CAMBRIDGE
Cambridge University Press & Assessment
978-1-107-01028-4 — Theology without Metaphysics
Kevin W. Hector
Index
More Information

Index

Adorno, Theodor, 11, 272
Alston, William, 180, 189, 201 analogy, 52, 139–42
  of attribution, 139
  of being, 126
analytic–synthetic distinction, 109 anaphora, 161–3, 170–3 answerability, 12, 29, 40, 63–5, 94–5, 99, 145, 232, 234, 242, 254 apophaticism, 15–27
apostolic succession, 93 Aquinas, Thomas
  on the analogy of attribution, 140 on the Spirit of adoption, 87 on the Spirit of freedom, 87 on truth as correspondence, 205 Aristotle
  on truth, 204
  on univocity, 51
  understanding of metaphor, 113 Arnold, Daniel, 70
attunement, 78, 251, 275
  as non-reflective, 78
  as normative for others, 84 as norm-laden, 79, 81–3 circulation through custom, 78–81 continually changing, 85 internalization of custom, 78–81 made explicit by theology, 83 recognized as "how one responds," 83 Austin, J. L., 203
aversive racism, 276

Balthasar, Hans Urs von, 33, 86 on freedom in the Spirit, 87 Barth, Karl, 87, 247 anti-essentialist doctrine of God, 33
  as critical theorist, 272
  on analogy as analogous to justification, 139–42 on divine freedom, 135–7 on faith, 236
  on grace and freedom, 260 on idolatry, 13 ,126 on natural theology, 3
  on the divine elevation of concepts, 127–9 on the divine perfections, 135 on the fitness of concepts for divine elevation, 129–31 on the impossibility of conceptualizing God, 126–7 on the infinite qualitative difference, 50
  on truth, 202
Basil of Caesarea, 87
Being vs. beings, 10
Betz, John, 126
Bilgrami, Akeel, 64, 217
Black, Max, 113–14, 117, 121
Boghossian, Paul, 59
Bourdieu, Pierre, 40, 269, 273, 288 Brandom, Robert, 40, 55, 106, 157, 187, 212, 260 analogy of common-law jurisprudence, 63 criticism of, 109
  on intersubstitutability in a non-trivial identity claim, 160 on propositions, 241 on the ability to carry on a practice, 88 on the emergence of normativity, 71

© in this web service Cambridge University Press & Assessment www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE
Cambridge University Press & Assessment
978-1-107-01028-4 — Theology without Metaphysics
Kevin W. Hector
Index
More Information

on the gerrymandering problem, 57
on the pervasiveness of novelty, 69, 112
Brentano, Franz, 148
Brooker, Charlie, 113
Buddhism, 70
Bultmann, Rudolf, 3, 235
Burrell, David, 18, 131
Bush, Stephen, 189
Butler, Judith, 40, 62, 273

Calvin, John, 128
Caputo, John, 20–7
critique of Marion, 22–4 deconstructive approach of, 22 on objects-in-themselves, 22, 155 on the impossibility of naming God, 149 on the violence of language, 20
on truth, 210
Cartesianism, 62, 143, 260
Chalmers, David, 150
Chastain, Charles, 161
Childs, Brevard, 173
Chomsky, Noam, 122
Chopp, Rebecca, 267, 270–1 coherentism, 212, 214 communal dispositions, 57, 67 concepts, 38, 53–5, 105 and "going on in the same way," 38, 69 as carrying on a normative trajectory, 60–4 as containers, 97
as mediators, 153–6
as positing a similarity, 53 as predicates of possible judgments, 48 as rules, 51
as standing between objects and oneself, 21–2, 186–7, 191–2 normative commitment implicit in, 55–69, 105 relationship to judgments and beliefs, 53 relationship to language, 48–9 responsibility for, 63
theological use of, 39, 94–8 violence of, 16–17, 20–1, 24, 49–52
Congar, Yves, 86, 99 correspondentism, 15
creation, 36
critical theory, 272
Cross, Frank Moore, 137

Daly, Mary, 268–70, 283
Darwall, Stephen, 40
Davidson, Donald, 40, 44, 55, 64, 106, 113, 117, 154, 157, 187, 212, 214, 227 criticism of the interactionist account of metaphor, 116 language-learning argument of, 187 on agreement as condition of recognizing concept use, 56 on concept use as inviting normative assessment, 61 on incommensurable conceptual schemes, 192–4 on intentional action, 88 on interpretation as dependent upon passing convergence rather than already shared meanings, 123 on judgments of error requiring a background of judgments of correctness, 99 on objectivity as a condition of concept use, 60 on propositions as explanatorily basic, 43 on salience, 119, 160
on the emergence of normativity, 71
on the individuality of language, 122 on the meaning of metaphors, 121
on the pervasiveness of novelty, 124 on the Principle of Charity, 120, 123 on the ubiquity of likeness, 114 on triangulation, 158
deconstruction, 21, 274 demonstratives, 162
Dennett, Daniel, 71, 148
Derrida, Jacques
on ordinary language's complicity in metaphysics, 15 on putative exteriorities, 273
on truth, 210

© in this web service Cambridge University Press & Assessment www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE
Cambridge University Press & Assessment
978-1-107-01028-4 — Theology without Metaphysics
Kevin W. Hector
Index
More Information

Descartes, René, 8
  metaphysics of, 4–8
  on truth, 202
Dewey, John, 60
disrespect, 279, 290
  as disclosing implicit norms, 279 as providing ready-to-hand concept of justice, 281 as stripping recognitive patterns of their self-evidence, 280 attunement to, 283
  conditions of the possibility of experiencing, 288–90 not a "given," 287
Donnellan, Keith, 157, 164, 179, 185
Dreyfus, Hubert, 40
Dummett, Michael, 106, 217
Duns Scotus, John, 51

empiricism, 75
essentialism, 9, 12, 14
Evans, Donald, 239
Evans, Gareth, 167
evolution, 82
explanatory order, 31, 206, 211, 231

Fanon, Frantz, 11
feeling of absolute dependence, 78 feminism, 181, 267
Feyerabend, Paul, 75, 154
Fichte, J. G., 40
Fine, Arthur, 40, 212
Fodor, Jerry, 109
Follesdal, Dagfinn, 40
Foucault, Michel, 40 critique of putatively exterior standpoints from which the prevailing order might be criticized, 273
  genealogical method of, 28
  on subjectivity, 62
foundationalism, 44, 249
Frankenberry, Nancy, 116–17
Fraser, Nancy, 40, 274
Fraassen, Bas van, 40 freedom
  as autonomy, 246, 250
  as constraint by norms authorized and shaped by one, 252–5 as dependent upon one's ability to give reasons, 250, 252 as requiring self-consciousness, 250 compatibilism and, 261
  determinism and, 261
  expressive, 40, 246, 255–8, 292 non-compatibilist libertarianism and, 261 related to patterns of mutual recognition, 258–9 with respect to reasons, 251 Frege, Gottlob, 157, 209, 225
Fretheim, Terence, 174

Gefühl, 77, see attunement
God, 13–14, 31–7
  attributes of, 135
  development of the concept, 97, 137–8 existence of, 171
  freedom of, 135–7
  "in Godself," 33–7, 127, 135–6, 156, 197 name of, 175
  transcendence of, 26, 136 triunity of, 33, 96, 127, 178, 191, 230, 243, 263 going on in the same way, 48, 83, 100
Grover, Dorothy, 212
Gupta, Anil, 223

Habermas, Jürgen, 40, 248, 274
Hanson, R. P. C., 97
Hart, David Bentley, 126
Hart, Kevin, 20
Hauerwas, Stanley, 290
Hector, Kevin, 34, 78, 140, 181, 187, 233
Hegel, G. W. F., 40, 255, 288 on being as self-constituted, 35 on metaphysics, 1
  on recognition, 61
  on the self-defeating nature of asymmetrical patterns of recognition, 265 Heidegger, Martin
  as critical theorist, 272
  general definition of metaphysics, 3, 9

© in this web service Cambridge University Press & Assessment www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE
Cambridge University Press & Assessment
978-1-107-01028-4 — Theology without Metaphysics
Kevin W. Hector
Index
More Information

on Descartes, 4–6
on language as inherently metaphysical, 15 on metaphysics as answer to ground problem, 4 on metaphysics as forgetfulness of Being, 10 on metaphysics as self-justification, 14 on Nietzsche, 8–9
on onto-theo-logy, 13
on Plato, 7–8
on representationalism, 5–7 on the tendency of metaphysics to make everyday experience seem like "mere appearance," 12 on the violence of metaphysics, 12
on truth, 206
Herder, J. G., 71
Hesse, Mary, 113–14, 117, 122
Hick, John, 20, 197
holism, 109, 117, 122
Holy Spirit, 86, 91, 98, 177, 263 and Pentecost, 90
immediate-interior understanding of, 284 institutional-hierarchical understanding of, 284 relation to human activity, 99 social-practical understanding of, 284 work of, 38, 94, 133, 178, 235
Honneth, Axel, 40, 62, 275, 280, 288
Horwich, Paul, 212
Hunsinger, George, 238

idolatry, 13, 16, 49, 126, 207, 270 incommensurability, 192, 197 inferentialism, 106–9 intellectual assent, 237 intentionality, 22, 88, 148 interpellation, 259, 274 intersubstitutability, 160, 172, 179 isomorphism, 203–7, 268

Jackson, Frank, 150
Jenson, Robert W., 14, 33, 131, 168 on non-masculine names for God, 181–5 Jesus Christ, 86–91
as carrying on and fulfilling canonical chain of reference to God, 175–7 as the truth, 230 training disciples to follow him and recognizing them as recognizers of what counts as doing so, 89–90 very being as enactment of devotion to God, 262 Johnson, Elizabeth, 20, 50, 267, 270
Johnston, Mark, 40
Jüngel, Eberhard, 33, 113 justice, 281
justification, 14, 140–1, 236

Kant, Immanuel, 57, 64, 186 formulation of the "no independent access" problem, 207 historical impact of critical philosophy, 249 on autonomy, 250
on the nature of concepts, 49, 51, 53 on the priority of norm application to norm inference, 76–7 on the spontaneity of concept use, 63 on the universalizability of norms, 77 on the unknowability of subjecthood in itself, 12 on the unknowability of things-in-themselves, 153
on truth, 202
This-Here-Now argument of, 151
Karttunen, Lauri, 43
Kaufman, Gordon, 20, 32–3, 50–1, 138–9, 168 knowing how, 66, 92, 236, see non-inferential responsive dispositions Koethe, John, 67
Kripke, Saul, 70, 106, 157, 169
on naming, 165
on presupposing linguistic convergence, 56, 110 on speaker's reference vs. semantic reference, 164 on the putative normativity of individual dispositions, 58 Kuhn, T. S., 154

© in this web service Cambridge University Press & Assessment www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE
Cambridge University Press & Assessment
978-1-107-01028-4 — Theology without Metaphysics
Kevin W. Hector
Index
More Information

Laclau, Ernesto, 67
Lacugna, Catherine Mowry, 33
Lance, Mark, 144
language, 42–4
  as inherently metaphysical, 15–17, 20–2, 25, 30, 47, 52, 292
Lepore, Ernie, 109
Levinas, Emmanuel, 11, 272
Lindbeck, George, 239
  critique of Schleiermacher's alleged "experiential-expressivism," 79 on truth as self-involving, 238
Locke, John, 113
Lord's Supper, 128

Macbeth, Danielle, 40
MacIntyre, Alasdair, 154, 247
Marion, Jean-Luc, 16–20, 24–7, 150
Marshall, Bruce, 226–30
Mascall, E. L., 52, 126
Mavrodes, George, 131
McCormack, Bruce, 33
McDowell, John, 154, 187
McFague, Sallie, 20, 115
McInerny, Ralph, 126 meaning, 38, 105–12
  and circumstances of concept use, 107, 119, 193 and consequences of concept use, 108 as analogical, 139–42
  change of, 111, 124, 193 grammar of "means"-talk, 144 of concepts as unfit for talk of God, 49–52 ordinary meaning as fulfilled and judged by God, 133–8, 142–6 theological, 39, 51, 125–46
metaphor, 112–22, 241
  comparison theory of, 113 interactionist theory of, 114 substitution theory of, 112 metaphysics, 2–9
  critique of, 10–14
  essentialist-correspondentist, 9 of presence, 155
  other senses of the term, 2 violence of, 10, 206
Milbank, John, 126, 155
  as recent defender of metaphysics, 1 critique of Bruce Marshall, 229
  on truth as isomorphic, 206
Mill, John Stuart, 50
Misak, Cheryl, 40
Molnar, Paul, 181
Myth of the Given, 151

names, 162, see reference descriptivist theory of, 150, 169 masculinist, 180–5, 268 natural theology, 3
Neoplatonism, 136
Neurath, Otto, 44, 143
Nielsen, Kai, 51, 131
Nietzsche, Friedrich, 8–9
  genealogical method of, 28 on supposedly transcendent realms making ordinary life seem second-rate, 30 on the Will to Power, 8
  on truth, 210
Noe, Alva, 67
non-inferential responsive dispositions, 57, 77–86, 186–9, 213, 251, see attunement apparent naturalness of norms implicit in, 269, 274–5 explicit instruction and, 82 made explicit, 64–5, 84, 195, 223–4, 235–7, 279 normative surplus, 281–3, 286 norms, 59–64, see precedents constituted by recognition, 253–5 implicit in social practices, 252 institutions of, 69–72
novelty, 40, 68–9, 85, 88, 122–5, 143
Nussbaum, Martha, 274

O'Leary Hawthorne, John, 144 objectification, 3 objectivity, 98, 214
objects-in-themselves, 22, 24, 154–5, 186, 191–6 observability, 188

© in this web service Cambridge University Press & Assessment www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE
Cambridge University Press & Assessment
978-1-107-01028-4 — Theology without Metaphysics
Kevin W. Hector
Index
More Information

Palmer, Humphrey, 131
Pannenberg, Wolfhart, 125, 143 on resurrection as the end of history, 142 perception, 186–9
  of God, 189–91
  role of concepts in, 151–3, 208 Pickstock, Catherine
  as recent defender of metaphysics, 1
  critique of Bruce Marshall, 229
  on truth as isomorphic, 206
Pinkard, Terry, 40, 154, 248
Pippin, Robert, 40, 62, 77, 247, 260 Plato, 7–8, 206
pluralism, 178–80, 197, 237–8 Popkin, Richard, 75
postmodernism, 12, 28
pragmatics, 37, 292
  pneumatological, 53, 86
pragmatism, 29, 40
precedents, 61–3
  fulfillment and judgment of, 133–4, 175–8 normative trajectory implicit in a series of, 38, 49, 63, 66, 68–9, 84, 94, 105, 107, 133, 193, 232, 257, 281
  responsibility for, 93
predication, 25
  as basic to concept use, 48 as fitting objects into predetermined categories, 15, 47, 52 of truth, 223
  on the irreversibility of God's relationship to, 135 praise as distinct from, 17–20 proper vs. derivative, 140
Preller, Victor, 42, 50–1, 130–1
Principle of Charity, 119–20, 123 propositions, 43, 201, 239–41 de re vs. de dicto elements of, 211 prospective vs. retrospective recognizability, 68–9, 85, 133–9 Protestant Reformation, 4, 74–5, 248
Proudfoot, Wayne, 79
Putnam, Hilary, 40, 157
  on a non-descriptivist theory of reference, 169

Quine, W. V. O., 40, 106 on disquotationalism, 204 on meanings as essences, 105 on observability as relative to a community, 188 on the demise of foundationalism, 44 on the inscrutability of reference, 161 on the truth predicate, 223

Radical Orthodoxy, 1
Rahner, Karl, 33
Ramberg, Bjørn, 40, 196
Ramsey, F. P., 223
rationality, 120
reason-giving, 40, 77, 235, 248, 250–2 recognition, 38, 61–5, 253–9 and non-recognition, 110, 264–72, 275–8, 290–1 and possibilities of individual expression, 255–8 and responsive dispositions, 79–81 as Christ-following, 89–93, 263 implicit in practice, 64 mutuality of, 258–9 reference, 38, 157–66, 171 and concepts, 22
  apparent impossibility of reference to God, 149–51 as pointing, 168
  change of, 167
  God as identifying with anaphoric chain of reference, 172–5 grammar of "refers"-talk, 166–7 inheritance of, 164–6, 177–8 inscrutability of, 161
  Jesus Christ as fulfillment of chain of reference, 175–8 reference to God carried on by anaphoric chain, 170–2 referential vs. attributive descriptions, 179, 185 relation of identification to, 171 speaker's vs. semantic, 164, 167
  theological, 39, 168–80
reification, 288
representationalism, 5–6
Richards, Jay Wesley, 129

© in this web service Cambridge University Press & Assessment www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE
Cambridge University Press & Assessment
978-1-107-01028-4 — Theology without Metaphysics
Kevin W. Hector
Index
More Information

Ricoeur, Paul, 113, 117
Rorty, Richard, 40
  on answering skeptics, 196 on answering to peers vs. answering to objects or God, 12, 29, 40 on metaphor, 116
  on truth as a goal of inquiry, 217
Rosefeldt, Tobias, 67
Ross, James, 52, 125
Rumfitt, Ian, 67
Russell, Bertrand
  as exponent of a descriptivist theory of reference, 150 on the correspondence theory of truth, 205 salience, 107, 118, 157–60 Schleiermacher, Friedrich, 77–94, 249–59, 262–4 on a normative trajectory's changing every time an expression is recognized as carrying it on, 85, 256–8 on attunement as non-inferential yet norm-laden, 78–83, 251–2 on attunement circulated by custom, 78–83 on being attuned to one's circumstances, 77–8 on freedom as dependent upon the social practices in which one participates, 252 on Jesus Christ's training and recognition of disciples, 89–90, 263 on Jesus' recognition being carried on by those whom he recognized, 90–3, 263 on mutuality of recognition as essential to communities of expressive freedom, 258–9 on norms as authorized and shaped by each member of a community, 256 on norms precipitating out of a series of recognized precedents, 85 on one's Christ-following counting as one's own, 86–9, 262 on redemption, 262

  on the compatibility of faith being due to God and to oneself, 264 on the Spirit's role in interpreting Scripture, 233 on the supernatural becoming natural, 37, 239 on the work of the Spirit, 92, 263 on theology as explicitation of the prevailing piety, 83–5 Schneewind, J. B., 247
Schrag, Calvin, 19
Scripture, 233
Searle, John
  on a non-substantive correspondence theory of truth, 203 on intentionality, 148 on metaphor as elliptical simile, 113 self-consciousness, 250 Sellars, Wilfrid, 40, 106, 212 on explanatory primitives, 82
  on the demise of foundationalism, 44
  on the Myth of the Given, 151 singular terms, 157
Snowdon, Paul, 66
Soames, Scott, 212
Soskice, Janet Martin
  non-descriptivist account of theological reference, 168–70 on metaphor as not necessarily predicative in form, 114 on the "classical" view of metaphor, 113 spontaneity, 88
Stanley, Jason, 66, 150, 166
Steffens, Heinrich, 77
Stout, Jeffrey, 29, 74, 194, 247, 283
Strawson, P. F., 208 supernatural becomes natural, 37, 39, 86, 239, 292 Swinburne, Richard, 52, 126

Tanner, Kathryn, 284–7
Tarski, Alfred, 204
Taylor, Charles, 246
theism, 13
theology, 42, 83
theoretical quietism, 29

© in this web service Cambridge University Press & Assessment www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE
Cambridge University Press & Assessment
978-1-107-01028-4 — Theology without Metaphysics
Kevin W. Hector
Index
More Information

therapy, 27–31, 37–9, 100, 104, 156, 170, 199–200, 230, 291 as distinct from theoretical quietism, 29 Tillich, Paul, 49, 51–2 on revelation, 94
  on the theological circle, 143 on the theological implications of the Being–beings distinction, 10 triangulation, 158
truth, 38, 204, 211
  and disquotation, 204, 223 and recognition, 221–2
  as judging a belief suitable for judging other beliefs, 219 Convention T, 204
  correspondence theory of, 203–6 correspondentism distinct from correspondence, 11, 38, 203 deflationary accounts of, 212, 223 distinct from justification, 198, 216–17 epistemic vs. non-epistemic accounts of, 234–5 identification with, 235–6 identity theory of, 205 independent access problem, 207 Jesus Christ as, 230–1 minimalist accounts of, 212 pervasiveness of, 124, 214 realism about, 203, 214, 227 regress problem, 209, 225 relation between ordinary and theological, 238–9 responsibility for, 219
  role of trust in, 213, 219–23, 235 substantive theory of, 203, 206, 210, 214, 225 the practice of taking-true, 211–13, 217–23, 231–4 theological, 39, 96, 226–39
  transformation by, 237 truth predicate, 223–5, 236

univocity, 51

Vanhoozer, Kevin, 239
Veron, Francois, 75

Ward, Graham, 1, 20
we-consciousness, 80
West, Cornel, 40
Westphal, Merold, 19
White, Roger, 125
wholehearted identification, 35, 175–6, 235, 238
Williams, Bernard, 217
Williams, Robert, 62
Williamson, Timothy, 66, 107
Wittgenstein, Ludwig, 40, 57, 106 on bewitchment by an idealized picture, 29–31 on individual dispositions and the objectivity of norms, 58 on rule-following and going on in the same way, 68 on rule-following and sameness, 29 on the necessity of overlapping linguistic usage, 56, 110, 195 Wolf, Naomi, 11
Wright, Crispin, 58

© in this web service Cambridge University Press & Assessment www.cambridge.org