

Index

Note: Page numbers followed by 't' indicate tables; those followed by 'f' indicate figures.

- ability, over-estimating, 282
- absence from practice, 170–174, 197–198, 318, 318–320. See also presence in the practice
- accessibility, 130–135, 138, 150–151, 182–183, 296–297, 299
- acknowledgement, 48, 140–141, 182–185, 220–222, 223, 299–300
- adaptability, 282, 304
- administrative managerial work, 293–295, 297, 298–299, 320–323, 324; daily administration, 174–176; managerial ideals and, 160–163, 176–181, 196–197, 293–295, 297, 298–299, 320–323, 324; vs. strategic leadership, 160–163, 176–181, 196–197, 293–295, 297, 298–299, 320–323, 324
- Alvesson, Johan, 334
- analysis, 29
- Andersson, T., 55
- anti-identity, 33–34
- anxiety: anxiety levels, 316–318, 317f; anxiety strength, 317f; managerial work and, 312–318, 317f
- authenticity, 38, 125, 144–150, 151–152, 182–184, 187, 188–190, 193–194, 195–196, 221–222, 237–239, 292–293, 296–297, 298, 299–300, 304, 325, 329–330
- authenticity ideal, 325; definition of, 227–228; feedback and, 200; identity and, 228; managers dependent on, 226–230; self-esteem and, 228
- background, 337
- Bacon, Bert, 57, 283
- “balcony leader, 293
- banking and financial services, 61
- behaviour, 195–196
- being present, 130–134
- biotechnology industry, 61
- Blanchard, K., 45–46
- Blom, M., 48
- boldness, 43–44
- Boli, J., 293
- Book, Benjamin, 57, 283–284
- boomerang effect, 328
- Bredin, K., 147–148
- budgeting, 28
- bureaucracy, 163–164
- bureaucratic control, 118, 164
- caring rationality, 136
- Carlson, S., 30
- cautiousness, 181
- centralization, 164, 298–299
- CEOs, as strategists, 29–30
- ceremonial duties, 118
- chance, outcomes and, 231
- change, 37–39, 41–42, 56, 68, 86, 103–110, 160–161, 199; cultural, 104–110; demands for, 35–37; managerial life and, 35–37; managers as change agents, 103–110; organizational, 104–109, 160–161; organizational culture and, 104–109
- charisma, 46–47
- Chase, Charlie, 57–58, 284
- closeness, vs. distance, 193–194
- coaching, 184–185, 214, 215; coaching ideals, 324–325; coaching style, 210–214; co-workers and, 127, 128–130; definition of, 127; management as, 127–130; perceived as false and manipulative, 194–195
- co-determination, 130. See also decision-making, participatory
- cognitive ability, 43–44
- cognitive discord, 299–300

350 INDEX

- commanding, 30
- communication, 134–135, 164–165, 166, 222, 299
- compromise, 300–301
- concepts, 331; ironic approach to, 333; reflection on, 332–333
- confirmation, 140–141, 199–200, 218, 236–237, 239–240; confirmation pact, 327; co-workers and, 236–237, 299; dependence on, 301; feedback and, 200–203; identity and, 215–220, 236–237; importance of, 200–203, 226–227, 237; lack of, 125; managers dependent on authenticity, 226–227; mutual identity confirmation, 215–216, 220–222, 223–224, 239; need for, 200, 232–236; reciprocity of, 221; self-confirmation, 208–210; senior managers and, 236–237; superficiality of, 228–229; unreliability of, 228–229
- confirmation pact, 327
- conflict, 189–190
- confusion, 241–242, 298
- consideration, 182–184, 187–188
- construction and projecting industry, 61
- consumer industry, 61
- contact, fear of, 307–312
- context, 229–230
- contradictions, 241–242
- control, 181, 182–185, 188; bureaucratic, 164; bureaucratic control, 118, 164; control paradox, 324; degree of, 43; identity and, 164; normative, 164; traditional forms of, 164
- controlling/authoritarian leadership, 44
- control paradox, 324
- co-ordinating, 28
- core business: distance to, 307–318, 332–333; ignorance regarding, 234–236; knowledge of, 231–236, 312–318; marginalization of, 294–295; operating outside of, 170–174, 180–181, 190–191, 197–198
- Courage, Carol, 58, 285
- co-worker questionnaires, 201
- co-workers, 4, 118, 120–121, 122, 182–183, 188–189; accessibility to, 130–134; acknowledgement of, 130–135, 140–141; ambiguous or inconsistent feedback from, 225; attention to well-being of, 220–222; centrality of, 55; coaching and, 127, 128–130, 194–195; complicated relationships with, 199–200; confirmation and, 236–237, 299; control of, 164; empowering, 134, 150–151; feedback and, 200–203; friendship with, 193–194; independence and individualism of, 222; independent, 134; interaction with, 296–297; in knowledge-intensive organizations, 62; listening to, 140–141; middle-managers and, 138; mutual identity confirmation and, 222–224, 239; in post-heroic leadership view, 47–48; relations with, 126; self-esteem of, 222; showing positive interest in, 140–141; in situational theory, 45–46; in transformational leadership theory, 46–47; understanding, 134–140; views of wing-clipped managers, 168–170; visionary leadership and, 115; well-being of, 222, 304, 305–306
- credibility, 151–152
- critical learning attitude, 332
- criticism, giving, 299. See also feedback
- culture, 104–110, 215; cultural influence, 199; organizational, 68, 104–109, 122, 160–161, 304; as organizing principle, 164; therapeutic managerial cultures, 222–224
- Dean, David, 58, 285–286
- decency, 136
- decision-making, 30; participatory, 118, 119, 120–121, 122, 130, 138
- decisiveness, 181, 182–183
- decoupling, 266–270, 274–276, 277, 294, 302, 332–333
- delegation, 43, 118, 120–121, 122
- demands, 195–196, 197, 323–324
- dependencies, 215–220, 223–224, 226–230, 237–239, 329
- desk leadership, 114
- development work, 174–176
- directing, 28
- distance, vs. closeness, 193–194
- documentation, 298–299
- “door-opening roles”, 117–118
- drive, 43–44, 181, 182–183, 184–185
- dynamics, increased, 29
- education, 61, 86, 87–96, 297, 323, 328, 337
- efficiency, 28

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-12170-6 - Managerial Lives: Leadership and Identity in an Imperfect World

Stefan Sveningsson and Mats Alvesson

Index

More information

- emotional intelligence, 154–155, 196–197 encouragement, 199
 everyday magic, 222–224, 237–239, 296–297 expectations, 195–196, 197, 200, 297, 323–324, 337 experts: expert identity, 72–74; role of, 170–174, 180–181, 197–198
- fantasies, 266–267, 270–273, 274–276, 277, 294, 302, 332–333
- Fayol, Henri, 27–28
- fear of contact, 307–312
- feedback, 41–42, 140–141, 199–240; absence of, 202–208; ambiguous or inconsistent, 202–203, 224–226; authenticity and, 200; confirmation and, 200–203; from co-workers, 225, 236–237; co-workers and, 200–203; dependence on, 301; four typical situation regarding, 202–203; importance of, 200–203; lower managers and, 217–218; managerial dependence, 202–203, 237; mutual feedback and confirmation, 202–203; mutual identity confirmation, 220–222; mutual identity confirmation and, 239; negative, 202–203, 210–214, 299, 325; positive, 202–203, 215–222, 299; self-esteem and, 230–231; self-image and, 230–231; senior management and, 222; senior managers and, 216–218; sincerity of, 226; from subordinates, 202–207, 236–237; from superiors, 190, 202–203, 236–237; two variants of positive, 215–216; uncertain results and, 230–232; unreliability of, 238–239
- “feel-good managers”, 139
- femininity, 136
- “fine titles,” use of, 102
- flexibility, 37–38, 56
- forcefulness, 181, 182–183, 187–189
- fraud position, 313–314
- friendliness, 150–151
- friendship, 136, 140–144, 193–194, 296–297
- frustration, 189–190
- function, 30
- Gardener, Gary, 58, 286
- glider position, 314
- goal orientation, 43–44
- Goodman, Gerald, 58–59, 286–287
- goodness, 304, 305–306
- grand leadership, 292, 293–296, 297–299, 300, 305–306, 320–323, 324, 332
- groups, forming, 102–103
- Gulick, Luther, 28
- handling mechanisms, 265–275, 277, 294, 302, 303, 332–333; decoupling, 266–270, 274–276, 277, 294, 302, 332–333; fantasies, 266–267, 270–273, 274–276, 277, 294, 302, 332–333; hopes for the future, 266–267, 273–275, 277, 294, 302, 332–333
- Harding, Henry, 59, 287–288
- Heifetz, R., 293
- helpfulness, 150–151, 187–188
- heroic ideal, 38–39, 188
- Hersey, P., 45–46
- high technology industry, 61
- honesty, 43–44, 151–152, 154–155, 221–222
- hopes for the future, 266–267, 273–275, 277, 294, 302, 332–333
- Hotel California effect, 328
- humanism, 47–48, 126–155, 188–189, 191–195, 292, 296–297, 299, 300, 302
- human nature, understanding, 118, 134–144, 150–151, 181–190, 191–195, 196–197, 230–231, 292, 296–298, 299, 300, 325
- Huzzard, Tony, 334
- ideals, 291–298, 328; conflicts of, 299–301; as a problem, 214–215; problem of identifying with, 298–303; reality and, 241, 300–301, 302, 304, 305, 323–326; role expectations and, 241–242; solution as problem, 323–326. See also specific ideals
- identity, 189–190, 195–196, 199, 282, 301, 337; anxiety and, 232–236, 301; authenticity and, 228; challenges and threats to, 275; changing, 34–35; confirmation and, 41–42, 93, 199–200, 215–220, 232–237; control and, 164, 242; core business and, 190–191; development of, 34–35; efforts to shape, 34; external forces and, 39; fragility of, 300–301, 323–324; image and, 146; in an imperfect world, 279–333; internal forces and, 39; interpretations and definitions of, 33; knowledge and, 231–236; knowledge of

352 INDEX

- core business and, 232–236; leadership and, 56, 279–333; leadership education as source of, 87–96; management style and, 123; managerial work and, 56, 236–237; managers and, 24–63, 229; in modern organizations, 35–39; mutual identity confirmation, 215–216, 220–222, 223–224, 239; outcomes and, 230–231; personal experiences and, 39; problems with, 181–190; regulation, 95–96; reinforcement of, 140–144, 181–190, 220–222, 223; relational, 199–200; as result of social processes, 244–245; role and, 125; self-esteem and, 228–229; senior managers and, 228; shaping, 39; in social context, 244–245; stability of, 38–39, 41–42, 56, 199; strengthening managerial, 100–103; teams and, 102–103; training and, 93; uncertainty about, 40–41; uncertainty and, 301, 323–324; work situation and, 176–181
- identity adjustment, 246, 247–249, 266t, 276, 301–302
- identity claims, 215, 275–276, 283, 323–324
- identity crashing, 246–247, 252–253, 260–265, 266t, 275–276, 278, 301–302
- identity expression, 246, 249–252, 276; identity work, 266t
- identity juggling, 246–247, 252–255, 266t, 276, 301–302
- identity outcome, 266t
- identity perspective, 279–280
- identity struggle, 245
- identity traps, 278, 300–301
- identity version, 283
- identity work, 34, 39–42, 305–306, 323–324, 325–326; boomerang effect, 328; confirmation and, 39–41; confirmation pact, 327; definition of, 39–40; external forces and, 39–40; five forms of, 245–265, 275–276; forms of, 241–278; friction and, 245–265; handling mechanisms, 265–275, 277, 294, 302, 303, 332–333; Hotel California effect, 328; identity adjustment, 246, 247–249, 266t, 276, 301–302; identity crashing, 246–247, 252–253, 260–265, 266t, 275–277, 278, 301–302; identity expression, 246, 249–252, 266t, 276; identity juggling, 246–247, 252–255, 266t, 276, 301–302; identity outcome in, 266t; identity struggle, 245; identity theme in practice phobia, 309–311; identity wrestling, 246–247, 252–253, 255–260, 266t, 276, 301–302; internal forces and, 39–40; irony of (in)dependence, 329; leadership pact, 327; managerial life and, 241–278; managerial trap, 330; moral illusion, 329; paradox of authenticity, 329–330; psychology trap, 330; Stone's dilemma, 328–329; storytelling and, 40–41; ten key themes in, 326–330; types of, 301–302; useless or idiot paradox, 328–329
- identity wrestling, 246–247, 252–253, 255–260, 266t, 276, 301–302
- ignorance, 190–191, 199–240
- image, identity and, 146
- implementation, 29
- impression management, 187, 300
- inadequacy, feelings of, 280–281
- inconsistencies, 241–242
- industries, 60–63
- industry knowledge, 43–44
- inflating importance, 294–295
- influence, 130, 181, 182–183, 184–185
- integrity, 43–44, 144–150, 151–152, 304, 305–306
- interaction, 237
- interpersonal reciprocity, need for, 228
- interpretation, 229–230, 338
- interviews, 335–338
- intimacy, 332–333
- irony of (in)dependence, 329
- Kärreman, Dan, 334
- knowledge: identity and, 231–236; presence in the practice and, 318–320
- knowledge-intensive organizations, 61, 62, 164
- knowledge society, 222
- knowledge workers, 61–62
- Laurie, D., 293
- leader identity, fantasy-filled claims to, 270–273
- leaders: as driving force, 325; identification with role of, 297; natural traits of, 181; role of, 118–122, 171; as source of inspiration, 43; types of, 279
- leadership, 227–228; across industries and organizations, 50; alternative theories,

- 43; approaches to, 43–48; authentic, 227–228, 237–239; within or beyond the daily business, 174–176; centrality of, 56; charisma and, 46–47; coaching style of, 210–214; as collective and mutual process, 47–48; construction of, 320–323; controlling/authoritarian, 44; controlling/authoritarian leadership, 44; definition of, 48–51, 52; desk, 114; desk leadership, 114; emotional exchange and, 43; examples of, 49–50; as extraordinization of the mundane, 154; feminine, 136; grand, 292, 293–296, 297–299, 300, 305–306, 320–323, 324, 332; heroic ideal, 38–39, 188; idealization of, 297, 298 (see also specific ideals); identifying leadership behaviour, 50–51; identity and, 279–333; in an imperfect world, 279–333; importance attached to, 42–43, 52–53; inspirational, 46–47; interpretations and definitions of, 49–50; management and, 24–63; in the media, 297; natural, 282; natural traits and, 229–230; natural traits of, 188; outcomes and, 279; over-idealistic view of, 297; participating, 44; participating leadership, 44; personal, 32–33, 34–35, 189–190, 195–196; popularization of, 42–43, 116; positive associations with, 125; post-heroic ideal, 43, 47–48, 188–189, 292; project leader role, 147–148; quasi-therapeutic approach, 154–155, 237–240, 296–297; relational, 43, 148, 150–151; research on, 43–48; as shaping of ideas, values, understanding and emotions, 55; situational theory, 43, 45–46; as source of identity, 56; as source of inspiration, 55; stereotypes of, 52; strategic, 111–114, 160–163, 166, 176–181, 196–197, 214–215, 293–295, 297, 298–299, 320–323, 324; style/behaviour theory, 43, 44; symbolic, 161; traits of, 43–44, 279; trait theory, 43–44; transformational, 46–47, 51, 122; transformational view of, 43, 46–47, 51, 122; visionary, 114–116
- leadership dribbler position, 68, 314
- leadership education, 86, 87–96, 297, 323, 328
- leadership ideals, 291–292, 297–298. See also specific ideals
- leadership pact, 327
- leadership skills, managers and, 53–54
- leadership styles, the ideal as a problem, 214–215
- leadership theory, 293. See also specific theories
- learning: natural traits and, 85–86; personality traits and, 85–86
- listening, 130–135, 138, 140–141, 150–151, 154–155, 182–185, 296–297, 299; attentive, 130–134
- lower managers, feedback and, 217–218
- Lund University Management and Organization Studies (Lumos), 334
- main actors, 57–60, 282–292, 335–338
- management, 196–197; as alternative to other kinds of jobs, 68–69, 72–73; as alternative to specialist positions, 72–73; careers in, 67–98; as coaching, 127–130; complexity of, 37; confirmation and, 71; darker side of, 148–150; definition of, 52; formal mechanisms of, 54; leadership and, 24–63; as a means of self-development, 68–74; natural traits and, 229–230; as opportunity for self-realization, 281–282; an overview, 25–32; personal, 32–33; as personal and career development, 68–74; personification of, 227–228, 230–231, 237–239, 243; popular literature on, 279, 331; as self-fulfillment, 70; stereotypes of, 52; symbolic, 51; therapeutic approach, 154–155; work and, 24–63
- management journals, 297
- management pornography, 279
- management style, identity and, 123
- management teams, 100–103, 202; identity and, 102–103
- manager, definition of, 3
- manager case-studies, 57–60, 282–292, 335–338
- managerial dependence, 215–220, 237–239
- “managerial essence”, 103
- managerial ideals, 292–298; administrative reality and, 160–163, 176–181, 196–197, 293–295, 297, 298–299, 320–323, 324; problem of identifying with, 298–303; reality and, 159–198; solution as problem, 323–326. See also specific ideals

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-12170-6 - Managerial Lives: Leadership and Identity in an Imperfect World

Stefan Sveningsson and Mats Alvesson

Index

More information

354 INDEX

- managerial identity, 241–242, 281; control and regulation of, 242; strengthening, 100–103
- managerial life: anxiety and, 280–281; as attractive, 5–6; as boring and tough, 10–11; change and, 35–37, 280–281; complexity of, 7–9, 280–282; demands of, 125, 280–281; expectations of, 280–281; forms of identity work and, 241–278; images of, 5–11; as influential, 6–7; ironic elements of, 199–240; in practice, 11–15; uncertainty and, 280–281; as unclear, 9–10
- managerial meetings, 102–103
- managerial models, 37–38
- managerial roles, 30–32, 31t, 337; disseminator, 31, 31t; disturbance handler, 31, 31t; diversity of, 32; entrepreneur, 31, 31t; environment and, 32; figurehead, 30, 31t; information manager, 31, 31t; leader, 30–31, 31t; liaison, 31, 31t; Mintzberg's ten, 264; monitor, 31, 31t; negotiator, 31, 31t; resource allocator, 31, 31t; spokesperson, 31, 31t
- managerial style, reflective and distanced, 332
- managerial supervision, 43
- managerial tools, 37–38
- managerial trap, 330
- managerial work, 4, 24–63, 298–299; administrative, 52–53, 55, 176–181, 196–197; administrative control and, 166–167; anxiety and, 301, 312–318, 313f, 317f; authenticity in, 144–150, 300; as big and important, 97; challenges of, 323–324; change and, 41–42, 56; classical theorists, 27–30; confusion and, 241–242; contradictions and, 241–242; control and regulation of, 242; conventional ideas about, 56; demands of, 323–324; devaluing of, 297; diversity of, 301; emotional content and, 236–237; expectations of, 160–161, 323–324; “exterior aspects” vs. “inner world”, 199; five driving forces behind the desire to have, 97–98; in the form of “meta-events”, 123–124; fragmented nature of, 30–32, 41–42, 56, 264; as fun, 97; idealization of, 29, 304, 305, 323–326, 331; identity and, 56, 236–237; inconsistencies and, 241–242; insecure nature of, 41–42; integrity in, 144–150; as involving good people skills, 97–98; made up of specific, practical actions, 123–124; meaning of, 37, 116, 243, 279–280, 301; motivating, 130–134; negative aspects of, 98; openness and, 130–134; operational vs. strategic, 160–167, 176–181, 196–197, 293–295, 297, 298–299, 320–323, 324; oversimplification of, 29; as part of natural development, 97; personalization of, 189–190; popular perceptions of, 297; portrayal as well-organized, clear and rational, 29; in practice, 159–198, 279; as road to self-fulfillment, 323; status and, 41–42; stereotypes of, 56; subjectivity of, 226–227; uncertainty and, 301
- managers: centrality of leadership for, 56; as change agents, 99–125; as culture bearers/agents of change, 96, 104–109; demands on, 35–37, 38–39; dependency on confirmation, 229; dependent on authenticity, 226–230; as doers of good, 305–306; expectations of, 35–37, 38–39; “feel-good managers”, 139; as friends, 140–144; humanistic, 126–155, 181–190; identity and, 15–18, 24–63, 229; images of, 5–11; as janitors, 176–181; as leaders, 52–53, 110–118; leadership skills and, 53–54; life of, 4; limited by systems and actors, 197; natural, 208–210, 236–237, 281–282; as natural leaders, 228–229; natural traits of, 228–229; as networkers, 99–125; as paragons of virtue, 150–154, 222; prevented from living out their leadership, 197; as quasi-therapists, 222, 236–240, 299; as quasi-therapists, 154–155; self-esteem of, 222; as strategists, 96, 99–125, 176–181; therapeutic, 223–224; as understanding human nature, 134–144, 181–190, 191–195, 196–197, 230–231, 296–298, 299, 300; as village idiots, 190–191; well-being of, 222; who like but do not practise leadership, 163–167; why people want to become, 67–98; wing-clipped, 167–170. See also lower managers; middle-managers; senior managers

- manager's gaze, focus on, 327 mandates, 337
 manipulation, 299–300
 master position, 314
 maturity, 86
 methodology, 334–338
 Meyer, J., 293
 micro-management, 114, 118–122, 130, 161, 166, 170–174, 197–198, 297, 298–299, 303, 307–312
 middle-managers, 40–41, 114, 126, 213;
 co-workers and, 138; leadership styles and, 215; managerial dependence and, 238–239; as quasi-therapists, 238–239; role of communicating strategic decisions, 164–165, 166
 Mintzberg, H., 30–32, 31t, 42, 264, 332 missions, 110–111
 models, 331; ironic approach to, 333;
 reflection on, 332–333
 Montgomery, C.A., 29–30
 Mooney, Matt, 59, 288
 morals, 126–155; moral convictions, 300–301, 303–307; moral illusion, 329; moral positioning, 140–144; moral purism, 291–292, 296–297, 303–307, 311–312
 motivation, 43–44, 130–134, 188 mutual identity confirmation, 215–216, 220–224, 239

 networking, 116–118
 Noble, Nora, 59, 288–289
 Nyberg, Daniel, 334

 objectives, 110–118
 openness, 130–135, 154–155, 182–183, 296–297, 299
 operations, 30
 organizational change, 103–110, 160–161 organizational context, 60–63
 organizational culture, 68, 104–110, 122, 160–161, 304
 organizational development, as handcraft, 332–333
 organizational hierarchies, 304, 309–311 organizations: complexity of, 29; identity in modern, 35–39; knowledge-intensive, 61,
 62; knowledge-intensive organizations, 164; as machines, 28; obscurity of, 29; as somewhat closed and stable systems, 28;
 types of, 335
 organizing, 28
 originality, 43–44
 outcomes: chance and, 231; identity and, 230–231; self-esteem and, 230–231 overall orientation, 29
 over-production, 29

 paradox of authenticity, 329–330 participating leadership, 44 part-time work, (over-)emphasis on, 294–295 people skills, 191
 perseverance, 43–44
 persistence, 43–44
 personal development, 86 personality, 32–33, 43–44, 125, 237, 281–282, 292–293, 305–306, 325; ability for change, 82–85; ability to take action, 79–82;
 active motivator, 75; clarity, 76–79;
 dialogue partner, 74–76; drive, 74–76, 79–82; empathy, 74–76; learning and,
 85–86; natural authority, 76–79; natural desire for change, 82–85; as natural platforms for management, 74–86;
 understander of human nature, 74–76 personal leadership, 32–33, 34–35, 189–190, 195–196
 personal management, 32–33 personnel management, 96 pharmaceutical industry, 61 planning, 28, 29
 policies, 110–111
 politics, distancing oneself from, 144 popular management theories, 279, 331; distance to, 332–333; ironic approach to, 333; reflection on, 332–333; superficiality of, 331
 portrait gallery, 60, 65
 POSDCORB, 28
 post-heroic leadership, 43, 47–48, 188–189, 292
 practice. See also core business; practice phobia: absence from, 170–174, 197–198, 318, 318–320. See also presence in the practice; presence in the, 236, 318–320, 332–333
 practice phobia, 291–292, 307–312; anxiety levels, 316–318, 317f; fraud position, 313–314; glider position, 314; grand

356 INDEX

- leadership and, 320–323; identity them suggested by, 309–311; leadership dribbler position, 314; managerial positions and, 312–315, 313f; master position, 314; technical specialist position, 312; village idiot position, 314 praise, importance of, 216–220 presence in the practice, 236, 318–320, 332–333 principles, 110–111
 private education, 61 problem solving, 43–44 processes, 229–230, 237, 298–299 productivity, 28 project leader role, 147–148 psychology, 332–333; psychology trap, 330; using to manipulate or produce desirable behaviour, 296–297 “psychopolitics”, 154–155 public administrations, 117 publishing business, 61

 quasi-therapeutic approach, 237–240, 296–297, 299, 304, 332–333

 Ramirez, F., 293
 rationalism, 28
 reality, ideals and, 241, 300–301, 302, 304, 305, 323–326 reciprocity, 47–48, 55, 221, 223 regional public services, 59 relational leadership, 43, 148, 150–151 relationship orientation, 43, 44, 199, 229–230 relationships, 237
 Rennstam, Jens, 334
 reporting, 28, 298–299 responsibility, 43–44
 rewards, 195–196
 role models, 86, 109–110, 123–124 role playing, 239–240, 300 roles, 337; identity and, 125; role expectations, 241–242; self and, 227; self-esteem and, 227

 self, 227, 239
 self-confidence, 43–44
 self-confirmation, 208–210
 self-development, 68
 self-esteem, 43–44, 56, 79, 166–167, 183–184, 190–191, 199–240, 241–242, 301, 325–326; authenticity and, 228; feedback and, 200, 230–231; identity and, 228–229; knowledge of core business and, 232–236; negative feedback and, 210–214; outcomes and, 230–231; reinforcement of, 236–237; roles and, 227; wing-clipped managers and, 168–170 self-image. See self-view self-knowledge, 227–228 self-realization, 70, 281–282, 323 self-view, 34–35, 37–42, 43–44, 56, 152–153, 166–167, 195–196, 199, 219–220, 237–239, 282, 299, 300–301, 305–306, 323, 337; challenges and threats to a positive, 242–245; feedback and, 230–231; knowledge of core business and, 232–236; pop management and, 297; reality and, 159–198; self-confirmation and, 208–210; as understanding human nature, 181–190; wing-clipped managers and, 167–170 senior managers: confirmation and, 236–237; feedback and, 216–218, 222; identity and, 228; influence of, 28 sensitivity, 130, 199–200, 236–237, 324–325 situational theory, 43, 45–46
 Smart, Stuart, 60, 289–290
 Söderlund, J., 147–148 specialist positions, 72–74. See also experts staffing, 28
 staging, 300. See also role playing standardization, 164, 298–299 status, 41–42
 Stone, Steven, 60, 290
 Stone’s dilemma, 328–329
 strategic decisions, communication of, 164–165, 166 strategic development, 116–118 strategic leadership, 111–114, 166, 214–215, 293–295, 297, 298–299, 320–323; vs. administrative managerial work, 160–163, 176–181, 196–197, 293–295, 297, 298–299, 320–323, 324 strategy, 29–30, 46, 68, 96, 110–118, 122, 160–161, 199, 320–323; concept of, 110–111, 124–125; emphasis on, 298–299; inflating importance of, 294–295 strength, 187–188

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-12170-6 - Managerial Lives: Leadership and Identity in an Imperfect World

Stefan Sveningsson and Mats Alvesson

Index

More information

- struggle, 189–190
- style/behaviour theory, 43, 44
- subordination, 4, 304
- supportiveness, 150–151, 187–188, 199
- Sveningsson, S., 48
- symbolic leadership, 161
- symbolic work, 29, 51
- task orientation, 43, 44
- teams. See management teams
- technical specialist position, 312
- Tengblad, T., 55, 332
- theories, 331. See also specific theories;
classical theorists, 27–30; ironic approach to, 333; reflection on, 332–333
- therapeutic managerial cultures, 222–224
- Thomas, Robyn, 334
- training, 87–96. See also education
- traits, 68, 228–229, 237, 279, 281–282, 292–293, 305–306, 325. See also personality; importance of, 229–230; learning and, 85–86; natural, 85–86, 229–230;
overemphasis on, 209–210; positive, 300–301; trait spotting, 43–44
- trait theory, 43–44, 181, 209–210, 229–230
- transformational leadership, 46–47, 51, 122
- transparency, 298–299
- trustworthiness, 151–152
- uncertainty, 298
- understander of human nature ideal, 292, 296–298, 299, 300, 325
- unicity paradox, 292–293
- universal ambitions, 44
- universal management principles, 28
- useless or idiot paradox, 328–329
- values, 114–116, 125, 136, 195–197
- village idiot position, 314
- village idiots, managers as, 190–191
- virtue, 154–155, managers as paragons of, 150–154, 182–183
- visibility, 218, 222
- visionary leadership, 114–116
- visions, 46, 110–118, 122, 160–161
- Wallander, Jan, 209–210, 293–294
- Wenglén, Robert, 334
- White, William, 60, 290–291
- wing-clipped managers, 167–170
- wishful thinking, 332–333
- working conditions, fragmentations of, 35–37
- work situation, identity and, 176–181
- Yukl, Gary, 48–49
- Zaleznik, A., 51, 139, 154–155