

Index

- allongeails*, 36–7
 ambassadors, 120–2
 ambition
 Montaigne's contempt for, 92–4, 95, 142, 144, 167–9
 and public service, 7, 86, 122
 as source of slavery, 60, 82, 103, 129, 197 Amyot, Jacques, 61, 67, 85 anatomy, 68–9
 appearances, 217
 as betrayal of authentic self, 2, 61–3, 136–7, 216, 224 contrasted with true moral state, 65–72, 74, 131–3, 205–6, 211–12, 224 Aristides, 66, 85–7 aristocratic ideals, 24, 53, 78, 146, 155 freedom as expression of, 8, 27, 99 Aristotle, 7, 110, 138, 171 arrièreboutique, 2, 91, 96, 98, 128 authenticity, 2, 3–4, 87–8, 131–3, 135–7, 224 and imitation, 14, 18, 19–20 and inwardness, 61–3, 65, 66, 68–9 and Montaigne's project of self-study, 45, 48–51, 53 and self-expression, 15, 40, 41–4 authorship, 18–20, 27–42, 64 and patronage, 20–1
 and style, 42, 44
- Berger, Harry, 52–3
 Blackwood, Adam, 111–12
 Bodin, Jean, 66
 body, 48, 97, 105, 166
 and human condition, 12, 69 involuntary motion of, 171–2, 208–9 as location of interior self, 2, 41–2, 56–7, 68, 69–71, 131, 133 Stoic condemnation of, 73, 83–4 see also pain Boissard, Jean Jacques, 162 books, 16, 20–1, 163, 187
- borrowings. See debt Boucher, Warren, 20–2, 23
bricolage, 10–11, 21
 Buchanan, George, 111–29
- Caesar, Julius, 191–2 carelessness, 5
 as absence of care, 142–3, 147–8, 150, 199 as artful self-image, 146, 151–2, 173–4, 176, 181–3 and self-possession, 141–2, 144–6, 147, 157–62, 185 see also idleness, nonchalance Castiglione, Baldassare, 150–2, 166–7
 Cato the Younger, 79, 87, 153, 154, 163 Cave, Terence, 22, 43
 ceremony, 46, 125–8, 139, 177–8, 211 children, 129–130, 205
 education of, 24–6, 114–15, 203–4 see also youth
- Cicero
Academica priora, 115
 as creature of ambition, 60, 66, 129, 178
De amicitia, 190
De officiis, 43–4, 132, 195
De senectute, 195, 197
 on decorum, 43–4
Paradoxa stoicorum, 107, 160–1 on public office, 122, 132 on slavery, 107, 160–1 Tusculanae disputationes, 212, 214 usage of calere, 166
 on Xenophon's Oeconomicus, 195, 197
- civil wars, French and allegiance to established laws, 110, 119
 and cruelty, 146, 164
 and Montaigne's ingenuousness, 182–4, 204 as threat to Montaigne's freedom, 99, 101–2 clemency, 146, 155
 commonplace-books, 14, 17–18 conference. See conversation

- confession, 51–2
Confessions (Augustine), 51 conscience, 25, 63, 131, 150
 and public service, 123–5, 143, 168
 constancy
 and cruelty, 146
 as ethical ideal, 69, 74–5, 86, 140, 202
 Montaigne's repudiation of, 146, 165, 174 Montaigne's reworking of, 206–7, 208, 213, 223 contentment achieved through indifference towards external goods, 72–3, 102–3, 129–30 distinguished from outward prosperity, 69–70, 72–3
 and freedom, 73–4, 97, 128, 219 self as source of true, 69, 85, 133, 134–5, 224
 in Plutarch, 69–70
 in Seneca, 73, 76, 77
 as target of Pascal's critique of Montaigne, 9 conversation
 and freedom, 30–2, 114–15
 as test of judgment, 20, 30, 35–6, 39 with oneself, 91, 127, 131 with other authors and texts, 11, 15–16 counsel, 91–2, 95, 120–2, 180–2. See also public service court, courtiers, 63, 89, 115–16, 126, 138–9, 150–2, 162 cowardice, 138, 143, 167–8 credit, 181, 182, 183 cruelty, 123, 146, 152, 153–4, 164 custom, 27, 28–9, 111, 112–13, 126 Cyrus the Younger, 197, 203 death

 of animals, 170
 of Cato the Younger, 79, 154 fear of, 82, 83
 and nonchalance, 150, 169–72
 philosophy as preparation for, 24, 25, 131, 191–2, 211
 of Seneca, 60, 169
 of Socrates, 154, 170
 debt owed to fortune, 80–1 owed to friends, 7, 157–8, 190, 200 owed to God, 8–9 owed to one's readers, 36–7 owed to other authors and books, 4, 17–21, 26, 42–3, 44, 163
 owed to princes and powerful men, 79, 84, 93, 101–3, 115–16, 119–20
 and slavery, 57–8, 88, 96, 105–6, 141, 158

decorum, 43–4
 Democritus, 169
 dependency. See self-possession Desan, Philippe, 78 desire in Cicero, 160–1, 166
 in Montaigne, 91, 96, 103, 131, 134–5 accustomed to following, 100, 147 dispersion of, 214 natural mildness of, 134, 153
 and public service, 95, 115, 118
 in Seneca, 76, 83
deus intus, 73
 dissimulation
 as betrayal of human society, 137–8 Montaigne's lack of, 112, 136, 138–40, 177, 180–1
 and prudence, 53, 112, 180–1 and servility, 84–5, 136, 138 and sincerity, 63, 136–7 diversion, 185, 198, 204–5, 213 divertissement, 9

 Eden, Kathy, 18–19, 42, 43–4
 Epicureanism, 154
 Epicurus, 59, 212
 Erasmus, Desiderius, 18, 19, 41–3 essai
 and 'commonplace thinking', 14, 17–18 formal characteristics of, 12, 22–3, 32–3
 and freedom, 4, 14–15, 32–5 meanings of term, 4, 13–14, 192 and scepticism, 13, 14, 23, 35–6 Essais
 coherence of, 6, 9–11, 34, 145–6, 217–19 composition and publication of, 1, 37–8, 90 concerned with manière, not matière, 12–13, 38–9
 as 'consubstantial' book, 15, 38, 40
 English translation by John Florio, 55, 149, 150
 as exceeding Montaigne's control, 36–8 as exercise of the soul, 6, 13, 23–4, 217–19 intended readership of, 21, 22–3, 148–9, 168–9
 meaning of title. See essai as Montaigne's child, 38, 40–1 as Montaigne's 'own', 4, 15, 18 as registre, 50–1, 52, 139, 190 as representation of Montaigne. See self-representation
 as self-portrait, 1, 49–50 essence, 53, 68–9, 131–3, 163, 217 èthos, 43, 67–8

- faithfulness, 85–7, 112, 168, 180–1 and flattery, 116, 138
 and service to princes, 117, 120, 124, 203 of the Essais, 36–7, 38, 49–51, 139–40 and trusting weakness, 178–80, 183–4
- flattery, 8, 30, 31
 associated with loss of self, 84–5, 138 contrasted with friendship, 70, 85 Montaigne's distaste for, 138–9, 177–8 as product of dependency, 115–17, 118, 138, 145
- Florio, John. See Essais
- Force, Pierre, 19–20, 23–4, 35
- fortune, 168, 181
 abandoning oneself to, 27, 170–1, 177, 199–203, 204 distinguished from essential self, 66–9, 80–1, 132, 217 freedom from dependency on, 72, 73, 79, 81, 82, 130, 136–219 Montaigne's freedom as product of, 8 Montaigne's goodness as product of, 153, 212 protecting oneself from, 24, 64, 94, 107, 134, 216 sway over political events, 110–11
- Foucault, Michel, 2, 64, 194, 196, 197, 224
- frankness, 27, 85–7, 138–40, 177–84
- freedom
 as aristocratic quality, 7–8, 27 and dependency on God, 8–9 and friendship, 6–8 intellectual, 14, 29–31 as detachment, 14–15, 28–30 and moral freedom, 4, 14, 23, 27, 30, 32 of reader, 22–3
 and self-restraint, 26–7, 36–8 and essais, 32, 33–6
 as thinking for oneself, 14, 19–22, 27–8 liberal concept of, 103, 105 and Montaigne's conception of self, 2–4, 6, 44, 87–8, 216–17 as Montaigne's natural condition, 2–3, 8, 9, 92–3, 94, 100–1, 134, 139–40, 145, 147–8, 155, 156–7, 177–8, 181–4
- moral, 5, 141–2, 144–6, 147, 185, 218 as absence of care. See carelessness as absence of dependency. See self-possession fragile and limited, 6, 9, 135, 187–8 neo-Roman concept of, 103–4, 219–24 in La Boétie's Discours de la servitude volontaire, 104–5 Montaigne's relationship to, 3, 105–7, 219–20
 and Stoicism, 219–20
- of speech. See frankness
 Stoic, 3, 73–4, 81–4, 107, 160–1
- freehold, 8
- friendship, 91, 94, 116, 136 contrasted with flattery, 70, 85 and self-study, 47, 50
 as source of debt, 81, 157–8, 190, 200 with La Boétie, 104, 110 as voluntary servitude, 6–7
 with oneself, 77–8, 131, 175
 with the truth, 22, 24
- Gill, Christopher, 67
- glory, 60, 137
 as false good, 72–3, 130–1, 141 Montaigne's indifference towards, 143, 167–9, 174
 and public service, 86, 93, 117, 118 renounced in favour of self-regulation, 74, 77, 129, 130–1 to be disregarded in judgments of character, 65–72, 74 see also ambition
- God, 8–9, 40, 111, 130, 131, 197
- gods, 76, 82, 195. See also deus intus
- goods, true and false, 72–3
 in Montaigne, 77, 85–6, 88, 129–30, 141, 219
 in Plutarch, 69–70
 in Seneca, 72–4, 76, 80–1, 82
 in Xenophon, 195–6
- Gournay, Marie de, 1
- Greenblatt, Stephen, 2, 53, 97–8
- Guerre, Martin, 97
- Hampton, Timothy, 53
- happiness. See contentment
- Heraclitus, 169
- Hieron, 116–17, 121
- Hobbes, Thomas, 103, 219
- Hoffmann, George, 37–8, 49, 50
- horse, as metaphor for self-control, 95, 100–1, 162–3, 188, 191–2
- household management home as space of freedom, 2, 8, 89–90, 125–8, 186–8 Montaigne's practice of, 126, 127, 188, 198–206
 and self-management, 5, 185–6, 188–9, 193, 196, 197–8 as source of care, 150, 155–6, 159–60, 161–2, 199 in Xenophon's Oeconomicus, 194–8
- humanism, 14, 16, 17, 21, 24, 48
 and public service, 91, 132
- Hutson, Lorna, 194, 196

- idleness, 141–2, 147, 148, 161 as aversion to care, 93, 142, 147 dangers of excessive, 162–3
 the Essais as product of, 17, 149, 161
 and freedom, 141–2, 144–5, 147, 155, 161
 and innocence, 152–3
 as mark of continence, 134, 156–7, 158
 and nonchalance, 149–51
 and wise use of time, 192–3
- imitation, 14, 15–17, 42–3 digestive metaphors of, 19, 25–6
 and freedom, 14, 18, 19–21
 and ownership of a text, 18–19, 43–4 as source of anxiety, 14, 17–18, 44
- improvisation, 42, 53, 151–2, 172–7, 206–7, 208
- ingenium*, 42–3, 71
- innocence, 76–87, 112, 146, 152–5, 178
 and freedom, 163–5, 223
- inwardness, 2, 4, 64–5, 217, 224
 and authenticity, 61–3
 in Montaigne, 55–7, 65–7, 68–9, 71–2, 74
 in Plutarch, 67, 69–70
 in Seneca, 70–4
- judgment
 as criterion of intellectual ownership, 19, 20–1, 43 the Essais as exercise of, 10, 13, 24, 41, 49, 51, 90 impediments to good, 93, 94, 96, 111, 112, 115–16 independent use of, 4, 14, 21–2, 23 among Montaigne's readers, 22–3 as privilege of the well-born, 27 and moral appraisal, 20, 65, 67, 71, 73, 74, 80–1, 203–4 of oneself, 43, 50–1, 52, 74–5, 139
 and public service, 120–1 suspension of, 14, 28–30, 35 as abandonment to fortune, 27
- justice, 41, 86, 113–14, 152
 and freedom, 160
 and public service, 94, 117–18, 123–4
 and voluntariness, 158
 and war, 119, 180
 and wealth acquisition, 194
- La Boétie, Estienne de, 40–1, 89 Discours de la servitude volontaire, 6, 104–5, 107–9, 113, 114 friendship with Montaigne, 6–7, 110 Montaigne's defence of, 107–8, 109–10 translation of Xenophon's Oeconomicus, 193, 194
- La Chassigne, Geoffroy de (souldan de Pressac), 61
- language, 2, 137–8, 216
- law contrasted with arbitrary power, 101–2, 114, 118 contrasted with passionate attachment, 118–20 of France, 125–6
 'lawful vices', 123
 living according to one's own, 74–5 submission to established, 75, 108, 113, 119 tension between freedom and obedience to, 109–10, 112, 120–2, 124–5 true goodness as 'without law', 158, 163–5
- lawyers, 115, 126, 177
- learning, 30–1, 77, 87 contrasted with wisdom, 24–5, 26, 130–1, 163 Montaigne's professed lack of, 1, 16–17, 21, 30, 148–9, 152
- leisure, 79–80, 89–90, 94, 98, 161 and aristocratic identity, 8 limits of, 107, 110, 163
see also idleness, retreat
- Lewis Schaefer, David, 109–10
- liberty. See freedom
- library, 16, 50
 as refuge, 2, 63, 89, 96, 127–8 as space of dominion, 127–8, 186–8
- licence, 114, 160–3, 167, 177
- Lipsius, Justus, 91–2, 95, 112
- Livy, 118
- Locke, John, 55, 99, 106
- marriage, 6, 60, 129, 189
 and husband's training of wife, 196, 197
- memory (mental faculty), 24–5, 101, 172–4
- memory (of the dead), 40–1, 50, 107–8, 117–18
- mercy. See clemency
- mesnager, mesnagerie*, 58, 76, 188–93, 194, 203.
See also household management
- military ideals, 83, 177, 179–80, 191, 196, 197–8, 203
- moderation, 27, 77, 165–6, 199, 212, 214 in politics, 119, 180–1
 and Stoicism, 83, 207–8
- monks, 177, 201
- Montaigne, Michel de childhood, 86, 100, 148, 152 as head of household, 90. See also household management knowledge of Latin and Greek, 16 public career, 89, 90, 96, 144

- pupil at Collège de Guyenne, 16 retirement from parlement, 89–90
 More, Thomas, 91, 92, 98, 109–10
- nature
 and authenticity, 62, 63
 as basis upon which men should be judged, 65, 66, 67–8, 70, 75 contrasted with artifice and affectation, 167, 177–8, 217 and custom, 113, 134
 and decorum, 43–4
 the Essais as expression of Montaigne's, 13, 18, 38, 49–50, 51, 136 freedom as Montaigne's natural condition. See Essais human, 69, 73, 123, 207, 212 living in accordance with, 84, 132, 133, 163, 165, 223 manifested in speech, 41–3 natural goodness. See innocence natural justice, 123 natural obedience, 120 natural obligation, 6, 78, 99, 103 negotium. See public service
 New World, peoples of, 163–4 nonchalance, 5, 8, 149–52, 197 and carelessness, 145, 147, 150, 156
 and death, 169–72
 and flexibility, 175–6
 as indifference, 149–50, 166–7, 169 as lack of premeditation, 151–2, 172–5 see also sprezzatura
- obedience
 ability to command willing, 196–197, 203.
See also voluntary servitude and exercise of discretion, 120–2 limits imposed by conscience on, 123–5 owed to prince's office, not person, 115–16, 117–19 to established laws, 101, 106, 107–8, 109–11, 119–20
- office, 77, 131–3
 of ceremony, 126
 of counsellors, 120–1
 of friendship, 70, 157–8 of kings, 117, 118
 purchase and sale of, 90, 102
- old age
 the Essais as product of, 88, 148 and excessive constancy, 165–6, 175 and retreat, 84, 89, 122–3, 144, 159
- order
 and conduct of thought, 39 and mesnagerie, 188, 190, 194, 196, 197, 202–3 political, 117, 119
 and the Essais, 17, 32–4, 178, 218 within self, 8, 27, 56–7, 128, 135, 162 O'Rourke Boyle, Marjorie, 40 otium. See leisure ownership of one's text, 4, 18–21, 38–40, 44 of oneself. See self-possession
- Paige, Nicholas, 63–5 pain, 129, 156–7, 199, 211–13, 224 paradox, 160
 Pascal, Blaise, 9, 55, 150 passion, 130, 153, 166
 among New World peoples, 164 extirpation of, 83
 involuntary motions of body as form of, 171–2, 209 moderation of, 162, 205–6, 207, 214–15 Montaigne not subject to extreme, 153, 156
 and public service, 94–5, 118–20, 143–4
 and reason, 74, 160–1
 as source of slavery, 82, 162, 217
- Petrarch, 19
 Pettit, Philip, 103–4, 106
 Plato, 19, 22, 35, 57, 84 pleasure in books, 187
 and contemplation of death, 170, 172 Epicurean, 154
 the Essais as source of inward, 40 in exercise of authority, 159 as guide to self-containment, 100, 142, 158, 199, 200 Montaigne's economy of, 114, 165–6, 191–3 in performance of virtuous actions, 154 rejection of, 24, 83, 87, 129
- Pliny the Younger, 129
 Plutarch
Comment on pourra distinguer le flatteur d'avec l'amy, 70, 84–5
De la curiosité, 70
De la tranquillité de l'ame, 70
Du bannissement, 79–80
Du vice et de la vertu, 69–70 editions used by Montaigne, 16, 60–1 on ethos, 67–8
 as exemplar of carelessness, 88, 170 on frankness, 84–7
Instruction pour ceux qui manient affaires d'estat, 87
 Montaigne's borrowings from, 60
 Montaigne's defence of against Jean Bodin, 66, 88

- Plutarch (cont.)
 and Montaigne's language of 'self', 4, 45–6, 58–88, 223, 224
 inwardness, 69–70
 self-possession, 79–80
 Montaigne's praise of, 60, 65, 88
 and public life, 88, 124
Vie d'Alexandre-le-Grand, 66–7, 124
Vie d'Aristide, 86–7
Vie de Caton d'Utique, 79, 86–7 political philosophy, vanity of, 106–7, 110–12 Posner, David, 53
 Pouilloux, Jean-Yves, 10–11, 12 princes, 116, 197
 dependency on favour of, 103, 115–16 examination of actions of, 66, 117–18 lawful subjection to, 93, 114–15
 Montaigne's dealings with, 93, 103, 124–5, 138–9, 180–1
 tendency to treat subjects as slaves, 120, 121, 124, 125
 unhappy state of, 116–17, 160 privacy, 91, 128, 186
 private actions, 66
 private interest, 86, 95, 111–12, 119–20 private life, 5, 88, 93–4, 168 private obligation, 115–16, 117–18 private style, 42, 177
 of the Essais, 148, 168–9 Protestantism, 63, 107
 prudence
 Montaigne's lack of, 27, 99, 139–40, 177, 179–81
 in public life, 63, 94–5, 112
 and self-management, 5, 165, 185, 189, 192, 200
 in speech, 31
 public service, 5, 96, 107
 as distinct from servitude, 93–5, 114–16, 118–20
 duty of, 77, 94, 110, 118, 124, 131, 132 humanist debates concerning, 91–2, 109–10
 as incompatible with freedom, 92–3, 109–10, 118, 121–2, 124–6, 127–8
 Montaigne's career in, 89–90 and old age, 122–3
 as source of care, 141–4
 as source of moral corruption, 112, 123–5 see also counsel
 Pyrrhonian scepticism, 28–30, 35, 224
 and Montaigne's approach to writing.
See essay
 Quint, David, 146–7, 153, 155, 205 Quintilian, 42
 reason, 23, 31, 93, 212, 224 as common property, 18, 19 freedom as subjection to, 124, 134, 160–2 and natural goodness, 153, 155, 164, 165 rule of over the soul, 70, 73, 74, 131 sceptical critique of, 111–12, 218 weakness of, 207, 209 reason of state, 112, 123–5, 178–9. See also
 dissimulation
 Reiss, Timothy, 53
 Rembrandt, 52
 republicanism, 106–7, 109–10, 112–14 reputation. See glory retreat, 63–4, 96, 107, 157, 162–3 Montaigne's library as space of, 186–7 and Montaigne's retirement from the parlement, 89–90, 95–6 physical, 79–80, 110, 122–3, 125–6, 127–8 symbolic, 2, 90–1, 128 into self, 4, 9, 45–6, 54, 55–6, 75–6 of soul, 55, 76, 112
 of will, 3, 5, 46, 55, 82, 96, 128–9, 131, 133, 135, 176, 212
 rhetoric, 41–4
 disparagement of, 24, 25, 87, 211
 Roman Law, 104
 Romanticism, 43, 224
 Rome, 113–14
 Rousseau, Jean-Jacques, 137
 Sartre, Jean-Paul, 137
 Scholar, Richard, 4, 22, 23, 24, 26–7 self approaches to history of, 223, 224 as distinct from office, 131–4 freedom, not authenticity, as key to Montaigne's conception of, 2–5, 9, 44, 87–8, 135–40, 224
 identified with judgment and thought, 49 identified with moral qualities, 49–54, 65–9 inconstancy of, 12
 Montaigne's place within history of, 1, 45–9, 220–3, 238
 obligations owed to, 36–7, 77, 128, 133 Pascal's condemnation of, 9 as performed role, 52–3, 61–3 as reflexive rather than substantive category, 54–88
 as remainder, 131, 217
 technologies of, 64–5
 self-control, 27, 76–7, 88, 94–5, 197–8 limits of, 3, 74, 152–5, 161–2. See also self-management

- self-management
 as careless, spontaneous self-regulation, 188 and compromise, 205–6, 211–13 as distinct from self-control, 6, 135, 185–6, 191–2 and diversion, 213
 household management as model for, 5–6, 186, 191, 202–3 and ‘impure’ authority, 9, 187–8 and self-deception, 209–11 and tactical evasion of evils, 206–10
- self-possession, 2–3, 4–5, 57–8
 and carelessness, 141–2, 144–6, 157–62, 185 as concept inherited from ancient thought, 45–6, 74, 79–83, 84–8, 104, 107 distinguished from ‘possessive individualism’, 78, 97–9 as freedom from dependency, 96–7, 99–103 as absence of personal subjection, 114–22, 124–8 as inner state of detachment, 94–5, 128–35 limits of, 135, 187–8
 and neo-Roman freedom, 103–14
- self-representation, 4, 15, 38–44, 49–53
- self-study, 1–2, 44, 46, 49–53
 as instrument of diversion, 214 and Montaigne’s broader project, 6, 218–19 originality of, 45, 46–9 and self-regulation, 1, 69, 75–8, 133, 185, 216 as witness to Montaigne’s freedom, 139–40
- Seneca
De otio, 109–10
 editions used by Montaigne, 61
 on freedom, 73–4, 81–4, 107, 126 on imitation, 19, 42–3
 Montaigne’s borrowings from, 60, 72
 and Montaigne’s language of ‘self’, 4, 45–6, 58–88
 inwardness, 70–2, 74–8
 self-possession, 78–80, 81
 Montaigne’s praise of, 58–60
 Montaigne’s refashioning of, 74, 75, 84, 169, 223, 224
 on reason, 73, 74
 on time, 77, 191
 on true and false goods, 72–3, 80–1
- servility, 8, 30–1, 84–5, 127, 137–8, 177–8
- sincerity. See authenticity
- Skinner, Quentin, 3, 103–4, 106, 219–24
- Socrates, 35–6, 122, 124
 as character in Xenophon’s Oeconomicus, 194–8 effortless virtue of, 153, 154–5, 163–4, 170
- soldiers, 130. See also military ideals
- speech, freedom of. See frankness
- sprezzatura*, 150–2, 166–7, 172
- Starobinski, Jean, 62–63, 87, 136–7
- Stoicism 200
 critique of public life in, 109–10
 and freedom, 3, 107, 160–1, 219–20
 and identification of self with reason, 72–3 imperturbability of the wise man in, 73–4 Montaigne’s refashioning of, 3, 146–7, 206, 208, 223, 224
- style. See authorship
- subjectivity. See self
- Tilh, Arnaud du. See Guerre, Martin
- time, 77, 191–3
- Tournon, André, 34, 165
- tranquillity
 achieved through detachment of will, 82–3, 128 achieved through retreat from public life, 79–80, 89, 142–4 attained by New World peoples, 164 in execution of public functions, 94, 134
 and freedom, 3, 155, 219–20
- self as space of, 46, 224
- tyranny, 87, 104–5, 116–17, 152
 in conversation, 30, 31 of custom, 112
 of fathers, 205
 of passion, 95, 214
 of preordinance, 101
 of imagination, 210
- Venice, 108, 109, 114, 126
- Villey, Pierre, 15, 72, 88, 125–6
- virtue, 66–8, 72, 74, 82–3 civic, 86–7, 132
 as distinct from innocence, 153–5 philosophy as training in, 25, 60 and public necessity, 123, 124
- vita activa*. See public service
- vita contemplativa*. See leisure
- voluntary servitude, 6–7, 104–5. See also obedience
- Wars of Religion, French. See civil wars, French
- weakness
 and artlessness, 152
 and freedom, 27–8, 145, 155, 187–8 Montaigne’s, 15, 33, 147–8 as source of moral goodness, 123–4, 152–5 wisdom sought in acceptance of, 114, 170–2, 207–8

246

Index

wealth

- as analogy for moral goods, 189, 195–6
- condemnation of pursuit of, 83, 86, 95, 125, 156
- honest acquisition of, in Xenophon's Oeconomicus, 194–5
- material riches contrasted with true wealth of soul, 69–70, 71–3, 80–1, 129–30
- Montaigne's management of his, 198–9, 200–2, 204 will

- being governed by one's own, 2, 51, 76, 84, 100–1, 144, 158
- brought back to self, 5, 56, 90–1, 224
- detachment of, 3, 82, 94, 96, 106–7, 128–9, 133, 147, 167, 176
- fragility of, 5, 135, 142, 143–4, 223
- and freedom, 88, 96–7, 158–9, 185, 219–20
- as instrument of diversion, 213
- lacking one's own, 107, 115–16, 141, 161

- limited power of, 3, 9, 84, 171–2, 187–8, 207–9, 223
- management of, 5, 185, 186, 188–91
- mortgaging of, 57, 101–2, 105, 119–20, 158
- recalcitrance of, 135, 209
- relaxing of, 210, 211–13
- as ruler over passions, 83
- subjection to another's, 3, 82, 99, 101–3, 104–6, 119–20, 141
- subjection to reason, 160–1
- and tranquillity, 134, 155, 156–7, 161–2, 166
- see also* voluntary servitude

Xenophon

- Hiero*, 116–17
- Oeconomicus*, 6, 193–8, 199, 203

youth

- and affectation, 87, 167
- as period of licence, 165–6, 167, 175, 200–1