

INDEX

- abrasive personality, in victim precipitation research, 102
- absenteeism
 as coping mechanism, 273–274 job satisfaction and abusive supervision and, 69–70 workplace aggression and, 74
- abuse
 in Counterproductive Work Behavior Checklist, 23
 by customers, 45–46
- abusive relationships research, abusive supervision and, 94
- abusive supervision, 43–44 anonymous reporting of, 107–109 constructs for, 350–356 content breadth and, 354–356 coping with, 285–286
 crossover and spillover effects and, 208–211
 cultural differences concerning, 246–248, 250–252, 259–260 definition and operationalization of, 95 in hostile climate, 48 job performance and, 74 job satisfaction and, 69–70 leadership research in, 93–94 limitations and challenges of research on, 109–112 nonlinear effects of, 98–101 organizational aggression and, 109–112 personality traits of subordinates and, 98–101 practical implications of research on, 112–113 process models for, 94 profile of abusive supervisors, 107–109 reciprocal aggression and, 78 social identity and, 141–142
 victim precipitation model and, 101–107, 125–126 victimology approach to, 103–106
- acceptance of aggression, power imbalance and restoration, 71–72
- accountability
 of supervisors, 96–98
 for workplace aggression, 322–324
- achievement orientation, cultural differences in, 251–252
- Act Respecting Labour Standards (Quebec), 333–334
- active provocative victim profile, 105–106
- acts of omission, ostracism and, 224–225, 234–235, 236–238
- addictive behaviors, abusive supervision and, 111
- affective mechanisms
 cultural differences in, 261–262
 of ostracism, 232–234
 social emotions explanations theory, 159–160
 spillover effects, 188–190
 workplace aggression and, 70
- affirmative action, social identity and, 141–142
- agency
 in perpetrator predation model, 127–129
 in victim precipitation research, 103–106, 356–361
- agents of experience, in victimology research, 103–106
- aggregates of behavior, prediction of counterproductive work behaviors and, 301–302
- aggression, negative emotion and, 35–36

- agreeableness
 as predictor of workplace aggression, 307–312
 of subordinates, 98–101
- alcohol consumption
 coping methods and, 283–285
 spillover effects of aggression and, 190–193
 workplace aggression and, 75–76
- Alliance Against Sexual Coercion, 324–325
- ambient stimulus principle, coworker mistreatment and, 44–45
- ambiguity, of workplace ostracism, 235–236
- Amir, Menachem, 121–125
- analytic techniques in workplace aggression research, 145–146
- Andersson, C. M., 45–46, 147–150, 322–324, 356–361
- Andersson, L. M., 45–46, 147–150, 322–324, 356–361
- anger
 coping methods and, 279–282
 cultural differences in, 259–260
 social emotions explanations theory, 159–160
 subordinate's perceptions of abuse and,
 98–101
 workplace aggression and, 41–43, 51
- anger management programs, training interventions and, 335–339
- Aniakudo, P., 139–141
- anti-harassment policies, 328–332
 outcomes of, 343–344
- anxiety, workplace aggression and, 67
- approach-rejection theory of same-sex harassment, 129–131
- Aquino, Karl, 5, 103–106, 125–126, 161–162, 208–211, 273–275, 283–286
- Arnett, J. J., 143–145, 146–147
- Ashkansy, Neal, 3–5, 93, 356–361
- Asian Americans, bias and stereotypes concerning, 138–139
- Asian culture, power distance orientation in, 251–252
- assessment of workplace aggression. See also measurements of workplace aggression measurement techniques, 9–29 overview, 3
- attitudinal/psychological outcomes of workplace aggression, 69
- attribution processes coping mechanisms and, 275–278
 coping methods and, 286–290
 cultural differences in, 261–262 exposure to aggression and, 276–277
 ostracism and, 232–234
 self- vs. other-directed attributions, 277 subordinate's perceptions of abuse and,
 98–101
 Weiner's attribution model, 107–109
- Australia, policy interventions against aggression in, 333–334
- avoidant behavior
 as coping mechanism, 273–275
 in victim precipitation research, 106–107
- awareness of workplace aggression, 322–324, 326–327
 organizational policies and, 327–328
- Baccardax, Anne, 5, 322–347
- backlash
 bias and stereotyping and, 138–139 against intervention in workplace aggression, 325–326, 343–344
- Baker, C. N., 324–325
- Bandura, Albert, 52–54, 103–106
- Banki, S., 221–223
- Barclay, L. J., 172–173
- Barling, J., 205, 325–326
- Barnes-Farrell, J. L., 359–361
- base rates of occurrence, prediction of counterproductive work behaviors and, 301–302
- Baumeister, R. F., 176–178
- Bayer, U., 176–178
- Bayne, Alison M., 3, 9–29
- “beat the test” coaching, integrity test validity
 and, 306
- Beehr, T. A., 103–106, 350–356
- behavioral intention proactive instrumental aggression
 and, 36–37
 qualitative analysis of, 361–362
- behavioral responses to workplace aggression, 73–76, 236–238
 cultural differences, 252–255
- behavioral self-blame, 279–282
- Bell, C. M., 165–166
- belongingness
 cultural differences in, 261–262
 ostracism and, 228–230
 resiliency concerning, 232
 social outcomes, 71
 substitution of, 232 threat to belonging model, 230–232

- benevolence orientation, cultural differences in, 251–252
- Bennett, M. M., 18–20
- Bennett, R. J., 297–300
- Berdahl, J. L., 221–223
- Berger, Ronald, 122–125
- Bergeron, N., 248–250
- Bergman, M. E., 246–248
- Berry, C. M., 41–43, 312–314
- Bhatnagar, N., 166–168
- bias
 in conditional reasoning measures, 312–314
 cultural differences and, 257–259 outcomes of workplace aggression
 and, 79–81
 in perpetrator predation model, 129–131
 social identity and, 138–139
- Big Five personality measures subordinate characteristics and, 98–101 validity of, 307–312
- biological outcomes of workplace
 aggression, 64–66
- Birkeland, S. A., 309–312
- Blackhard, G. C., 232–234
- black sheep effect, 162–164
- Bok, Cody, 3, 34–54
- Bond, M., 246–250
- Bowen, B., 335–339
- Bowes-Sperry, L., 161–162
- Bowie, V., 335–339
- Bowling, Nathan, 106, 350–366
- Brannick, M. T., 309–312
- breaking point, coping models and, 286–290
- Brotheridge, Céleste M., 5, 271–290
- Brown, Lian, 335–339
- Bruk-Lee, V., 44–45
- Bruursema, K., 23–25, 42–43
- Buchanan, NiCole, 147–150
- Budin, W. C., 327–328
- bullying construct, 350–356
 abusive supervision and, 94
 coping outcomes and, 283–285 current research on, 62–63 frequency and duration of, 15–18 in Negative Acts Questionnaire - Revised research, 15–18
 stress hormones and, 64–65 subordinate characteristics and, 101 victim precipitation research, 101–107
 workplace support systems and, 278
- Bunk, J. A., 359–362
- burnout, workplace aggression and, 68
- Burt, Martha, 122–125
- Burton, J. P., 43–44
- Byington, E., 259–260
- Byron, K., 103–106
- Canada
 policy interventions against aggression in, 333–334
 team interventions in, 339–343
- Carlson, Dawn, 3–5, 186–212
- Carlson, D. S., 203
- Caughlin, D. E., 48–49
- causal reasoning model attribution processes and, 276–277 environmental factors in aggression
 and, 35–36
- causation
 in abusive supervision, 109–113 coping and, 279–282
 ostracism and, 232–234
- challenges to aggression, power imbalance and restoration, 71–72
- characterological self-blame, 279–282
- Charmaz, Kathy, 127–129
- Chen, F., 250–251
- Chen, S., 250–251
- Chi, S., 248–250
- children of aggression targets, crossover effects on, 208–211
- China, victims of aggression in, 257
- Christian, M. S., 176–178, 359–361
- Chronbach's alphas
 Interpersonal Conflict at Work Scale analysis, 14–15
 Negative Acts Questionnaire
 - Revised, 17–18
- Church, A. T., 256
- circular reasoning, in victim precipitation research, 356–361
- civility promotion of, 363–366
 training interventions and, 335–339
- Civility, Respect, and Engagement at Work (CREW) program, 339–343, 363–366
- clarity, intervention in aggression
 and, 343–344
- Clarke, J. A., 328
- class bias
 in sampling research, 143–145 transparency in reporting about, 146–147
- co-dependency, abusive supervision and, 111
- coercive power, of supervisors, 96–98

- cognitive ability testing, 314–316
- cognitive processes mediation/moderation of aggression-outcome relationships, 76–77 social interactionist perspective
 and, 358–361
 in victim precipitation research, 106–107
- cognitive theory, environmental factors in aggression and, 37–39
- “cold-cognitive” process, workplace aggression
 and, 36–37
- collectivist culture outcomes of aggression and, 252–255 perpetrators in, 257–259 third parties in, 259–260 victims in, 257
 workplace aggression and, 248–250, 261–262
- compassion of employees, constructive effects of, 173–175
- competence
 stereotypes concerning, 138–139
 in victim precipitation research, 106–107
- conditional reasoning measures, 312–314
- Confirmatory Factor Analysis, Workplace Deviance Scale, 18–19
- conflict-escalation cycle, 278
- conflict management styles
 coping outcomes and, 283–285
 cultural differences concerning, 261–262
 in victim precipitation research, 106–107
- conscientiousness
 crossover and spillover effects and, 196–199
 moderation of aggression and, 76
 as predictor of workplace aggression, 307–312
 of subordinates, 98–101, 103–106
 of supervisors, 96–98
 victim precipitation model and, 129–131
- consequence-focused training interventions, 335–339
- consequences of workplace aggression, 62–63. See also outcomes of workplace
 aggression
 cultural differences in, 250–255
- Conservation of Resources theory, 186–188 coping models, 286–290
 spillover and crossover mechanisms, 188–190, 205–206
- consistency, intervention in aggression and, 343–344
- constraints, job stressors, 39
- constructs of aggression, 350–356
 cultural differences in, 246–248
 outcomes of workplace aggression
 and, 79–81
- content breadth measures, 354–356
- contentment of third parties, 172–173
- contextual aspects of aggression, 51 coping mechanisms and, 277–282, 286–290
 research challenges concerning, 359–361
- contingent characteristics crossover and spillover effects, 196–199, 204 experience sampling methodology and, 362–363
- continuous predictors, prediction of counterproductive work behaviors and, 301–302
- control issues
 coping outcomes and, 283–286
 individual cognition and, 76–77
- coping methods
 attribution processes and, 275–278 case study in, 271–273 contextual factors in, 277–282 core self-evaluations (CSE), 280–281
 cultural differences and, 261–262
 cultural differences in, 256 emotion-focused function, 274–275, 279–280
 gender differences in, 281 individual cognition and, 76–77 individual factors in, 279–282 models of coping, 271–273, 286–290 moderating influence of, 285–286 organizational support for, 278–279 for ostracism, 236–238
 outcomes of, 283–285
 problem-focused coping, 273–274 relative power and, 278–279 research challenges concerning, 359–361
 of subordinates, 107–109 temporal experience in, 281–282
 for workplace aggression, 5
 workplace support systems, 278
- core self-evaluations (CSE)
 coping methods and, 280–281
 subordinate’s perceptions of abuse and,
 98–101
- Cortina, Lilia M., 3–5, 121–131, 136–151, 252–255, 275–278, 283–285, 356–361, 363–366
- cortisol levels, workplace aggression
 and, 64–65

- cost/benefit evaluations, 156–157, 161–162 intervention by third parties and, 166–168
- counter-aggressive behavior
 coping outcomes and, 283–285
 desire for revenge and, 78
- counterproductive work behavior (CWB) assessment of predictor domains, 302–316
 Big Five personality factors and, 307–312
 cognitive ability testing and, 314–316
 conditional reasoning measures, 312–314
 criteria for, 297–300
 future research issues in, 316–317 individual vs. organizational behaviors, 300–301
 integrity test assessment, 303–307 personnel selection practices and, 296–317 prediction of, 301–302
 situational judgment measures and, 307
- Counterproductive Work Behavior
 Checklist, 9–10
 basic principles, 23–25
 coworker mistreatment and, 44–45
 critique of, 25–27
 interpersonal injustice and, 41–43 mistreatment from customers and, 45–46 multiple perspectives in, 10–12 procedural justice and, 42–43 psychometric data in, 23–25 scale development, 23
 stressor-emotion model, 35–36
- counterproductive workplace behaviors (CWB), 74–75
- co-workers. See also third parties
 crossover effects and, 193–196, 203–204
 cultural differences concerning, 261–262
- coworkers mistreatment from, 44–45 support from, 278
- Coyne, I., 103–106
- Crawford, N., 324–325
- Crick, N. R., 37–39
- criminology
 subordinate perceptions of abuse in, 98
 victim precipitation model in, 121–125
- critical incident research, 362–363
- Cropanzano, R., 359–361
- crossover effects
 contingent characteristics, 196–199, 204
 dynamic process model of, 186–188 expansion of research on, 208–211 mechanisms for facilitation of, 188–190, 200–203
- outcomes of, 193–196, 203–204
 review of research on, 199–205 theoretical perspectives on, 205–206
- cross-sectional research on abusive supervision, 94 causation and, 112–113
 crossover effects and, 208–211
 limitations of, 109–112, 361–363
- crowd-sourcing platforms, aggression research using, 143–145
- Cuddy, A. C., 138–139
- cultural differences abusive supervision consequences and, 250–252
 consequences of workplace aggression, 250–255
 in construct and measurements of workplace aggression, 246–248
 cultural values and, 261 defined, 245–246
 integrity test validity and, 306–307 moderating effects of, 249–250 ostracism research and, 235 perceptions of supervisory abuse and, 98–101
 perpetrators of aggression and, 257–259 prevalence of aggression and, 248–250 theoretical perspectives on, 261–262
 third parties and, 259–260
 workplace aggression and, 3–5, 245–262
- customers, mistreatment by
 cultural differences in, 252–255
 fear of aggression or violence and, 78–79 workplace aggression as result of, 45–46
- cyclical nature of workplace aggression, 52
- Dannanbaum, S. E., 335–339
- Dark Triad characteristics as predictors of workplace aggression, 309–312
 workplace aggression prevention and, 5
- De Kwaadsteniet, E. W., 162–164
- decision-making theory, instrumental aggression and, 36–37
- DeMarco, R. F., 327–328
- Denmark, interventions in workplace aggression in, 328–332
- deonance theory, 158–159
- deontic anger, workplace aggression and, 51
- depression
 ostracism and, 232–234
 as spillover effect, 203

- depression (cont.)
 subordinate's perceptions of abusive supervision and, 96–98
 workplace aggression and, 67
- deserving victimization theory, in victim precipitation research, 101–107
- developmental psychology, crossover effects on children and, 208–211
- DeVore, C. J., 296–301
- direct actions punishment of perpetrators, 162–164
 in Social Undermining Scale, 21–22
- discrete real-time emotions, ostracism and, 234
- discrimination at work, historical awareness of workplace aggression and, 324–325
- dispute-related bullying, victim precipitation research, 101–107
- distributive justice, 41–43
 subordinate's perceptions of abusive supervision and, 96–98
- diversity programs sampling research limitations concerning, 143–145
 social identity and, 141–142
- Dodge, K. A., 37–39
- Dofradottir, A., 274–275
- Dollard, J., 35–36
- Dollard, M. F., 285–286
- Doob, L. W., 35–36
- Douglas, S. C., 109–112, 273–274, 285–286
- downsizing, workplace aggression and, 40
- Dragow, F., 246–248
- Duer, E. E., 309–312
- Duffy, M. K., 43–44, 127–129, 326–327, 328–332
- Dutton, J. E., 173–175
- dynamic process model
 basic principles, 186–188
 workplace model, 3–5
- Edward, K. R., 325–326
- Edwards, J. R., 353–355
- Effort-Recovery theory, 205–206, 208
- ego depletion self-control and, 36
 of supervisors, 96–98
- Einarsen, S., 103–106
- embarrassment, moral self theory and, 170–171
- emotional exhaustion, 45–46, 68, 176–178 coping with workplace aggression and, 283–285
 of ostracism, 232–234
- emotional labor, 45–46
 coping with aggression and, 274–275 spillover and crossover effects and, 188–190
 of third parties, 168
- emotional stability
 cultural differences concerning, 261–262
 as predictor of workplace aggression, 307–312
 of subordinates, 103–106
- emotion-focused function
 as coping mechanism, 274–275, 279–280
 individual traits and, 279–282
- empathy of third parties, 159–160, 172–175
 cultural differences in, 259–260
- Empire State College (ESC) training intervention program, 335–339
- empirical research on workplace aggression, 162–168
 spillover effects, 208
- employee aggression
 abusive supervision and, 43–44
 coworkers mistreatment, 44–45 customer-directed sabotage, 45–46 enacted aggression, role stress and, 40 entitlement, of supervisors, 96–98
- environmental factors in workplace aggression customer mistreatment, 45–46 integrative conceptual process model and, 49–54 intervention policies and, 327–328 job stressors, 39–41
 as mediators/moderators, 79 normative processes and, 37–39 overview of, 3, 34–54
 physical environment, 40–41 proactive instrumental (“cold-cognitive”) processes, 36–37 psychological climate model, 45–46 reactive emotional process, 35–36
 research challenges concerning, 359–361
 social stressors, 41–46 workplace support systems, 278
- envy
 bias and stereotyping linked to, 138–139
 victim precipitation model and, 129–131
- Erez, A., 164–166
- escape, as coping mechanism, 273–274
- Estes, B., 335–339
- ethics
 in psychological climate model, 45–46 theoretical frameworks for, 52–54

- Etzion, D., 206–208 event-contingent reporting, 362–363 evolutionary perspective, reactive emotional process and, 36 exclusion beliefs, 164–166
   cultural differences in, 246–248
   ostracism and, 228–230, 234 exercise, subordinate's perceptions of abusive supervision and, 96–98 expectancy theory, instrumental aggression and, 36–37 experience sampling methodology (ESM), workplace aggression and, 362–363 experimental research on aggression, 361–363 external locus of causality
   subordinate's perceptions of abuse and, 98–101
   in victim precipitation research, 103–106
 extraversion, of subordinates, 98–101
- fairness perceptions, 71 fairness theory, workplace injustice and, 41–43 “fake good” behavior, integrity test validity and, 306
- family effects of workplace aggression contingent characteristics in, 196–199
   crossover effects and, 208–211
   crossover outcomes and, 193–196, 208–211
   organizational policies and, 206–208
   research on, 73
   spillover outcomes and, 190–193, 203 supervisory abuse and, 96–98
- family systems theory, 205–206 family-to-work issues
   crossover effects and, 203–204, 205 spillover effects and, 203, 205
- fear as mediator of aggression, 78–79
   of third parties, 172–173
- feedback loop, in coping models, 286–290 Felblinger, D. M., 326–327, 328–332 Felps, W., 259–260
 feminists
   bias and stereotyping concerning, 138–139
   victim precipitation model and, 122–125
- Ferguson, Merideth, 3–5, 186–212
 Ferris, G., 327–328, 354–356
 Finland, intervention policies against aggression in, 327–332 Fiske, S. T., 138–139
- Five Factor Model, workplace aggression prevention and, 5 Fogli, L., 316–317
 Foldes, H. J., 309–312
 Folger, Robert, 3–5, 51, 156–178 Folkman, S., 277
 food service employees, mistreatment from customers of, 45–46 Ford, Rob, 224–225
 forethought, subordinates' avoidance of aggression by, 103–106
- forgiveness
   as coping strategy, 274–275
   by third parties, 173–175
- formative measurement
   in Counterproductive Work Behavior Checklist, 23–25
   validation of, 353–355
- Fox, S., 23–25, 35–36, 41–43
 Fragale, A. R., 162–164
 Francis, Lori, 3, 62–81
 Franklin, Alice, 122–125
 Franklin, Clyde, 122–125
 Friedman, R., 248–250
 Frone, M. R., 45–46 frustration-aggression hypothesis, 35–36
- Gaffney, D. A., 327–328
 Gallus, Jessica, 147–150, 359–361 Gangadharan, A., 252–255
 gaslighting behavior, resolution of ostracism and, 236–238 Gazica, M., 48–49
 Gedro, J., 335–339
- gender
   bias and stereotyping concerning, 138–139
   coping methods and, 281
   crossover and spillover effects and, 196–199
   crossover effects and, 208–211
   cultural differences in workplace aggression and, 248–250, 257 efficacy of policy interventions and, 332–333
   integrity test validity and, 306–307
   outcomes of workplace aggression and, 79–81
   perpetrator predation and, 129–131 policy interventions and, 332–333 sampling research and bias of, 143–145
   transparency in reporting about, 146–147
   workplace aggression and, 147–150
- Gerber, J., 232–234

- German culture, third parties to aggression in, 259–260
- Glick, P., 138–139
- globalization cultural differences concerning workplace aggression and, 245–246 research on workplace aggression and impact of, 143–145
- Glomb, Theresa, 129–131, 246–248
- goal setting theory, organizational constraints and, 49–54
- Goh, A., 23–25, 42–43
- Gonzalez-Mule, E., 314–316
- Gottfredson, L. S., 314–316
- Grandey, A. A., 45–46, 274–275
- Greenbaum, R. L., 162–164, 165–166
- Gross, C., 283–285
- Gross, M. A., 103–106
- group dynamics, ostracism and, 226–228
- group-oriented moral behavior, 168–172
- Gruys, M. L., 300–301
- guilt, moral self theory and, 170–171
- Haidt, J., 232–234
- Hansen, A. M., 283–285
- harassment, ostracism and, 228–230
- Hargrave, G. E., 335–339
- Harris, K. J., 172–173
- Harvey, P., 285–286
- Hasle, P., 328–332
- healthcare staff, coping with workplace aggression by, 283–286
- health-related outcomes of workplace aggression, 64–69
- Healthy Workplace Bill, 333–334
- “hear no evil” environments, intervention policies and, 327–328
- Heinitz, K., 103–106
- Henle, C. A., 103–106
- Hershcovis, Sandy, 41–43, 44–45, 51, 245–246, 325–326
- Hiatt, D., 335–339
- high-performing employees, victimization of, 129–131
- Hillebrandt, A., 172–173
- hindrance stressors, 39
- Hinkin, T. R., 350–356
- Hispanic culture, sexual harassment in, 252–255
- Hobler, J. M., 43–44
- Hobfoll, S. E., 286–290
- Hofstede, G., 248–250, 261
- Hogh, A., 274–275
- homicide, victim precipitation model in, 121–125
- Hoobler, Jenny, 3–5, 186–212
- horizontal individualism, 252–255
- hostile attribution bias, 96–98
   in conditional reasoning measures, 312–314
   subordinate’s perceptions of abuse and, 98–101
   in supervisors and subordinates, 107–109
- hostile climate, workplace aggression and, 48, 363–366
- Hough, A., 283–285
- Howell, S. E., 245–246
- Hu, C., 246–248
- Human Covenant, workplace aggression and, 51
- human dignity, workplace injustice and, 41–43
- human resources policies, crossover and spillover effects and, 206–208
- Hunter, E., 45–46
- Hunter, J. E., 309–312
- identity neutrality, in social structural research framework, 136–137
- immigration status, perpetrator predation and, 127–131
- implicit stereotyping, 138–139
- incivility ambiguity of, 235–236
   constructs of, 350–356
   cultural differences concerning, 248–250, 252–255 customer mistreatment and, 45–46 gender identity and, 147–150 interventions against, 322–324
   ostracism and, 225–226, 228–230
   perpetrator predation and, 129–131 psychological climate and, 47–49 relational and contextual aspects of, 51 risk reduction strategies for, 343–344 in social structural research framework, 136–137 spiral of, 356–361
   team interventions in, 339–343
   tit-for-tat response to, 147–150, 273–274
   training interventions and, 335–339
- India, sexual harassment in, 257
- indirect actions, punishment of perpetrators, 162–164

- individual affective states, mediation/moderation of aggression and, 77–78
- individual cognition, mediation/moderation of
 workplace aggression and, 76–77
- individual social outcomes, workplace
 aggression and, 72
- individual traits
 coping methods and, 279–282 counterproductive work behavior and, 297– 301, 307–312
 as moderator of aggression-outcome relationships, 76
 prediction of counterproductive work behaviors and, 301–302
- individualism
 cultural differences in, 252–255, 261–262
 third parties and, 259–260
- informational injustice, 41–43
- injustice. See justice
- insomnia, workplace aggression and, 65–66
- instrumental aggression abusive supervision as, 43–44
 cultural differences in, 249–250 integrative conceptual process model, 49–54 motives for, 37–39
 processes of, 36–37
- integrative conceptual process model, psychological processes and, 49–54
- integrity test validity, prediction of counterproductive work behaviors and, 301–302
- integrity tests assessments of, 303–307 personality-based assessments, 307–312 situational judgment measures, 307
- intent to harm criteria
 in conditional reasoning measures, 312–314
 counterproductive work behavior, 297–300 interpersonal mistreatment, 9–10 measurements of workplace aggression
 and, 12
 ostracism and, 226–228
 social interactionist perspective and, 358–361
- interaction effects
 abusive supervision and, 43–44
 aggression constructs and, 350–356 fairness and justice perceptions and, 71 injustice and, 41–43
 supervisor-subordinate characteristics, 107–109
 workplace aggression, 3–5, 356–361
- interactional justice, 71 subordinate's perceptions of abusive supervision and, 96–98
- interindividual contagion, crossover effects
 and, 186–188, 208–211
- internal attributions, ostracism and, 232–234
- internal consistency reliability in Counterproductive Work Behavior
 Checklist, 23–25
 Interpersonal Conflict at Work
 Scale, 14–15
 Workplace Deviance Scale, 19–20
- internalization, moral self theory, 168–172
- International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP), 127–129
- Interpersonal Conflict at Work Scale
 (ICAWS), 9–10
 basic principles of, 14–15
 critique of, 25–27
 psychometric properties, 14–15
 scale description and history, 14
- Interpersonal Deviance Scale, 18–20
- interpersonal relationships
 abusive supervision and, 43–44
 crossover outcomes and, 193–196
 defined, 9–10
 injustice and, 41–43
 intent to harm criteria, 9–10
 mistreatment by coworkers, 44–45 non-work relationships, workplace
 aggression and, 73
 ostracism and, 225–226
 spillover effects and, 190–193
- interventions in aggression. See also legislation and penalties for workplace aggression
 anti-harassment policies, 328 creation of policies for, 328–332 current approaches, 327–328
 efficacy of, 332–333, 345–347 future challenges for, 345–347
 limitations of, 325–326 organizational interventions, 322–347
 for ostracism, 236–238
 personnel selection and, 296–297
 team interventions, 339–343 theories concerning, 343–344
 of third parties, 166–168 training interventions, 335–339 workplace interventions, 322–324
- intimate partner violence
 crossover outcomes and, 193–196, 205

- intimate partner violence (cont.)
 spillover effects of aggression and,
 190–193, 205
 victim precipitation model and, 122–125
- intra-individual contagion, spillover effects and, 186–188
- invisible remedies for workplace aggression, 166–168
- inward-focused emotions, coping methods
 and, 279–282
- Irani, F. S., 248–250
- Israel, workplace aggression in, 246–248
- James, L. R., 312–314
- Japan, workplace aggression in, 246–248, 256
- Jennings, P. L., 170, 176–178
- Jex, Steven M., 3, 9–29, 44–45
- job design and analysis counterproductive work behavior and, 297–300
 crossover and spillover effects
 and, 206–208
- job mobility and transfer as aggression outcome, 283–285 moderation of aggression and, 76–77
- job performance
 cognitive ability testing and, 314–316
 situational judgment measures of, 307
 workplace aggression and, 74
- job satisfaction, workplace aggression
 and, 69–70
- job stressors
 constraints as, 39
 role stressors, 39–40
 workplace aggression and, 39–41
- Jóhannsdóttir, H. L., 281
- Jones, D. A., 41–43
- just world beliefs, 164–166
- justice counterproductive behavior and retaliation
 and, 74–75
 cultural differences in, 259–260, 261–262
 perceptions of, 41–43
- justice perceptions, 71 counterproductive behavior and retaliation
 and, 74–75
 cultural differences in, 249–250
 individual cognition and, 76–77
- Kabat-Farr, D., 139–141
- Kacmar, K. M., 203
- Kamal, A., 255
- Kanter, Rosabeth Moss, 139–141
- Kantian traits, moral self theory, 168–172
- Karabin, J., 361–362
- Karney, B. R., 206–208
- Keashly, L., 274–275, 328–332
- Kelloway, E. Kevin, 3, 62–81, 273–274, 285–286, 335–339
- Kern, J. H., 45–46
- Kernan, M. C., 250–252
- Kerschreiter, R., 103–106
- Kim, Eugene, 129–131
- Kim, T. G., 250–251
- Kim, T. Y., 251–255
- Kisamore, J. L., 309–312
- Kluemper, D. H., 40
- Korean culture, workplace aggression in, 251–255
- Kulik, C. T., 41–43, 161–162
- Kutash, Irwin, 121–125
- Kwan, H. K., 43–44, 251–252
- Kwan, S. S. M., 285–286
- law enforcement, rape myth ideology and, 122–125
- Lazarus, R. S., 277, 279–282
- leadership research
 in abusive supervision, 93–94
 cultural differences in, 257–259 LMX theory in, 112
 social identity and, 141–142
- Lear, T., 361–362
- learned behaviors aggression as, 37–39 learned helplessness, 278–279
- LeBlanc, M. M., 205
- Lee, Raymond T., 5, 271–290
- legal interventions for workplace aggression, 322–324
 limitations of, 325–326
- legislation and penalties for workplace
 aggression
 abusive supervision as concern in, 112–113 cultural consensus in, 322–324 limitations of, 322–324
 organizational policy gap and, 343–344
 overview of, 333–334
- Leiter, Michael, 5, 322–347, 363–366
- Lewis, S. E., 273–274, 283–285
- LGBTQ community
 crossover and spillover effects in, 196–199

- power and social structure in workplace
 and, 138–139
 transparency in reporting about, 146–147 underrepresentation in workplace of, 139–141
 workplace aggression against, 147–150
- Li, Xinxin, 3–5, 245–262, 353–355
- Li, Y. E., 332–333
- Lian, H., 43–44, 250–251
- Lim, Sandy, 3–5, 205, 245–262, 353–355
- Lin, W., 250–251
- Liu, J., 43–44, 251–252
- Liu, W., 248–250
- LMX theory, 112
- loafing behavior, coworker mistreatment
 and, 44–45
- locus of control (LOC) theory subordinate self-esteem and supervisory abuse, 98–101
 in victim precipitation research, 103–106
- Long, E. C., 359–361
- longitudinal research design, 361–363 for abusive supervision, 109–112
 crossover effects and, 208–211
 outcomes of workplace aggression
 and, 79–81
- loss spiral, in coping models, 286–290
- Machiavellianism, 96–101
 as predictor of workplace aggression, 309–312
- Mackey, Jeremy D., 3–5, 93, 356–361
- Magley, V. J., 275–278, 283–285, 359–361
- Malaysia, workplace aggression in, 285–286 manager's abusive behavior, subordinate's perceptions of, 96–98
- Manchanda, R. V., 166–168
- Manier, Aaron O., 3, 62–81
- Mann, R., 286–290
- Manson, T. M., 309–312
- marital stress
 contingent characteristics in, 196–199
 crossover effects and, 208–211
 crossover outcomes and, 193–196, 203–204
 spillover effects and, 190–193, 203
- Martinko, Mark J., 3–5, 35–36, 93, 356–361
- Martir, Allison, 3, 34–54
- Matthews, R. A., 359–361
- Matthiesen, S. B., 103–106
- May, D., 103–106
- McCluney, Courtney L., 3–5, 136–151
- McIntyre, M. D., 312–314
- measurement equivalence, 246–248
- measures of workplace aggression challenges in, 10–12
 Counterproductive Work Behavior
 Checklist, 23–25
 critique of, 25–27
 cultural differences in, 246–248, 255
 Interpersonal Conflict at Work Scale, 14–15
 Negative Acts Questionnaire - Revised (NAQ-R), 15–18
 overview of methodologies, 12 predictor domains, review of, 302–316 Social Undermining Scale, 21–22
 underutilized methods, 361–363
 Workplace Deviance Scale, 18–20
- Mechanical Turk (MTurk) tool, aggression research using, 143–145
- mediators of aggression-outcome relationships, 52, 62–63, 76–79
 desire for revenge and, 78 fear and perceived likelihood of violence, 78–79
 individual affective states, 77–78 individual cognition, 76–77 organizational and environmental factors, 79
 subordinate personality traits and, 109–112
- Meloy, Michelle, 122–125
- Mendelsohn, Benjamin, 121–125
- Mendes, W. B., 208–211
- meta-analyses, Interpersonal Conflict at Work Scale analysis, 14–15
- Michalak, Rebecca, 3–5, 93, 356–361
- Mikkelsen, E. G., 283–285
- Miller, N., 35–36
- Miller, Susan, 122–125
- mindfulness, crossover and spillover effects
 and, 196–199
- minority groups
 bias and stereotypes concerning, 138–139
 cognitive ability testing and, 314–316
 integrity test validity and, 306–307 outcomes of workplace aggression for, 79–81 perpetrator predation and targeting of, 129–131
 personality testing and, 309–312 sampling research and underrepresentation
 of, 143–145
 underrepresentation in workplace of,
 139–141

- mistreatment
 from coworkers, 44–45
 from customers, 45–46
 subordinate characteristics and, 101
 from supervisors, 41–44
- Mitchell, M. S., 158–159, 164–168
- Mitchell, Marie S., 3–5, 156–178
- Mitchell, T. R., 259–260
- moderators of workplace aggression, 62–63, 76–79
 coping methods and, 285–286
 crossover effects and, 208–211
 cultural differences and, 249–250
 individual affective states, 77–78
 individual cognition, 76–77
 organizational and environmental factors, 79
 personality and individual differences as, 76 subordinate personality traits and, 109–112
- modern racism theories, 141–142
- Mollborn, S., 332–333
- moral disengagement theory, workplace
 aggression and, 52–54
- moral identity
 restoration of relations and, 166–168
 of third parties, 165–166, 168–172, 176–178
- moral self theory refraining from punishment, 165–166 third party reactions to aggression and, 168–172
- Moss, S. E., 43–44, 127–129
- motivation instrumental aggression and, 36–37
 for ostracism, 226–228
 pride and, 171–172
 for relationship repair and rebuilding, 166–168
 retributive behaviors, 162–166
 social interactionist perspective and, 358–361 subordinates' avoidance of aggression and, 103–106
 for third parties to aggression, 168 in victim precipitation model, 121–125
- Mowrer, O. H., 35–36
- multi-source studies of workplace aggression, 143–145
- musculoskeletal issues, workplace aggression
 and, 65
- Namie, G., 328–332, 343–344
- Namie, R., 328–332, 343–344
- narcissism, as predictor of workplace
 aggression, 309–312
- Neff, L. A., 206–208
- Negative Acts Questionnaire - Revised (NAQ-R), 9–10
 basic principles, 15–18
 critique of, 25–27
 psychometric properties, 17–18
 scale description and history, 16–17
- negative emotions
 coping methods and, 279–282
 crossover and spillover effects, 200–203
 cultural differences concerning, 261–262
 fear of aggression or violence and, 78–79 mediational role of, 35–36, 77–78
 mistreatment from customers and, 45–46
 moderation of aggression and, 77–78
 moral self theory and, 170–171
 as predictor of workplace aggression, 307–312
 reactive emotional process as trigger for, 35–36
 subordinate's perceptions of abuse and, 96–101
- neuroticism
 perpetrator predation and, 129–131
 of subordinates, 98–101
 vulnerability to aggression and, 76, 106–107
- Nike, Inc., 157–158
- nonlinear effects of abusive supervision, 98–101
- non-work relationships spillover effects research and, 208
 workplace aggression and, 73
- norms of behavior
 abusive supervision and, 43–44
 coworker mistreatment and, 44–45
 environmental factors in aggression
 and, 37–39
 integrative conceptual process model, 49–54 measurements of workplace aggression
 and, 10–12
 negative emotion and, 35–36 proactive instrumental aggression and, 36–37
 in psychological climate model, 45–46
- Nunenmacher, J., 328
- nursing profession, workplace aggression in, 325–326
- O'Boyle, E. H., 309–312
- observation, measurements of workplace
 aggression and, 10–12

- Odle-Dusseau, H. N., 303–307
 Ólafsson, R. F., 281
 O’Leary-Kelly, A., 44–45, 109–112
 O’Leary-Kelly, A. M., 161–162
 Olweus, D., 102, 103–106 omission bias frequency of ostracism and, 234–235 in ostracism perception, 224–225 Ones, D. S., 41–43, 301–302, 303–307, 309–312 openness to experiences, of subordinates, 98–101
 O’Reilly, J., 161–162, 221–223 Orford, J., 273–274, 283–285 organizational aggression
   abusive supervision and, 109–112 counterproductive work behavior as, 297–301
   ostracism as, 221–223, 225–226 in social psychology, 94 organizational based self-esteem (OBSE), personality traits of subordinates and,
   98–101
 organizational citizenship behaviors (OCBs)
   cognitive ability testing and, 314–316
   cultural differences in, 252–255 reduction of, 69–70 organizational deviance, 18–20 organizational effectiveness constraints on, 39
   integrative conceptual process model, 49–54
   job satisfaction and performance and, 69–70
   as mediators/moderators, 79 mistreatment from customers, 45–46 prevention of workplace aggression and, 5 psychological climate and, 47–49
   workplace aggression and, 41–43 organizational embodiment, 96–98 organizational structure analytic techniques concerning, 145–146 coping methods in, 278–279, 285–286 creation of intervention policies and, 328–332
   crossover and spillover effects of aggression
   and, 206–208
   gap between legislative policies and, 343–344 interventions in aggression and, 322–347 leadership in, 141–142
   ostracism and, 225–226
   perpetrator predation model, 127–131
   personnel selection and, 296–297 policy interventions for aggression in, 326–327
   power and social structure in workplace
   and, 137, 141–142
   promotion of respect and civility
   in, 363–366
   third parties to aggression and, 173–175
   training interventions and, 335–339 underrepresentation in workplace of, 139–141
   victim precipitation model in, 125–127
 ostracism
   acts of omission and, 224–225, 234–235 ambiguity concerning, 235–236 cultural differences and, 235, 257
   defined, 223–224
   degrees of omission and, 225 emotional experience of, 232–234 frequency of, 234–235
   motivations for, 226–228 prevalence of, 221–223
   resolution of, 236–238 sensemaking models and, 228–230 social context for, 225–226
   threat to belonging model, 230–232 workplace aggression as, 3–5, 221–238
   Workplace Ostracism Scale, 354–356
 Oswald, S. L., 248–250 other-condemning emotions, 232–234 other-directed attributions, 277 other-report criteria, prediction of counterproductive work behaviors and, 301–302
 outcomes of workplace aggression attitudinal/psychological outcomes, 69
   coping methods and, 283–285 crossover outcomes, 193–196, 203–204
   cultural differences in, 250–255, 256–262 future research issues, 79–81 health-related outcomes, 64–69
   interventions and, 343–344 moderators and mediators of, 76–79 research overview, 62–63
   social outcomes, 71–73
   spillover outcomes, 190–193, 203 victim’s expectations and management of, 103–106
   outward-focused emotions, coping methods
   and, 279–282
 overload, role stressors as, 39–40 overt integrity tests, 303–307

- Pakistan, workplace aggression in, 246–248, 255
- participatory input, organizational intervention policies and, 327–328
- passive provocative victim profile, 106
- Peck, Emily, 5, 322–347
- Penney, Lisa M., 3, 34–54
- perceived control, coping methods and, 285–286
- perceptions of abuse
 cultural differences in, 246–248 harassment of LGBTQ community and, 147–150 individual differences in subordinates in, 112 legislation and penalties for workplace aggression and risk in, 112–113
 ostracism and, 225–226, 228–230, 236–238
 personality traits of subordinates and, 98–101
 social emotions explanations theory, 159–160
 by subordinates, 96–98
- perpetrator predation model, 3–5, 121, 127–131, 356–361 future research applications, 131 social interactionist perspective and, 358–361
- perpetrators
 cultural differences in, 257–259
 power imbalance and, 101 problem-focused coping with, 273–274 punishment of, 162–164
 role stressors and, 39–40 training interventions focused on, 335–339 victim precipitation research, 101–107
- perpetrator's perspective
 cultural differences in, 248–250, 252–255 measurements of workplace aggression and, 10–12
- personal power distance perceptions of supervisory abuse and, 98–101
 in victim precipitation research, 106–107
- personality traits
 active provocative victim profile, 105–106
 Big Five personality factors, 307–312
 crossover and spillover effects and, 196–199
 cultural differences in, 256 integrity test validity, 303–307 as moderator of aggression-outcome relationships, 76
 passive provocative victim profile, 106
 perpetrator predation model and, 127–129 practical applications of, in abusive supervision environments, 112–113 subordinate characteristics and, 98–101
 of third parties, 173–175
 victim precipitation research, 101–107
- personnel selection practices cognitive ability testing, 314–316 conditional reasoning measures and, 312–314
 criteria for, 297–300
 integrity test assessment, 303–307 personality measures, 307–312 potential applications of, 316–317 situational judgment measures, 307
 workplace aggression prevention and, 5, 296–317
- person-related behaviors in Negative Acts Questionnaire - Revised research, 15–18
 ostracism and, 228–230
- Pet-to-Threat theory, 139–141
- physical environment, workplace aggression and, 40–41
- physical health and well-being biological outcomes of workplace aggression, 64–66 coping mechanisms and, 283–285
 crossover outcomes and, 193–196
 job satisfaction and, 69–70 spillover effects on, 190–193
 for third parties, 168
 workplace aggression and, 64
- physical undermining, in Social Undermining Scale, 21–22
- physical workplace aggression, prevalence of, 62–63
- physiological outcomes of workplace aggression, 64–66
- planned behavior theory, proactive instrumental aggression and, 36–37
- policy interventions for workplace aggression, 322–324, 326–327. See also legislation and penalties for workplace aggression
 anti-harassment policies, 328 creation of, 328–332
 current approaches, 327–328
 efficacy of, 332–333
 future challenges for, 345–347 political skill, of supervisors, 96–98 population pools, in sampling research, 143–145 Porath, C. L., 164–166

- positive affect constructive reactions of third parties, 173–175
 coping outcomes and, 285–286
 subordinate's perceptions of abuse and, 98–101
 of third parties, 172–173
- positive mistreatment climate, workplace aggression and, 48–49
- post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD), 68–69
- power imbalance and restoration bullying and, 15–18, 101
 cultural differences in, 250–251
 leadership and, 141–142
 in perpetrator predation model, 127–129 qualitative analysis of, 361–362 relative power and coping methods, 278–279
 social outcomes of workplace aggression and, 71–72 social structure in workplace and, 137
 third parties to aggression and, 173–175
- predator, defined, 127–129
- predatory bullying, victim precipitation research, 101–107
- predictors of workplace aggression
 Big Five personality factors and, 307–312
 cognitive ability testing and, 314–316 conditional reasoning measurements and, 312–314 counterproductive work behavior and, 300–301
 cultural differences in, 248–250, 256 interpretation issues with, 301–302 personnel selection and, 296–297 review of domains in, 302–316 summary of meta-analysis of, 316–317
- prevalence of workplace aggression, 62–63, 156–157
 cultural differences in, 248–250
- prevention-focused training interventions, 335–339
- pride, moral self theory and, 170–171
- Priesemuth, Manuela, 3–5, 156–178
- Privitera, M. R., 335–339
- proactive processes, workplace aggression and, 36–37
- problematization methodology, in victim precipitation research, 103
- problem-focused coping, 273–274
 outcomes of, 283–285
 workplace support systems and, 278
- procedural justice, 41–43
 subordinate's perceptions of abusive supervision and, 96–98
- production deviance, in Counterproductive Work Behavior Checklist, 23
- provocative victims, 356–361
 abusive supervision and, 94 limitations and challenges of research on, 109–112 retaliation by, 107–109 subordinate perceptions of abuse and, 98
 in victim precipitation research, 101–107
- psychological contract violation, 96–98
- psychological detachment, mediation/moderation of aggression and, 77–78
- psychological health and well-being coping mechanisms and, 283–285
 crossover outcomes and, 193–196
 job satisfaction and, 69–70 ostracism effects on, 221–223 spillover effects on, 190–193
 for third parties, 168
 workplace aggression and, 66
- psychological mechanisms cultural differences on aggression and, 246–248 distress, 96–98
 of ostracism, 221–223, 232–234
 proactive instrumental (“cold-cognitive”) processes, 36–37 reactive emotional processes, 35–36 review of theories on, 34–39 spillover and crossover effects, 188–190, 200–203 of victim precipitation model, 125–126
 victim precipitation model and, 121–125
 workplace aggression and, 34–54
- psychology research outcomes of workplace aggression in, 66–69 population pools in, 143–145
- psychometric data
 in Counterproductive Work Behavior Checklist, 23–25
 Interpersonal Conflict at Work Scale, 14–15
 Negative Acts Questionnaire - Revised, 17–18 prevalence of workplace aggression and, 62–63
 in Social Undermining Scale, 22
 Workplace Deviance Scale, 19–20
- psychopathic behavior, as predictor of workplace aggression, 309–312

- psychosocial safety climate (PSC) coping with aggression and, 285–286, 363–366
 environmental factors in workplace
 aggression, 45–46
Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, 146–147 punishment of perpetrators, 162–164 refraining from, 165–166 of targets of aggression, 164–166
- qualitative item analysis of workplace
 aggression, 350–356
 qualitative methodology concerning workplace
 aggression, 361–362
- racial identity
 anti-harassment policies and, 332–333
 cognitive ability testing and, 314–316
 historical awareness of workplace aggression
 and, 324–325
 integrity test validity and, 306–307 leadership and power structure and, 141–142 outcomes of workplace aggression
 and, 79–81
 perpetrator predation and targeting of, 129–131
 personality testing and, 309–312 sampling research and bias toward, 143–145 sexual harassment and, 147–150 transparency in reporting about, 146–147 underrepresentation in workplace and, 139–141
 workplace aggression and, 136–137
- random sampling, limits in workplace aggression research of, 143–145
- rape, crime of, victim precipitation model in, 121–125
- rape kit evidence, rape myth ideology and, 122–125
- rape myth ideology, victim precipitation model and, 122–125
- Raymark, P. H., 303–307
- reactions over time, ostracism research and, 234
- reactive emotional process
 abusive supervision and, 43–44
 coworker mistreatment and, 44–45
 cultural differences in, 257–259
 environmental factors in aggression
 and, 35–36
 mistreatment from customers and, 45–46
- recall, measurements of workplace aggression and challenge of, 10–12
- reciprocal aggression, 78, 356–361 gender identity and, 147–150
 team interventions in, 339–343
- reconciliation by third parties, 173–175
- Reed, A., 168–172
- reflective measurement
 content breadth measures, 354–356
 in Counterproductive Work Behavior
 Checklist, 23–25
 validation of, 353–355
- Reich, T. C., 51, 245–246, 353–355
- reintegration process, third parties to
 aggression and, 173–175
- rejection sensitivity, ostracism
 and, 228–230
- relational aspects of aggression, 51
 crossover outcomes and, 193–196
 cultural differences in, 257–259 restoration work in, 166–168
 spillover effects and, 190–193
 team interventions and, 339–343
- reliability tests, Negative Acts Questionnaire
 - Revised, 17–18
- Ren, D., 257
- repairing relationships, motivation
 for, 166–168
- research methodology on workplace
 aggression
 analytic techniques, 145–146 applications of research and, 363–366 bias and stereotyping and, 138–139
 challenges in, 136–137
 coping models and, 286–290
 crossover and spillover effects, 199–205 future issues in, 350–366 identity group examples of, 147–150 leadership structures and, 141–142 limits of culture-blind approach, 246–248 obscurity of group differences in, 142–147 power and social structure hierarchies and, 137, 141–142
 sampling techniques, 143–145
 social structural framework for, 136–151 theoretical considerations in, 356–361 tokenism and, 145–146 transparency in reporting of, 146–147 underrepresentation of groups in, 139–141 underutilized measurement methods in, 361–363
- resiliency, threats to belonging and, 232

- restorative behavior
   constructive reactions of third parties, 173–175
   by third parties, 166–172
- retaliation
   coping outcomes and, 283–285
   as problem-focused coping, 273–274 by provocative victims, 107–109 qualitative analysis of, 361–362
   revenge as mediation of aggression and, 78
   by third parties, 171–172
   for workplace aggression, 74–75
- retributive behaviors, 162–166
- revenge cognition. See also retribution
   abusive supervision and, 43–44
   counterproductive behavior and retaliation
     and, 74–75
   coworker mistreatment and, 44–45
   cultural differences in, 251–252
   mediation/moderation of aggression-
     outcome relationships, 76–77
   mediation of aggression and, 78
- reverse causation, in abusive supervision
   research, 109–112
- reverse order research, work-family issues, 205
- Revue Française de Psychanalyse (French Review of Psychoanalysis)*, 121–125
- reward power, subordinate's perceptions of
   abusive supervision and, 96–98
- Richman, J. A., 283–285
- risk reduction, intervention in aggression and, 343–344
- Robin Hood effect, 166–168
- Robinson, Sandra L., 3–5, 18–20, 44–45, 221– 238, 297–300, 350–356
- Rodríguez-Muñoz, A., 286–290
- role-playing, in abusive supervision research, 109–112
- role stressors, 39–40
- Roth, L. M., 139–141
- Roth, P. L., 303–307
- rumination, mediation/moderation of aggression-outcome relationships, 76–77
- Rupp, D. E., 162–164, 165–166
- Ryan, A. M., 166–168
- sabotage by employees
   in Counterproductive Work Behavior
     Checklist, 23
   cultural differences in, 252–255
   revenge as mediation of aggression and, 78
- Sackett, Paul R., 5, 41–43, 296–317
- safety
   fear of aggression or violence and, 78–79
   in psychological climate model, 45–46
   social outcomes, 71
- Sakurai, K., 44–45
- Salin, D., 328–332, 343–344
- sampling techniques demographics of study samples, 146–147 experience sampling methodology, 362–363
   limits in workplace aggression research of, 143–145
- Saporito, B., 157–158
- Sariol, A. M., 252–255
- scales of aggression
   Counterproductive Work Behavior
     Checklist, 23
   Interpersonal Conflict at Work Scale
     (ICAWS), 14
   items from, 297–300
   Negative Acts Questionnaire - Revised, 16–17
   in Social Undermining Scale, 22
   validation of, 350–356
   Workplace Deviance Scale, 18–19
- Schabram, Kira, 3–5, 221–238, 350–356
- schadenfreude*
   punishment of targets, 164–166
   social emotions explanations theory, 159–160
   of third parties, 172–173
- Schat, A. C., 273–274, 285–286, 335–339
- Schein, E., 343–344
- Schmidt, F. L., 301–302, 303–307, 309–312
- Schneider, B. H., 248–250
- Schnepf, B., 328
- scripting
   crossover effects and, 208–211
   ostracism and, 224–225
   workplace aggression and, 37–39
- scrutiny of victims, victim precipitation model and, 126–127
- Searles, Patricia, 122–125
- Sears, R. R., 35–36
- second wave feminism, victim precipitation
   model and, 122–125
- secondary exposure, crossover effects on children and, 208–211
- security, social outcomes, 71
- selective incivility model, 129–131
- self-blame, 279–282
   coping with, 283–285

- self-conscious emotions, ostracism and, 232–234
- self-control
 ego depletion and, 36
 individual cognition and, 76–77 moral disengagement theory and, 52–54 moral self theory and, 168–172 refraining from punishment and, 165–166 subordinate self-esteem and supervisory abuse, 98–101
 of supervisors, 96–98
 in third parties, 176–178
- self-direction
 attribution processes and, 277
 subordinates' avoidance of aggression and, 103–106
- self-doubt, coping with aggression and, 76–77
- self-efficacy
 coping with aggression and, 76–77
 in victim precipitation research, 103–106
- self-esteem
 coping methods and, 279–282
 cultural differences in, 246–248 mediation/moderation of aggression and, 77–78
 ostracism and, 228–230
 subordinate self-esteem and supervisory abuse, 98–101
 workplace aggression and, 67–68
- self-reflection
 moral self theory and, 170
 subordinates' avoidance of aggression and, 103–106
- self-regulation. See self-control
- self-reporting
 cultural differences in, 257–259
 limitations of, 361–363
 measurements of workplace perspective and, 10–12 prediction of counterproductive work behaviors and, 301–302
- sensemaking models
 ostracism, 228–230
 social learning theory, 156–157, 161–162
 third parties to aggression and, 173–175
- sensitization, perpetrator predation model and, 127–129
- “service with a smile” rules, 45–46
- Severance, L., 246–248, 255
- severity criteria
 interpersonal mistreatment, 9–10 measurements of workplace aggression and, 12
- sexism
 historical awareness of workplace aggression and, 324–325
 victim precipitation model and, 122–125
- sexual assault
 historical awareness of workplace aggression and, 324–325
 victim precipitation model and, 122–125
- Sexual Experiences Questionnaire (SEQ), 246–248
- sexual harassment
 anti-harassment policies and, 343–344
 coping methods and, 283–285
 cultural differences in perceptions of, 246–248, 252–255 cultural differences in workplace aggression and, 257
 historical awareness of, 324–325
 perpetrator predation and targeting of, 129–131 policy interventions for, 332–333 racial difference in research on, 147–150 underrepresentation in workplace and, 139–141 victim precipitation hypothesis and, 122–125
- sexual minorities, underrepresentation in workplace of, 139–141
- Shaffer, I. A., 335–339
- shame, moral self theory and, 170–171
- Shao, R., 249–250, 252–255
- Shapiro, D. L., 251–252
- Shewach, Oren R., 5, 296–317
- silent treatment, ostracism and, 226–228
- single-site data collection, limits in aggression research of, 143–145
- situational cues
 cultural differences in, 256
 in victim precipitation research, 106–107
 workplace support systems, 278
- situational judgment measures, validity of, 307
- situational strength, intervention in aggression and, 343–344
- Skarlicki, D. P., 41–43, 45–46, 51, 161–164, 165–166, 252–255
- sleep disturbance, workplace aggression and, 65–66
- Smith, M. A., 309–312
- snowball sampling, in workplace aggression research, 143–145

- social adaptability
  - perceptions of supervisory abuse and, 98–101
  - in victim precipitation research, 106–107
- social-cognitive theory, moral disengagement theory, 52–54
- social cues, in victim precipitation research, 106–107
- social emotions explanations theory, 159–160
- social engagement, ostracism as absence of, 224–225
- social identity/social location
  - bias and stereotyping and, 138–139
  - coping with threats to, 285–286
  - critique of research methodology on, 142–147
  - cultural differences in, 257–259
  - future research issues in, 151
  - leadership and, 141–142
  - power structure in workplace and, 137, 141–142
  - sampling research limitations on, 143–145
  - sampling research on, 143–145
  - threat to belonging model and, 230–232
  - transparency in reporting about, 146–147
  - underrepresentation in workplace and, 139–141
  - workplace aggression and, 136–137
- social information processing model, 37–39
- social interactionist perspective, workplace aggression and, 358–361
- social learning theory
  - abusive supervision and, 43–44
  - cost/benefit evaluations, 156–157, 161–162
  - crossover effects and, 208–211
  - cultural differences in, 261–262
  - environmental factors in workplace aggression and, 37–39
- social media, crossover effects and, 208–211
- social outcomes of workplace aggression, 71–73
- social psychology, organizational aggression models in, 94
- social structural framework
  - ostracism and, 225–226
  - workplace aggression in, 3–5, 136–151
- social support
  - as coping mechanism, 273–274
  - crossover and spillover effects and, 196–199
  - crossover effects and, 208–211
  - cultural differences in, 251–252
  - instrumental and informational support, 285–286
  - as mediator/moderator of aggression, 79
  - perceptions of, 72
  - supervisors' access to, 96–98
  - of third parties, 166–168
- social undermining, ostracism and, 228–230
- Social Undermining Scale, 9–10
  - basic principles, 21–22
  - critique of, 25–27
  - psychometric properties, 22
  - scale development in, 22
- sociology, victim precipitation model rejected by, 122–125
- Sonnentag, S., 176–178, 208
- “speak-no-evil” environments, intervention policies and, 327–328
- Spector, P. E., 23–25, 35–36, 41–43, 44–45, 48–49
- spillover effects
  - contingent characteristics, 196–199, 204
  - coping methods and, 283–285
  - dynamic process model of, 186–188
  - expansion of research on, 208
  - individual social outcomes, 72
  - mechanisms for facilitation of, 188–190, 200–203
  - outcomes of, 190–193, 203
  - review of research on, 199–205
  - theoretical perspectives on, 205–206
- spousal abuse
  - abusive supervision and, 111
  - contingent characteristics in, 196–199
  - crossover outcomes and, 193–196
  - spillover effects and, 190–193
- status in workplace
  - bias and stereotyping linked to, 138–139
  - leadership and power structures and, 141–142
  - mediation of aggression and, 52
  - perpetrator predation and, 127–131
- stereotyping
  - efficacy of policy interventions and, 332–333
  - interventions and reinforcement of, 343–344
  - outcomes of workplace aggression and, 79–81
  - perpetrator predation model and, 127–129
  - social identity and, 138–139
- Stockdale, Peggy, 129–131
- stress hormones, workplace aggression and levels of, 64–65

- stress theory
 abusive supervision and, 96–98
 cultural differences and, 261–262 job performance and workplace aggression and, 74 mediators/moderators of aggression and, 79 third party employees, 168
- stressor-emotion model environmental factors in aggression and, 35–36 workplace injustice and, 41–43
- stressors
 integrative conceptual process model, 49–54 mistreatment from coworkers, 44–45 mistreatment from supervisors, 41–44
 workplace aggression and, 41–46
- strong situation hypothesis, 343–344
- structural location in organizations, bias and stereotyping linked to, 138–139
- StudyResponse project, aggression research using, 143–145
- subject-focused training interventions, 335–339
- subjective norms measurements of workplace aggression and challenge of, 10–12 proactive instrumental aggression and, 36–37
- 'submissive victims,' in victim precipitation research, 102
- subordinates characteristics of, 96–98, 107–109
 cultural differences in supervision for, 250–251 limitations and challenges of research on, 109–112 perceptions of abuse by, 95 personality traits in, 98–101
 practical implications of research on, 112–113 role in curbing aggression of, 103–106 selection based on personality traits, 112–113
 supervisor-subordinate dyads, 43–44 target profiles of, 97 victim precipitation research and, 101–107
- supervisors. See also abusive supervision characteristics of, 96–98, 107–109
 crossover and spillover effects and, 206–208
 selection based on personality traits, 112–113 upper management abuse of, 107–109 Weiner's attribution model of, 107–109
- supervisor-subordinate dyads, 43–44
 crossover effects and, 186–188, 208–211 interaction of characteristics and, 107–109
 spillover effects and, 186–188
- Sweden, policy interventions against aggression in, 332–334
- symbolization, moral self theory, 168–172
- Tai, K., 205
- Taiwan, workplace aggression in, 249–250
- targets of aggression active and passive targets, 103–106 attribution processes and, 275–278 contingent characteristics in effects of aggression, 196–199 coping outcomes for, 283–285 crossover effects on, 188–190, 208–211 cultural differences in perceptions of, 257 lack of awareness of remedies by, 327–328 ostracism of, 224–225, 228–230 perpetrator predation model, 127–131 problem-focused coping by, 273–274 punishment of, 164–166
 spillover effects on, 188–193
 of subordinates, 97
 third parties and, 175–176 threat to belonging and, 230–232 victim precipitation research, 101–107
 workplace aggression and, 5
- Tariq, N., 255
- Tarraf, Rima C., 350–366
- Taylor, S. G., 40
- team interventions, 339–343, 345–347
- temporal experience
 coping methods and, 281–282, 286–290
 ostracism and, 234
- Tepper, Ben, 43–44, 112, 127–129, 246–248, 250–252
- Tepper abusive supervision scale, 354–356 perceptions of abuse, 95
- Thau, S., 273–275, 283–285
- theft, in Counterproductive Work Behavior Checklist, 23
- third parties categories, 157–158
 constructive reactions of, 173–175
 cost/benefit evaluations, 161–162
 cultural differences concerning, 259–260 deonance theory and, 158–159 emotions expressed by, 172–173 empirical research on, 162–168

- future research concerning, 168–178
 moral self theory and, 165–166, 168–172 negative consequences of aggression for, 168 punishment of perpetrators, 162–164
 punishment of targets, 164–166 refraining from punishment by, 165–166 restoration by, 166–168
 retributive behaviors, 162–166 self-regulatory strength and impairment
   and, 176–178
 social emotions explanations, 159–160 workplace aggression and role of, 3–5, 156–178
 Thomas, K. M., 139–141 threat to belonging model, ostracism, 230–232 Tinkler, J. E., 332–333 tit-for-tat response incivility and, 350–356 problem-focused coping and, 273–274 social interactionist perspective and, 359–361
   spiral in incivility and, 147–150, 356–361 Tobares, V., 312–314
 tokenism, underrepresentation in workplace
   and, 139–141
 training interventions for workplace
   aggression, 322–324, 335–339, 345–347 trait activation theory, subordinate's perceptions of abuse and, 98–101 trait anger
   as predictor of workplace aggression, 307–312
   subordinate's perceptions of abuse and,
   98–101
   vulnerability to aggression and, 76 trait negative affectivity, vulnerability to
   aggression and, 76
 transactional stress models, environmental factors in aggression and, 35–36 transparency in aggression research reporting, 146–147
 trigger behaviors
   attribution processes and, 276–277
   coping methods and, 286–290 provocative victims research and, 109–112 subordinate's perceptions of abuse and,
   98–101
   underrepresentation in workplace and,
   139–141
 Truxillo, D. M., 48–49
 Tsai, M., 248–250
 Tuckey, M. R., 285–286
 Turkish culture, sexual harassment in, 252–255
 Turner, N., 205 turnover intention job satisfaction and abusive supervision
   and, 69–70
   workplace aggression and, 70–71
 Turrilo, C. J., 162–164
 Umphress, E. E., 162–164 uncertainty
   cultural differences in avoidance of, 257–259
   of ostracism, 235–236
 underestimation, measurements of workplace aggression and challenge of, 10–12 undermining behaviors
   as problem-focused coping, 273–274
   in Social Undermining Scale, 21–22 underrepresentation in workplace aggression linked to, 139–141 sampling research and bias of, 143–145 unethical behavior goal setting theory and, 49–54 psychological climate and, 47–49
   theoretical frameworks for, 52–54 unfairness, perceptions of, social identity and, 141–142
 unintentional ostracism, 226–228 United States
   cultural attitudes toward in aggression, 252–255
   policy interventions against aggression in, 333–334
 validity of findings absence of, in abusive supervision
   research, 111
   of Big Five personality measures, 307–312 of conditional reasoning measurements, 312–314
   of conditional reasoning measures, 312–314
   content validation in research, 350–356 of integrity tests, 303–307 of situational judgment measures, 307 Van Iddekinge, C. H., 303–307 van Jaarsveld, D. D., 45–46 Van Prooijen, J. W., 162–164 van Ryn, M., 21–22

- verbal abuse
 cultural differences concerning, 245–246, 257–259
 in Social Undermining Scale, 21–22 vertical individualism, 252–255 Vessey, J. A., 327–328
 Veterans Health Administration (VHA), 339–343
 victim blaming victim precipitation model linked to, 122–126
 in victimology research, 103–106 victim precipitation model, 356–361
 abusive supervision and, 101–107 criticism of, 122–125
 defined, 121
 failed legacy of, 131 historical evolution of, 121–125 perpetrator predation and, 129–131 renaissance of, 125–126
 social interactionist perspective
 and, 358–361
 workplace aggression and, 3–5, 125–127 victim's perceptions. See also targets of aggression
 counterproductive behavior and retaliation
 and, 74–75
 cultural differences in, 257
 measurements of workplace aggression
 and, 10–12
 victimization research
 abusive supervision and, 94
 coping models and, 286–290
 crossover effects and, 208–211 emotion-focused coping and, 274–275 problem-focused coping in, 273–274 third parties to aggression and, 172–173, 175–176
 victimology. See also targets of aggression perpetrator predation model, 127–131
 subordinate perceptions of abuse in, 98 subordinate profiles in, 103–106 video-taped sessions for abusive supervision research, 109–112 situational judgment measures, 307 Vinokur, A. D., 21–22
 violence
 perceived likelihood of, 78–79 victim precipitation model in crimes of, 121–125
 workplace aggression and climate of, 48
 Viswesvaran, C., 301–302, 303–307, 309–312 Vogel, R. M., 158–159, 250–251 voluntary behavior, counterproductive behavior and retaliation, 74–75 von Hentig, Hans, 121–125 vulnerability, in victim precipitation research, 101–107
 Waldo, Craig, 147–150
 Walker, D. D., 45–46
 Wang, J., 335–339
 Wang, L., 250–251
 Wang, M., 250–251
 Wang, Y.-H., 246–248 warmth, stereotypes concerning, 138–139 Wasti, S. A., 246–248, 252–255
 Waters, S. F., 208–211
 Watson, C. P., 103–106
 Watson, S., 250–251
 Weiner, B., 107–109
 Weische, J. S., 103–106
 Weiss, H., 359–361
 Welbourne, J. L., 252–255
 Wessel, J. L., 166–168
 Wesselmann, E. D., 257
 West, T. V., 208–211
 Western culture, power distance orientation
 in, 250–251
 Westman, M., 206–208
 Wheeler, L., 232–234
 Wilkes, L., 286–290
 Williams, K. D., 257
 Williams, L. J., 203
 Willis, R. E., 245–246 withdrawal
 as coping mechanism, 273–274
 in Counterproductive Work Behavior
 Checklist, 23
 withholding actions, in Social Undermining Scale, 21–22
 witnessing of aggression, 168 Wolfgang, Marvin, 121–125 women
 bias and stereotyping concerning, 138–139
 coping methods in, 281
 crossover effects and, 208–211
 historical awareness of workplace aggression
 for, 324–325
 integrity test validity and, 306–307
 outcomes of workplace aggression
 for, 79–81

- sampling research and underrepresentation of, 143–145
- underrepresentation in workplace and, 139–141
- work-family enrichment (WFE) theory, 206–208
- work-family issues
  - crossover effects and, 203–204, 205
  - organizational policies and, 206–208
  - research on, 205
  - spillover effects and, 203, 205
  - workplace aggression and, 73
- workgroup tenure, subordinate's perceptions of
  - abusive supervision and, 96–98
- Working Women United, 324–325
- workplace aggression
  - applications of research on, 363–366
  - assessment, 3
  - behavioral responses to, 73–76
  - conceptualization of, 350–356
  - consequences of, 3
  - critique of research methodology on, 142–147
  - crossover and spillover effects research, 200
  - defined, 1–2
  - empirical research on, 162–168
  - environmental factors in, 3, 34–54
  - experience sampling methodology concerning, 362–363
  - future research issues in, 350–366
  - historical awareness of, 324–325
  - interpersonal conflict as form of, 14–15
  - interventions in, 322–324
  - measurement of, 9–29
  - organizational intervention in, 322–347
  - perpetrators and targets of, 3–5
  - personnel selection and reduction of, 296–317
  - prevalence of, 62–63
  - qualitative methodology concerning, 361–362
  - theoretical considerations in, 356–361
  - victim precipitation of, 3–5, 125–127
- Workplace Aggression Institute, 328–332
- workplace deviance, 13t. 1.1., 19–20, 21
  - ostracism and, 221–223
- Workplace Deviance Scale, 9–10
  - basic principles, 18–20
  - psychometric properties, 19–20
  - scale development, 18–19
- Workplace Incivility Scale, 350–356
- Workplace Ostracism Scale, 354–356
- workplace support systems, 278
- work-related behaviors
  - in Negative Acts Questionnaire - Revised research, 15–18
  - social outcomes, 71
- Wu, L., 43–44, 251–252
- Wu, T.-Y., 246–248
- Wu, W., 43–44, 251–252
- Xu, J., 138–139
- Yang, L., 48–49
- Yoder, J. D., 139–141
- Zapf, D., 283–285
- Zedeck, S., 316–317