

Index

- Abele, L., 132, 134, 136, 153
- Alaska Arctic National Wildlife Refuge, 140
- Alexander, J., 84
- algorithmic configurations, 123–124
- algorithms. See also place-prioritization
  - algorithms (PPAs); prioritization
  - algorithms
  - biodiversity defined by, 124–126
  - diversity of, 123
  - exact, 120
  - function of, 123–124
  - heuristic, 120
  - as specific procedure, 126
- allometry. See ecological allometry; Fenchel
  - allometry; generation-time allometry;
  - Kleiber allometry
- Andrewartha, H. G., 53
- anthropocentric theories, 112–113
- applied ecology
  - development of, 130, 141, 161
  - ethical values and, 12–13, 162–163
  - goal of, 161
  - scientific testing in, 12, 163
  - studies of dynamics of biological
    - populations, 162
- applied sciences
  - vs. basic sciences, 137, 161, 167
  - ethical agenda of, 12, 161
  - fact–value distinction in, 163
  - nonepistemic values in, 161
  - progress in, 130, 159
  - regulations of, 137
- Aristotle, 87
- Arthur, W., 61
- Australian Eyre Peninsula, 142
- Australian Fauna Protection Act, 140
- Australian national parks, 139–140
- Baird, I. A., 142, 149
- balance of nature
  - Aristotelian view of, 87
  - Darwinian concept of, 59–60
  - as ecological stability, 61
  - idea of, 9, 58–59
  - web-based, 60–61
- Barrett, Tom, 157
- Bayesian statistical framework, 172
- Beatty, John, 47–48
- biodiversity
  - approaches to definition of, 105–106, 114–116
  - in context of conservation biology, 126
  - ethical values and, 105, 118
  - GIS-based gap analysis of, 156
  - implicit definition of, 118–127
  - as a label, function of, 116
  - multidimensional, 127
  - negative appraisal of, 127
  - Norton's theory of, 112, 114, 116, 125
  - origin of term of, 112
  - philosophical views of, 10–11
  - place-prioritization algorithms and, 118, 125–126
  - protection of, 125

- representation of, 121, 135
- true theory of, 159
- value-driven explicit definition of, 112–117
- biodiversity realism, 127
- biological communities
  - as aggregations of species, 53
  - assessment of, 53
  - boundaries of, 54
  - definition of, 53
  - as distinct ecological units, 53
  - diversity of, 10, 106–107, 109
  - functional integration within, 58
  - inter- and intraspecific competition within, 59
  - persistence of, 56–57
  - proportional abundances of species in, 106, 109
  - reality of, 8, 53, 55–56
  - regulations of, 3, 57
  - representation of, 106
  - as set of organisms of different species, 108
  - superorganism theory of, 53–55, 58
- Biological Conservation* (journal), 141, 143
- biology
  - laws in, 38, 47
  - role models in, 6
- Bird, A., 159
- blindness to species identity, 109–111
- bracken herbivores, 21
- Burley, F. W., 154
- C-plan/E-RMS decision support system, 157
- California thrasher, 16
- Cape Floristic Region of South Africa, 147
- Carnap, Rudolf, 166, 171
- carnivore niche, 20
- causally efficacious properties, 90
- ceteris paribus clause, 41–44, 50
- Chase, J., 16, 35–36
- chemical processes, law-like
  - regularities of, 3
- classical ecological models, 79
- classical mechanics, 102
- Clean Air Act, 130
- Clean Water Act, 130
- Clements, Frederic, 53, 68
- climax communities, 53
- Cocks, K. D., 142, 149, 151
- Colyvan, Mark, 44, 46, 76
- communities. See biological communities
- community-level properties, 55, 78, 88–90
- community resistance. See resistance
- community stability, 87–89, 97
- community structure
  - primary driver of, 26, 34
  - theory of, 7
- competition
  - mathematical explanation of, 27–29
  - models of, 29
- competitive exclusion principle (CEP)
  - discovery of, 25, 49
  - in ecological theorizing, 52
  - empirical status of, 52
  - as natural law, problems of, 50, 52
  - niche concept and, 24–25, 35
- complementarity
  - principle of, 158
- compositionality, 86
- concepts, 178, 180
- Conness, John, 138
- conservation biology
  - criticism of, 158
  - declining population paradigm, 119
  - goal of, 126
  - methodology of, 160
  - as new discipline, emergence of, 11, 118, 129–130
  - normative agenda of, 158
  - progress in, 158
  - small-population paradigm, 119
- conservation reserves
  - design principles for, 132, 134
  - function of, 134
  - prioritizations of, 145–147
  - representation targets of, 145–147
- conservation strategies, 156
- Costa Rican trees, extinction rates, 169

- Darwin, Charles, 49, 58–60
 Davis, J. R., 57, 151
 De Hoop Nature Reserve, 147
 Death Valley National Monument, 139 decision-theoretic rationality, 170 descriptive sciences, 167–168
 Diamond, J. critics of, 134
   design principles of, 132–136, 145, 153–154, 158 on habitat corridors, 134 on island biogeography theory, 137 on predicting extinctions, 136 distinctively ecological generalization, 47, 49 distinctively ecological laws, 38 distinctiveness, notion of, 48 diversity assessments of, 110–111
   components of, 107
   constraint on, 110
   in ecology, debates on concept of, 104–105 increase of, 108
   of individual communities, 111 interpretation of, 107 measurement of, 110
   properties of, 112
   relationship between evenness and, 107–109 of sets of individual communities, 111
 Dobzhansky, T., 1
 Douglas, H., 170
 Dupré, John, 170, 178–179
 dynamic systems theory, 79 Eberhardt, L. L., 104 ecological allometry, 45, 47
 ecological islands, 132
 ecological laws. See also distinctively ecological laws exceptions, 44
   vs. laws of physics, 39 problems of, 8, 40, 43
 ecological modeling classical vs. individual-based, 77–81 cross-disciplinary approach to, 93 idealized, 79
   Lotka–Volterra model of, 79
   mathematical, 75–76
   misalignment of, 76
   vs. models in physics, 76 populations as basic units of, 76 shortcomings of, 75 unrealistic assumptions of, 75 ecological niche. See niche ecological perturbation, 64–65, 100–101 ecological stability adequacy conditions for, 65
   assessment of, 63–64
   benchmarks of, 62
   community response to perturbation and, 65–66, 70, 95, 99, 102 community's behavior condition for, 66 comparative constraints on, 65
   criticism of, 71–72
   definitions of, 61–62, 71–72, 93, 103 lack of conceptual clarity about, 9 as Lyapunov stability, 10, 93–94, 99–101 noncomparative adequacy condition for, 65–66
   properties of, 9
   quantitative valuation of, 65 resilience and, 70 resistance and, 70–71 system behavior and, 101 tolerance and, 70–71 ecological succession, debate about mechanism of, 53–54
 ecological systems (ecosystems)
   complexity of, 104
   direct method in, 98 entities of, 3
   fluctuations of, 63 functioning of, 9
   perturbation of, 64–65 stability properties of, 64
   vs. systems in physics, 103

- ecology biology and, 1–2
   complexity in, 39
   concept formulation in, 6 criticisms of theory of, 40 data collection in, 74
   definition of, 2
   economics as analog to, 4 “emergent” properties in, 87
   vs. environmental ethics, 5–6 function talk in, 24 methodological individualism in, 78 modeling in, 6, 43, 74–75, 92–93 philosophical significance of, 4, 6 popular vs. scientific characterization of, 4
   progress in, 130
   proper vs. applied, 11
   real-world perturbations in, 103 representation in, 10, 74–75 scaling patterns in, 45, 48 studies of, 4, 129
   unificatory targets in, 91 use of the term, 1
   values and, 129
- ecosystem ecology, 91–92. See also ecological systems
- Ehrenfeld, David, 131, 145
- elementary experiences, 178
- Elliott, C., 170
- Elton, Charles
   Animal Ecology, 18, 20 on biotic environment, 20 diagram of a “food-cycle”, 18 functional approach of, 24
   niche discussions, 7, 15–16, 18–21, 24, 26, 52
- emergence, concept of, 87–89
- empirical transparency, 177
- Endangered Species Act, 117, 119, 130, 156
- environmental ethics, 5–6
- environmental movement, 130
- Environmental Protection Agency, 164
- Environmental Resource Mapping System (E-RMS), 151–152
- environmental variables, 32
- errors minimization, 169–171
- estimator surrogates, 121, 124
- ethically driven sciences, 12, 163, 167–168
- Eucalyptus tree species, predictive distribution model of, 153
- evaluative point of view, 179
- evenness increase and decrease of, 108–109 as independent property, 112
   measurement of, 109–111
   relationship between diversity and, 107–109
- evolution, forms of, 84
- evolutionary contingency thesis (ECT), 47
- evolutionary theory
   biology and, 1
   ecological perspective on, 1–3, 77 rational choice and, 77
- exclusion principle, 15
- Expected Surrogate Set Covering Problem (ESSCP), 119
- extant reserves, 138, 141
- extinction, 143, 169–170
- facts, problem of moral, 165
- fact–value distinction, 12, 165–166, 168, 171, 178–179
- fact–value entanglement, 166, 174, 178
- Fenchel allometry, 46
- Ferrier, Simon, 151
- first-person perspective, 180
- fitness, 1–2
- fixed-radius neighborhood, 90
- Flinders Chase National Park (Australia), 139
- “food-cycle” diagram, 18
- Forest and Rangeland Renewable Resources Planning Act, 130
- fundamental niche, 30–31, 31, 32, 34–35
- Gause, Georgii
   achievements of, 29 competitive exclusion principle of, 49 discussion of  $\alpha$  coefficient, 27–28 on niche, 16–29
   Paramecium experiments of, 15

- Gause, Georgii (cont.)
   study of competitive dynamics, 15, 25, 49
   The Struggle for Existence, 24, 29 tribute to Darwin, 28
   on “vacant places,” 28 generation-time allometry, 46
 geographical information systems (GIS) capabilities of, 149–152
   in conservation biology, 149, 154
   for data correlations, 152 data storage and analysis, 150–151
   definition of, 149
   development of, 11, 129, 160–161
   for land-use planning, 150
   vs. physical maps, 149
   PPAs integration with, 156–157 for prediction of species distributions, 153–154 quantitative assessments and, 141 reserve system analyses and, 154 for survey data analysis, 151–152
 Gilbert, F. S., 134
 Ginzburg, Lev, 44, 46, 76
 GIS. See geographical information systems
 GIS-based gap analyses, 156–157
 Gleason, Henry, 53, 88
 Goodman, Nelson, 170
 Grand Canyon National Park, 138
 Griesemer, J., 20
 Grinnell, Joseph career of, 16
   concept of ecological niche, 7, 15–17, 19–21
   exclusionary principle of, 19, 24, 49 on habitat, 17

 habitat, classification of, 17–18
 Hakalau Forest National Wildlife Refuge, 154
 Haldane, J. B. S., 25
 Hawaiian reserves, 154
 Hempel, Carl, 166
 Hobbes, Thomas, 81
homo mensura mazima, 112
 Hubbell, Stephen, 6–7, 14, 35
 Hume, David, 41
 Hurlbert, S., 104

 Hutchinson, G. E. abstract-space approach of, 18
   characterization of niche, 14, 16, 30–33 on competitive exclusion principle, 34 “Concluding Remarks,” 30 critique of Grinnell, 17
   n-dimensional hypervolume approach, 7, 34 on paradox of the plankton, 50 students of, 98 hypothesis “acceptance” (or “rejection”) components of, 175–176
   by expected utility, 173, 174
   in science, 171–172
   nonepistemic values and, 172, 174–175 pathological case of, 173–174
   representation of, 173
   in science, 173–174

 implicit definition of biodiversity, 123 of empirical concepts, 122 examples of, 122 meaning of, 126
   philosophical issues of, 122
   in place-prioritization, 125 individual-based models (IBMs) advantage of, 80–81, 83–93
   assessment of, 77
   basic units of, 80
   complexity of, 76–77
   function of, 83
   organismal behavior in, 80
   philosophical issues of, 77
 inference conditionals, 175–177
 International Union for Conservation of Nature and Natural Resources, 136 intraspecific competition, 59 island biogeography theory debate about, 6, 138
   development of, 134
   equilibrium theory of, 132 implication of, 135
   limitations of, 134, 143
   prediction of species richness, 132
   in reserve design, role of, 11, 136–137
 Ive, J. R., 151

- Jeffrey, Richard, 171
 Justus, J., 108
- Kangas, P. C., 169–170
 Kepler, C. B., 154
 Kepler's laws, 44
 Kim, J., 72
 Kimura, M., 6
 Kincaid, H., 81
 King, Clarence, 138
 Kirkpatrick, Jamie, 141, 145
 Kleiber, Max, 45
 Kleiber allometry, 45, 46, 47–48
- Lande, R., 111–112
 laws of nature. See natural laws laws of physics, 39, 41, 44
 Lawton, J., 23
 Leibold, M., 16, 35–36
 Levi, Issak, 172
 Lewontin, R., 111
 Linquist, S., 148, 158
 Loreau, M., 91–92
 Lotka, Alfred, 25, 98, 103
 Lotka–Volterra competition equations, 25–26, 29, 49
 Lotka–Volterra model of one-predator, one-prey community, 67–68, 79
 LUPLAN computer package, 150–151
 Lyapunov, Aleksandr, 97–98
 Lyapunov functions construction of, 98–99, 102
   definition of, 98
 Lyapunov stability
   applications of, 6, 76, 102–103
   assessment of, 96, 98–99
   in classical framework, 98
   definition of, 94
   development of, 93
   ecological stability as, 10, 93–94, 99–102
   equations, 93–94, 96, 100
   as perturbation-based stability, 94, 95, 96–97
   representation of, 95
   vs. structural stability, 103 system responses and, 101
- MacArthur, Robert, 6, 50, 61, 87, 98, 104, 134
 Maclaurin, J., 88–90
 Macleay Valley Floodplain, 145
 Margules, C., 134–135, 142, 145–147, 153–154, 156
 mathematical truths, 41
 Maximal Expected Surrogate Covering Problem (MESCP), 119
 May, Robert, 61, 87, 94, 98, 100–101
 McCoy, E., 62, 70–72
 Mendeleev, Dmitry, periodic table of, 3–4 methodological atomism, 81–83, 88 methodological individualism (MI)
   vs. austere conception of individualism, 88
   definition of, 77, 81–82
   vs. methodological atomism, 83
   nonindividualistic explanations, 85
   vs. reductionism, 83
   in social sciences, 78, 81
 models
   representation of, 85
   types of, 74
 molecular evolution, 6
 multivariate survey methodology, 152
 Myers, N., 131
- Nagel, Ernest, 166
 National Environmental Policy Act, 130
 National Forest Management Act, 119, 156 national parks, 138–140. See also names of specific parks natural balance. See balance of nature natural laws approximations of, 44–45
   vs. mere regularities, 45
   permissive notion of, 44–45
   study of, 8, 39
   weakening of, 44
 Newton's laws, 41, 44
 Newtonian mechanics, 6, 44
 Neyman, J., 172
 Neyman–Pearson significance testing, 168, 171–173, 176

- niche. See also fundamental niche; realized niche; vacant niche in absence of organisms, 22 ambiguity of, 14, 22
 assumptions about, 14
 biotic and abiotic factors, 17, 20 causally focused characterization of, 21–22 coexistence of species and, 29, 52 community relations and, 7, 23 competition and, 19, 25–26, 30, 34
 definitions of, 21, 30–32, 35–36
 dependent and independent variables, 32 dispensability of, 7
 diversity of, 7, 14, 29
 as ecological law, 15
 environmental variables, 32
 in evolutionary process, 22 functions of, 7–8
 Grinnell's vs. Elton's understandings of, 15, 17–21, 23, 31, 33 “ground plan” explanation of, 20, 23–24
n-dimensional hypervolume characterization of, 16
 as object, 33
 overlap, 34, 50
 pattern recognition and evaluation of, 23–24
 postinteractive, 34
 unoccupied, 33
 word-equation explanation of, 27–28
 Nicholls, A. O., 142, 145–147
 nomological distinctiveness, 48
 nonempirical truth, 41 nonepistemic values
   vs. epistemic values, 174
   hypotheses evaluation and, 168, 174–176 impact on fact–value distribution, 165–166 in science, roles of, 162–163, 165–166, 168 statistical inference and, 174
 Norton, Bryan theory of biodiversity of, 112, 114, 116 on transformative value, 113 on useful definitions, 115
   on value pluralism, 117
 Noss, Reed, 169–170
 null hypothesis, 169, 171
 Odenbaugh, J., 54–55
 ontological individualism, 81
 organisms
   complexity of, 83
   energy consumption and reproduction of, 92 interactions of, 83
   variations of properties of, 82
 Paramecium experiments, 29
 Pearson, E. S., 172
 perturbations of ecological systems, 64–65, 100–101
 Peters, R., 25, 40
 philosophy of science, 2, 6, 8
 physics, 76, 98, 103. See also laws of physics
 Pielou, E. C., 112
 Pimm, S., 63, 67
 Pinchot, Gifford, 112
 place-prioritization algorithms (PPAs) in academic studies, use of, 157 complementarity-based, 141–142, 147–148 conservation practices and, 125, 141, 149
   development of, 11
   in ecological science, 121, 129, 148, 161
   exact, 142, 149
   first computer-based, 143
   geographically explicit data for, 121
   GIS integration with, 156–157
   heuristic, 141–142, 147, 149
   implementation of, 145 importance to reserve design, 135, 137, 142–143, 147, 160 lack a scientific ground, 11, 130, 158 main features of, 141 multifarious nature of, 123
   neutrality of, 147 notion of biodiversity and, 124–126 in policymaking contexts, 147

- for solving resource allocation problem, 119–121
- speed and flexibility of, 147–149
- verification of “worthless lands” thesis with, 145
- population-community ecology, 91–92
- population concepts, 86
- population viability analyses (PVAs), 12, 162
- Pressey, Robert, 145–147, 157
- Preston, Frank W., 134
- prey species, 32
- prioritization algorithms, 126, 158. See also place-prioritization algorithms (PPAs)
- progress
  - in applied sciences, 11, 129–130, 159–160
  - in conservation biology, 158
  - criticism of the concept of, 11
  - in ecology, 130
  - epistemic approach to, 159
  - functionalist approach to, 159
  - philosophical accounts of, 130
  - principles of, 160
  - semantic approach to, 159
- Protagoras, 112
- Putnam, Hilary, 166, 177–180

- Reagan, Ronald, 164
- realized niche, 30–31, 33–34
- Rebelo, A. G., 147
- reduction in ecology (reductionism), 76, 78, 83, 88, 90
- reductive relationship, 48
- Redwood National Park, 139
- Reichbach, Hans, 171
- replicator dynamics, 84
- reserve design
  - application of theory of, 136
  - based on algorithmic prioritization, 145
  - critique of, 135–138
  - data-driven approach to, 135, 145
  - island biogeography theory and, 134–137
  - place-prioritization algorithms and, 135, 137, 142–143, 147, 160
  - predictive distribution models and, 153
  - principles of, 136
  - reserve systems, 143, 154
- resilience
  - assessment of, 68
  - biological communities and, 71
  - concept of, 66, 70, 72
  - perturbation strength and, 68–69
- resistance
  - assessment of, 66–67
  - biological communities and, 71
  - concept of, 66, 70, 72
  - ecological stability and, 70
  - perturbation strength and, 66–68
- resource allocation problem, 119
- resource utilization models, 36
- risk assessment vs. risk management, 164
- Rosen, Walter, 105
- Royal National Park (Australia), 139
- Rudner, Richard, 170–171
- Runte, Alfred, 138–139

- Santana, Carlos, 127
- Sarkar, S., 118, 121, 124
- Schoener, T., 32
- sciences. See also descriptive sciences; ethically driven sciences
  - vs. applied science, 137, 161, 167
  - biological, 126
  - as collective human activity, 137
  - conceptual foundation for, 7
  - cultural and societal context of, 4
  - nature of, 159
  - third-person perspective, 180
  - values and, 12, 162–165, 171
- scientific hypothesis, verification of, 170
- scientific inference, 170
- scientific progress. See progress
- scientistic descriptions, 179–180
- scientists, activities of, 137, 165
- Scott, J. Michael, 154, 156
- Shaw, R., 57
- Shrader-Frechette, K. S., 62, 70–72, 169–170
- Siegfried, W. R., 147
- Simberloff, Dan, 132, 134, 136, 138, 153, 169–170
- Skyrms, B., 84

- SLOSS debate, 132, 142
- Smith, Sydney, 138
- Sober, E., 41, 48, 85
- social norms, 84
- Soulé, M., 158
- species
  - adaptation to the environments, 23, 52
  - at-risk, 121
  - biotope space, 31
  - coexistence of, 45–52
  - competition of, 34
  - degree of influence of, 27
  - deviation among, 109–110
  - distribution of, 152–155
  - diversity of, 59, 104
  - ecological interdependencies between, 60
  - extinction rate, 118
  - interaction of, 55
  - “overlaid” method of analysis of, 152
  - n*-dimensional space, 30
  - persistence, 33–34
  - proportional abundance of, 108–110
  - rare, 111
- species-area power law, 41
- species richness, 107–108, 112
- stability
  - direct method for evaluating, 98–99
  - global asymptotic, 100–101
  - limitation of definition of, 102
  - local, 97–98
  - structural, 103
- stability–diversity debate, 61–62
- statistical inference, 168, 174
- Stein, J. L., 153
- Sterelny, K., 56–57, 88–90
- Strom, A., 140
- supervenience, 86
- survey data analysis, 151–152
- Tasmania
  - Crown lands in, 141, 144
  - protected areas of, 140
  - recommendations for new conservation areas in, 144
- Taylor, Paul, 5
- temporal stability, 87, 90
- third-person perspective, 180
- “thick” ethical concepts, 179–180
- Tilman, David, 36, 87, 89
- tolerance
  - assessment of, 69
  - biological communities and, 71
  - definition of, 66, 69
  - ecological stability and, 70, 72
  - perturbation strength and, 69–70
- Tomlinson, Roger, 149
- transparent empirical scrutiny, 177–178
- tropical communities, 10, 104
- tropical rainforests
  - data collection about, 131
  - deforestation, 130–131
  - species interactions in, 131
  - studies of biodiversity of, 131
- true surrogates, 121, 124
- truth of the putative generalization, 41–42
- tundra communities, 10
- two-player divide-the-dollar bargaining games, 84
- US National Academy of Science, 164
- US Office of Management and Budget, 163–164
- usefulness, 115
- vacant niche, 15, 21, 23, 33
- values. See also fact-value distinction
  - hypothesis evaluation and, 168
  - incontrovertible criterion for, 178
  - in natural world, 116–117
  - nonepistemic vs. epistemic, 165
  - pluralism of, 117
  - in sciences, role of, 12, 162–163, 165, 171
  - transformative, 113
- vegetation types, 32
- Volterra, Vito, 25, 98, 102–103
- warblers
  - feeding locations of, 51
  - study of, 50
- Watts, Mathew, 157
- West, G., 48
- Whittaker, Robert, 54–55, 88

Wilderness Act, 130	Yellowstone national park,
Williams, Bernard, 118, 176	138–139
Willis, Edwin, 132, 135	Yosemite Park, 138
Wilson, Edward O., 6, 132, 134–135
“worthless lands” thesis, 138, 145	zero net growth isocline (ZNGI), 36