INDEX

Surnames starting with al- are alphabetized by the subsequent part of the name.

Abboud, Ibrahim, 85, 94, 94n20, 101, 159
Adlan, Mohammed, 100–1
Adlan (Mohammed) v. Sudan Government, et al. (1956), 100–1, 103
Advisory Council for Northern Sudan (colonial era), 80
Advocacy Act (1983), amended under Bashir, 128
African Union, 129, 166t
ajjaweed (older persons as mediators), 19
alcohol-related offenses, 113n89, 114, 127, 127n18, 148, 150
Alier, Abel, 106n68
American University of Cairo, 40
Anglo-Egyptian rule. See colonial era
Ansar religious sect, 91, 92t, 102
apostasy, crime of, 37n43, 113n89, 115–16, 126–7, 196 appeals: in colonial era, 57–8, 59, 71; Constitutional Court, no appeal from decisions of, 130. See also High Court Arabic language: author conducting research in, 40; Awadalla’s resignation letter in, 103; Bashir’s adoption of Arabic-only policies in education and government, 127; Cairo University-Khartoum branch teaching in, 100, 126; colonial qadis using in shari’a courts, 65; laws translated into, under Nimeiri, 112; lawyers’ knowledge of, 123; legal education using, 136; SPS testing in, 54; translation of Sudanese law into, 112
Archer, Geoffrey, 62
authoritarian rule (generally): expansion of legal institutions under, 11; law-based strategies of, xiii, 4, 7, 8t, 9–10, 26–7, 218; overview, 16; violating human rights, 25, 191. See also legitimacy authoritarian rule in Sudan (1989–2011), 119–54; benefiting from religious view of God’s will, 187–8; dangers of rights-based expression in, 163, 183–7, 193–5, 209; law-based strategies of, 206; and legal politics, 25, 121, 203. See also al-Bashir, Omar Hassan Awadalla, Babiker: on Abboud regime, 101, 124; as Chief Justice, 103–10, 106n67; legal education of, 73; and legal system reform, 117, 213, 217; and military coup (1969), 215, 224; political agenda of, 117, 118, 224; as speaker of parliament, 92–3
al-Azhari, Ismael, 86, 92
al-Bahiri, Zak, 92n13
bar association: adequate training to function at time of Sudan’s independence, 95–6; under Bashir, 121–31, 217; categorized as trade union, 128; division created between older and younger lawyers, 143; fraud in election of bar leaders, 128–9; politics of, 224–5; professionalism and entitlement of, 122. See also legal education al-Bashir, Omar Hassan: controlling the bar association, 121–31, 213; controlling the judiciary, 131–4, 213; expanding courts (taqiś al-chul al-qadi‘i), 120, 143–44n59, 143–50, 144f; God’s will manifested in rule of, 150, 196; intention to step down, 153; Islamization of law by, 126–7, 150; legal education reform under, 131, 134–43; legal system under, 11, 100n50, 120, 121, 150–4, 213, 221; longevity of regime of, 151, 203, 218, 230; monitoring of civil society workers, 161, 191–2; not affected by charges of human rights abuses, 196–7; peace accords under, xi, xiv, 154, 182, 215–16; portraying himself as benevolent ruler, 218; possible collapse of regime of, 153; ratification of major UN conventions and covenants, 182; as self-proclaimed leader, 117, 119; vice president under, 106n68
INDEX

“benevolent despotism” of colonial era, 53–8, 119, 212

bin Abd Allah, Muhammad Ahmad (al-Mahdi), 52

“blood-price” (diyya), 69

Bonham-Carter, Edgar, 56, 63, 211

Bosnia-Herzegovina, legal politics in, 220–1 bottom-up change, 4, 201

British colonialism. See colonial era

British common law. See colonial era

British Labour Party and trade unions in British history, relationship between law and, 22, 57, 87, 89, 98–9, 138, 213

British history, relationship between law and society in, 48t, 219, 229–30

British Labour Party and trade unions in colonies, 79

Brunyate, William (W. E.), 59

Building Authority of Khartoum v. Evangellos Evangelides (1958), 101

“building of impartiality” (nabiha al-haqqiya), 64

Burr, J. Millard, 120

Center for Systemic Peace rankings of state fragility, 2n2

Chanock, Martin, 44

Chiefs’ Courts Ordinance (1931), 70

Chile, 216

China, 30, 197

Christianity in Sudan: missionaries, 35n38, 70, 94n20, 159; in pre-colonial period, 51n19; in southern Sudan, 34, 34n37, 70, 94n20

Civic education, 120

civic organizations in Sudan, 160–1

Civil Justice Ordinance (1929), 99, 99n40

civil law. See Egyptian civil law; legal department

Civil Procedure Act, Article 83, 146

civil procedure, code of, 107, 113

civil society. See humanitarian actors; rights-based approach to development

Civil Transactions Act (1984), 113

civil war in Abboud regime, 94; duration of, 1–2, 32–3, 36; first war ending (1972), 106, 108, 218; second war ending (2005), xiii, xvi, 106n68, 218; second war starting (1983), 111–12. See also peace accords

Collins, Robert O., 108, 120

colonial era, 16, 44–84; acceptance of British norms during, 11, 35, 46, 57, 57n42, 59, 69; and administrative class positions, 68n80; aid actors and authoritarian actors viewing as evil, 25; Anglo-Egyptian rule, 35; appeals in, 57–8, 59, 71; “benevolent despotism” of, 53–8, 119, 212; British settlers with separate set of laws, 47; claim making in, 63–4, 71, 217; courts’ caseload in, 75–6, 75n110, 77f; criminal code, adoption of, 49, 51, 77; criminal prosecutions in, 59–60, 61f, 216; district commissioners in, 63–4, 71; elites in, 54, 213, 225; and facilitation of economic development, 50, 59–63; indirect rule and co-optation of customary law, 67–72; land rights in, 62–3; law-based strategies of, xiii–xiii, 8f, 9, 26, 221, 224; legacy of, 84, 88–9, 156; legal department of, 56–7, 56t, 57f, 62–6; legal education of sheikhs in, 72–4; legal pluralism in, 70, 84; and legal politics, 7, 25, 45, 51–74, 80, 119; legal system legitimizing, 47, 48, 50–1, 68; legal system used to combat, 75–81; multiple legal systems combined in, 84;

© in this web service Cambridge University Press

www.cambridge.org
and native administration, 68–9, 76; oppression of local movements in, 49; ordinances, promulgation of, 47, 55, 59, 63, 78, 215; overview, 35; paternalism of, 83; rule of law in, 11, 44, 46, 47, 53, 59, 75, 82, 211–12; and shari‘a, 56–7, 57f; and social stability, 48–9, 59–63, 75, 83. See also Sudan Political Service (SPS) common law: attempt to replace with Egyptian civil law, 102, 107, 217; as British legacy, 98–100, 118, 131, 213; gutting under Bashir, 127–8, 132–3, 138; reinstatement as basis of Sudanese law, 108. See also British common law

Communist Party, 91, 92n13, 102–4, 215 comparative studies of legal politics, 31, 39–43 complaints against government officials: Bashir permitting to show benevolence, 215, 217–18; in colonial era, 63–4, 71, 217; paradox of helping regime’s power and not the people, 9; Public Grievances and Corrections Board, 146–7, 218

Condominium Agreement (1899), 53 conflict states. See failed states; fragile states

Constitutional Court of Sudan, 129, 130, 171, 172, 205 constitutional courts, independence of, 30 contract law: civil code redrafted in Egyptian style, 107; lawyers drafting contracts, 146

Convention on the Rights of the Child, 182

corporal punishment, 113–15, 127n18, 148, 203, 217
corruption, 52, 52n24
coups. See revolts and coups courts: access of citizenry to, 5, 9, 148, 186; alternative remedies preferred to filing in, 193; caseloads, 75–6, 75n110, 77f, 148–9, 149f, 218; Chiefs’ Courts Ordinance (1931), 72; in colonial era, 51, 55–6, 58, 59n48, 60n55, 71, 75–6; expansion under Bashir (taqṣīr al-zḥul al-qal‘ā‘i), 120, 143–44n59, 143–50, 144f; in first period (1956–64), 94–102; independence of, 64, 76, 84, 89, 95, 96; internationally funded judicial-training programs, 171–3; judiciary overhaul under Bashir, 131–4; loss of independence of, 132–3; during Mahdíyya, 53n27; as manifestation of legal order, 31; number of and types of, 39, 147–8, 148f, 217; as political actors, 28, 28n19; in second period (1965–76), 105; speed of judicial administration, 152; state leaders investing power in, 29; Sudanese using to combat colonialism, 80–1. See also common law; Islamic law criminal law: under Bashir, 126, 147–8, 217; convictions in colonial era, 60, 61f, 216; creating sense of order, 51, 216–17; in first period (1956–64), 98; local enforcement in colonial era, 68; Mahākām al-jannā‘yya al-Sha‘ābīyya (People’s Criminal Courts), 148n70; under Nimeiri, 65n75; sheikhs’ judicial power over, 70; summary adjudications of criminal cases, 148; suppression of opposition through, 49, 77, 80–1, 147–50, 212, 216–17. See also Penal Code criminal Procedure, Code of (colonial era), 59 cultural differences. See ethnocultural mix in Sudan culture of commodification, 194–5

cummins, Charles, 83
currency: exchange rates, 111, 111n82; possession of foreign currency as crime, 134 custody law, 36, 38, 38n45, 49, 69

customs (urf) of Maliki school, 51

dar al-Waṭa‘īiq (National Records Office, Egypt), 40 darfur: criminal laws enforced in, 150; famine, aid for relief from, 161; history of Darfur sultanate, 35, 35n40; incorporation into Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, 76; international aid groups expelled from, 193; “Justice and Confidence Centers” in, 176–7; natural disasters in, 160
darfur conflict: displaced persons from, xiii, 156, 202; as first global humanitarian crisis of 21st century, 33, 36, 164; massacres or genocide, 33, 196, 213; war crimes, courts for, 129
INDEX

Davies, W. E. D., 157
dearth penalty, 69–70
Defense Force, 79
Definition of “Sudanese” Ordinance (1948), 78, 78n117
democracy in Sudan, 15, 101–2, 115–16, 152–3 democratic states and legal politics, 214
Democratic Unionists, 85–6, 102, 112, 117
Digest of the Decisions of the Court of Appeal of the Sudan, 157 dignity of the person, 184, 228 displaced persons: and end of civil war, 33; government relieved of financial burden of due to international aid agencies, 206; human rights education of, xii, 11, 27, 42, 173–4; interviews conducted by author with, 40, 236, 238–47; monitoring of, 203–4; pluralism preventing banding into cohesive unit, 201–2; subjugation through criminal law enforcement, 147–50; Sudanese population of, xiii, xiin4, 1, 227; symbolic benefits of law-building programs for, 12–13, 207, 209; women's plight, 194–5. See also Darfur conflict divorce, 65, 148, 199
dīyya (“blood-price”), 69
Durham University's Sudan Archive (England), 39

duties created by religious and social relationships, 188 economic development: in colonial era, 50, 59–63; foreign investment in Sudan, 197; lawyers' role in shaping, 158n7; in Nimeiri regime, 108, 110–11; and oil industry, 151, 153, 197 education: under colonialism, 74, 74n106; higher education under Bashir, 135, 136n44; rights-based development programs providing basic education, 198, 207; U.S. sanctions against Sudan, effect on, 163. See also legal education Egypt: Arab Spring revolt in (2011), 153–4; in contention with Britain over independent Sudan, 89–90, 226; Nasser's proposed unity with Sudan, 107–8; Sudanese civil society in, 162; Sudanese disagreeing over annexation to, 91–2; Supreme Constitutional Court in, 30. See also colonial era
Egyptian civil law: Awadalla's view of Sudanese version of, 109; as lasting influence on Sudanese law, 108–9, 109n78; Nimeiri's overhaul of Sudan's legal system to adopt, 102, 107, 217; Sudan's resistance to, 88–9; transition back to common law, 108
El Tahir, Ahmed, 95, 95n23
Elbushi, Mudathir, 97
elites: benefiting from humanitarian actors, 198, 207n67, 208, 225; benefiting from legal institutions, 6, 9; in colonial era, 54, 213, 225; division created by legal education, 100, 100n50; education in rule of law, 46; English-speaking Sudanese employed by humanitarian agencies, 168; entry into legal profession no longer appealing to, 153; entry into legal profession restricted to, 122; in Khartoum administration as facilitators of colonialism, 75n100; knowledgeable across multiple legal systems, 12, 96; law-based strategies of, 8t, 10, 12, 222–3; repression of, 49; in weak and emerging democracies, 29 empowerment of oppressed, 10, 12, 42, 170, 173, 182, 190–1, 198
English language: dearth of English-language scholarly materials available to legal community, 135, 135n42; higher education using, 136n46; as language of human rights, 39, 227; as language of professionals, 123; law schools teaching in, 122, 136; need for lawyers to know, 138, 227; negative effects from reducing knowledge of, 139, 151, 226–7; in South Sudan legal system, 152
environmental impact assessment, NGOs seeking to force government to conduct, 204–5 Ethiopia, law-and-development interventions in, 159n10
ethnocultural mix in Sudan: aid community ignoring, 207; as factor in preventing banding into cohesive unit, 201–2, 209; history of, 34–5; and legal profession, 41; maintaining peace during colonial era, 55, 55n35 European Union, 166t exiled Sudanese activists, 162
expanding courts under Bashir (taqṣīr al-ṣalāḥ al-jadala‘), 120, 143–44n59, 143–50, 144f expulsion of foreign aid groups, 193 failed states: fallacy of legal vacuum in, 4, 164, 227; Fund for Peace on, 2n2; legal order in, xiii, 4; Somalia as, 221; Sudan as, 2, 2n2. See also fragile states Failed States Index (2012), 2n2 family law, 65. See also divorce first period of independent Sudan (1956–64), 88–102; Abboud regime, 85, 94, 101; adequate training for legal system to function, 95–6; civil service posts in, 93; democracy during, 101–2; foreign intervention’s focus in, 156; inadequate training for self-government, 91; initial lack of legislation, 93–4; legacy from colonial era, 84, 88–9, 156; legal structure in, 94–102; overview, 87; parliamentary system, 93–4; political parties in, 91, 92n13; separation of shari’a from civil law, 97; Sudanization of government, 89–91
Ford Foundation, 158–9, 159n10, 161
Foreign Policy on “failed” states, 2n2 fragile states: akin to colonial states, 212; law not absent in, 26, 146, 214, 227; legal tools and strategies in, xiii, 3–5, 13, 20, 27–31, 226; limited knowledge of how law-based strategies are used in, 31; lived experience of the law in, 19–20, 28 “framing and shaming” practices of activists, 184–5
Freedom House rankings of countries for political rights and civil liberties, 2n2
Fund for Peace on “failed” states, 2n2
Garang, John, 106n68
genocide, 33, 196
Gezira Scheme, 50, 111
“Global Knowledge Transfer” project, 172
God’s will, 150, 187–8, 196
Gordon College Sheikhs’ School, 72, 98, 156 government-oriented NGOs (GONGOs), 168, 192
grasroots empowerment, 10, 12, 170, 173, 176 grievance processing. See complaints against government officials hadith (Prophet Muhammad’s tenets), 128
Hamadien, Brigadier, 125
Hanafi school of Islamic law, 52, 126
Harding, Alan, 48n9
Hawti’s, colonial law in, 50
Hawley, Donald, 44, 45n1, 58, 59, 157
Hay, Douglas, 127, 219
Hemment, Julie, 220
High Court: in colonial era, 56, 83; judicial review, power of, 100–1; Nimeiri’s removal of members of, 105, 106; precedents applied by, 98–9; refusal of parliament to implement order (1966–7), 102, 103–4, 215; reporting of decisions of, 100, 159; Taha case, 116
homicide cases, 69–70
hudaud punishment. See corporal punishment human dignity. See dignity of the person human rights: authoritarian regimes in violation of, 25, 191; detachment of, from daily reality, 184–7, 204, 222; educating oppressed persons about, xiv, 4, 11, 27, 42, 170–1; grassroots legal culture of, 10, 12, 170, 173; and intimidation by government, 193; against Islamic concepts, 129; NGOs framing programs in language of to obtain funding, 201; not viewed as guaranteed in Sudan, 188–9; research on civil society actors’ knowledge of, 42; scope of, 183; serving the powerful, 207n67, 228; success of humanitarian interventions aimed at promoting, 156, 190; Sudan Human Rights Organization, 124; Sudanese civil society in Cairo focusing on, 162; theory of transformative rights, 189–90; UN emphasis in postconflict Sudan on, xiv, 39, 168–79; victimhood posture necessary to fight for, 189–90. See also humanitarian legal politics; rights-based approach to development humanitarian actors, 17, 155–80; Bashir allowing due to unlikelihood of raising opposition, 192–4, 202; government-oriented NGOs (GONGOs), 168, 192; harassment and banning of international workers, 193, 193n35; history of legal development initiatives, 156–64; information from, as self-serving, 32; international aid groups in Sudan (by type), 166, 166n6; as justice activists, 161–2, 179; lack of meaningful dialogue with, 205–6; law-based strategies of, 8t, 9; and lawyers, 224–5; legal awareness workshops conducted by, xi, 173–4, 198–200; networks of NGOs, 167–8, 167n23; non-Sudanese personnel making strategic, budgetary, and policy decisions in aid agencies, 178–9; promoting human rights, 6, 9–10, 156, 183, 190; research on, 41–2; success of interventions aimed at promoting human rights, 156, 190; Sudanese civil society, 164–8; as targets of Bashir regime, 163, 183. See also humanitarian legal politics; international aid; rights-based approach to development Humanitarian Aid Commission (HAC), 164–5, 164n19 humanitarian legal politics: civil society actors’ use of, 7; defined, 25; “framing and shaming” model, 184–5; impacts of, 182, 198–206, 203t, 210; situational constraints on, 183–97, 213–14. See also human rights; rights-based approach to development imprisonment of lawyers who protested under Bashir, 125 independence from colonial rule, 11, 32, 35, 60, 76–7, 213; nationalism leading to, 78–81. See also first period of independent Sudan (1956–64)
INDEX
INDEX

India, 47, 79, 197
indirect rule, 67–72
inheritance, 65
intellectual property law, 145, 145n62
international aid: empowerment goals of, 12; framing programs in rights-based language to obtain funding from, 201; government relieved of financial burden of due to work of, 206; groups in Sudan (by type), 166, 166t; law as focus of, 3; non-Sudanese personnel making strategic, budgetary, and policy decisions in aid agencies, 178–9; from OECD countries, 3. See also humanitarian actors; United Nations; World Bank assistance International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, 182
International Covenant on Economic, Social, and Cultural Rights, 182
International Criminal Court (ICC), 193, 196
international law, 10, 25, 107
International Monetary Fund, 111, 113 interviews conducted by author, 40, 236, 238–47
inujfada overthrowing Nimeiri, 115–16
Islamic law: apostasy as crime under, 37n43, 113n89, 115–16, 126–7, 196; bar association embracing under Bashir, 128–31; in colonial era, 52, 56–7, 57f, 64–7, 76, 77f; compartmentalization of, 65n75, 66, 76, 123, 126; in first period (1956–64), 97; God’s will as manifest in, 150, 187–8, 196; hudud punishments under, 113–15, 113n89; judges’ lack of knowledge of, 151–2; judiciary and party line under Bashir, 131–4; under Nimeiri, 32–3, 88, 110, 112–13, 213; in pre-colonial Sudan, 51, 52n27; replacing common law under Bashir, 11, 120, 126–8, 132–3, 138; teaching in law schools, 120, 126, 135–6; tensions with lawyers trained in common law, 126
Islamic University of Omdurman, 126, 136n45
Jama’at Omdurman al-Islamiyya (Islamic University of Omdurman), 126, 136n45
Juba Justice and Confidence Center, 177–8
Juba University, 136n45, 217
judges, in colonial era. See qadi judicial review of government action, 100–1, 103, 129–30 judiciary. See courts
Judiciary Act of 1972, 107
Justice and Confidence Centers, 176–8
Kahn, Paul, 223
al-Khalifa, 52
Khatmiyya Sufi order, 88, 91, 92t, 102, 112
Kitchener, Herbert, 73
Kitchener School of Law at Gordon College, 72–4, 100, 122
Krygier, Martin, 227
kutaab al-‘ara’id (petition writers), 19
labor movement, 79, 101, 102
land registry system, 55, 63, 75 land rights, British system for, 62–3 law: and construction of identity, 76–7; defined, 21–2, 21f; effect of access to, on human behavior, 43; postconflict use of, xii, 11; research on civil society actors’ knowledge of, 42; symbolic power of, 219; as way to control threats to order, 49 “law of the locality” (qanoon al-maheliyaa), 67–8 law schools. See legal education; specific schools by name

272
INDEX

law-and-development movement, 158–9, 159n10, 209
lawfare, 24n11
lawlessness, 26, 146, 214, 227
lawyers, See bar association; legal education lawyers’ union (niqabat al-muhamiyyin), 123
“Legal Aid Network” funded by UNDP, 176 legal awareness workshops, xi, 173–4, 198–200
legal concepts, 20–5, 21t
legal department (colonial era), 56–7, 56t, 57f; British meddling with, 62; civil division of, 56–8, 57f, 64–5; and mosque construction, 66; and property law, 63; shari’a division of, 65–6 legal education: advancing rule of law, 72–4; during authoritarian regime, 11, 120; bar exam subjects, 142n56; benefit to legal system after Sudan’s independence, 95–6; in colonial era, 11, 122; and common law, 98; division created by two leading law schools, 100, 100n50; Ford Foundation funding on programs in non-Western societies, 158–9; humanitarian interventions aimed at promoting, 156–7; number of lawyers produced, 139–42, 139t, 140–41f; number of universities granting law degrees, 136n45, 137n; options available to graduates, 142; postgraduate programs abroad, 158; professors forced to unionize or retire, 133; reform under Bashir, 131, 134–43, 217; useful tool of legal politics, 135. See also specific law schools legal order: as bulwark against tyranny or genocide, 5; commonality of all regimes in pursuing, 9, 215; defined, 21t, 23–4; in failed states, xiit, 4; as social good, 10, 20 legal order in Sudan: in Bashir regime, 120, 150–4, 217; characterization of, 36–7; extending legal politics, 217; formal law vs. customary law, 36; multiple legal systems combined in, 36–7; urban vs. rural areas, 37, 145, 145n61. See also courts legal pluralism in Sudan: as challenge, 48, 173; in colonial era, 70, 84; elites knowledgeable across, 12, 96; extreme example of, 32–9, 86–7; fragmentation in court proceedings, 127–8. See also common law; Islamic law legal politics: appeal of, 7–10; authoritarian, 25, 121, 203, 217; bottom-up practices of, 4, 201; colonial, 7, 25, 45, 51–74, 80, 119; comparative studies of, 31, 39–43; consequences of, 12–13, 118; defined, 21t, 24–5; in democratic states, 214; in fragile states, 5; humanitarian, 25, 154, 170f, 183–97; imperfect nature of, 11–12; literature review of, 28; omnipresence of, 29; reflections on, 211–15; top-down practices of, 4, 10, 25, 27, 81, 153, 171; and type of regime, 7, 209
legal system, defined, 21t, 22
legal tools and strategies: failure to create progressive social change in weak states, xii, 12, 15, 27, 222, 225–6; in fragile states, xiii, 3–4, 10, 27–31, 226; legal doctrine as, 24; as malleable resources in competition for political influence, 13, 217, 226, 228; as release valve for social pressures, 9, 229; revealing legal solutions to problems in fragile states, 38, 222; using for nonlegal ends, dangers of, 26. See also humanitarian legal politics; legal politics legal vacuum, 2, 4, 164, 170, 212, 219, 226, 227. See also lawlessness legalism, relation to legal politics, 25n11 legitimacy: of authoritarian rule, 4, 9, 12, 27, 120, 132, 155, 206, 218, 221; of colonial rule, 47, 48, 50–1, 68, 212 Liberia, 220
life expectancy in Sudan, xiv
lived experience of the law, 19–20, 28
Local Government (Rural Areas) Ordinance (1937), 68
Locke, John, 188
longitudinal analysis, advantages of, xiii, 26, 41, 42–3, 211–12
Luce, William, 55n35
Lutfi, Jalal Ali, 120, 133–4
mabna al-haqaniyya (“the building of impartiality”), 64
Mahkum al-Janza’iyya al-Sha’abiyya (People’s Criminal Courts), 148n70
al-Mahdi, 52, 52n26, 62
Mahdi family as leaders of Umma Party, 91, 92t, 112
al-Mahdi, Sadiq, 112, 116–17, 119
Mahdiyya, 52, 52n27, 55n27
Maliki jurisprudence, 51, 52

273
INDEX

Mauddhathiri, Hassan, 97
Max Planck Institute for Comparative Public Law and International Law (Heidelberg, Germany), 172
Maximos (Alam) v. Khadiga Mohamed El Brigdar (1958), 99
Merry, Sally Engle, 207n67
Milner Report (1921), 68
Ministry of Justice, 96, 157
Mirghani family as leaders of National Unionist Party, 91, 92t, 112 monitoring: of civil society workers, 161, 191–2; of displaced persons, 203–4; of funding intended for humanitarian programs, 206 moral order, law's preference for, 10–11
mosque construction, 66, 212
Mubarak, Hosni, 30, 154
Al-Mufti, Ahmed, 51n19
Muhammad the Prophet's tenets (hadith), 128
Muslim Brotherhood, 92, 92n13, 97, 110, 112
Mustafa, Zaki, 98, 100n49
Napoleonic Code, 107
Nasser, Gamal Abdel, 106, 107, 109
National Congress Party, 165
National Endowment for Democracy, 205
National Islamic Front (NIF), 117
National Records Office, Egypt (Dar al-Watha’iq), 40 “National Salvation Revolution,” 117.
See also al-Bashir, Omar Hassan
Nationalism leading to independence movements, 78–81 native administration, 68–9, 76
natural disasters in Sudan, 160 nazar (principal chief), 69
“NGOistan” label for Sudan, xiii
Nigeria, 47, 68
an-Nimeiri, Jaafar Muhammad: and bar association, 124; coup by, 103–5; ending civil war, 32, 106, 108, 218; foreign legal assistance halted under, 159; “heroic” years of, 108; inflagration overthrowing, 115–16; national reconciliation efforts of, 112; nationalization of private businesses by, 111; overhaul of Sudan's legal system by, 32–3, 65n75, 87–8, 102, 107–8, 110–15, 117, 213, 217.

See also second period of independent Sudan (1965–76)
nijabat al-muhamiyyin (lawyers' union), 123
nongovernmental organizations (NGOs).
See humanitarian actors nonviolent movements, 229
oil industry, 151, 153, 197
older persons as mediators (ajaweed), 19
Omdurman Prison, workshops at, 174–5
Operation Lifeline Sudan, 161 ordinances used by colonial and authoritarian regimes, 47, 55, 59, 63, 78, 215 Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) countries, assistance from, 3. See also international aid Ottomans. See Turco-Egyptian rule pan-Arab alliance, 107–8, 118
paralegal training, 175–6
parliament: under Bashir, 216; first period (1956–64), 93–4; refusal to implement High Court's order (1966–7), 102, 103–4, 215
Paul, James, 159n10
peace accords: 2005, xi, xiv, 154, 182, 215, 218; creating openings for civil society interventions, 9, 164; Nimeiri repudiating, 32–3 peacebuilding, 10, 17, 174; church involvement in, 146; by political actors, 38; in relation to rule of law, 22
Penal Code: under Bashir, 126–7; in colonial era, 59; Nimeiri's changes to, 113.
See also corporal punishment
People's Criminal Courts (Mahakim al-Jan'yya al-Sha'abiyya), 148n70
Perham, Marjory, 91
petition writers (kutaab al-'ara'id), 19
Pinochet, Augusto, 216
pluralism. See ethnocultural mix in Sudan; legal pluralism in Sudan police, 194–5
political influence as most effective way to resolve problems, 195, 195n39
"political jurisprudence," 28n19 political parties, 80, 91, 92n13.
See also Communist Party; National Congress Party; National Unionist Party; Umma Party

© in this web service Cambridge University Press
www.cambridge.org
INDEX

the poor: aid programs for, 164; authoritarian and humanitarian legal politics simultaneously in lives of, 219; educating on legal and human rights to empower, 42, 182, 190–1, 198; humanitarian legal programs’ failure to alleviate suffering of, 12, 182–3, 197–8, 207–10, 225–6; obstacles in accessing court system, 5, 9, 148, 186; and theory of transformative rights, 189. See also displaced persons postcolonial Sudan: first period (1956–64), 87, 88–102; second period (1965–76), 87, 102–10; survival of state during, 85; third period (1977–89), 87, 110–17 Powers of Nomadic Sheikhs Ordinance (1922), 70 Powers of Sheikhs Ordinances (1927–8), 68 precedents, creation of, 98–100, 118 principal chief (naqib), 69 property law: British system, 62–3; in first period (1956–64), 99; under Nimeiri, 65n75. See also land registry system protestors, Bashir’s criminal actions against, 149 Public Grievances and Corrections Board, 146–7, 218 punishment. See corporal punishment; criminal law; Penal Code qâdis (judges), 51, 57, 65, 66, 72, 76 qanûn al-muhâlîyya (“law of the locality”), 67–8 qanûn September (September law), 113–14 Ranat, Abu (Chief Justice), 95, 96, 100–1 Registrar of Trade Unions, 128 religion: diversity in Sudan, 34–5; grafting of state law to, 212; and human rights, 187–8; and legitimacy of Bashir regime, 150, 196. See also Christianity in Sudan; Islamic law Republican Brotherhood, 115 research design, 39–43; analysis and coding, 236–7; archival research, 231–5; interviews, 40, 236, 238–47 revolts and coups: Bashir becoming self-proclaimed leader, 117, 119; against colonial power, 49, 60, 77; against military regimes, lawyers’ role in, 123–4; Nimeiri deposed by coup, 11, 103–5; Nimeiri leading coup, 103–5, 215 rights-based approach to development, xii, 39, 168–79; demand-oriented initiatives, 170, 170f, 171, 173–7, 182, 191; effect of non-Sudanese personnel in positions of authority, 178–9; evaluation needed for, 207; failure to tailor to Sudanese situation, 182; judiciary support from, 171–3; Justice and Confidence Centers, 176–8; Omdurman Prison, rights workshops at, 174–5; and paralegal training, 175–6; rule of law programs, 171; supply-side initiatives, 170–1, 170f, 191; and United Nations Development Programme’s initiatives, 171; viewing law as form of development, 179, 181, 209. See also humanitarian legal politics Robertson, James W., 61n57, 80, 91 Robinson, Mary, 169 Roll of Advocates, 100. See also bar association rule by law, defined, 21t, 23 rule of law: in colonial era, 11, 44, 46, 47, 53, 59, 75, 211–12; considered as force for positive change, 2–3, 7, 215; defined, 21t, 22–3; humanitarian actors integrating into their work, 2, 3, 161–2; ideology as gift of colonialism, 82; institutionalization of, in fragile states, 13; legal education advancing, 72–4; and moderation, 2, 48; role of, xii, 2–3, 42, 215; shaped by actors who use it, 5, 222 rural areas, 145, 145n61, 175–6, 227 Russia and human rights for women, 220 sanctions against Sudan, 162–3 al-Sanhuri, Abd al-Razzak, 109, 128 School of African and Oriental Studies of the University of London, 40 secession of South Sudan, 15, 36, 165, 198, 200, 218. See also South Sudan second period of independent Sudan (1965–76), 87, 102–10; court system in, 105; democratic regime as chaotic (1964–9), 102, 160; direct humanitarian interventions in, 156, 159–60; Nimeiri’s coup, 103–5; transition from common law to Egyptian civil law and back again, 102, 107–10, 213 Self-Government Statute (1953), 84, 95n22 September law (qanûn September), 113–14 Shafir, Mohamed, 72 sharī’ī. See Islamic law 275
INDEX

Sharkey, Heather, 73n100
Shklar, Judith, 25n11
“shortening the judicial shadow” (taqsir al-zahd al-qad’i’t), 120, 143–44n59, 143–50, 144f
SLJR. See Sudan Law Journal and Reports “slow violence,” 27
social stability. See stability created by legal system
Socialist Party, 104
Somalia and rule of law, 221
South Africa, 30, 47, 216
South Sudan: Bashir agreeing to separation of, 153, 218; civil society in, 161; common-law legal system in, 38n45; English as language of law in, 152; interviews conducted by author in, 40; law school in, 217; ongoing conflict with, 33; statehood of, 15, 227 southern Sudan: British using different approach to native administration in, 70; Christian missionaries in, 34, 34n37, 70, 94n20; civil war with, xiv, 32; criminal laws enforced in, 150; direct humanitarian interventions in, 161; Islam promotion in, 94n20; “Justice and Confidence Centers” in, 176–7; law of, outside scope of book, 38n45; and university education, 74. See also civil war
Soviet Union and control of judges, 29
SPLM (Sudan People’s Liberation Movement), 130, 163
SFS. See Sudan Political Service stability created by legal system, 48–9, 59–63, 75, 83, 119, 223
state decis, 98–100, 118
state building, Western-style, 156, 214
strikes, 79, 101, 115, 124
Sudan: as “failed” state, 2, 2n2; geographic and ethnocultural makeup, 34–5, 90n8; historical background of, 15, 35–6; life expectancy in, xiv; as “most fragile” state, 2n2; overview of conflict in, 32–3; research conducted in, 39; sanctions against, 162–3. See also specific time periods and rulers
Sudan Bar Association. See bar association
Sudan Human Rights Organization, 124, 192
Sudan Law Journal and Reports (SLJR), 100, 133, 159
Sudan Law Project, funded by Ford Foundation, 159
Sudan National Records Office (Khartoum), 39
Sudan People’s Liberation Movement (SPLM), 130, 163
Sudan Plantations Syndicate, 50
Sudan Political Service (SPS, British colonial rule), 44; background of members of, 54, 54n30; “benevolent despotism” of, 53–8, 119, 212; claims filed with, 64; on devolution of court system, 71–2; dual allegiance of, 61, 61n57, 82; duration of posting in Sudan, 61n57; and education, 74, 74n106; governmental departments created by, 55–6, 56f; local officials’ powers under, 68–9; mind-set of, 54–5; and mosque administration, 66–7; and native administration, 68–9, 76; and shar’ a, 56–7
Supreme Court of South Sudan, 171
Supreme Court of Sudan, 130, 132, 171.
See also High Court
symbolic benefits of law-building programs, 12–13, 207, 209 symbolic power of law, 219, 223
Taha, Mahmoud Mohammed, 36n43, 115–16, 196n40
taqsir al-zahd al-qad’i’t (“shortening the judicial shadow”–expanding courts under Bashir), 120, 143–44n59, 143–50, 144f taxation, 50, 68, 69, 145
tenancy rights, 50, 50n16
Tenenbaum, Elcana, 196n40
third period of independent Sudan (1977–89), 87, 110–17; autocratic rule of Nimeiri during, 111; direct humanitarian interventions in, 156; instability in, 116–17; Islamic law, imposition of, 88, 110, 112–13; transition to democracy (1985–6), 115–16. See also al-Mahdi, Sadiq Thompson, E. P., 223–4, 229 top-down application of legal politics, 4, 10, 25, 27, 81, 153, 171 tort procedure: civil code redrafted in Egyptian style, 107; in colonial era, 59, 80, 80n123; in first period (1956–64), 98; under Nimeiri, 65n75 trade unions, 79, 101, 102, 104, 115, 124, 128, 160
al-Turabi, Hassan, 112, 117, 119, 131, 224
Turco-Egyptian rule (1821–84), 35, 52
32n2
Umma Party, 86, 91, 92t, 102, 112, 117
unions. See trade unions
United Nations: assistance for rule-of-law development, xii, 3, 19; on Darfur conflict, 33; and elites, 225; generic programming of, 171–2, 207; international aid groups in Sudan from, 166–7, 166t, 167n22; NGOs framing programs in human rights language to obtain funding from, 201; rights-based development approach of, xii, 3, 39, 168–79; Rule of Law Unit, 3; Sudan joining upon independence, 90n8
United Nations–African Union Mission in Darfur (UNAMID), 167n22
United Nations Development Programme, xi, 39, 164, 167, 171, 173, 176, 221
United Nations Mission in Sudan (UNMIS), 164, 167n22, 181
University of Hargeisa, 221
University of Khartoum: and British legacy, 74, 80n123, 98, 156; common-law-trained lawyers from, under Bashir, 138; curriculum, 135, 157; English common law as focus of, 98, 100; faculty, 132, 157; legal profession influenced by, 122–3; library as data source, 39; prestige of, 109n78, 122; relationship with University of London, 122, 157; teaching in Arabic, 136; tensions with graduates of shari’a schools, 126
University of London, 122, 157
urj (customs) of Maliki school, 51
U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID), 158, 166t
U.S. sanctions against Sudan, 162–3 violence and volatility: in authoritarian regimes, 36; law serving in spite of itself, 10, 27; legal tools adopted in times of, 6; “slow violence,” 27. See also revolts and coups Watson, James, 62
women: corporal punishment for dress violations, 203; in displaced persons camps, 194–5; and legal awareness workshops, 199; Omdurman Prison, rights workshops at, 174–5; and reproductive health clinic, 192; women’s groups in post-Soviet Russia, 220
Woodward, Peter, 118
World Bank assistance, xii, 3, 19, 39, 166t