Contents

Foreword by Jack J. Coe, Jr.  page xi
Preface  xv
Acknowledgments  xvi
Table of Cases  xviii
Table of Statutes and Rules  xxxv
Other Authorities  xli

Introduction  1

1 The Formation and Transformation of the Status of International and Domestic Arbitration in the United States  7
   A. The Historically Conventional View Of Arbitration in the United States  7
   B. Homegrown Skepticism of Arbitral Proceedings  9

   A. Wilko v. Swan  17
   B. Scherk v. Alberto-Culver: A Non-Reversal Reversal and a Look at The Bremen v. Zapata  23
   C. Mitsubishi v. Soler Chrysler-Plymouth: The Final Decisive Paradigm  32
   D. The Reversal of Wilko v. Swan: Time for a New Paradigm  36

3 Arbitrator Immunity  41
   A. A Civil Law Approach  43
   I. The Origins of the Absolute Immunity Doctrine Attaching to Arbitrators  58
      A. The King Can Do No Wrong: A Word on Judicial Immunity  58
      B. Judicial Immunity Gave Rise to Arbitrator Immunity: A False Paradigm  62
   II. The Effect of Civil War Reconstruction on a Doctrine’s Development  67
      A. Ex Parte Milligan  69
      B. The Test Oath Cases: Cummings v. Missouri and Ex Parte Garland  72
      C. Bradley v. Fisher: The Maturation of Judicial Immunity  78
      D. The Expansive Contemporary Development of Judicial Immunity: An Unqualified Paradigm for Arbitrator Immunity  82
      E. The Functionally Comparable Standard  86
III. The Transposition of Judicial Immunity to Arbitral Immunity:
The Paradigm Shift Leading to Overprotection Without Normative, Historical, or Policy Foundation 98
B. State Common Law on Arbitral Immunity: An Uncertain Confluence of Judicial Adjudication and Contractual Paradigms 107
   (i) Baar v. Tigerman: A Legitimate Dualistic Approach 114
   (ii) The California Legislature Enacts a Statute in Derogation of the Common Law 118
   (iii) Stasz v. Schwab: A Cornerstone Decision 121
      (a) The Stasz v. Schwab Adherence to an Orthodox Judicial Paradigm for Arbitrator Immunity 122
      (b) The Second Part of the Stasz v. Schwab Analysis: The Remedy for Arbitrator Bias 127
IV. The Proliferation of the Arbitrator Immunity Doctrine 132
A. The Extension of the Doctrine to Professionals Serving as Arbitrators: Professional Non-Arbitrators 132
B. State Legislative Expansion of Arbitrator Immunity 133
C. A Concluding Unscientific Postscript 138

A. Section 1782 and Its Elements 141
   B. Intel Corp. v. Advanced Micro Devices: Discovery Is Engrafted Upon Arbitration and Change Reshapes the Horizon 146
   C. Intel Corp.: A Closer Look 147
I. Borrowing Only Party Initiative and Transparency 155
   A. In re Application of Roz Trading Ltd. 155
   B. The Orthodox Misconception of Common Law Discovery in International Arbitration 167
   C. Discovery in Aid of Execution of a Non-U.S. Arbitral Award: No Longer an Outlandish Proposition 167
   D. The Pitfalls in In re Clerici: Discovery in Aid of a Non-U.S. Arbitral Award 170
II. What Has Really Happened? The Effects of a Trilogy Examined 173
   A. Rediscovering Discovery in International Arbitral Proceedings and the Principle of Party-Autonomy 173

5 The New Unorthodox Conception of Common Law Transparency in International Arbitration Through Evidence Gathering and Orality 178
A. An Introduction to the Challenge 178
   B. The IBA Rules on the Taking of Evidence in International Arbitration 182
   C. Consultation and Self-Disclosure in Article 2: Harmonizing Traditions and the Application of Persuasive Authority 185
      (i) Article 2 of the Rules and the Effort to Strike a Balance 185
      (ii) Parallels with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 187
   D. Revisiting Standards and Definitions: An Inquiry Into Meaning and Consistency in the 2010 IBA Rules 191
      (i) The “Relevant to the Case and Material to its Outcome” Standard 192
CONTENTS

(ii) The Need for Further Definition: “Relevance” and “Materiality,” and the Rules’ Definition Section 196
E. A New Standard of Good Faith: At Least a Good Faith Effort Towards a Standard 202
(i) Introducing (And Interpreting) Good Faith 202
(ii) ReliaStar and the Rules’ Good Faith Requirement: Twins or Perhaps Strangers 217
F. Revisiting the Inherent Authority of Arbitrators to Impose Sanctions in the Form of Attorney’s Fees and Costs as a Punitive Measure Arising From an Absence of Good Faith 220
(i) Jurisprudence from the Ninth and Eleventh Circuits Cited by the Second Circuit in ReliaStar Does Not Support the Court’s Novel Holding 221
(ii) In ReliaStar the Court Erroneously Conceptualizes the Terms “Remedies” and “Punitive Sanctions” As Well As “Arbitrator” and “Judge” 222
G. Best Efforts Within the Rules’ Framework: A Meaningful Step Towards Equipoise 225
H. Transparency as a Step Towards Defining “Good Faith” and “Best Efforts” in the Taking of Evidence in International Arbitration 227
(i) Non-Disclosure of Requested Documents 227
(ii) Use of and Access to Original Documents 228
(iii) Expert Witnesses 228
(iv) Understanding Transparency and Its Application in Different Contexts 229
I. Rules on the Efficient Conduct of Proceedings in International Arbitration (Prague Rules): A Thumbnail Sketch of Causation, Culture, and Untested Assumptions 230
(i) Title and Structure 231
(ii) A Dissonance Between Untested Assumptions and Objectives 241
a. Duration, Lack of Efficiency, and Expense as Problems Plaguing International Commercial Arbitration 241
b. The Untested Premise in Support of Efficiency 245
J. Final Words on the IBA Rules 247
L. Revisiting the Rules of the International Centre for Dispute Resolution 252
M. The Rules of the London Court of International Arbitration 255
N. Synthesis of Institutional Arbitration Rules and Party-Autonomy 258

A. The First Paradigm 261
(i) The Consequences of Refusal and Manifest Disregard of the Law 262
(ii) Denial Triggering an Art. V(b) Quagmire 264
(iii) The Manifest Disregard of the Law Problem 268
B. The Duferco Analysis 271
C. Order Out of Chaos: The Need for a Uniform Standard for “Manifest Disregard of the Law” Beyond Mere Intuition 278
D. Halligan v. Piper Jaffray 280
7 Perjury & Arbitration: The Honor System Where the Arbitrators Have the Honor and the Parties Have the System ........................................... 297

8 Developments in the Apportionment of Jurisdiction Between Arbitrators and Courts Concerning the Validity of a Contract Containing an Arbitration Clause, and Transformations:
   Regarding the Severability Doctrine .............................................. 311
   A. Who Decides the Validity of a Contract Having an Arbitration Clause: Judge or Arbitrator? 313
   B. Preston v. Ferrer 327
   C. First Options of Chicago v. Kaplan 331
   D. Afterthoughts 336

9 U.S. Arbitration Law and Its Dialogue with the New York Convention: The Development of Four Issues ........................................ 338
   A. Non-signatories to Agreements to Arbitrate 339
   B. Jurisdiction to Enforce 347
   C. Forum Non Conveniens: A Nightmare of Unpredictability? 353
   D. Annulled Awards and the In re Chromalloy, Baker Marine, and TermoRio Trilogy: And Then Pemex
      (i) Chromalloy Aero v. The Arab Republic of Egypt 357
      (ii) Baker Marine Nigeria Ltd. v. Chevron Nigeria Ltd. 363
      (iii) TermoRio S.A. E.S.P. v. Electranta S.P. 367

Conclusion ...................................................... 378

Appendix A The Federal Arbitration Act (USA) .................................... 381

Appendix B Mitsubishi Motors Corp. v. Soler Chrysler-Plymouth, Inc. .... 391

Appendix C Bradley v. Fisher .................................................. 401

Appendix D State Court Cases .................................................. 410

Appendix E Case Law Concerning 28 U.S.C. § 1782 and International Arbitration ...................................................... 411

Index 416