Contents

Acknowledgments ix
Introduction 1

1 The Contest between Homer and Plato and the Homeric Education on the Gods: From Divine to Human Providence 10
   The Importance of Homer in Plato 10
   An Overview of Homer’s Challenging Education 16
   Faith in “The Father of Gods and Men” 21
   The Limits of Divine Power 31
   The Power of Gods and the Mortality of Humans 41
   The Immortal Nature of the Gods 45
   The Limits of Divine Wisdom 47
   The Limits of Divine Love 60
   The Limits of Divine Providence 70
   Achilles’ Education on the Limits of Divine Providence 78

2 The Homeric Education in Human Excellence: The Suffering Hero and the Enigmatic Singer 83
   From a Dutiful to a Questioning Hero 83
   The Judgments of the Humane Skeptic 102
   The Scientific Poet of Death 107
   The Similes of the Lover of Wisdom 117
   The Deliberately Enigmatic Thinker 124
Contents

3  Plato's Critique of the Homeric Education 132
   The Proper Education for Philosophic Natures 132
   Socrates' Critique of the Homeric Education 1: The Gods 138
   Socrates' Critique of the Homeric Education 2: Heroes and Human Excellence 152
   Socrates' Critique of the Homeric Education 3: Homer's Self-Presentation 172
   The Platonic Education in Human Excellence 182

4  Homer and Machiavelli on Education and Human Excellence 194
   Machiavelli as Educator 194
   Homer in the Prince 207
   Homer's Portrayal of the Tragic Life of Virtue 210
   Machiavelli's Portrayal of the Happy Life of Virtue 218
   Machiavelli, Cicero, and Plutarch on the Lion and the Fox 225
   Machiavelli and Homer on the Lion and the Fox 230
   Machiavelli on Philosophy and Imitation 240

5  Nietzsche on the Contest between Homer and Plato 247
   The Importance of Homer in Nietzsche 247
   Nietzsche's Ambiguous Account of Homer, Plato, and Philosophy 253
   Ancient Greece, Christianity, and Human Nature 258
   Homer as the Founder of Greek Culture 263
   Odysseus contra Achilles 270
   Nietzsche's Project to Resurrect Homeric Greece? 278
   Homeric Culture versus Human Nature? 283
   Nietzsche and the Task of the Philosopher 289
   Nietzsche's Sympathetic Critique of Plato 293

Conclusion 306

Bibliography 309

Index 320