

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-11680-1 - The Consequences of Social Movements

Edited by Lorenzo Bosi, Marco Giugni and Katrin Uba

Frontmatter

More information

The Consequences of Social Movements

Social movements have attracted much attention in recent years, both from scholars and among the wider public. This book examines the consequences of social movements, covering such issues as the impact of social movements on the life-course of participants and the population in general, on political elites and markets, and on political parties and processes of social movement institutionalization. The volume makes a significant contribution to research on social movement outcomes in three ways: theoretically, by showing the importance of hitherto undervalued topics in the study of social movement outcomes; methodologically, by expanding the scientific boundaries of this research field through an interdisciplinary approach and new methods of analysis; and empirically, by providing new evidence about social movement outcomes from Europe and the United States.

Lorenzo Bosi is an assistant professor at the Institute of Humanities and Social Sciences of the Scuola Normale Superiore.

Marco Giugni is a professor in the Department of Political Science and International Relations and Director of the Institute of Citizenship Studies (InCite) at the University of Geneva.

Katrin Uba is a senior researcher and lecturer at the Department of Political Science, Uppsala University.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-11680-1 - The Consequences of Social Movements

Edited by Lorenzo Bosi, Marco Giugni and Katrin Uba

Frontmatter

More information

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-11680-1 - The Consequences of Social Movements

Edited by Lorenzo Bosi, Marco Giugni and Katrin Uba

Frontmatter

More information

The Consequences of Social Movements

Edited by

Lorenzo Bosi, Marco Giugni, and Katrin Uba

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Cambridge University Press
 978-1-107-11680-1 - The Consequences of Social Movements
 Edited by Lorenzo Bosi, Marco Giugni and Katrin Uba
 Frontmatter
More information

CAMBRIDGE
 UNIVERSITY PRESS

University Printing House, Cambridge CB2 8BS, United Kingdom

Cambridge University Press is part of the University of Cambridge.

It furthers the University's mission by disseminating knowledge in the pursuit of education, learning and research at the highest international levels of excellence.

www.cambridge.org

Information on this title: www.cambridge.org/9781107116801

© Cambridge University Press 2016

This publication is in copyright. Subject to statutory exception and to the provisions of relevant collective licensing agreements, no reproduction of any part may take place without the written permission of Cambridge University Press.

First published 2016

Printed in the United Kingdom by Clays, St Ives plc

A catalogue record for this publication is available from the British Library

Library of Congress Cataloguing in Publication data

The consequences of social movements / edited by Lorenzo Bosi, Marco Giugni, Katrin Uba.

pages cm

ISBN 978-1-107-11680-1 (hardback) – ISBN 978-1-107-53921-1 (paperback)

I. Social movements. 2. Social movements – Political aspects.

3. Social movements – Economic aspects. I. Bosi, Lorenzo, editor.

II. Giugni, Marco, editor. III. Uba, Katrin, editor.

HM881.C654 2016

303.48'4–dc23

2015032000

ISBN 978-1-107-11680-1 Hardback

ISBN 978-1-107-53921-1 Paperback

Cambridge University Press has no responsibility for the persistence or accuracy of URLs for external or third-party internet websites referred to in this publication, and does not guarantee that any content on such websites is, or will remain, accurate or appropriate.

Contents

	List of figures	page vii
	List of tables	viii
	List of contributors	ix
	Introduction	i
1	The consequences of social movements: taking stock and looking forward Lorenzo Bosi, Marco Giugni, and Katrin Uba	3
Part I	People	39
2	All is not lost: the 1984–85 British miners’ strike and mobilization after defeat Karen Beckwith	41
3	Personal effects from far-right activism Kathleen M. Blee	66
4	The biographical impact of participation in social movement activities: beyond highly committed New Left activism Marco Giugni and Maria T. Grasso	85
5	Examining the intergenerational outcomes of social movements: the case of feminist activists and their children Camille Masclet	106
6	Aggregate-level biographical outcomes for gay and lesbian movements Nancy Whittier	130

Part II Policies	157
7 Protest against school closures in Sweden: accepted by politicians? Katrin Uba	159
8 Feminist mobilization and the politics of rights Joseph E. Luders	185
9 Reputation, risk, and anti-corporate activism: how social movements influence corporate outcomes Brayden G. King	215
10 Tactical competition and movement outcomes on markets: the rise of ethical fashion Philip Balsiger	237
Part III Institutions	261
11 The impact of social movements on political parties Daniela R. Piccio	263
12 Watershed events and changes in public order management systems: organizational adaptation as a social movement outcome Mattias Wahlström	285
13 The institutionalization processes of a neo-Nazi movement party: securing social movement outcomes Abby Peterson	314
14 Incorporation and democratization: the long-term process of institutionalization of the Northern Ireland Civil Rights Movement Lorenzo Bosi	338
Conclusion	361
15 Protest online: theorizing the consequences of online engagement Jennifer Earl	363
Index	401

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-11680-1 - The Consequences of Social Movements

Edited by Lorenzo Bosi, Marco Giugni and Katrin Uba

Frontmatter

More information

Figures

3.1	Suzanne (current activist)	page 76
3.2	Lisa (former activist)	80
4.1	Effect of participation in demonstrations in 1999 on selected indicators of political-life outcomes in 2011/2013	95
6.1	Identity terms' relative prevalence in American English-language books, 1970–2008.	137
6.2	US state ordinances prohibiting discrimination on sexual orientation and gender expression, by year.	140
6.3	US states' legal recognition of same-sex relationships by type and year	144
7.1	Degree of understanding for different forms of protest	169
10.1	Movement approaches to change markets (after King and Pearce 2010)	239
10.2	Interplay of campaigning and collaboration tactical approaches	249
12.1	Processes leading to episodic change in protest policing styles	291
13.1	Dimensions of party institutionalization (taken from Randall and Svåsand 2002: 13)	318

Tables

4.1.A	Lagged dependent variable regression models (1999–2011/2013)	page 101
6.1	Summary of aggregate biographical outcomes	134
7.1	Attitudes toward more challenging protests against school closures among Swedish local political elite	174
7.2	Attitudes toward less challenging protests against school closures among Swedish local political elite	176
7.1.A	Descriptive data of independent variables ($N = 7,898,290$ municipalities)	180
7.2.A	Descriptive data on attitudes toward protest (dependent variables)	180
7.3.A	Table of factor loadings	181
8.1	Variation in movement outcomes with political targets	189
8.2	Overview of feminist movement outcomes	207
11.1	Environmental issues in the PvdA election manifestos, 1971–86	271
11.2	Environmental issues in the DC election manifestos, 1976–87	276
12.1	An overview of the major crowd control events and subsequent reforms discussed in the chapter	300
15.1	Evaluating the consequences of different styles of Internet activism	366

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-11680-1 - The Consequences of Social Movements

Edited by Lorenzo Bosi, Marco Giugni and Katrin Uba

Frontmatter

More information

Contributors

Philip Balsiger is an assistant professor of sociology at the University of Neuchâtel, Switzerland. His research studies the interactions between social movements and corporations, the rise of moral markets, and the transformations of contemporary capitalism. He is the author of The Fight for Ethical Fashion (2014).

Karen Beckwith is Flora Stone Mather Professor in the Department of Political Science of Case Western Reserve University. A co-editor of Women's Movements Facing the Reconfigured State (Cambridge, 2003), she has research interests in comparative women's movements, the comparative politics of gender, and gender and political party leadership. Her work on social movements has been published in the European Journal of Political Research, the Journal of Politics, Mobilization, and Politics & Society, among others. Her current research focuses on social movement loss and its consequences.

Kathleen M. Blee is Distinguished Professor of Sociology at the University of Pittsburgh. She studies both mainstream and extreme-right activism and activist groups. Her recent books include Democracy in the Making: How Activist Groups Form and Inside Organized Racism: Women in the Hate Movement.

Lorenzo Bosi is Assistant Professor at the Institute of Humanities and Social Sciences of the Scuola Normale Superiore. His research interests include social movements and political violence. By focusing on contentious politics as a specific object of analysis, his research escapes traditional disciplinary boundaries. He is a member of COSMOS.

Jennifer Earl is Professor of Sociology at the University of Arizona, where she studies social movements, information technologies, and the sociology of law, with research emphases on Internet activism, social movement repression, and legal change. She is a member of the MacArthur Research Network on Youth and Participatory Politics and co-authored Digitally Enabled Social Change.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-11680-1 - The Consequences of Social Movements

Edited by Lorenzo Bosi, Marco Giugni and Katrin Uba

Frontmatter

More information

x / List of contributors

Marco Giugni is a professor in the Department of Political Science and International Relations and Director of the Institute of Citizenship Studies (InCite) at the University of Geneva. His research interests include social movements and collective action, immigration and ethnic relations, unemployment, and social exclusion. He is the European editor of Mobilization, an international quarterly.

Maria T. Grasso is Lecturer in Politics and Quantitative Methods at the Department of Politics, University of Sheffield. Her research interests are political participation, social movements, and social change. She is a PI on the Living with Hard Times: How European Citizens Deal with Economic Crises and Their Social and Political Consequences (LIVEWHAT) EU FP7 project.

Brayden G. King is a professor of management and, by courtesy, sociology at Northwestern University's Kellogg School of Management. His research focuses on how social movement activists influence corporate social responsibility, organizational change, and legislative policy making. He has published articles in the American Journal of Sociology, American Sociological Review, Administrative Science Quarterly, Organization Science, and numerous other academic journals. He is currently a senior editor at Organization Science.

Joseph E. Luders is the Gottesman Associate Professor of Political Science at Yeshiva University. His research interests include contentious politics, racial violence, and American political development.

Camille Maslet is a PhD student in Political Sociology at the University of Lausanne and the University of Paris 8. Her research deals with the questions of the biographical consequences of feminist activism and the inter-generational transmission of feminism. She is also participating in the project SOMBRERO, a research project on the outcomes of the 1970s activism in France, in which she is leading the team working on the women's movement.

Abby Peterson is Professor of Sociology at the Department of Sociology and Work Science, University of Gothenburg, Sweden. Peterson has published extensively within the fields of political sociology, cultural sociology, and criminology.

Daniela R. Piccio is a research fellow at the University of Turin. She received her PhD at the European University Institute of Florence and worked as a research associate at Leiden University. Her work has appeared in South European Society and Politics, Representation, International Political Science Review, as well as in several edited book volumes. Her research interests include comparative politics, political representation, social movements, and party (finance) regulation.

Cambridge University Press
978-1-107-11680-1 - The Consequences of Social Movements
Edited by Lorenzo Bosi, Marco Giugni and Katrin Uba
Frontmatter
More information

xi / List of contributors

Katrin Uba is a senior researcher and lecturer at the Department of Political Science, Uppsala University. Her recent research focuses on labor movements' use of online mobilization strategies, political consequences of protest events in Sweden, and citizens' resilience at times of economic crisis.

Mattias Wahlström is a senior lecturer at the department of sociology and work science, University of Gothenburg, Sweden. He has a PhD in sociology from the University of Gothenburg. His research mainly concerns social movements, protest, and the policing of social protest.

Nancy Whittier is Professor of Sociology at Smith College. She is the author of The Politics of Child Sexual Abuse: Emotion, Social Movements, and the State, Feminist Generations, and numerous articles on women's movements, collective identity, and culture. Her forthcoming book analyzes feminist and conservative influence on US federal policy on sexual violence.