

Index

- Abell, Peter, 111, 143
- Actors
- agentic actorhood (See Agentic actorhood)
  - collective culture and, 130–31
  - conflicts involving, 269–70
  - cultural construction of (See Cultural construction of actors)
  - cultural elaborateness and dependence, 10–11
  - cultural rules of actorhood, 212–13
  - defined, 281–82, 290
  - economics, increased focus on in, 246–47, 270–71
  - emergence of concept, 246
  - empowerment of, 315–16
  - environmental movement, inability of actor-centered theories to predict or explain, 285
  - focus on actorhood in institutional theory, 126, 127–29, 270–73
  - human rights, actorhood and, 128
  - human rights, inability of actor-centered theories to predict or explain, 285–86
  - individuals as, 6–8, 128 (See also Individuals)
  - institutionalism and, 54–56
  - institutionalization of behavior, 9–10
  - isomorphic actors, 226–27
  - levels of actors, inconsistencies between, 269
  - liberalism, actorhood and, 7, 290–91
  - “logics” of action, 289–90
  - monopolistic nature of actor-centered theories, 282
  - nation-states as, 128 (See also Nation-states)
  - nature, rationalization by science and, 214–15, 218, 231–32
  - neoliberalism, actorhood and, 7
  - nonactors, as agents for, 220
  - not embedded in culture, viewed as, 209–10
  - organizations as, 14, 128 (See also Organizations)
  - political science, increased focus on in, 246–47, 270–71
  - practical realities, inconsistencies between actors and, 270
  - psychology, increased focus on in, 246–47
  - rationalized social organization, inability of actor-centered theories to predict or explain, 286
  - raw actors, 236
  - realism and, 210
  - religion, and rationalization of, 218, 231–32
  - sacred nature of attributes, 290
  - scripts and, 9–10
  - social change, inability of actor-centered theories to predict or explain, 285–86
  - social sciences, increased focus on in, 246–47, 270–71, 281
  - sociological neoinstitutionalism and, 100–2
  - sociology, increased focus on in, 246–47, 270–71
  - structures versus, 282
  - as system of social agency, 211
  - tension with institutional theory, 252
  - unrealistic expectations of, 286–89, 291
  - world society, actorhood and, 258 (See also World society)
- Agency. See Agentic actorhood
- Agentic actorhood
- agency defined, 235

- authorized agents, 211
- collective action and, 234–35
- consultants and, 230
- corporate social entities and, 223
- cultural authority, agents for, 220–21
- disinterested agency and, 232–33
- heightened structuration of actors, 228–29
- as historical construction, 221–22
- implications for understanding social structure, 224
- individuals and, 223–24
- isomorphic actors, 226–27
- liberalism and, 222, 223–24
- nature, rationalization by science and, 213–15, 231–32
- nonactors, agents for, 220
- other actors, agents for, 219–20
- overview, 234, 235, 281–82
- principal-agent tension, 224–26
- principle, agents for, 220–21
- professionals and, 230
- religion, and rationalization of, 216–17, 231–32
- scripts and, 226–27
- self, agents for, 218–19
- services from “others,” 230–31
- structural elements of actors, decoupling of, 227–28
- system of social agency, actors as, 211
- transformation into “otherhood,” 229–30
- variations in, 222–23
- Alford, R., 289
- Almond, Gabriel, 93
- Anderson, Perry, 179
- Anthropology
  - culture and, 28
  - individual, role of, 7, 201
  - institutions, continued centrality of, 246
  - reductionism in, 7
- Atomism, 160
- Barrett, Deborah, 87, 104
- Barton, A., 200
- Bell, Daniel, 127, 182
- Bendor, J., 263
- Berger, Joseph, 102, 103
- Berger, Peter, 5, 7, 47, 52–53, 71, 132
- Berkovitch, Nitza, 104
- Blau, P., 200
- Boli, John, 67–68, 85, 89–90, 110
- Botswana, education in, 302
- Boudon, R., 145
- Boudon-Coleman diagram, 140–41, 145–47, 150, 156, 160
- Brandt Commission, 304
- Braudel, F., 179, 190
- Brazil, attacks on democracy in, 312
- Brenner, Robert, 173–74
- Brexit, 314
- Brunsson, N., 14
- Buckley, Walter, 58–59
- Bureaucracy, organization versus, 14
- Burt, R., 151
- Calvin, John, 154
- Calvinism, 145, 149–50
- Campbell, Donald, 196
- Canada, differences from United States, 4
- Capital, 185
- Capitalism
  - enterprise, centrality of, 174–75
  - globalization, conflation with, 185–86
  - modernity, conflation with, 178–79, 180–81
  - post-liberal attacks on, 312
  - Protestantism and, 141, 156–60
  - rationalization and, 174–75
- Catholic Mass, 58
- Chase-Dunn, Christopher, 112
- China
  - democracy, attacks on, 312
  - post-liberalism, role in, 311
  - Western culture contrasted, 212–13
- Christianity
  - changes in cultural models arising from, 171–73
  - economics and, 176
  - human rights and, 212
  - individual and, 172
  - nature and, 172
  - “Protestant Ethic Thesis” deflecting from broader context of, 171
  - Protestantism (See Protestantism)
  - Puritanism, 150

- Christianity (cont.)
 rationalization and, 172–73, 180
 science and, 172
 systemic model, shift from liturgical model to, 172
 as Western cultural framework, 212
 world society compared, 245
- Citizenship, institutional development and, 48
- Class conflict
 game theory and, 162
 institutional formation and, 48
 institutionalization of, 43–44
- Class structure, 27, 30
- Cohen, M., 263
- Cold War, 298
- Coleman, James, 91, 110, 140, 141, 143, 145–47, 158
- Collins, R., 145, 158, 176, 177–78
- Colyvas, J., 126
- Communal movements, 314–15
- Communism, 303
- Companies. See Organizations
- Congo, science in, 257
- Consultants
 agentic actorhood and, 230
 individuals and, 268–69
 nation-states and, 268–69
 organizations and, 268–69
 in response to unrealistic
 expectations of actors, 288–89
- Contextual analysis, 200
- Convention theory, 289–90
- Corporations. See Organizations
- Cultural construction of actors
 abstract, 209
 overview, 9, 18, 210–12
 sociological neoinstitutionalism and,
 212
- Cultural institutionalism
 functionalism and, 11
 incorporation of new cultural schemes, 11
 institutionalized doctrine and, 10
 mainstream acceptance of, 126–27 marginalization of culture and, 5–6, 17, 129–30
 overview, 3, 132–33
 phenomenology and, 5
 political science and, 4
 reemergence of institutions, 7–8
 social change and, 8
 sociological neoinstitutionalism (See Sociological neoinstitutionalism)
 sociology and, 4
- Culture
 actorhood, collective culture and, 130–31
 actors viewed as not embedded in, 209–10
 anthropology and, 28 collective-level conception, absence
 of, 130
 expressive aspects of, 29 individual as primary actor in, 6–8 institutionalization, conflation with, 45–46
 liberalism and, 283
 marginalization in social theory, 5–6, 17, 129–30, 233
 moral meaning and, 28–29
 nature and, 28
 neoliberalism, socio-cultural libertarianism in, 308–9
 in nineteenth-century analysis, 28–30
 rules of, 30
 society as cultural system, 29
 transcendental meaning and, 28–29
 “Culture wars,” 311
- Dahrendorf, R., 43–44
- Davis, J.A., 200
- Davis, J.J., 200
- Deal, Terrence, 79
- Decoupling
 of models in world society, 262–63
 organizations and, 13, 74–75
 realism and, 263
 of structural elements of actors, 227–28
- Deep socialization, 43
- Deinstitutionalization, 48
- Derivative structures, institutions as, 247
- Determinism, 252
- DiMaggio, Paul, 79, 97, 250, 251–52, 261
- Division of labor, 27, 30, 33
- Dobbin, Frank, 76, 88–89, 97, 198

- Dornbusch, Sanford, 73
 Douglas, Mary, 58
 Downward causation, 196–97
 Durkheim, Emile, 37, 55, 161, 199–200
- Economics
 actors, increased focus on, 246–47, 270–71
 broadening of causal forces, 175–76
 capital and, 185
 capitalism (See Capitalism)
 Christianity and, 176
 default intellectual imagery of, 316 Europe, economic history of, 173–78
 free trade, 300
 imagined economy, expansion of, 184–85
 individual, role of, 7, 173–74, 177–78, 188, 201
 “knowledge economy,” 127
 knowledge systems and, 176–77
 liberalism and, 283
 longer period of time, causal forces operating over, 175–77 management of firms and, 183 monetarization and, 181–84
 neoliberalism, economic libertarianism in, 305–7
 new institutionalisms in, 248
 non-economic institutions and, 182
 “Protestant Ethic Thesis” and, 154
 rationalization and, 179–80, 188
 realist institutionalism and, 249
 reductionism in, 7
 service sector, 288–89
 sociopolitical control over, 182
- Economism
 capital and, 185
 in European economic history, 173–74, 177–78
 individualism and, 188
 modernity and, 178–79, 180–81
 neoliberalism and, 306–7
- Education
 embedded liberalism and, 302
 expansion of, 266
 functionalism and, 81–82
 in Germany, 107
 individual and, 12–13, 89–90
 institutionalization, nature and effects of, 72–73
 modernization and, 80–82
 myth and, 70, 71–72, 100
 political participation and, 199–200
 principal-agent tension in, 224–25
 rationalization and, 180
 in response to unrealistic expectations of actors, 288 socialization, role of, 70–72 theoretical research program (TRP) and, 96
 women in, 264
 world society and, 256
- Eisenstadt, S.N., 4, 141–42, 154
 Elster, J., 143
- Embedded liberalism Communism versus, 303
 crises in, 304
 domestic effects of, 301–2
 education and, 302
 environmental movement and, 302
 family and, 302
 human rights and, 301, 302
 individual and, 299–300, 301, 302
 institution-building and, 300
 intergovernmental organizations and, 300
 international organization and, 300 isomorphisms of, 303–4
 model of, 302–3 neoliberalism, continuities in, 305 non-governmental organizations and, 300
 overview, 297
 sexuality and, 302
 transnational rationalized culture and, 300–1 variations of, 303–4 weakening of traditional structures, 302
- Empirical research, 12
- Environmental movement
 actor-centered theories, inability of to predict or explain, 285
 embedded liberalism and, 302
 transformation of nation-states and, 87
 world society and, 15–16
- Esser, Hartmut, 140, 145

- Europe. See also specific country economic history of, 173–78 modernity in, 178–81
 religious culture in, 170–73
- Evolving cultural models embedded liberalism (See Embedded liberalism)
 neoliberalism (See Neoliberalism)
 overview, 18, 297, 299
 post-liberalism (See Post-liberalism)
- Exchange system, 181–82
- “Failed states,” 128, 268, 287, 310–11
- Family
 embedded liberalism and, 302
 liberalism and, 283
- Fein, L.C., 261
- Finnemore, Martha, 98
- Firms. See Organizations
- Fligstein, Neil, 76, 98
- Foucault, M., 235–36, 252
- France institutionalization in, 40
 organizational definition of state and, 31
 railroads in, 88–89
 “Yellow Vest” protests in, 314
- Frank, David, 87, 94, 95, 104
- Freeman, J., 146
- Free will, 252
- Friedland, R., 289
- Functionalism
 education and, 81–82
 overview, 11, 109
- Galileo, 180
- Game theory, 162
- “Garbage can” model, 263, 272
- Gellner, Ernest, 181
- Gender
 deinstitutionalization and, 48
 liberalism and, 283
- Germany
 corporate social entities in, 223
 education in, 107
 individualism in, 93
- Ghana, institutions in, 41
- Globalization
 capitalism, conflation with, 185–86
- individualism and, 187, 188–89
 levels of analysis in, 198–99
 rationalization and, 186
 of science, 265–66
 of social sciences, 265–66
 sociological neoinstitutionalism and, 67–68
- Goffman, E., 45, 47, 52–53
- Goodhart, D., 314
- Gorski, P.S., 153
- Granovetter, M., 151
- Hacking, Ian, 132
- Haiti, voting in, 40
- Hamilton, Gary, 77
- Hannan, Michael, 80, 84, 97, 143–44, 146
- Hechter, M., 143
- Hedström, P., 140–41, 143, 145–46, 147
- Hernes, G., 145
- Hicks, J.R., 182
- History
 individual, role of, 7, 201
 institutions, continued centrality of, 246
 reductionism in, 7
- Holism, 160
- Homans, G., 149
- Honduras, accounting in, 257
- Human rights
 actor-centered theories, inability of to predict or explain, 285–86
 actorhood and, 128
 Christianity and, 212
 embedded liberalism and, 301, 302
 expansion of, 265–66
 individual and, 13, 128
 post-liberal attacks on, 312
 world society and, 16
- Hungary, attacks on democracy in, 312, 314
- Hwang, H., 126, 281
- Ideological role of social theory, 284
- Imagined economy, expansion of, 184–85
- India, post-liberalism and, 311

- Individualism. See also Individuals
 agentic actorhood and, 223–24
 as collective-level construction, 90–91
 economism and, 188
 evolution of, changes in individual identity over, 94–95
 globalization and, 187, 188–89
 institutional theory and, 201–2, 204
 levels of analysis and, 200–1
 liberalism and, 189, 201
 methodological individualism (See Methodological individualism)
 multilevel analysis versus, 202
 mythology of, 188–89
 neoliberalism and, 201
 organizations, expanded individualism in, 78–79
 sexuality and, 95
 suicide and, 199
 variations in, 93–94
 women and, 94, 111
- Individual-level causal processes,
 148–49
- Individuals. See also Individualism
 as actors, 6–8, 128
 agentic actorhood and (See Agentic
 actorhood)
 anthropology, role in, 7, 201 changes in individual identity over evolution of individualism, 94–95
 Christianity and, 172
 consultants and, 230, 268–69
 “contemporary identity explosion,” 95 cultural authority, as agents for,
 220–21
 culture, as primary actor in, 6–8 deemphasis of cultural aspect, problems with, 34
 economics, role in, 7, 173–74, 177–78, 188, 201
 education and, 12–13, 89–90
 embedded liberalism and, 299–300, 301, 302
 empirical research findings, 12–13
 heightened structuration of, 228–29
 history, role in, 7, 201
 human rights and, 13, 128
 individual-level enactment, 90–91
 inflation of claims on, 268
 institutional formation and, 48
 as isomorphic actors, 226–27
 levels of analysis and, 198
 liberalism and, 284
 “life courses” and, 92–93
 modernity and, 90–91, 110
 myth and, 34
 nation-states and, 87
 nature, rationalization of and,
 215
 as new cultural rule, 30
 in nineteenth-century analysis, 27–28, 34
 nonactors, as agents for, 220
 other actors, as agents for, 219–20
 political reconstruction of society around, 89–90
 principal-agent tension in, 225–26
 principle, as agents for, 220–21
 professionals and, 230, 268–69
 “Protestant Ethic Thesis” and, 171
 psychology, role in, 7, 201
 realism and, 34
 religion, and rationalization of,
 216–17
 research problems, 34–35
 scripts and, 92–93
 self, as agents for, 218–19
 as social construction, 201
 sociology, role in, 7, 68–69, 201 structural elements, decoupling of,
 227–28
 theoretical research program (TRP)
 and, 98–99
 unrealistic expectations of, 286–88
- Inkeles, Alex, 90
- Institutional causal processes, 148–49, 153–55
- Institutional effects, 49, 56
- Institutional explanations, 49
- Institutionalism
 actors and, 54–56
 conceptualization of, 38
 cultural institutionalism (See Cultural institutionalism)
 individualist/phenomenological line
 of theory, 52
 individualist/realist line of theory, 51

- Institutionalism (cont.)
 levels of analysis and, 49–50, 51
 microtranslation and, 55, 61–62
 “new institutionalisms,” 38
 organizational analysis and, 53 other arguments distinguished, 54 psychology and, 52–53 rational choice theory versus, 55 rules in, 53–54
 socially constructed units and,
 49–51, 61
 sociological neoinstitutionalism (See Sociological neoinstitutionalism)
 sociology and, 52
 straightforward representation of, 38 structuralist/phenomenological line
 of theory, 52
 structuralist/realist line of theory, 51
- Institutionalization absence of reproductive processes versus, 43
 action versus, 43–44, 55–56
 of class conflict, 43–44
 conceptualization of, 38
 contextuality and, 45
 culture, conflation with, 45–46 cultures, 46
 deep socialization versus, 43
 degrees of, 47–48
 as distinct social property, 38
 education and, 72–73
 formal organization versus, 44–45 forms of, 46–47
 holistic comparison of, 60
 legitimacy versus, 44
 macro level of analysis and, 45, 59
 other forms of reproduction versus,
 43 political institutionalization, 60
 as process, 39–40 regimes, 46
 social entropy versus, 43
 as social reproductive process, 38 “taken-for-grantedness” and, 48
 total institutionalization, 47
 vulnerability to social intervention, 47–48
- Institutional racism, 37
- Institutional theory. See also specific topic
- actorhood, focus on, 126, 127–29, 270–73
 concept of world society arising from, 243–44
 core arguments regarding world society, 259
 cultural institutionalism (See Cultural institutionalism)
 defined, 49
 individualism and, 201–2, 204
 liberalism as institutionalized cultural matter in, 315
 models in world society and, 258–59
 sociological neoinstitutionalism (See Sociological neoinstitutionalism)
 success in explaining world society, 257
 tension with actors, 252
- Institutions. See also specific institution absence of thought and, 58 anthropology, continued centrality
 in, 246
 centrality, relative to, 41
 conceptualization of, 38
 conceptual vagueness regarding, 37–38
 context, relative to, 40
 definition of, 44
 deinstitutionalization, 48
 denotation of, 37
 derivative structures, treated as, 247 development, 48
 dimension of relationship, relative to, 41
 examples of, 39
 formation, 48
 history, continued centrality in, 246 institutional change, 48–49 operation of, 41–42
 overview, 17, 56
 reinstitutionalization, 49
 as relative property, 40–41 secondary levels, relative to, 40–41
 as social pattern, 39–40 “taken-for-grantedness,” 42
 voting as, 40
- Interdependence in postwar period, 298
- Intergovernmental organizations, 253–54, 265, 300
- International Labor Organization, 264

- International Monetary Fund (IMF), 41, 306
 International Relations, 98, 112
 Isomorphic actors, 226–27
 Iversen, T., 317
- Japan
 corporate social entities in, 223
 cultural institutionalism in, 5
 Jones, E.L., 173, 174
- Kamens, David, 70
 Katzenstein, Peter, 98
 Kincaid, H., 143
 “Knowledge economy,” 127
 “Knowledge society,” 127, 298, 315
 Knowledge systems, 176–77
 Kogut, B., 261
 Kruecken, G., 14
- Lakatos, Imre, 105
 Landes, David, 151, 158, 177–78
 Lazarsfeld, P., 200
- Levels of analysis
 blurring of, 199
 complexity of, 196
 contextual analysis and, 200 downward causation and, 196–97
 in globalization, 198–99
 hierarchy of, 196–97
 individual and, 198
 individualism and, 200–1
 individual-level causal processes, 148–49
 institutional causal processes, 148–49, 153–55
 mixed levels, 198
 multilevel analysis (See Multilevel analysis) nation-state and, 198
 nesting of, 198
 organization and, 198
 social-organizational causal processes, 148–49, 151–52
 in social sciences, 197–99
 sociology, evolution in, 199–201 upward causation and, 196–97
- Lévi-Strauss, Claude, 58
- Liberalism
 actorhood and, 7, 290–91
 agentive actorhood and, 222, 223–24
 culture and, 283
 economics and, 283
 embedded liberalism (See Embedded liberalism)
 family and, 283
 gender and, 283
 hegemony of, 282–83
 individualism and, 189, 201
 individuals and, 284
 as institutionalized cultural matter, 315
 nation-states and, 284
 neoliberalism (See Neoliberalism)
 organizations and, 283
 political science and, 283
 post-liberalism (See Post-liberalism)
 religion and, 283
 sexuality and, 283
- Libertarianism economic libertarianism, 305–7 socio-cultural libertarianism, 308–9
- Life course, 92–93
 Lindenberg, S., 145, 147
 Lipset, S.M., 4
 “Logics” of action, 289–90
 Luckmann, Thomas, 5, 7, 47, 52–53, 71, 132
 Luhmann, N., 235–36
 Lüthy, Herbert, 158
- Macpherson, J.M., 261
 Malawi, education in, 266
 Management of firms, 183
 Mann, Michael, 174, 175–76, 177–78, 179, 181
 March, J., 132, 263 Marginalization of culture in social theory, 5–6, 17, 129–30, 233
 Marx, Karl, 154, 180–81, 184, 227, 289
 McClelland, David, 145
 McEneaney, Elizabeth, 95
 McLean, P.D., 153
 Mead, G.H., 102
 Meier, F., 14
 Menzel, H., 200
 Merton, Robert, 71, 72, 200

- Methodological individualism dominance of in recent theory, 143–44, 160–61, 162, 201
 limitations of, 17, 170, 187–89, 203–4
 multilevel analysis versus, 144
 “Protestant Ethic Thesis” and, 141,
 144–45, 187–88
 Protestantism and, 91, 110–11
 rebuttal of, 141, 142 social change, inability to predict or explain, 203–4
 Microfoundations, 156–60, 202–3
 Microtranslation, 55, 61–62
 Milanovic, B., 309
 Mimetic isomorphism, 250, 251–52, 261
 Miyahara, David, 94
 Mizruchi, M.S., 261
 Models in world society decoupling of, 262–63 impact independent from adoption of, 263–64, 266–68
 impact on actors, 260–62
 institutional theory and, 258–59
 overview, 16
 political form and responsibility, 84–86
 rise of, 259–60
 Modernity
 capitalism, conflation with, 178–79, 180–81
 economism and, 178–79, 180–81
 education, modernization and, 80–82 in Europe, 178–81
 individuals and, 90–91, 110
 nation-states, modernization and,
 80–82
 as quasi-religious system, 270–73
 Mokyr, Joel, 176–77, 190
 Monetization, 181–84,
 272–73
 Moral meaning, culture and, 28–29 Multilevel analysis
 abstract, 139
 causal processes, 147–49
 individualism versus, 202
 individual-level causal processes, 148–49
 institutional causal processes, 148–49, 153–55
 macro-macro causation, 140–41
 macro- versus micro-level causation, 141
 methodological individualism versus, 144 microfoundations and, 156–60, 202–3
 overview, 17–18, 160–62
 “Protestant Ethic Thesis” and, 156
 social-organizational causal
 processes, 148–49, 151–52
 theoretical explanations regarding,
 142–43
 Myth
 education and, 70, 71–72, 100 individualism, mythology of, 188–89
 individuals and, 34
 nation-states and, 287–88
 in neoliberalism, 307
 organizations and, 74, 97
 states and, 32 Nation-states
 as actors, 128
 agentic actorhood and (See Agentic
 actorhood)
 consultants and, 230, 268–69
 cultural authority, as agents for,
 220–21
 embedding within “world polity,” 83–84
 empirical research findings, 14–15
 environment, transformation of
 nation-states and, 87
 heightened structuration of, 228–29
 individuals and, 87
 inflation of claims on, 268
 as isomorphic actors, 226–27
 “isomorphic expansion” of, 84
 levels of analysis and, 198
 liberalism and, 284
 modernization and, 80–82
 multiple types of modern polities, 87–89
 myth and, 287–88
 nature, rationalization of and, 215
 nonactors, as agents for, 220

- other actors, as agents for, 219–20
- “post national membership” and, 87
- principle, as agents for, 220–21
- professionals and, 230, 268–69
- “Protestant Ethic Thesis” and, 154
- religion, and rationalization of, 216–17
- self, as agents for, 218–19
- similarities among, 84
- social change and, 267
- society, conflation with, 243
- structural elements, decoupling of, 227–28
- theoretical research program (TRP) and, 97–98
- transformation of, 86–87
- unrealistic expectations of, 287–88
- “world polity” and, 82–83
- Nature. See also Science
  - actorhood, rationalization of nature and, 214–15, 218, 231–32
  - “axial tension” of society with, 212–13
  - Christianity and, 172
  - culture and, 28
  - environmental movement (See Environmental movement)
  - individual and rationalization of, 215
  - nation-state and rationalization of, 215
  - new entities and interests arising from rationalization of, 214–15
  - organization and rationalization of, 215
  - rationalization by science, 213–15, 231–32
- Neoliberalism
  - actorhood and, 7
  - anti-elitism in, 304–5, 307–8
  - anti-statism in, 307–8
  - anti-tradition nature of, 304–5
  - crises in, 309–10
  - economic libertarianism in, 305–7
  - economism and, 306–7
  - elites and, 305, 307–8
  - embedded liberalism, continuities from, 305
  - individualism and, 201
  - myth in, 307
  - overview, 297
  - political consequences of, 306
  - rise of, 304
  - science and, 305
  - social rationalization and, 305
  - socio-cultural libertarianism in, 308–9
  - socio-economic consequences of, 306
  - Netherlands, Protestantism in, 154
  - New Guinea, education in, 257
  - “New institutionalisms,” 38
  - “New tribalism,” 314–15
  - 9/11 attacks, 311
  - Non-economic institutions, 182
  - Non-governmental organizations, 253–54, 265, 300
  - North, Douglass, 175, 181
  - “Old institutionalism,” 299
  - Oliver, C., 289
  - Olsen, J., 132, 263
  - Olson, Mancur, 236, 270
  - “Ontological truism,” 142, 159, 197
  - Opportunity structure, 271
  - Organizational field, 250, 271
  - Organizations
    - as actors, 14, 128
    - agentic actorhood and (See Agentic actorhood)
    - appropriateness and, 108
    - boundedness of, 73
    - bureaucracy versus, 14
    - consultants and, 230, 268–69
    - cross-national variation, 77
    - cultural authority, as agents for, 220–21
    - de-bureaucratization of, 79
    - decoupling and, 13, 74–75
    - deemphasis of cultural aspect, problems with, 32–33
    - different types of, 75
    - empirical research findings, 13–14
    - expanded individualism in, 78–79
    - “ground rules of economic life,” institutional construction of, 75–76
    - heightened structuration of, 228–29
    - increasing standardization in, 78
    - inflation of claims on, 268

- Organizations (cont.)
 instrumentality and, 108
 integration of, 73
 as isomorphic actors, 226–27
 Japanese organizational practices, 79–80
 levels of analysis and, 198
 liberalism and, 283
 linkage of organizational elements and institutional structures, 74–75, 79–80
 models of, 13–14
 myth and, 74, 97
 nature, rationalization of and, 215
 as new cultural rule, 30
 in nineteenth-century analysis, 32–33
 nonactors, as agents for, 220
 operation of, 41–42
 as organized actor, 14
 orthodoxy and, 108
 other actors, as agents for, 219–20
 personnel administration, 80, 108
 principal-agent tension in, 225–26
 principle, as agents for, 220–21
 professionals and, 230, 268–69
 rationalization and, 74, 107–8
 realism and, 32–33
 reform waves, 108
 religion, and rationalization of,
 216–17
 research problems, 34–35
 social change and, 267
 societal sectoralization in, 78 structural elements, decoupling of,
 227–28
 theoretical research program (TRP)
 and, 96–97
 time, variation over, 77–79
 unrealistic expectations of, 287–88
 Orloff, A.S., 146
- Padgett, J.F., 153
 Parsons, Talcott, 4, 55, 71, 72, 184, 189
 Path dependence, 303
 Perrow, Charles, 97
 Personnel administration, 80, 108
 Phenomenology
 cultural institutionalism and, 5
 institutionalism and, 61
 phenomenological institutionalism, 249, 250
 Poland, attacks on democracy in, 314
 Polanyi, K., 182
 Political institutionalization, 60
 Political science
 actors, increased focus on, 246–47, 270–71
 cultural institutionalism and, 4
 liberalism and, 283
 new institutionalisms in, 248
 realist institutionalism and, 249
 theoretical research program (TRP)
 and, 98
 Populism, 313–14
 Post-liberalism anti-elitism and, 312–13
 capitalism, attacks on, 312
 challengers to liberal order, role of, 311 communal movements and, 314–15
 cosmopolitan elites, role of, 310 “culture wars,” impact of, 311
 democracy, attacks on, 312
 democracy, role of, 310–11 forces creating, 310–11
 human rights, attacks on, 312 inequality, impact of, 310
 new models in, 316
 9/11 attacks, impact of, 311
 overview, 297
 populism and, 313–14
 realism versus, 316
 rise of, 309–10
 science, attacks on, 312
 2008 economic crisis, impact of, 310
 United States, role of, 311
 Powell, Walter, 79, 97, 250, 251–52, 261 Professionals
 agentic actorhood and, 230
 individuals and, 268–69
 nation-states and, 268–69
 organizations and, 268–69
 in response to unrealistic
 expectations of actors, 288
 world society and, 254, 265
 “Protestant Ethic Thesis” (Weber) Boudon-Coleman diagram and,
 145–47, 150, 156

- broader context of Christianity, deflection from, 171
- collective action and, 155
- economic activity and, 154
- individual and, 171
- individual-level causal processes and, 149–51
- institutional causal processes and, 153–55
- methodological individualism and, 141, 144–45, 187–88
- multilevel analysis and, 156
- nation-state and, 154
- polity and community and, 153–54
- science and, 155
- social-organizational causal processes and, 151–52
- Protestantism
  - Calvinism, 145, 149–50
  - capitalism and, 141, 156–60
  - in historical context, 170–71
  - methodological individualism and, 91, 110–11
  - Puritanism, 150
  - Reformation, 141–42, 145, 153–55
- Prussia, organizational definition of state and, 31
- Psychology
  - actors, increased focus on, 246–47
  - default intellectual imagery of, 316
  - individual, role of, 7, 201
  - institutionalism and, 52–53
  - reductionism in, 7
- Puritanism, 150
- Racism, institutional, 37
- Ramirez, Francisco, 58, 85, 89–90, 94, 109–10, 111, 264
- Rational choice theory, 55, 282
- Rationalization
  - capitalism and, 174–75
  - Christianity and, 172–73, 180
  - defined, 189, 236
  - economics and, 179–80, 188
  - education and, 180
  - embedded liberalism, transnational rationalized culture and, 300–1
  - globalization and, 186
  - nature, rationalization by science, 213–15, 231–32
  - neoliberalism, social rationalization and, 305
  - organizations and, 74, 107–8
  - of religion, 216–17, 231–32
  - science and, 180
  - world society and, 255–56
- Raw actors, 236
- Reagan, Ronald, 306
- Realism
  - actors and, 210
  - collective action and, 234–35
  - decoupling of models and, 263
  - defined, 235
  - individual and, 34
  - institutionalism and, 61
  - organization and, 32–33
  - post-liberalism versus, 316
  - realist institutionalism, 248–49
  - social change, inability to predict or explain, 259–60, 266
  - in social sciences, 247
  - state and, 31
  - world models and, 260–61
  - world society, difficulty in explaining, 257
- Reductionism, 7, 201
- Reformation, 141–42, 145, 153–55
- Reinstitutionalization, 49
- Religion
  - actorhood, rationalization of religion and, 218, 231–32
  - “axial tension” of society with, 212–13
  - Christianity (See Christianity)
  - Europe, religious culture in, 170–73
  - individual and rationalization of, 216–17
  - liberalism and, 283
  - modernity as quasi-religious system, 270–73
  - nation-state and rationalization of, 216–17
  - organization and rationalization of, 216–17
  - Protestantism (See Protestantism)
  - rationalization of, 216–17, 231–32
  - reinstitutionalization and, 49
- Robinson, W.S., 199–200
- Rowan, Brian, 13, 73, 74–75, 79, 250
- Roy, William, 132, 133–34

- Ruggie, J., 297, 300
 Russia
   democracy, attacks on, 312, 314
   post-liberalism, role in, 311
- Sachs, Jeffrey, 261
 Sahlin-Andersson, K., 14
 Sandholtz, Wayne, 98 Saudi Arabia, education in, 265–66
 Sawyer, R.K., 141, 142
 Scandinavia
   corporate social entities in, 223
   liberalism in, 303
   Protestantism in, 154
 Schelling, T., 149
 Schumpeter, Joseph, 182, 190
 Science. See also Nature
   Christianity and, 172
   globalization of, 265–66
   nature, rationalization of, 213–15
   neoliberalism and, 305
   post-liberal attacks on, 312
   “Protestant Ethic Thesis” and, 155
   rationalization and, 180
 Scientism, 236
 Scott, W.R., 73, 75, 78, 79, 80, 97, 108, 112, 132, 250, 251–52
 Scripts
   actors and, 9–10
   agentic actorhood and, 226–27
   individuals and, 92–93
   sociology and, 250–51
 Searle, J., 132
 Service sector, 288–89
 Sexuality
   embedded liberalism and, 302
   individualism and, 95
   institutional formation and, 48
   liberalism and, 283
 Simmel, Georg, 151
 Simon, Herbert, 148
 Skocpol, T., 146
 Smith, Adam, 29
 Smith, David, 90
 Social change
   actor-centered theories, inability of to predict or explain, 285–86
   conflict as impetus for, 270
   cultural institutionalism and, 8
   methodological individualism, inability of to predict or explain, 203–4
   nation-states and, 267
   organizations and, 267
   realism, inability of to predict or explain, 259–60, 266 social sciences, inability of to predict or explain, 265
   women and, 8, 266–67
 Social construction, 132, 201
 Socialization, role in education, 70–72
 Social-organizational causal processes, 148–49, 151–52
 Social sciences. See also specific discipline
   actors, increased focus on, 246–47, 270–71, 281
   culture, marginalization of, 5–6, 17, 129–30, 233
   globalization of, 265–66
   ideological role of social theory, 284
   levels of analysis in, 197–99
   new institutionalisms in, 248
   “ontological truism” and, 142, 159, 197
   realism in, 247
   social change, inability to predict or explain, 265
   upward versus downward causation in, 197
 Social theory. See Social sciences Sociological neoinstitutionalism
   actors and, 100–2
   cultural construction of actors and, 212
   globalization and, 67–68
   intellectual context of, 68–69 knowledge and culture, society as, 68–69
   new explanations from, 99–100
   new observations from, 99
   overview, 17, 67–68, 104–5
   pattern of growth, 102
   reflexive contributions from, 100 research agenda, 69
   sources of growth, 103–4 as theoretical research program (TRP), 105–6 (See also Theoretical research program (TRP))
   world society and, 243

- Sociology
 actors, increased focus on, 246–47, 270–71
 cultural institutionalism and, 4
 individual, role of, 7, 68–69, 201
 institutionalism and, 52
 levels of analysis, 199–201
 limitations of individualism and, 204
 new institutionalisms in, 248
 phenomenological institutionalism and, 250
 reductionism in, 7
 scripts and, 250–51
 Soskice, D., 317
 Soviet Union, Cold War and, 298
 Soysal, Yasemin, 87, 88 States. See also Nation-states as cultural entity, 31, 32
 deemphasis of cultural aspect, problems with, 31, 32
 “failed states,” 128, 268, 287, 310–11
 myth and, 32
 in nineteenth-century analysis, 27, 31
 organizational definition of, 31
 principal-agent tension in, 225–26
 realism and, 31
 research problems, 34–35
 state versus society dichotomy, 27
 Stinchcombe, A.L., 59, 142, 160, 189, 260
 Strang, David, 79–80, 84–85
 Structuralism, institutionalism and, 61–62 Structures actors versus, 282
 defined, 282
 Suicide, 199
 Swanson, Guy, 52–53, 87–88
 Swedberg, R., 140–41, 143, 145–46, 147
 Sweden, education in, 89–90
 Sweet, Alec Stone, 98
 Swidler, Ann, 129
 “Taken-for-grantedness,” 42, 48, 298–99
 Thailand, women in, 266
 Thatcher, Margaret, 306
 Theoretical research program (TRP)
 education and, 96
 individuals and, 98–99
 nation-states and, 97–98
 organizations and, 96–97
 political science and, 98
 sociological neoinstitutionalism as, 105–6 Thomas, George, 67–68, 85
 Thornton, P.H., 289
 Tilly, Charles, 82, 98, 112
 de Tocqueville, Alexis, 40, 189, 227, 253, 255
 Total institutionalization, 47
 Transcendental meaning, culture and, 28–29
 Turkey, attacks on democracy in, 312, 314
 2008 economic crisis, 310
 Uganda, organizations in, 257
 United Kingdom
 Brexit, 314
 education in, 302
 neoliberalism in, 304, 306
 Protestantism in, 154
 United Nations
 Economic, Social, and Cultural Organization (UNESCO), 109
 embedded liberalism and, 300
 neoliberalism and, 306
 United States
 actorhood and, 251–52
 Canada, differences from, 4
 Cold War and, 298 criminal law in, 263
 education in, 180
 individualism in, 93–94
 neoliberalism in, 304, 306
 path dependence in, 303
 populism in, 314
 post-liberalism, role in, 311
 Protestantism in, 154
 railroads in, 88–89
 voting in, 40
 world society, parallels with, 253
 Upward causation, 196–97

- Verba, Sidney, 93
 Voting as institution, 40
- Wallerstein, Immanuel, 82–83, 97–98, 148, 173–74, 179
- Weber, Max, 17, 37, 76, 91, 107–8, 141, 144–45, 149–51, 154, 155, 171, 174–75, 179, 189, 190. See also “Protestant Ethic Thesis” (Weber)
- Weick, Karl, 13
- Welfare state, 304
- White, H., 151
- Wippler, R., 145, 147
- Women
   in education, 264
   individualism and, 94, 111
   social change and, 8, 266–67
- World Bank, 186, 261, 300, 306
- World society
   actorhood and, 258
   Christianity compared, 245
   complexity of, 245
   components of, 244, 255 concept arising from institutional theory, 243–44 conflicts in, 269–70
   constraints on, 254–55
   core arguments of institutional theory, 259 cultural system, society as, 29
   education and, 256
   emergence of, 252–53
   empirical research findings, 15–16
   environment and, 15–16
   expansion of, 257–58, 265–66
   human rights and, 16
   intergovernmental organizations and, 253–54, 265
   lack of controlling organization, 253
   models in (See Models in world society)
   as more than sum of actors, 244
   in nineteenth-century analysis, 27
   non-governmental organizations and, 253–54, 265
   ontology of, 256
   organization of, 256–57
   “others” and, 15, 253–54, 259–60
   overview, 18, 245–46
   professionals and, 254, 265
   rationalization and, 255–56
   realism, difficulty in explanation by, 257
   rules of, 255
   sociological neoinstitutionalism and, 243
   stabilization of, 258
   state versus society dichotomy, 27
   success of institutional theory in explaining, 257
   United States, parallels with, 253
- Zelditch, Morris, 72, 102, 103
- Zetterberg, H.L., 145
- Zucker, Lynne, 75, 106