

Index

- basics, 253
    - correlates, 256
    - managerial and organizational implications, 257
    - organizational dimensions, 256
  - Anglo cluster
    - basics, 303–306
    - correlates, 306–307
    - managerial and organizational implications, 308–309
    - organizational dimensions, 308
  - Arab cluster, 247
    - basics, 247–250
    - correlates, 250
    - managerial and organizational implications, 251–252
    - organizational dimensions, 251
  - Assertiveness, 214–215
  - Attitudinal and behavioral
    - dimensions, 189–190
    - deference, 205–206
      - high, 209–210
      - low, 207–209
    - low, behavioral implications, 207–209
    - organizational behaviors, 211–212
    - relationship to other
      - correlates, 206–207
  - focal actor – individual
    - or group, 191–193, 195
      - Austria, 199
      - China, 199
      - collectualization, 194
      - employee motivation, 197
      - group membership, 193–196
      - in-group, 198
      - Israel, 200
      - Japan, 200
      - job promotion, 195
      - Mexico, 198
      - organizational behaviors, 201–204
      - out-group, 198
  - rewards, 195
  - self-actualization, 194
  - self-managed teams, 196–197
  - team-oriented leadership, 197
- gender egalitarianism, 213
- gender marking, 213
  - assertiveness, 214–215
  - behavioral implications, 216
  - different levels, organizational behaviors, 218
  - gender egalitarianism, 217
  - gender-role ideology, 213
  - labor force participation, 214
- gender marking, blurred,
  - behavioral implications, 216–217
- gender marking, language,
  - impact of, 214
- guidance for managers, 228–229
  - lateral relationships, 230
  - reliance on specialists, 230
  - unwritten rules, 229–230
  - verticality, 228–229
  - widespread beliefs, 229
- humane orientation
  - high, behavioral implications, 237
  - levels, organizational behaviors, 239
  - low, behavioral implications, 238
  - manifestation of, 237
  - measurement, 237
- long-term orientation
  - characteristics, 231
  - cultures exhibiting, 232
  - definition, 230
  - high, behavioral implications, 233–235
  - levels, organizational behaviors, 236
  - low, behavioral implications, 235
- moderate levels in most societies, 232
- relationship to other
  - dimensions and correlates, 232–233
- past orientation
  - cultures exhibiting, 232
- performance orientation,
  - 238–240
    - high, behavioral implications, 241–243
    - locus of control, 240–241
    - low, behavioral implications, 243
  - organizational behaviors, 243
- present orientation
  - cultures exhibiting, 232
- relationship to correlates, 193
- short-term orientation
  - definition, 231
- tolerance for ambiguity
  - behavioral implications, 220–224
  - dealing with, 219
  - definition, 219
  - levels, organizational behaviors, 225–227
  - measurement, 219
  - related to Schwarz autonomy
    - versus embeddedness scale, 220
  - understanding scales and underlying dimensions, 190–191
- Austria
  - group as focal actor, 199
  - singleton, 295
- Bidimensional (bilinear)
  - acculturation model, 34
- Big Mac index, 156
- Brazil
  - singleton, 264–266

- Career transitions, 224
 Censorship, 31
 China
   group as focal actor, 199
 Cluster adjacency, 100
 Cluster analysis, 245–246
   Aegean cluster, 253
     basics, 253
     correlates, 256
     managerial and organizational implications, 257
     organizational dimensions, 256
   Anglo cluster, 303
     basics, 303–306
     correlates, 306–307
     managerial and organizational implications, 308–309
     organizational dimensions, 308
   Arab cluster, 247
     basics, 247–250
     correlates, 250
     managerial and organizational implications, 251–252
     organizational dimensions, 251
   classification, 38
   Confucian cluster, 310
     basics, 310–311
     correlates, 311–315
     Japan and South Korea, singletons, 316–319
     managerial and organizational implications, 319–320
     organizational dimensions, 315–316
   criticisms, 40–43
   cultural mapping, 38
   East European cluster, 267
     basics, 267–270
     correlates, 270–271
     Cyprus, odd bedfellow, 272–274
     managerial and organizational implications, 274
     organizational dimensions, 271–272
   geographical, 36
   Germanic cluster, 290
     Austria, singleton, 295
     basics, 290–291
     correlates, 291
     managerial and organizational implications, 297
     organizational dimensions, 294, 302
   Latin American cluster, 258
     basics, 258–259
     Brazil, singleton, 264–266
     correlates, 259–262
     managerial and organizational implications, 266
     organizational dimensions, 262–263
   Latin European cluster, 275
     basics, 275
     correlates, 278
     Israel, singleton, 279–280
     managerial and organizational implications, 280
     organizational dimensions, 279
   multiple variables crucial, 42 Nordic cluster, 283
     basics, 283
     correlates, 286–287
     managerial and organizational implications, 288–289
     organizational dimensions, 287–288
   proximity, 37 purpose, 36
   South Asian cluster, 321
     basics, 321–324
     correlates, 324–325
     India, singleton, 325–326
     Jamaica and Zimbabwe, odd bedfellows, 328–329
     managerial and organizational implications, 331
     organizational dimensions, 325
   strong methodology required, 42
   Sub-Saharan African cluster, 298
     basics, 298–299
     correlates, 299
     managerial and organizational implications, 302
   summary, 43
   summary of organizational-related dimensions, 332–333
 Cluster cohesiveness, 81–83, 111
 Cluster dimensions diversity, 43
   individualism–collectivism, 44–45
 Clustering map
   Trompenaars database (Smith et al 1995; 1996a), 61–63 brief summary of input data, 68–69 Brodbeck et al. (2000), 54–56
   cluster cohesiveness, 81–83
   convergence versus divergence cultural changes, 110 gauging, 109 countries removed from database, 115–116
   distilling dataset, 65–66 eleven families of organizational behaviors, 104–106 empty clusters, 108–109 establishing adjacency, 83–85 Foley (1992), 56–58 foundations of synthesized solution, 66–67 four-step process, 66 from MDS to cultural pie, 86–87
   GLOBE (House et al., 2004), 58
   Hofstede (2001), 58–59
   ideal number of clusters, 89–90 Inglehart and Baker (2000), 59 introducing removed countries, 87
   Merritt (2000), 59
   naming, 106
   nested view, 106–108 reading and understanding, 101 removal of countries, 67–68
   Ronen and Shenkar (1985), 65
   Schwartz (1999), 60
   selecting input studies cluster listing, 72–73 goals and challenges, 49–51 rejected studies, 52 sample characteristics, 70 selection criteria, 51 studies selected, 52–53 variables and dimensions employed, 53 Smith et al. (2002), 60–61 solution compared to input studies, 100 supporting analyses evolution of cluster adjacency, 100 reaffirming cluster membership, 98

- testing added value of Ronen and Shanker and Hofstede, 96–97
  - types performed, 88
- supporting analysis
  - sensitivity analysis (SA), 90–96
- synthesized country distance
  - computing country distance, 74
  - dendrogram and nested layers, 76–81
  - frequency of countries, 71–74
- synthesized distance
  - hierarchial clustering, 76
  - synthesized three-layered, 48
- Zander (2005), 63–65
- Cognitive theories, 13
- Collectualization, 194
- Company loyalty, 224
- Confucian cluster
  - basics, 310–311
  - correlates, 311–315
  - Japan and South Korea, singletons, 316–319
  - managerial and organizational implications, 319–320
  - organizational dimensions, 315–316
- Consumer behavior, 20
- Convergence of culture, 28–30
  - cultural clustering, 46–47
  - economically driven, 29
  - fully fledged state not immediate, 32
  - multinational enterprises, 30
- Correlates
  - Aegean cluster, 256
  - Anglo cluster, 306–307
  - Arab cluster, 250
  - East European cluster, 270–271
  - Germanic cluster, 291
  - Latin American cluster, 259–262
  - Latin European cluster, 278
  - Nordic cluster, 286–287
  - South Asian cluster, 324–325
  - Sub-Saharan African cluster, 299
- Crossvergence, 33
- Cultural clustering
  - advantages, 39
  - capture of magnitude and form of differences, 39
  - convergence-divergence debate, 46–47
  - empirical classification, 38
  - guide to sampling strategies, 38
- Cultural correlates
  - attitudinal and behavioral dimensions, 193
- economic development
  - cluster characteristics, 159–165
  - data description, 157–159
  - indices used, 157–159
  - use of GDP/PPP for analysis, 156–157
- economic freedom, 168–174
  - choice of, 166–167
  - data description, 167–168
  - definition, 165
  - fluidity, 166
- geography
  - average distance from equator, 133–138
  - causality, 120
  - cluster characteristics, 122–129
  - cluster size, 129, 132–133
  - cultural, 120
  - deciding continuums, 122
  - four distinct continuums, 121–122
  - human, 120
  - impact on cultural clustering, 138
  - physical, 120
  - variables explaining cultural formation, 121
- impact of, 118
- integrated clusters, 174–186
  - adjacency, 183
  - connections and relationships between, 183–188
- language, 139–140
  - cluster characteristics, 141–145
  - data description, 140
  - impact on cultural clustering, 145–146
- religion
  - cluster characteristics, 150–154
  - data description, 148–150
  - definition, 146
  - impact on cultural clustering, 154–156
  - six ways relates to culture, 146–148
- search for, 117
- selection
  - ecological and man-made, 118–119
  - seven types, 119
- Cultural distance, 18
- Cultural geography, 120
- Cultural mapping, 38
- Cultural proximity, investments, 21
- Culture
  - attitudinal and behavioral dimensions. See Attitudinal and behavioral dimensions
  - business theory
    - business-related theories, 13
    - economic unease at variable, 14
    - lack of social science theory, 47
    - predicting formation of distinct cultures, 13
    - roots at micro level, 13
    - transaction costs economics (TCE), 14
  - cluster analysis. See Cluster analysis
  - cluster dimensions. See Cluster dimensions
  - clustering map. See Clustering map
  - complex and evolved product, 22
  - consumer behavior, 20
  - convergence forces, 28–30
  - correlates. See Cultural correlates
  - cultural clustering, 34–35. See Cultural clustering
  - definition, 5
  - distinction between groups, 5
  - divergence forces, 30–32
  - ecocultural framework, 23–24
  - economy, impact on, 25–26
  - entreneurship, 20
  - finance, implications for, 20–21
  - fundamental feature of human consciousness, 11
  - geographical factors, 24
  - globalization, 26
    - convergence or divergence, 26–28
    - not level across world, 28
    - partial scenarios, 32–34
    - rise of, 28

- Culture (cont.)
 impact on business, 16 impact on business and economics management myriad of forms and patterns, 12 not to be treated as residual variable, 11 language as surrogate for, 25
 markers evasive, 22–23
 marketing, 20
 national disintegration, 30
 organization behavior
 Southern/Northern European differences, 17 organization behavior, HRM and, 16–18 powerful force in business, 5
 religion, 24
 rice theory, 23
 stabilized by environment, 22 strategy
 cultural distance, 18
 impact of home culture, 18 key decisions, 18–19
 multinational enterprises, 19–20
 root cause of multiple problems, 19 variable overridden, 23 variables
 correlating, 22
- Cyprus
 odd bedfellow, 272–274
- Davos culture, 28
- Deference, 205–206
 high, behavioral implications, 209–210
 low, behavioral implications, 207–209
- Dendrogram, 71
 nested layers, 76–81
- Dendrograms
 stability, 90–96
- Divergence of culture, 30–32
 break-up of Europe, 30
 cultural clustering, 46–47
 de-Westernization of elites, 31 driving values, 31
- East European cluster, 267
 basics, 267–270
 managerial and organizational implications, 274
 organizational dimensions, 271–272
- Eco-cultural framework, 23–24
- Economic development
 cluster characteristics, 159–165
 cultural clustering, impact on, 165 data characteristics, 159–165
 use of GDP/PPP for analysis, 156–157
- Economic fluidity, 166
- Economic freedom
 cluster characteristics, 168–174
 correlates, choice of, 166–167 cultural clustering, impact of, 174
 data description, 167–168
 fluidity, 166
- Educational institutions preserving and reinforcing national culture, 6
- Employee motivation group success, 197
- Entrepreneurship, 20
- Families of nations, 35
- Finance
 lack of cross-cultural research, 20–21
- Focal actor – individual or group, 191–193
 behavioral implications, 193–196
 collectualization, 194
 job promotions, 195
 job selection, 195
 rewards, 195
 self-actualization, 194
- Foreign direct investment (FDI), 15 process, 15
- Gender egalitarianism, 213, 217
 high, 217
- Geography
 addition to culture, 24
 average distance from equator, 133–138
 cluster characteristics, 122–129
 cluster size, 129, 132–133
 deciding continuums, 122–129
 four distinct continuums, 121–122
 impact on cultural clustering, 138
- Germanic cluster
 Austria, singleton, 295
 basics, 290–291
 correlates, 291
 managerial and organizational implications, 297
 organizational dimensions, 294, 302
- Gini coefficient, 207
- Globalization
 convergence or divergence of culture, 26–28
 definition, 26
 impact on HRM best practice, 17–18
 not level across world, 28
 partial, 32–34
 rise of, 28
- Gross Domestic Product
 adjusted for Purchasing Power Parity, 156–157
- Home bias, investments, 20–21
- Horizontal collectivism (HC), 45
- Horizontal individualism (HI), 45
- Horizontal-vertical individualism-collectivism (HVIC), 45
- Human geography, 120
- Human Resource Management (HRM) organization behavior, and, 16–18
- Humane orientation
 high, behavioral implications, 237
 levels, organizational behaviors, 239
 low, behavioral implications, 238
 manifestation of, 237
 measurement, 237
- Immigration
 entrepreneurship, impact on, 223 globalization, impact on, 34
- India
 singleton, 325–326
- Individualism, 17
 asset allocation, 21

- Individualism, impact on investments, 21
- Individualism–collectivism, 44–45
- In-group, 198
- Institutional economics, 14
- Integrated clusters, 174–186
 connections and relationships between, 183–188
- Intellectual autonomy, 220
- Internalization, 15
- Internationalization theory, 15
- Israel
 group as focal actor, 200
 singleton, 279–280
- Jack-knifing. See Sensitivity
 Analysis (SA)
- Jamaica
 odd bedfellow, 328–329
- Japan
 group as focal actor, 200
 singleton, 316–319
- Job promotions, 195
- Job selection, 195
- Language, 139–140
 as surrogate for culture, 25
 cluster characteristics, 141–145
 data description, 140
- Languages
 impact on cultural clustering, 145–146
- Lateral relationships, 230
- Latin American cluster, 258
 basics, 258–259
 Brazil, singleton, 264–266
 correlates, 259–262
 managerial and organizational implications, 266
 organizational dimensions, 262–263
- Latin European cluster
 basics, 275
 Israel, singleton, 279–280
 managerial and organizational
 implications, 280
 organizational dimensions, 279
- Long-term orientation
 characteristics, 231
 cultures exhibiting, 232
 definition, 230
- moderate levels in most societies, 232
- relationship to other dimensions and correlates, 232–233
- Marketing, 20
- Masculinity–femininity, 44
- Maslow’s hierarchy of needs, 194
- Mexico
 group as focal actor, 198
- Military service
 entrepreneurship, impact on, 223
- Multi-algorithm voting, 89–90
- Multidimensional scaling (MDS), 83–85
 creating cultural pie, 86–87 verifying cluster membership, 98
- Multinational enterprises balancing globalization and localization, 19–20 subservient to national sovereignty, 7 transformation into global organizations, 30
 use of nation-state in environmental analysis, 7
- Nation-state analysis of individuals, 10 dominant culture, 7 limits in use in analysis cultural variations, 9 limits in using for analysis blocking full representation of cultural uniqueness, 8 meaningful degree of commonality and differences, 8
 role in cultural homogenization, 6 used by MNEs in environmental analysis, 7
- National sovereignty
 MNEs subservient to, 7
- Nepotism, 198
- Nordic cluster
 basics, 283
 correlates, 286–287
 managerial and organizational
 implications, 288–289
- organizational dimensions, 287–288
- Normative value system, 10
- Odd bedfellows, 37, 101
 Cyprus, 272–274
 Jamaica, 328–329
- Onion diagram, 16
- Organization behavior
 impact of culture Southern/Northern European differences, 16–18
 national culture, impact of, 16–18
- Organizations
 tolerance for ambiguity, 221
- Out-group, 198
- Partial globalization, 32–34
- Past orientation
 cultures exhibiting, 232
- Performance orientation, 238–240
 high, behavioral implications, 241–243
 locus of control, 240–241
 low, behavioral implications, 243
- Physical geography, 120
- Present orientation
 cultures exhibiting, 232
- Purchasing power entity, 156–157
- Religion
 as surrogate for culture, 24
 cluster characteristics, 150–154
 data description, 148–150
 definition, 146
 impact on cultural clustering, 154–156
 six ways relates to culture, 146–148
- Rewards, 195, 215
 non-competitive, 197
- Rice theory, 23, 121
- Schwartz autonomy vs.
 embeddedness scale, 220
- Self-actualization, 194
- Self-managed teams, 196–197
- Semi-globalization, 34
 variations, 34
- Sensitivity Analysis (SA), 90–96

- Short-term orientation
  - definition, 231
- Singletons
  - Austria, 295
  - Brazil, 264–266
  - India, 325–326
  - Israel, 279–280
  - Japan, 316–319
  - South Korea, 316–319
- Social axioms, 46
- Social patterns of differentiation, 13
- South Asian cluster
  - basics, 321–324
  - correlates, 324–325
  - India, singleton, 325–326
  - Jamaica and Zimbabwe, odd bedfellows, 328–329
  - managerial and organizational implications, 331
  - organizational dimensions, 325
- South Korea
  - singleton, 316–319
- Specialists, 230
- SPSS software, 89
- Start-up nation, 223
- Sub-Saharan African cluster
  - managerial and organizational implications, 302
- Sub-Saharan African cluster
  - basics, 298–299
  - correlates, 299
- Team-oriented leadership, 197
- Technology
  - impact on cultural convergence/divergence, 31
- Theory of familiarity, 15
- Three nested cluster levels, 101
- Tolerance for ambiguity
  - behavioral implications, 220–224
  - dealing with, 219
  - definition, 219
  - measurement, 219
  - organizations, 221
- Schwarz autonomy versus embeddedness scale, 220
- Transaction costs economics and agency theory, 14
- Transaction costs
  - economics, 14
- Tree display of clusters, 104
- uncertainty avoidance, 44
  - asset allocation, 21
  - bank financing, 21
  - Universal values, 31
- Unwritten rules, 229–230
- Vertical collectivism (VC), 45
- Vertical individualism (VI), 45
- Widespread beliefs, 229
- Zimbabwe
  - odd bedfellow, 328–329