the baroque prophets	275
PART V THEO-POLITICS, AUTHORITY AND THE BIBLE
9	On the genesis of the alliance between the Bible and rights	303
10	Binding-unbinding: pre-critical ‘critique’ in pre-modern Jewish, Christian and Islamic responses to the ‘sacrifice’ of Abraham/Ibrahim’s son	333
	Select bibliography	375
	Index	385