

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-07276-3 - The Politics of Parliamentary Debate: Parties, Rebels, and Representation

Sven-Oliver Proksch and Jonathan B. Slapin

Index

More information

Index

- Aarts, Kees, 5
 ACT Party (NZ), 165
 Alivizatos, Nikos, 62
 Alliance Party (NZ), 163
 alternative vote electoral system, 44, 80
 Anderson, Christopher, 4
 Andres, Gerd, 138–139
 Argentina, 48
 Austen-Smith, David, 19
 Australia, 44, 46
 Austria, 93
- Bächtiger, André, 8
 backbenchers
   closed-list proportional systems, 48 debate participation, United Kingdom vs. Germany, 100–101, 104–114, 129–132, 135–137, 140–141 disagreement with leaders, 70–72 dissent by, 25–27, 125, 129–132, 135–137, 140–141 ideological disagreement within parties, 115–123
   majoritarian systems, 44–46
   MMM systems, 51
   MMP systems, 50
   New Zealand, 169–173
   overview, 11–12
   utility function of, 36–37
 ballot structures, 24, 44, 48, 80–81
 Beck, Volker, 33
 Blair, Tony, 129
 Brazil, 48
 budget debate participation (NZ), 166–173
 Bundestag, see Germany
 cabinet, 17, 103, see also Westminster system
- Cameron, David, 30
 Canada, 44, 62, 83–84
 candidate selection (European Parliament)
   dissent and, 152–162
   empirical implications, 51–52
   overview, 12–13, 148–149, 161
   rules of parliamentary debate and, 149–151 capital relocation debate (Germany), 17
 Carey, John, 47
 Carruba, Clifford J., 157 case studies
   cultural effects, 61
   electoral systems, 61–62
   European Parliament, 66–69
   Germany, 63–64
   institutional effects, 61
   New Zealand, 69–70
   rules of parliamentary debate, 62–63
   United Kingdom, 64–65
 Chile, 48
 Christian Democratic Union (CDU/CSU) (Germany)
   allocation of speaking time, 63–64
   capital relocation debate, 17
   euro crisis debate, 31–34, 55
   fiscal stimulus debate, 127, 137, 139–140, 144–145
   ideological disagreement within, 120 closed-list proportional electoral systems, 11, 25, 37, 48–49
 coalition governments
   dissent in, 143–147
   Germany, 31, 117, 120, 127–128, 143–147
   impact on intra-party dynamics, 175
   New Zealand, 69, 164

- coalition governments (cont.)
  - parliamentary debate in, 6, 97–99
  - United Kingdom, 30
- cohesion within parties, 25–27, 56, 86–99, see also dissent; party leaders
  - ideological congruence, 4, 91–93, 176–178
- Comparative Study of Electoral Systems (CSES), 5
- competition among political parties, 174–175
- Congress, US, see United States
- congruence, ideological, 4, 176–178, see also cohesion within parties; dissent
- consensus systems, see proportional systems
- Conservative Party (Canada), 83
- Conservative Party (UK), 104, 118, 126
- control variables, 93–94, 157–158
- Costa Rica, 48
- country-level variables, 44–49
- Cox, Gary, 5–6, 27
- Cronbach, Lee, 90
- cross-national comparison, 61
- cultural effects, case studies and, 61–63
- Darling, Alistair, 126
- data, parliamentary speech as, 23–24, 178–179
- debate agenda, access to, 27
- defections, see dissent
- delegation model of parliamentary debate, see also participation in parliamentary debate
  - comparative statics, 40–41
  - elements of, 35
  - empirical implications of, 43–55
  - equilibria of, 39–40
  - European Parliament perspective, 148–149
  - Germany, illustrations from, 31–34, 41, 50
  - incentives in, 34–35, 36–39
  - opposition's role in, 102, 103–104
  - overview, 8–10, 17–18, 41–42, 175–176
  - research design of, 56–73
  - United Kingdom, illustrations from, 28–30, 41
  - utility functions of backbenchers and party leaders in, 36–39
- deliberative democracy, 8
- Democratic Party (US), 45
- discipline, party, 7, 46, see also cohesion within parties; party leaders
- discourse quality index, 8
- dissent
  - backbenchers, 25–27, 125, 129–132, 135–137, 140–141
  - euro crisis debate, 31–34
  - European Parliament, 152–162
  - fiscal stimulus debate, 129–147
  - Germany, 11–12, 31–34, 136–147
  - incentives, 124
  - latent disagreement and observed dissent, 26–27
  - media and parliaments in United Kingdom, 129–132
  - New Zealand, 166–173
  - overview, 6–7, 11–13, 124–125, 147
  - party leaders' monitoring of, 86–89, 136
  - probit models for levels of, 135–136, 141, 142, 146
  - roll-call votes, 25–27
  - sanctions for, 87–88
  - United Kingdom, 11–12, 28–30, 129–136
  - websites, 179
- Ecuador, 48
- electoral systems, see also
  - mixed-member electoral systems; proportional systems
- alternative vote system, 44, 80
- closed-list systems, 11, 25, 37, 48–51
- first-past-the-post system, 28–30, 143, 163
- majoritarian systems, 4, 44–46, 61–62, 163–166, 176–178
- open-list system, 46–48
- single nontransferable vote systems, 47
- single transferable vote systems, 47

- euro crisis debate (Germany), 31–34, 55
- Eurobarometer survey, 4
- European Financial Stability Facility, 31, 32, 33
- European Parliament
- allocation of speaking time in, 149–151
  - candidate selection, 12–13, 148–162
  - case study, 66–69
  - dissent in, 152–162
  - division of parliamentary debate in, 68–69
  - elections in, 66–68
  - empirical strategy, 58
  - incentives in, 151, 152, 155, 162
  - latent concepts, measurement of, 71–72
  - participation in parliamentary debate, 152–162
  - political groups in, 148
  - research design, 10, 72
  - rules of parliamentary debate in, 149–151
  - theoretical implications in, 10, 52
- FDP (Free Democratic Party) (Germany), 31–34, 55, 63–64
- Field, Frank, 130–132
- filibusters, 6, 79
- financial crisis of 2008, 147, see also fiscal stimulus debate
- first-past-the-post electoral system, 28–30, 143, 163
- fiscal crisis of 2008, 125–129
- fiscal stimulus debate (Germany and United Kingdom)
- CDU/CSU, 127, 137, 139–140, 144–145
  - coalition governments, 143–147
  - dissent in, 129–136, 140–143, 145–147
  - Labour Party, 125, 129–132, 133–134
  - legislative behavior, 134, 140, 145
  - media's role in United Kingdom, 129–132
  - overview, 125–129
  - SPD, 127, 137–139, 141, 144–145
- floor time, allocation of, 62–70, 78–79, 81, 84–85, 149–151
- France, 44, 46
- Free Democratic Party (FDP) (Germany), 31–34, 55, 63–64
- game-theoretic model of floor speeches, 10, 35–41, 175–176
- Germany, see also Christian Democratic Union (CDU/CSU); fiscal stimulus debate; Social Democratic Party
- backbencher debate participation, 100–101, 104, 114, 137, 141
  - Berliner Stunde*, 63
  - budget speeches, probit model of, 122–123
  - Candidate Survey, 116
  - capital relocation debate, 17
  - case study, 63–64
  - coalition governments, 31, 117, 120, 127–128, 143–147
  - delegation model of parliamentary debate, 31–34, 41, 50
  - dissent in, 11–12, 31–34, 136–147
  - division of parliamentary debate in, 63–64
  - empirical strategy, 56–58
  - euro crisis debate, 31–34, 55
  - FDP, 31–34, 55, 63–64
  - Green Party, 31, 33, 63–64
  - ideological disagreement, intra-party, 115–123
  - latent concepts, measurement of, 71–72
  - Left Party, 33, 63
  - MMP system in, 63, 93, 107–109, 113–114, 123, 141–143
  - models of parliamentary speech in, 111–114
  - New Zealand compared to, 69
  - parliamentary activities and debate investment, 21
  - parliamentary speeches overview, 101–103
  - party leaders' debate participation, 107, 109, 111–114, 118–120
  - research design, 11, 72
  - SMD elections in, 101
  - speaking time allocation in, 63–64
- Greece, 62

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-07276-3 - The Politics of Parliamentary Debate: Parties, Rebels, and Representation

Sven-Oliver Proksch and Jonathan B. Slapin

Index

More information

202

Index

- Green Party (Germany), 31, 33, 63–64
- Green Party (NZ), 165
- Gregor Gysi, 33
- Guillory, Christine, 4

- Habermas, Jürgen, 18
- Hall, Richard, 44
- Harris, Douglas, 45
- Heathrow expansion debate (UK), 28–30, 54–55
- Hix, Simon, 154–155
- Hoey, Kate, 29–30
- Hoon, Geoffrey, 29
- House of Commons, see United Kingdom
- House of Representatives (NZ), see New Zealand
- House of Representatives (US), see United States
- Hungary, 51
- hybrid electoral systems, see mixed-member electoral systems

- ideological congruence, 91–93, see also cohesion within parties; dissent, 176–178
- ideological disagreement within parties, 115–123
- incentives
  - allocation of speaking time, 81
  - delegation model, 34–35, 36–39
  - dissent, 124
  - European Parliament, 151, 152, 155, 162
  - majoritarian systems, 44–46
  - MMM systems, 51
  - MMP systems, 50, 177
  - participation in parliamentary debate, effect on, 27, 100–101, 123
  - personal vote seeking, for, 79–83
  - proportional systems, 46–49
  - rules of parliamentary debate, 79–83, 91–97, 99
- Ireland, 47, 62
- Italy, 51

- Japan, empirical implications of
  - delegation model in, 47, 51

- Kam, Christopher, 25
- Kauder, Volker, 33

- Labour Party (NZ), 163, 165, 167
- Labour Party (UK)
  - fiscal stimulus debate, 125, 129–132
  - Heathrow expansion debate, 28–30
  - ideological disagreement within, 117–118
  - participation in parliamentary debate, 104
- Lammert, Norbert, 32–34, 55
- latent concepts, measurement of, 70–72
- leaders, party, see party leaders
- Left Party (Germany), 33, 63
- Lijphart, Arend, 4
- Lithuania, 51

- majoritarian electoral systems
  - backbenchers in, 44–46
  - case studies, 61–62
  - delegation theory, 44–46
  - ideological congruence, 176–178
  - incentives, 44–46
  - MMM system, 49–51, 176
  - New Zealand's shift from, 163–166
  - party leaders, 44–46
  - satisfaction with democracy, 4–5
- Maltzman, Forrest, 44–45
- Maori Party (NZ), 165
- Martin, Lanny, 6, 98
- McDonnell, John, 28–30, 54–55
- McFall, John, 132–133
- Meacher, Michael, 129–130
- media
  - amplification of dissent role, 129–132
  - fiscal stimulus debate, 137
  - monitoring of speech by party leaders in, 88–89
  - reporting on dissent in Germany, 22, 138–140
  - websites, dissent on, 179
- members/MPs, see backbenchers; party leaders; specific country
- MEPs, see European Parliament
- Merkel, Angela, 31, 128
- Meyer, Laurenz, 139–140
- Mißfelder Philipp, 144

- Mill, John Stuart, 8
- mixed-member electoral systems, see also European Parliament; mixed-member proportional electoral systems; mixed-member
 majoritarian systems
- democratic satisfaction level, 5
- electoral tiers in, 49–51
- impact on parliamentary speech, 43
- incentives for vote seeking, 81
- MMM system, 176
- preferences for, 176–177
- mixed-member majoritarian (MMM)
 electoral systems, 49–51, 176
- mixed-member proportional (MMP)
 electoral systems
- backbenchers in, 50–51
- electoral tiers in, 49–51
- Germany, 63, 93, 113–114, 123,
 141–143
- ideological congruence, 176
- incentives, 50–51, 177
- New Zealand, 13, 69, 93, 163
- participation in parliamentary debate, 54, 107–109
- personal vote seeking, 93
- MMM systems, see mixed-member majoritarian (MMM) electoral systems
- MMP systems, see mixed-member proportional (MMP) electoral systems
- monitoring of speech by party leaders
- analysis of, 91–99
- control variables, 93–94
- dissent and, 86–89, 136
- extraparliamentary activities, 88–89
- hypotheses regarding, 91
- intraparty cohesion, 91–93, 96–97
- linear regression models, 94–97
- media's role, 88–89
- party leadership monitoring scale,
 85, 89–91
- personal vote seeking, 93, 96–97
- National Party (NZ), 163, 165, 167
- national rebel defection score, 158,
 160–161
- national rebel voting decision,
 155–157
- Netherlands, 93
- New Zealand
- ACT Party, 165
- Alliance Party, 163
- backbencher debate participation,
 169–173
- budget debate, 166–173
- Business Committee, 70, 165
- Candidate Survey, 166
- case study, 69–70
- dissent in, 166–173
- empirical implications of delegation model in, 50
- empirical strategy, 58
- Germany compared to, 69
- Green Party, 165
- Hansard, 167
- importance of representational activities in, 166
- Labour Party, 163, 165, 167
- latent concepts, measurement of,
 71–72
- Maori Party, 165
- MMP system in, 69, 93, 163
- National Party, 163, 165, 167
- New Zealand First Party, 163
- overview, 13, 163
- party leader debate participation,
 172–173
- Progressive Party, 165
- research design, 11, 72–73
- roll-call votes, 167–168
- rules of parliamentary debate,
 164–166
- SMD elections, 69, 168
- Standing Order 102, 164
- United Kingdom compared with, 13,
 69–70
- United Future Party, 165
- New Zealand First Party (NZ), 163
- normative political theory, 18
- Norris, Pippa, 4–5
- Norway, 93
- Noury, Abdul, 154
- open-list proportional electoral system, 46–48
- opposition, debate role of parties in coalition governments, 97
- critical policy influence role, 6

- opposition, debate role (cont.)
  - delegation theory testing, 102, 103–104, 107, 111, 112, 118
  - importance of speech-making for, 62, 63
  - incentives for unity vs. dissent, 46
  - party leaders' monitoring, 94–96
  - satisfaction with democracy, 4
- parliamentary debate, 20–24, see also
  - delegation model of parliamentary debate; rules of parliamentary debate
- participation in parliamentary debate, see also dissent
  - backbenchers, 100–101, 104, 114, 129–132, 135–137, 140–141, 169–173
  - European Parliament, 152–162
  - ideological disagreement, 115–123
  - incentives, effects of, 52–55, 100–101, 123
  - member-level analysis, 109–114
  - MMP systems, 54, 107–109
  - overview, 11–13, 100, 123
  - party leaders, 100–114, 172–173
  - party-level analysis, 103–109
- party leaders, see also monitoring of
  - speech by party leaders
  - closed-list systems, 48–49
  - disagreement with backbenchers, 70–72
  - dissent, effect of status on, 136
  - exogenous nature of, 78n
  - majoritarian systems, 44–46
  - MMM systems, 51
  - MMP systems, 50–51
  - participation in parliamentary debate, 100–114, 172–173
  - proportional systems, 177–178
  - rules of parliamentary debate, 79–81
  - utility function of, 37–39
- party whips, 26, 35, 67, 164, 165
- personal vote seeking
  - incentives for, 79–83
  - low-level, 48–49
  - MMP systems, 93
  - moderate-level, 46–48
  - monitoring of speech by party leaders, 93, 96–97
  - strong-level, 44–46
- Peru, 48
- plenary time, 5–6, 27
- Poß, Joachim, 144
- policy, parliamentary debate's role in, 6–7, 20–21
- position-taking, 7–9, 17–18, 20–21, 176
- positivism, parliamentary debate and, 18–19
- presidential systems, 44–45, 47–48
- proportional electoral systems
  - case studies, 61–62
  - delegation model, 46–49
  - European Parliament, 148–149
  - ideological congruence, 176–178
  - incentives in, 25
  - party leaders in, 177–178
  - political parties in, 25
  - satisfaction with democracy, 4–5
- proportional systems, see
  - mixed-member proportional (MMP) electoral systems; New Zealand
- Quinn, Kevin, 45
- rapporteurs, 160
- Raunio, Tapio, 155
- rebellions, see dissent
- research design
  - case studies, 61–70
  - cross-national comparison, 58–61
  - empirical strategy, 56–58
  - latent concepts, measurement of, 70–72
  - overview, 10–11, 56, 72–73
  - party survey, 59–61
- roll-call votes, 25–27, 152–155, 167–168
- rules of parliamentary debate, see also
  - monitoring of speech by party leaders
  - access to floor, 78–79
  - allocation of speaking time, 78–79
  - candidate selection, 149–151
  - case studies, 62–63
  - coalition governments, 97–99
  - coming to floor, 78–79
  - demand for speaking time, 84–85

- European Parliament, 149–151
- filibusters, 79
- incentives, 79–83, 91–97, 99
- New Zealand, 164–166
- overview, 11, 77, 99
- party leaders, 79–81
- political party rules, 83–99
- speaker lists, 78–79, 85–88
- Russia, 51

- sanctions for dissent, 87–88
- satisfaction with democracy, 2–5
- Schäffler, Frank, 32–33, 55
- Schäuble, Wolfgang, 17
- Schneider, Carsten, 138
- Senate, see United States
- Sigelman, Lee, 44–45
- single-member district (SMD) elections
  - Germany, 101, 107–109
  - implications of delegation model in, 44, 47, 49–51, 54
  - New Zealand, 168
- SMD elections, see single-member district (SMD) elections
- Smith, Steven, 20
- Social Democratic Party (SPD) (Germany)
  - allocation of speaking time, 63–64
  - euro crisis debate, 31
  - fiscal stimulus debate, 127, 137–139, 141, 144–145
  - ideological disagreement within, 120
- sovereign debt crisis, EU, 31–34, 55
- Spörndli, Markus, 8
- speaker lists vs. Speaker recognition, 32, 34, 62, 65, 78–79, 85–88
- speaking time, allocation and access, 62–70, 78–79, 81, 84–85, 149–151
- speech delegation model, see delegation model of parliamentary debate
- speech, parliamentary, see parliamentary debate
- Steenbergen, Marco, 8
- Steiner, Jörg, 8
- Stewart, John, 30
- supermajority requirements, 5–6
- Sweden, 93
- Thomassen, Jacques, 5

- unitary actors, political parties as, 174–175
- United Future Party (NZ), 165
- United Kingdom, see also Labour Party (UK)
  - backbencher debate participation, 129–132, 135–136
  - British Representation Study, 21, 116
  - budget speeches, probit model of, 122–123
  - case study, 64–65
  - Conservative Party, 104, 118, 126
  - delegation model of parliamentary debate, 41, 44, 46
  - dissent in, 11–12, 28–30, 129–136
  - division of parliamentary debate in, 64–65
  - empirical strategy, 56–58
  - fiscal stimulus debate, 129–136
  - Heathrow expansion debate, 28–30, 54–55
  - ideological disagreement, intra-party, 115–123
  - latent concepts, measurement of, 71–72
  - models of parliamentary speech in, 109–111
  - New Zealand compared to, 13, 69–70
  - parliamentary activities and debate investment, 21
  - parliamentary speeches overview, 101–103
  - party leaders' debate participation, 104–107, 109–111, 117–118
  - research design, 11, 72
  - Standing Order 23, 65
- United States
  - delegation model empirical implications, 44–45, 48
  - Democratic Party, 45
  - filibusters in, 6, 79
  - financial crisis of 2008, 125
  - utility functions of backbenchers and party leaders, 36–39
- Vanberg, Georg, 6, 98
- votes, see electoral systems; personal vote seeking; roll-call votes
- voting agenda, access to, 27

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-07276-3 - The Politics of Parliamentary Debate: Parties, Rebels, and Representation

Sven-Oliver Proksch and Jonathan B. Slapin

Index

More information

206

Index

Westminster system

Canada, 83–84

floor time access, 62–63, 78–79

New Zealand, 13, 58, 164

parliamentary activity break-down, 21presidential systems comparison to,
48

UK, 56, 62–63, 64–65

whips, party, 26, 35, 67, 164, 165

Willsch, Klaus-Peter, 32–33, 55

World Values Survey, 4