

INDEX OF FIRST LINES

The second page number in the entry refers to the location of notes for that poem.

- A Brazen Pot, by scouring vext, 15, 250
- Absence in love effects the same, 145, 387
- A Citizen of mighty Pelf, 58, 294
- A female Friend advis'd a Swain, 73, 314
- A Female, to a Drunkard marry'd, 8, 243
- A fond Athenian Mother brought, 31, 266
- A Gentleman, most wretched in his Lot, 66, 302
- A Greedy Heir long waited to fulfill, 40, 275
- Alleluja Sollemn Strain, 189, 436
- A Man whose house had taken fire, 223, 478
- A Mastey of our English breed, 224, 480
- A peevish Fellow laid his Head, 64, 301
- As great a character the Poet draws, 150, 398
- A Shepherd seeking with his Lass, 11, 247
- As Merc'ry travell'd thro' a Wood, 7, 241
- A Thriving Merchant, who no Loss sustain'd, 60, 296
- A Toad just crawling up to town, 226, 482
- A tree the fairest in the wood, 121, 354
- A wealthy and a generous Lord, 199, 443
- A Wit, transported with Inditing, 42, 276
- Blest is the Soul which loos'd from sordid Earth, 160, 415
- By strange Events to Solitude betray'd, 181, 432
- Cupid one day ask'd his Mother, 27, 262
- Dark was the shade where only cou'd be seen, 103, 340
- Disarm'd with so genteel an air, 141, 381
- Fair Youth! who wish the Wars may cease, 54, 289
- Farewel, lov'd Youth! since 'twas the Will of Heaven, 46, 283
- For can our correspondence please, 122, 357

Index of First Lines

- For He, that made, must new create us, 67, 304
- For Socrates a House was built, 37, 272
- Fortune well-Pictur'd on a rolling Globe, 13, 248
- From me who whileom sung the
 Town, 130, 367
- From the sweet pleasures of a rural seat, 129, 365
- Hartford 'tis wrong if Poets may complain, 108, 345
- How is it, in this Chilling time, 228, 484
- How is it that my lifted Eyes, 197, 441
- How plain dear Madam was the want of sight, 134, 371
- I am thine O save me Lord, 197, 442
- In dire Contest the Rats and Weazles met, 75, 317
- Indulg'd by evry active thought, 200, 444
- In Fanscomb Barn (who knows not Fanscomb Barn?), 17, 251
- In Station joyn'd, when prosperous days prevail'd, 177, 429
- In such a Night, when every louder
 Wind, 78, 319
- In vulgar Minds what Errors do arise, 75, 317
- Joy from a zealous pen Ardelia sends,
 221, 474
- Life at best, 139, 378
- Long the Musicians of the Wood, 215, 458
- Methinks this World is oddly made,
 57, 293
- My God Oh that my soul cou'd stay,
 162, 418
- No better Dog e'er kept his Master's Door, 72, 311
- No Cautions of a Matron, Old and Sage, 38, 273
- Nor envy nor the tongue with faction
 backt, 150, 397
- Now blow, ye Southern winds, with full release, 207, 447
- Of sleeplesse Nights, and Days, with Cares orecast, 235, 496
- Of this small tribute of my wit, 149, 395
- Oh! friendship, how prevailing is thy force, 92, 329
- Oh lett my Tears begin for whilst the staine, 188, 434
- O Man! what Inspiration was thy Guide, 71, 309
- Ombre and Basset laid aside, 236,
 497
- On me then Sir as on a friend, 116,
 350
- On the Banks of the Severn a desperate Maid, 28, 263
- Over a cheerfull cup 'tis thought, 168, 424
- Peace! where art thou to be found,
 45, 280
- Pitty, the softest Attribute Above,
 237, 500
- Prithee Friend that Hedge behold,
 239, 505

Index of First Lines

- Protect our State, and let our Marlbro' Thrive, 211, 449
- Protect the State and let old England thrive, 213, 455
- Quoth the Swains who got in at the late Masquerade, 83, 321
- She is not fair you criticks of the
 Town, 139, 377
- Sir plausible as 'tis well known, 128,
 364
- Snatch'd from the verge of the devouring Grave, 194, 440
- So here confin'd, and but to female
 Clay, 73, 315
- Sooner I'd praise a Cloud which Light beguiles, 55, 291
- Soothing his Passions with a warb'ling Sound, 33, 269
- Such was Stattira, when young Ammon woo'd, 107, 343
- The audience seems to night so very kind, 217, 468
- Thee wondrous Being excellently great, 158, 413
- Their piety th' Egyptians show'd by Art, 219, 470
- The long the long expected Hour is come, 237, 502
- The Muse, of ev'ry heav'nly gift
 allow'd, 231, 486
- The Preacher thus, to Man, his speech adrest, 94, 332
- The Queen of Birds, t'increase the Regal Stock, 62, 299
- The Sheep a People void of strife,
 151, 403
- Think not a partial fondness sway'd
 my mind, 219, 472
- This matchlesse Picture, Jervais, hide, 216, 464
- Tho Sr I do much value set, 90, 327
- Thus Tapistry of old, the Walls
 adorn'd, 21, 256
- 'Tis not my Lord that verse with me
 ["To... the Lord Viscount Hatton by Way of Excuse"], 165, 421
- 'Tis not my Lord that verse with me
 ["To the Rt. Honble. the Ld
 Viscount Hatton &c."], 153, 408
- 'Tis now my dearest friend become your turn, 118, 352
- 'Tis true of courage I'm no mistress,
 142, 384
- Titus of all Mankind the Love
 engros't, 150, 400
- To Cole's-hill seat of noble Peer,
 232, 488
- To thee encreaser of my days, 114,
 348
- To the still Covert of a Wood, 68, 306
- To the Superior World to Solemn Peace, 155, 410
- To view his stately Walks and Groves, 35, 271
- Turenne with sleeping Monarchs lies interr'd, 150, 399
- 'Twas scarce the dawn nor yet the distant East, 151, 401
- Urania, whom the Town admires,
 52, 288
- Venus who did her Bird impart, 148,
 393

Index of First Lines

- |  |   |
|--|---|
| Warmth in my heart and wonder inmy thought, 100, 338   | Who e'er of Satyre does my penaccuse, 146, 389        |
| Weary, at last, of the Pindarick way,50, 286           | Who is this from Edom moves, 163,419                  |
| What dogs can do & what they'd say,84, 322             | Why are my steps with-held whatbids me stay, 178, 430 |
| When Cæsar fell, he brav'd eachkilling wound, 223, 476 | Why, to our Wonder, in this Place isseen, 25, 259     |
| Whereas 'tis spread about the Town,124, 361            | Why was that baleful Creature made,28, 264            |
| Where is that World, to which theFancy flies, 10, 245  | With all respect and humble duty,135, 374             |
| Where is the trust in human things,136, 375            | Within a Meadow, on the way, 70, 308                      |
| Who does not wish, ever to judgearight, 32, 268        | You who remote in London lye, 175,425                 |

INDEX OF TITLES

The second page number in the entry refers to the location of notes for that poem.

- Act of Contrition, A, 188, 434
 Advertisement for the Gazette,
Flying Post, Weekly Journal &c., 124, 361
 After Drawing a Twelf Cake at the Honble: Mrs Thynne's, 134,
 371
 Agreeable, The ("She is not fair"),
 139, 377
 Agreeable in an Answer to the Foregoing Letter by Ardelia, The,
 90, 327
 Apology for My Fearfull Temper in a Letter in Burlesque upon the Firing of My Chimney at Wye
 College March 25th: 1702, An,
 142, 384
 Aspiration, An, 162, 418
 At First Waking, 197, 441
 Atheist and the Acorn, The, 57, 293
 Ballad to Mrs Catherine Fleming at the Lord Digby's at Coles-hill in Warwickshire, A ("To Cole's-hill
 seat"), 232, 488
 Ballad to Mrs: Catherine Fleming in London from Malshanger Farm in Hampshire, A ("From me who whileom"), 130, 367
 Battle between the Rats and the
 Weazles, The, 75, 317
 Brass-Pot, and Stone-Jugg. A Fable,
 The, 15, 250
 Contemplation, A, 200, 444
 Critick and the Writer of Fables,
 The, 50, 286
 Decision of Fortune. A Fable, The,
 13, 248
 Democritus and His Neighbours.
 Imitated from Fontaine, 75, 317
 Description of One of the Pieces of Tapistry at Long-Leat, Made after the Famous Cartons of Raphael; in Which, Elymas the Sorcerer Is Miraculously Struck
 Blind by St. Paul before Sergius
 Paulus, the Proconsul of Asia.
 Inscribed to the Hon<sup>ble</sup> Henry Thynne, under the Name of Theanor, A, 21, 256
 Dog and His Master, The, 72, 311
 Eagle, the Sow, and the Cat, The,
 62, 299
 Enquiry after Peace. A Fragment,
 45, 280

Index of Titles

- Epilogue to the Tragedy of Jane Shore.
 To Be Spoken by Mrs. Oldfield
 the Night before the Poet's Day,
 An, 217, 468
- Epistle from a Gentleman to Madam
 Deshouliers, Returning Money
 She Had Lent Him at Bassette, upon the First Day of Their Acquaintance. Translated with Liberty from the French, An, 52,
 288
- Epistle to Mrs Catherine Fleming at Coleshill in Warwickshire but Hastily Perform'd and Not Corrected. London October the 18th: 1718, An ("Tis now my dearest"), 118, 352
- Epistle to the Honourable Mrs.
 Thynne, Persuading Her to Have a Statue Made of Her Youngest Daughter, Now Lady Brooke, An,
 219, 472
- Executor, The, 40, 275
- Fable, A ("A Man whose house"), 223, 478
- Fall of Cæsar, The, 223, 476
- Fanscomb Barn. In Imitation of Milton, 17, 251
- Following Lines Occasion'd by the Marriage of Edward Herbert
 Esquire, and Mrs. Elizabeth
 Herbert, The, 27, 262
- Following Poem Is Taken from the Epistle for the Monday before
 Easter, The, 163, 419
- Fragment ("So here confin'd"), 73, 315
- Fragment at Tunbridge-Wells, 67, 304
- Fragment of a Dessign'd Poem upon
 Pitty, Found in a Loose Paper
 Written with [] Own Hand, A,
 237, 500
- From St. Austin's Manual English'd by Roger's Chapter the 3d: The Desire of That Soul Which Hath a Feeling of God, 158, 413
- Glass, 71, 309
- Happynesse of a Departed Soul,
 The, 160, 415
- Hog, the Sheep, and Goat, Carrying to a Fair, The, 32, 268
- House of Socrates, The, 37, 272
- Hymn of Thanksgiving after a Dangerous Fit of Sickness. In the Year 1715, An, 114, 348
- Invocation to the Southern Winds
 Inscrib'd to the Right Honourable Charles Earl of Winchelsea at His Arrival in London, after Having Been Long Detained on the Coast of Holland, An, 207, 447
- Last Chapter of Ecclesiastes
 Paraphras'd. Insccribed to Mrs:
 Catherine Fleming, The, 94, 332
- Lawrell, The, 175, 425
- Letter to Mrs: Arrabella Marow, A, 122, 357
- Letter to the Honble: Lady Worseley
 at Long-Leat. Lewston August the 10th: 1704, A, 129, 365
- Lord and the Bramble, The, 35, 271
- Lyon and the Gnat, The, 68, 306

Index of Titles

- Man and His Horse, The, 70, 308
- Man Bitten by Fleas, The, 64, 301
- Man's Injustice towards Providence,
 60, 296
- Mary Magdalen at Our Saviour's
 Tomb a Fragment, 151, 401
- Mastif and Curs, a Fable Inscrib'd to
 Mr. Pope, The, 224, 480
- Mercury and the Elephant. A
 Prefatory Fable, 7, 241
- Misanthrope, The, 139, 378
- Moderation or the Wolves and the Sheep. A Fable, 151, 403
- Mussulman's Dream of the Vizier and Dervis, The, 10, 245
- Nightingale, and the Cuckoo, The,
 215, 458
- Nocturnal Rêverie, A, 78, 319
- No Grace, 199, 443
- Occasion'd by the Death of Collonel
 Baggot, Who Had Been Groom
 of the Bedchamber to King James,
 Together with Collonel Finch
 (Now Earl of Winchilsea) and Captain Lloyd &c., 177, 429
- Ode Written upon Christmase Eve in the Year 1714 upon These Words And Again They Said
 Alleluia. Inscribed to the Rt:
 Honble. the Lady Catherine
 Jones, An, 189, 436
- On a Short Vissit Inscribd to My Lady Worsley, 237, 502
- On Lady Cartret Drest Like a
 Shepherdess at Count Volcra's
 Ball, 83, 321
- On My Being Charged with Writing
 a Lamppoon at Tunbridge, 146, 389
- On the Death of the Honourable
 Mr. James Thynne, Younger Son to the Right Honourable the Lord
 Viscount Weymouth, 46, 283
- On the Death of the Queen, 103,
 340
- On These Words.—For as Much as Ye Did It unto the Least of These
 My Brethren Ye Did It unto Me,
 178, 430
- On These Words Thou Hast Hedg'd
 in My Way with Thorns, 181, 432
- Over the Picture of Major Pownoll, 150, 400
- Owl Describing Her Young Ones,
 The, 28, 264
- Part of the Fifth Scene in the Second Act of Athalia, a Tragedy, Written in French by Monsieur Racine, 25, 259
- Passion Vaincue*. Done into English with Liberty, La, 28, 263
- Philosopher, the Young Man, and His Statue, The, 31, 266
- Phoenix. A Song, The, 73, 314
- Prayer for Salvation, A, 197, 442
- Prevalence of Custom, The, 8, 243
- Prodigy, The ("Protect the State and let old England thrive"), 213, 455
- Puggs a Dialogue between an Old and Young Dutch Mastiff, The,
 84, 322
- Reformation, 66, 302

Index of Titles

- Shepherd and the Calm, The, 33, 269
- Shepherd Piping to the Fishes, The, 11, 247
- [Sir Plausible], 128, 364
- Song on the South Sea, A, 236, 497
- Supplication for the Joys of Heaven, A, 155, 410
- Tale, A (“Over a cheerfull”), 168, 424
- Tale of the Miser, and the Poet. Written about the Year 1709, A, 42, 276
- These Verses Were Inserted in a Letter to the Right Honble: the Lady Vicountess Weymouth Written from Lewston the Next Day after My Parting with Her at Long Leat, 145, 387
- Toad Undrest, The, 226, 482
- To a Fellow Scribbler, 239, 505
- To a Lady Who Having Desired Me to Compose Somthing upon the Foregoing Subject Prevail’d with Me to Speak the Four First Lines Extempore and Wou’d Have Had Me So Proceeded in the Rest Which I Sent to Her at More Leisure, with the Following Verses, 149, 395
- To Edward Jenkinson, Esq; a Very Young Gentleman, Who Writ a Poem on Peace, 54, 289
- To Flavia, by Whose Perswasion, I Undertook the Following Paraphrase, 92, 329
- To His Excellency the Lord Cartret at Stockholm. Upon Recieving from Him a Picture in Miniature of Charles the Twelth King of Sweden, 100, 338
- To Mr. Jervais on the Sight of Mrs. Chetwinds Picture, 216, 464
- To Mr. Pope (“The Muse, of ev’ry heav’nly gift allow’d”), 231, 486
- To Mr Pope in Answer to a Copy of Verses, Occasion’d by a Little Dispute, upon Four Lines in the Rape of the Lock, 141, 381
- To Mrs. Arabella Marrow upon the Death of Lady Marrow, 219, 470
- To the Countess of Hartford on Her Lord’s Birth-day, 221, 474
- To the Honble. Mrs. H — n (“Where is the trust”), 136, 375
- To the Lord March upon the Death of His Sparrow, 148, 393
- To the Painter of an Ill-Drawn Picture of Cleone, the Honorable Mrs. Thynne, 55, 291
- To the Revd. Mr. Bedford, 116, 350
- To the Right Honourable Frances Countess of Hartford Who Engaged Mr. Eusden to Write upon a Wood Enjoining Him to Mention No Tree but the Aspin and No Flower but the King-cup, 108, 345
- To the Right Honourable the Countesse of Hartford (“Of sleeplesse Nights”), 235, 496
- To the Right Honble: the Lord Viscount Hatton by Way of Excuse for My Having Not in Sometime Replied to His Last Copy of Verses in Which He

Index of Titles

- Gives Himself the Name of
Corydon Not Approved by Me
Who in This Poem Offer at an Imitation of Madame Deshouliers
in Her Way of Badinage, 165, 421
- To the Rt. Honble. the Ld Viscount
Hatton &c., 153, 408
- Tradesman and the Scholar, The, 58,
294
- Tunbridge Prodigy, The ("Protect
our State, and let our Marlbro'
Thrive"), 211, 449
- Under the Picture of Marshall
Turenne Taken from His Epitaph
Written in French, 150, 399
- Under the Picture of Mr John
Dryden, 150, 398
- Under the Picture of Sr George
Rooke, 150, 397
- Upon a Double Stock-July-Flower,
Full Blown in January, and Presented to Me, by the Rt:
Honble. the Countesse of Ferrers,
from Twittenham, 228, 484
- Upon an Improvable Undertaking,
121, 354
- Upon Lady Selena Shirly's Picture
Drawn by Mr Dagar, 107,
343
- White Mouses Petition to Lamira
the Right Honble: the Lady Ann Tufton Now Countess of Salisbury, The, 135, 374
- Written after a Violent and Dangerous Fitt of Sicknesse in the Year 1715, 194, 440
- Young Rat and His Dam, the Cock
and the Cat, The, 38, 273