CONTENTS

Preface vii

Introduction: The Problems of Genocide 1

PART I The Language of Transgression

1 The Language of Transgression, 1500s to 1890s 49

2 The Language of Transgression, 1890s to 1930s 94

3 Raphael Lemkin and the Protection of Small Nations 136

4 The Many Types of Destruction 169

5 Inventing Genocide in the 1940s 201

PART II Permanent Security

6 Permanent Security in History: Empire and Settler Colonialism 243

7 The Nazi Empire as Illiberal Permanent Security 277

8 Human Rights, Population “Transfer,” and the Foundation of the Postwar Order 332

9 Imagining Nation-Security in South Asia and Palestine: Partition, Population Exchange, and Communal Hostages 364

PART III The Language of Transgression, Permanent Security, and Holocaust Memory

10 Lemkin, Arendt, Vietnam, and Liberal Permanent Security 395

11 Genocide Studies and the Repression of the Political 441

12 Holocaust Memory, Exemplary Victims, and Permanent Security Today 477

Index 512