

Index

- academic learning
  - focus on acquisition of knowledge or skills, 48
  - having different objectives to corporate learning, 46–47
- affective reactions, 143
- alignment, see also functionalism
  - banding, 178–181
  - governance, 188
  - learning solutions, 52–53
  - learning strategy, 14–15
- Allianz Management Institute, 30, 172
- American Society for Training & Development, 120
- anchor blends, 90
- Argyris, Chris, 4
- augmented reality (AR), 74
- backchannelling, 78
- Banco Santander, 22, 172–173
- Barclays, 99, 173
- behaviour change
  - corporate learning professionals skills in, 106–107
  - inclusion in learning product, 64
  - inclusion in learning proposal, 59–60
  - need to focus on, 48–50
- Bettleheim, Bruno, 207
- blended learning, 47, 89–91
  - problems posed by new technologies, 62
- BMW, 74
- bookend blends, 90
- BP, 99, 173
  - safety culture programme case study, 85–87
- branding, 165–166, see also learning
  - branding
  - components, 168–176
  - corporate learning functions use of, 166–168
- business acumen, corporate learning
  - professionals, 102, 103–104
- business leaders, dissatisfaction with corporate learning, 1–3, 101–102, 203–204
- business school, use as name, 172
- Capgemini, 115, 172
- Capgemini University, 37, 38, 171
  - case study, 133–135
- centre of expertise, 37
- Chambers, John, 74–75
- change champions, corporate learning
  - professionals as, 106–107
- Charan, Ram, 199
- Chartered Institute of Personnel and Development (CIPD), 97, 118–120
- chief learning officer, 110
- CIPD (Chartered Institute of Personnel and Development), 97, 118–120
- Cisco, 90
- CLEs, see Collaborative Learning Environments
- CLIP accreditation process, 120
- CLO Magazine, 120
- cobbler's children syndrome, 118–121
- collaboration online, 76
- collaborative learning, 80–82, 92
- Collaborative Learning Environments (CLEs), 80–81
- communities manager, 116
- communities of practice, 22, 81
- content management, corporate
  - learning professionals skills in, 108–109
- control groups, 147
- corporate learning
  - applying market forces, 208–209
  - beyond the tipping point, 210–212
  - bringing the business to bear, 209–210
  - challenges for, 8–9, 11–13

- crisis in, 1–3, 203–204, 211
- focus on corporate not academic
  - learning, 206–207
- focus on functionalism, 205–206
- hope for, 204–205
- stepping in and out of the business, 207–208
- way forward, 205
- corporate learning professionals
  - appointments of former academics, 102–103
  - assessment questions, 116–117
  - challenges facing, 98–99
    - move from aligning with businesses to helping businesses make money, 100–101
    - move from being technology-led to leveraging technology, 101
    - move from knowledge acquisition to performance-enhancing change, 99–100
  - key roles, competencies, 110–116
  - key skills, 103–110
  - new roles, 116
  - outsourcing, 123
    - benefits, 124–126
    - best practice, 128–131
    - checklist, 131–132
    - companies choosing, 123–124
    - functions being outsourced, 124
    - risks, 126–128
  - ratio to staff, 98
  - resourcing
    - buy or grow, 118–121
    - case study, 133–135
    - challenges, 101–103, 132–133
    - geographical and cultural differences, 122
    - internal versus external, 122–123
    - relationship to HR, 121–122
- corporate universities, 7
- crowdsourcing, 62–63
- curation, corporate learning professionals
  - skills in, 108–109
- customer groups, defining, 177
- cybernetics, 4

- Daimler group, 173
- data manager, 116
- data reporting skills, corporate learning professionals, 105–106

- delivery, see learning delivery
- Disney/ABC Television Group, case study, 161–163
- Drucker, Peter, 165

- Edmondson, Amy, 51
- edutainment, 74
- e-learning, 74–76
- engagement calendars, 180
- Espresso Learning, 88

- Fifth Discipline* (Senge), 4–5
- financial stewardship, governance group, 197
- following the herd, 62–63
- formative evaluation, see also Kirkpatrick
  - Hierarchical Model of Training Outcomes
    - challenges facing, 146–148
    - definition, 138
    - future direction, 140
    - history, 140
    - principles for, 148
      - commitment to evaluate impact, 148–149
      - measures agreed in advance, 149–150
      - measures linked to business objectives, 150–152
      - ownership, 153–154
      - plan for use of data, 152–153
      - use of simple metrics, 152
    - reasons for dearth of, 138–140
- Four Acres, 173
- Fraser, Hemsley, 88
- functionalism, 35–36
  - developing learning solutions and, 46
- funware, 74, 78

- game-based learning, 88, 92, see also serious games
- gameification, 93–94, 207
- Gap Inc., 204–205
- GDF Suez University, 38
- General Electric (GE), 173
- generative learning, 4–5
- governance group, see also learning governance
  - composition, 193–195
  - effectiveness, 198–200
  - role, 195–198

228 INDEX

- Hamburger University, 170, 172
 happy sheets, 138, 157
 Haus Lemmerbuckel, 173
 Hawthorne effect, 147
 HR staff, see also corporate learning
   professionals deficiencies, 97–98
   outsourcing, 126
- IBM, 22, 90, 100, 115, 167
 IMD, 77, 120
 informal learning, 82–84
 information architecture, 199 insight-driven HR, 105–106
 International Harvester Company, 50
 iTunes University, 77
- just-in-time learning, 77–78
- Kerr, Steve, 102–103, 110
 Khan Academy, 72
 Kirkpatrick Hierarchical Model of Training Outcomes, 140–142 limitations emphasis on participant enjoyment, 142–144
   over-focus on learning event, 142
   ROI obsession, 144–146
 reporting and, 157
 Kirkpatrick, Donald, 140 knowledge curation, 83 knowledge management, 6
- LCMS (Learning Content Management Systems), 75, 76
 learner motivation, inclusion in learning product, 64
 learning administrator, 115–116 learning branding aligning with, 178–181
   behaviours, 174–176
   case study, 183–186
   developing, 176–178
   looks, 170–171
   names, 171–172
   need for, 164–165, 182–183
   places, 172–174 products, 169–170
   purposes, 167–168
   strategy, 169
   testing, 179
- learning climate, 51
   life-support system for, 65
 Learning Content Management Systems
 (LCMS), 75, 76
 learning deliverer, 114–115
 learning delivery, 95–96, see also collaborative learning;
   informal learning; self-directed
   learning
   audit questions, 94–95
   branding and, 180–181
   case study, 85–87
   changing nature of work, 71–72 coming change, 74
   corporate learning professionals' skills in, 107
   downturn-driven innovation, 72
   e-learning to m-learning, 74–78 importance of pedagogy, 79–80 need for revolution, 78–79 reasons for change, 69–73 speed of change, 68
   technological change, 72–73 use of technology blending learning effectively, 89–91 choice of tools, 87–89 employee engagement, 91–94
     using pedagogies, 87 workforce distribution and diversity, 69–70
   workforce generational change, 70–71 learning designer, 114 learning evaluation, see also formative evaluation
   assessment questions, 155
   conundrum of, 136–137, 160–161 current activity, 137–138 learning governance, see also governance group
   benefits, 188–190
   case study, 201–202
   challenges, 190–191
   implementation, 192–193
   need for, 187–188, 200–201
 learning landscape, example, 12
 Learning Management Systems (LMS), 36–37, 75
 learning manager, 114 learning organisations, 5–8, 209 learning solutions, 45, 66–67, see also order management; proposal making

- alignment process, 52–53
- business context, 51–52
- distinguishing methods and tools from
  - objectives, 46–48
- focus on behaviour change, 48–50
- product development, 61–66
- stickability, 50–51
- learning strategy, see also mission statements
  - alignment, 14–15
  - building, 43–44
  - governance group, 196
  - operating model, 33
    - assessment questions, 39
    - broker, 35
    - business model, 37–39
    - distributor, 34
    - producer, 34
    - provider, 34–35
    - structure, 36–37
    - value proposition, 33–34
  - portfolio, 40
    - assessment questions, 43
    - presentation, 42–43
    - priorities within, 40–41
    - structure, 41–42
  - position in organisational structure, 29–30
    - assessment questions, 32
    - reporting directly to the board, 30–31
    - reporting within another central function, 32
    - reporting within the HR function, 31
  - scope, 21
    - assessment questions, 28–29
    - learning function's role, 25–28
    - learning outcomes, 24–25
    - target populations, 22–24
- learning, transformation of ideas about, 5–6
- LinkedIn, 120
- LMS (Learning Management Systems), 36–37, 75
- logos, 178
- Maister, David, 174–175
- marketing plans, 180
- McDonald's, see Hamburger University
- Mind Gym, 88
- mission statements, 16–17
  - assessment questions, 20–21
  - identifying core purpose, 17–19
  - wording, 19–20
- m-learning, 76–78
- mobile phones, 73, see also m-learning
  - company provision to employees, 76
- monitoring, governance group, 198
- motivation, employee engagement and use of technology, 91–94
- Motorola Corporate University, 171
- Native Brain, 62–63
- needs analysis, 57, see also proposal making
- NikeU, 172
  - learning brand case study, 183–186
- Novartis Learning, 171
  - learning governance case study, 201–202
- Onboarding Guide (Capgemini University), 134
- onboarding plans, 130
- operational support, governance group, 197–198
- order management, 56–57
- ownership
  - formative evaluation, 153–154
  - governance, 188–189
- performance consulting skills, corporate learning professionals, 106
- Personal Learning Environments (PLEs), 84–85
- Phillips, J., 144, 145, 146
- Podolney, Joel, 103
- process management, corporate learning professionals skills in, 108
- proposal making, 57–61
- psychological safety, 51
- psychotherapy, 207
- reflection triggers, 93
- reporting corporate learning, 155
  - assessment questions, 160
  - brevity, 157–158
  - case study, 161–163
  - data availability, 155–156
  - objectives, 158–159
  - presentation, 159–160
  - proportionality, 159
  - provision of context, 158
  - regular reporting, 156
  - tailoring for purpose and audience, 157

230 INDEX

- reverse anchor blends, 90
- risk management, governance group, 198
- ROE (return on expectations)
  - measurement, 141, 146
- ROI (return on investment) measurement,
  - 141, 144–145
  - safety courses, 151–152
- Rosetta Stone, 93
- Safran, 173
- scaffolding, 92–93, 94
- Schön, Donald, 4, 5–6
- scrum teams, 121
- Second Life, 74
- self-directed learning, 84–85, 89, 92
- Senge, Peter, 4–6
- serious games, 74, see also game-based learning
- Shell, 173
- SHRM (Society for Human Resource Management), 97, 118–120, 126
- Siemens, 38
- Six Sigma training, 93
- skills, decay over time, 50–51
- Skinner, B.F., 72–73
- skins, 178
- Sky, 170–171
- smile sheets, 138
- Society for Human Resource Management (SHRM), 97, 118–120, 126
- Solaruco, 172–173
- stakeholder involvement, mission
  - statement creation, 18–19
- stakeholder maps, 177
- stickability of learning, 50–51
- straplines, 178
- strategic planning
  - corporate learning professionals skills in, 104–105
  - governance group, 197
- subject matter experts, 115
- summative evaluation, 138,
  - see also* summative evaluation
- Swiss Re Leadership Academy, 172
- Talent Development Reporting Principles (TDRP), 156
- technology proponents, corporate learning
  - professionals as, 109–110
- technology skills, corporate learning
  - professionals, 109–110
- theory, systems, 4
- transfer of training, 49
- trust equation, 175
- Trusted Advisor, The* (Maister), 174–175
- Twitter, backchannelling, 78
- UFCF (University Facilitator Competency Framework), 133–135
- Ulrich, Dave, 97, 104–105
- Unilever, 173
- University Facilitator Competency Framework (UFCF), 133–135
- university, use as name, 171–172
- utility reactions, 143
- vendor management, corporate learning
  - professionals skills in, 109, 130–131
- Virgin Atlantic, 186
- Virtual Learning Environments (VLEs), 76
- virtual worlds, 74
- Volkswagen, 74
- VW Coaching, 22
- Web 2.0, 81
- Welch, Jack, 110–113
- workforce
  - distribution and diversity, 69–70
  - generational change, 70–71