

Contents

Acknowledgments	page xi
Note on Transliteration and Dates	xv
Introduction	1
The Madhhab	6
The Official Madhhab	10
The Official School of Law and the Imperial Legal Order	13
The Rise of an Ottoman Official Madhhab and the Grand Narratives of Islamic Legal History	17
1 Muftīs	21
Muftī: A Very Brief Introduction	24
The Institution of the Muftī in the Late Mamluk Sultanate	26
The Ottoman Perception of the Institution of the Muftī	38
The Emergence of the Provincial Muftī and the Reorganization of the Muftīship in the Ottoman Province of Damascus	49
Al-Nābulusī Responds to al-Ḥaṣkafī (and an Imaginary Dialogue with Al-Murādī)	58
Conclusion: The Ottoman Muftī, Ḳânûn , and the Ottoman Ḥanafī Legal School	62
2 Genealogies and Boundaries: Situating the Imperial Learned Hierarchy within the Ḥanafī Jurisprudential Tradition	65
Ṭabaqāt : A Very Short Introduction	68
Early Stages : Kemâlpaşazâde's Risāla fi Ṭabaqāt al-Mujtabidīn	71
Kınalızâde's Ṭabaqāt al-Ḥanafīyya	74

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-09027-9 - The Second Formation of Islamic Law: The Ḥanafī School in the Early Modern Ottoman Empire

Guy Burak

Table of Contents

More information

viii Contents

	Maḥmûd b. Süleymân Kefevî's Katâ'ib A'lâm al-Akhyâr min Fuqahâ' Madhhab al-Nu'mân al-Mukhtâr	80
	Edirneli Mehmed Kâmi's Mabâmm al-Fuqahâ'	89
	Recontextualizing Taşköprüzâde's al-Shaqâ'iq al-Nu'mâniyya	94
	Concluding Remarks	99
3	Genealogies and Boundaries II: Two Responses from the Arab Provinces of the Empire	101
	Ibn Tûlûn's al-Ghuraf al-'Âliyya fî Tarâjim Muta'akhhirî al-Ḥanafîyya	102
	Taqiyy al-Dîn al-Tamîmî's al-Ṭabaqât al-Saniyya fî Tarâjim al-Ḥanafîyya	111
	Concluding Remarks	118
4	Books of High Repute	122
	A Methodological Note on Textual Canons and Their Formation	127
	“The Reliable Books”: The Imperial Hierarchy and Its Canon Consciousness	130
	A Case Study: The Integration of al-Ashbâh wa'l-Nazâ'ir into the Ottoman Imperial Canon	135
	The Transmission and Canonization of Texts Outside the Ottoman Learned Hierarchy	139
	Comparing Jurisprudential Canons	144
	The Emergence of the Greater Syrian “Ottomanized” Canon	155
	A Damascene Critique of the Imperial Jurisprudential Canon	157
	Concluding Remarks	159
5	Intra-Madhhab Plurality and the Empire's Legal Landscape	163
	Using the Officially Appointed Muftîs' Rulings	166
	Writing Ottoman Fatâwâ in Arabic	181
	Nonappointed Muftîs and the Imperial Jurisprudential Landscape	191
	Establishing Authority	192
	The Nonappointed Muftîs' Rulings	198
	Concluding Remarks	204
	Conclusion: The Second Formation of Islamic Law	207
	Looking East: The Ottoman Case in a Comparative Perspective	208
	The Chinggisid Heritage	214
	Situating the Post-Mongol Period in the Grand Narratives of Islamic Legal History	220

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-09027-9 - The Second Formation of Islamic Law: The Ḥanafī
School in the Early Modern Ottoman Empire

Guy Burak

Table of Contents

More information

Contents	ix
Appendix A. The Classification of the Authorities of the Ḥanafī School	225
Appendix B. Kefevî's Chains of Transmission	229
Appendix C. Minḵârîzâde's and al-Ramlî's Bibliographies	231
Selected Bibliography	245
Index	267