A Concise History of France

This is the most up-to-date and comprehensive study of French history available, ranging from the early Middle Ages to the present. Among its central themes are the relationships between state and society, the impact of war, competition for power and the ways in which power has been used. While taking full account of major figures such as Philip Augustus, Henri IV, Louis XIV, Napoleon and de Gaulle, it sets their activities within the broader context of changing economic and social structures and beliefs, and offers rich insights into the lives of ordinary men and women. This third edition has been substantially revised and includes a new chapter on contemporary France – a society and political system in crisis as a result of globalisation, rising unemployment, a failing educational system, growing social and racial tensions, corruption, the rise of the extreme right and a widespread loss of confidence in political leaders.

ROGER PRICE is Emeritus Professor of History at Aberystwyth University. He has written extensively on French history; his more recent publications include The French Second Empire: An Anatomy of Political Power (2001) and People and Politics in France, 1848–1870 (2004).

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The author of a general work of this kind owes a great deal to many people, including the students taking my courses at the University of East Anglia between 1968 and 1993 and subsequently at Aberystwyth, colleagues past and present, and the library staff at both institutions, as well as those at the National Library of Wales. I am especially grateful to William Davies of Cambridge University Press for setting me the challenge in the first place and subsequently for encouraging other projects. His successor, Michael Watson, together with Isabelle Dambricourt and Chloe Dawson, provided valuable assistance in the preparation of subsequent editions, as did Elizabeth Friend-Smith, Fleur Jones and Abigail Jones. The following friends read and commented on the original manuscript: Malcolm Crook, Colin Heywood, Oliver Logan and the greatly missed Peter Morris. Heather Price has made an enormous contribution. Richard Johnson at the University of East Anglia drew some of the maps, and Mary Richards, Jean Field and Mike Richardson, copy-editors for Cambridge University Press, made extremely helpful suggestions.

For their constructive criticism, for their patience, for their love and for laughter, I remain profoundly grateful to Richard, Luisa, Luca and Charlotte; to Siân, Andy, Molly and Lilly; to Emily, Dafydd and Eleri; to Hannah and Simon; and to my dearest Heather.
