

Index

- abbreviations, 213–215
- abstracts, 117–118, 261
- accuracy of information, 62, 85, 137–138
- active voice use, 170
- Alexander, Jan, 64
- American Psychological Association (APA), 54
- American Psychological Association (Web site), 61
- APA style format
 - abbreviations, 213–215
 - capitalization, 210–212
 - citations, 221–224
 - footnotes, 225–227
 - headings, 215–216
 - italics, 212–213
 - numbers, 218–220
 - page layout, 200–201
 - punctuation, 201–209
 - reference list, 224–225
 - seriation, 221
 - spelling, 213
 - statistics and equations, 216–218
 - units of measurement, 216
 - word choice, 174
- appendices, 129
- archival research, 110–112
- Association for Psychological Science (Web site), 61
- audience, 150–152, 157–160, 285
- audience participation, 288–289
- author notes, 71–73, 225
- authority of online information, 63
- authorship, 139–140. See also citations
 - balance theory of wisdom, 39–40
 - Beck, Susan, 64
 - between-subjects independent variable, 92–93
 - bibliography software, 65
 - Boolean logic, 58–60
 - box plots, 238–240
 - Bright Planet Software Company (Web site), 57
 - British Psychological Society (BPS), 200
 - Buros Institute of Mental Measurements (Web site), 54
- capitalization, 210–212
- captions for figures, 252
- checklists
 - for lectures, 289
 - for literature reviews, 86
 - for manuscript content and style, 174
 - for manuscript language and grammar, 175
 - for research papers, 130–131
 - for tables and figures, 253
- CINAHL (database), 54
- citations. See authorship, plagiarism and APA style format for authors, 221–224
 - and direct quotes, 227
 - and electronic sources, 224
 - and ethics involved in, 143
 - and original vs secondary sources, 152–153
 - criteria for choice of, 128–129, 264
 - timeliness of, 153, 264

296 Index

- Clearinghouse on Assessment and Evaluation (Web site), 54
- Cleveland, William, 229
- conclusions, 85
- confidentiality, 134
- conflict of interest, 228
- consent form, 101–104
- content footnotes, 226
- content guidelines
- citations, 153
 - data analysis and conclusions, 153–154, 156
 - limitations of the study, 155
 - literature review, 152
 - problem statement, 150–152
- copyrighted material, 99
- correlational studies, 91
- critical reading, 28
- critical review, 167
- criticism, 18–19. See also reviewers
- data
- alternative interpretations of, 156
 - and means of scoring, 100–101
 - falsification of, 135
 - interpretation of, 153–154
 - online collection of, 112–115
 - reinterpretation of, 33
- data presentation guidelines
- and construction and design of graphs, 246–251
 - and criteria for choice of graph type, 242–246
 - and table construction, 231–236
 - and tips for effective displays, 231
 - and use of figures, 236–242
- debriefing, 133
- debriefing sheet, 104–105
- deception, 132
- decision-making heuristics, 37
- dependent variables, 90–92, 189, 252
- descriptive statistics, 123
- digital object identifier number (DOI), 224
- discussion, 125–126, 127–128
- discussion section, 155
- duplex theory, 38–39
- duplicate publication, 144–145
- ecological validity, 90
- Educational Testing Service (Web site), 54
- effective communication, 8–9, 11–13, 14–15
- effective digits, 234
- Ehrenberg, Andrew, 229, 231
- Elements of Graphing Data, The* (book), 229
- elevator speech, 279
- EndNote (software), 71
- ERIC (database), 54
- ethics
- and authorship, 139–140
 - and data accuracy, 137–139
 - and falsification of research data, 135
 - and financial management of project money, 136
 - and human research, 132–134
 - and issues with methods of publication, 143–145
 - and nonhuman animal research, 134–135
 - and plagiarism, 141–142
- evaluation techniques, 42–45
- exhaustive alternatives, 18
- experimental control, 90
- experimental debriefing, 104–105
- experimental design
- and choice of materials, 96–98
 - and determination of variables, 89–93
 - and format for manuscript, 122
 - and mode of presentation, 98–99
 - and participant instructions, 100
 - and participant selection, 94–95
- experimental materials, 96–98, 121
- experimenter effects, 109, 113
- explanation by default, 18–19
- extraneous variables, 108
- failure to replicate, 21
- FedWorld (Web site), 111
- figures, 237–238, 251, 252–253
- footnotes, 225–227
- format. See manuscript format
- gender-biased language, 174
- grammar. See scientific writing
- and commonly misused nontechnical terms, 176–184
 - and commonly misused technical terms, 184–199
 - and proper sentence structure, 171–173, 174
 - and proper word choice, 168–171

297 Index

- graphs
 - and criteria for choice of, 242–246
 - design tips for, 248–251
 - rules for construction of, 246–248
- Guide to Publishing in Psychology Journals* (book), 267
- headings, 215–216
- incongruent concepts, 38–39
- independent variables, 89–90, 189, 252
- inferential statistics, 123
- influences on experimental research, 108–109
- Information and Its Counterfeits (Web site), 62
- informed consent, 101–104, 133
- Institutional Review Board (IRB), 101, 106–107, 133, 136
- Internet
 - and critical evaluation of online information, 61–64
 - and efficient search techniques, 56–60
 - and use in archival research, 110–112
 - and use in original research, 112–115
 - components of, 55–56
 - introduction, 118–119
 - italics usage, 212–213
- journal articles
 - and presentation limitations, 22–25
 - length of, 261
- JSTOR (database), 54
- Kahneman, Daniel, 37
- keyword outline, 77
- language and grammar guidelines, 167–174
- lectures, 283–289
- legends, 251
- LISTSERV, 56
- literature reviews
 - and creation of effective, 84–85
 - and evaluation of authors' arguments, 74–76
 - and methods to organize by author, 71–73
 - and methods to organize by topic, 73–76
 - and need for completeness of, 8
 - and use of to determine research topics, 67–71
 - citation requirements for, 71–74
 - evaluation of, 85–87
 - goals of, 66
 - need for conciseness of, 152
 - logarithmic scales, 251
- mailing lists, 56
- manuscript format
 - abstract, 117–118
 - appendices, 129
 - author information, 116–117
 - discussion, 125–126
 - experimental design, 122
 - introduction, 118–119
 - method, 120–123
 - results, 123–124
 - section order, 129–130
 - title, 116
- manuscript revision, 267–270
- measurements, 21, 216
- Mechanical Turk (Web site), 115
- Mental Measurements Yearbook*, 54
- methods (experimental), 120–123
- methods to restrict research topics, 70
- Milgram, Stanley, 132
- mutually exclusive alternatives, 18
- myside bias, 34
- negative results, 20–22
- nonhuman animals, 134–135
- nontechnical terms, 176–184
- numbers
 - expressed in figures, 219–220
 - expressed in words, 219
- objectivity of online information, 63
- observations, 30–33
- outliers, 237–238, 240–241
- outlines
 - advantages of, 83–84
 - organization of, 79–83
 - types of, 77–79
- overclaiming, 17
- participants
 - and informed consent, 101–104, 133
 - and need for post-experiment debriefing, 104–105, 133
 - and need to deceive, 132
 - and need to maintain anonymity and confidentiality of, 134
 - clarity of instructions for, 100
 - selection of, 94–95

298 Index

- permissions, 143
- persuasion techniques, 45–49
- piecemeal publication, 144
- pilot studies, 108
- plagiarism, 141–142. See also citations
- plagiarism detection software, 142
- poster presentations, 275–281
- A Primer in Data Reduction, A* (book), 229
- procedure description, 123
- ProjectMUSE (database), 54
- proofreading, 167, 261, 267–270
- psychological test resources, 54
- psychology databases, 53–54
- PsycInfo (database), 54
- public records, 111–112
- Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association* (book), 200
- PubMed (database), 54
- punctuation, 201–209

- qualifiers, 170–171
- quartile plots, 238–240, 242
- quotes, 227, 263

- random sampling of participants, 95
- redundancy, 165–166
- reference footnotes, 226
- reference list, 128–129, 224–225
- reference materials. See research sources
- research findings, 11, 14–15, 166
- research idea sources
 - academic reading, 26–29
 - anomalies in behavior, 34–36
 - consultation, 26–27
 - elaboration of current ideas, 36–41
 - literature reviews, 67–71
 - observations, 30–33
 - past failures, 33, 36
- research ideas
 - and main vs subordinated, 82
 - evaluation of, 42–45
 - origins of, 141
 - techniques to persuade others of value of, 45–49
- research papers. See scientific writing
 - and IRB approval, 106–107
 - appropriate length of, 13–14
 - citation requirements for, 71–74
 - title of, 116
- research sources
 - and timeliness of, 64, 153
 - documentation of, 71–74
 - evaluation of arguments of, 74–76
 - online material for, 60–63
 - original vs secondary, 152–153
 - reference materials for, 50–52, 111–112
- researcher effects, 109
- restriction of research topics, 70
- results, 127–128, 166
- results description, 123–124
- reviewers. See criticism
 - and alternative data interpretation, 138–139
 - and common reasons for article rejection, 151, 152–154
 - and exorbitant claims, 17
 - feedback from, 270–271
 - writing for, 257

- sample bias, 95
- sample population, 94–95
- sample size, 21
- scientific writing. See research papers,
 - writing tips, grammar
 - and accuracy of information, 137–139
 - and clarity of message, 11–13
 - and needs of audience, 159, 163–164
 - and use of first person, 158
 - purpose of, 15–18
- search engines, 56
- sentence outline, 78
- seriation, 221
- simultaneous submission, 144
- Social Psychology Network (Web site), 61
- split infinitives, 173–174
- statistical significance, 124
- statistics and equations, 216–218
- stem-and-leaf displays, 237–238, 242
- Sternberg, Karin
 - and duplex theory, 38–39
 - intelligence theory, 32
 - observations, 31
- Sternberg, Robert J.
 - and cognitive fallacies associated with failures, 36
 - and duplex theory, 38–39
 - and intelligence theory, 31–32
 - and love as a story theory, 34–35
 - and styles of conflict resolution, 30
 - and styles of self-government, 41
 - and WICS theory of wisdom, 39–40

299 Index

- stratified sampling of participants, 95
- style guidelines
 - avoidance of too much information, 163–166
 - citation of sources and findings, 166
 - clarity of information, 159–162
 - interests of audience, 157–158
- subjects. See participants
- summary statements, 162
- SurveyMonkey (Web site), 114
- syllogisms, 96–98

- table footnotes, 226–227
- tables, 231–236
- Tate, Marsha, 64
- technical terms, 184–199, 261
- Tests in Print* (book), 54
- The Good, the Bad, and the Ugly (Web site), 64

- topic notes, 73–76
- topic outline, 77
- Tulving, Endel, 37
- Tversky, Amos, 37

- validity of electronic information, 51
- variable determination, 89–93

- within-subjects independent variable, 92–93

- word choice
 - and commonly misused nontechnical terms, 176–184
 - and commonly misused technical terms, 184–199
 - impact of, 168–171, 174
- writing tips, 257–266. See also scientific writing