THE CAMBRIDGE COMPANION TO REFORMED THEOLOGY

This Companion offers an introduction to Reformed theology, one of the most historically important, ecumenically active, and currently generative traditions of doctrinal inquiry, by way of reflecting on its origins, its development, and its significance. Part I, Theological Topics, indicates the distinct array of doctrinal concerns which gives coherence over time to the identity of this tradition in all its diversity. Part II, Theological Figures, explores the life and work of a small number of theologians who not only have worked within this tradition but also have constructively shaped and inspired it in vital ways. The final part, Theological Contexts, considers the ways in which the resultant Reformed sensibilities in theology have had a marked impact both on theological and ecclesiastical landscapes in different places and on the wider societal landscapes of history. The result is a fascinating and compelling guide to this dynamic and vibrant theological tradition.

Paul T. Nimmo holds the Chair in Systematic Theology at the University of Aberdeen. He received a Templeton Award for Theological Promise for his book Being in Action in 2009, and is an editor of the International Journal of Systematic Theology. He has been a Fellow of the Center for Barth Studies since 2009, and has served on the AAR Reformed Theology and History Group Steering Committee and as Treasurer of the Society of the Study of Theology. He delivered the Kerr Lectures in Glasgow in 2008.

David A. S. Fergusson is Professor of Divinity and Principal of New College at the University of Edinburgh. He has delivered the Bampton Lectures in Oxford (2001), the Gifford Lectures in Glasgow (2008), and the Warfield Lectures in Princeton (2009). He was elected a Fellow of the Royal Society of Edinburgh in 2004 and a Fellow of the British Academy in 2013. His publications include several monographs and edited collections, including Faith and Its Critics (2009) and Creation (2014).

Acknowledgements

The Editors would like to express their gratitude to Michael Bräutigam for his translation work and to David Robinson for his editorial labours. They would also like to thank their editors at Cambridge University Press, Kate Brett, Laura Morris, Alexandra Poreda, and Isabella Vitti, and their copy editor, Theresa Kornak.

Paul Nimmo would like to express his sincere appreciation for the ongoing collegiality and the profound friendship of Jason Fout, Tom Greggs, Stephen Manders, Mark Russell, Don Wood, Simeon Zahl, and Phil Ziegler. He would also like to acknowledge his enduring gratitude to those who have taught him of the Reformed tradition, in particular to his dear friend Ernest Marvin. Finally, he would like to acknowledge his loving indebtedness to his family, who continue to inspire and sustain him, and above all to Jill, Samuel, Daniel, and Rebekah.

David Fergusson wishes to acknowledge his gratitude to those congregations and ministers who have supported him over many years, especially at Holburn West Church in Aberdeen and Greenbank Church in Edinburgh. They have taught him more about the Reformed tradition than they may realise. And to Margot, Mark and Calum, he would like to express his appreciation for their constant support and cheerful companionship.
