Contents

List of Figures  page vii
List of Maps viii
List of Tables ix
Acknowledgments x
Note on Romanization xii

Introduction  1
Manchuria: Land of Progress  1
But Is It Religion?  5
Manchuria in a Global World  9
Sectoral Silos and Structural Resonance  11
Neo-empire and Spiritual Engineering  14
Structure of This Book  18

1 Foundations of Religion in Society in Manchuria  19
   Political Religion before the Qing Dynasty  19
   Political Religion under Qing Rule  23
   Migration  24
   Conclusion: Faith on the Frontier  29

2 From the Blood of the Martyrs  30
   Violence and the Transformation of Religious Mission  30
   Catholic Mission to 1900  31
   Protestant Mission to 1900  39
   Boxers and Christians  43
   Mission Methods Following the Boxer Suppression  47
   God’s Kingdom Comes to Manchuria  53
   Mode, Moment, and Miracle  57
   Conclusion: A Time to Suffer, A Time to Prosper  61

3 The Mind of Empire  63
   Manchuria and Religion in the Eyes of Asian Social Science  63
   Indigenization of Social Science in Japan  63
   Social Science and Social Reform in China  67
   Universities in Manchuria: The Role of Institutions  71
   Japanese Social Science and Manchurian Religion  77
   Conclusion: Scholarly Formation of the Spiritual-Imperial Self  83
Table of Contents

4  Piety in Print
   Religion in the Pages of the Manchurian Press
   Commerce and Community
   Nakashima Masao and Japanese Journalism in China
   Religion and Social Reform: 1906–1924
   Reaching the Masses: 1925–1935
   Religious Patriotism and National Spirit: 1936–1944
   Conclusion: Marketplace of Ideas, Ideas in the Marketplace

5  The Laws of Men
   Law and Religion in Manchukuo
   Beyond Code and Church
   Precedents: Law and Religion in China and Japan
   Manchukuo: Rule of Law under an Illegal Regime
   Conclusions

6  A Charitable View
   New Religions and the Birth of Public Philanthropy
   New Religions in Republican China
   Confucian Revival and the Turn to Charity
   Spread to Manchuria
   Conclusion: New Religions, “Redemptive Societies,” and Secular Charities. What’s Really in a Name?

7  Manchukuo’s Filial Sons
   Graveside Piety and the Transformation of Popular Practice
   State Perspectives on Confucian Ritual
   A Tale of Two Sons
   A Death Cult Lives On
   A Tomb to Remember
   Conclusion: Orthodoxy, Orthopraxy, or Something Else?

8  May God Bless Manchukuo
   Religion and Diplomacy in Northeast Asia
   Transformations of Catholic Mission in East Asia
   Developments in Manchuria
   Conclusions
   Concluding Thoughts

Appendix

Bibliography

Index
Figures

1.1 Manchuria as sacred ground page 3
1.2 Manchuria as a land of glamor and adventure 4
1.3 Japanese tourists posing in front of the St. Nikolas Orthodox church in Harbin 10
2.1 Conference of the Danish mission near Anshan in 1900 46
2.2 Catholic church towering over the surrounding farmhouses in Hulan, 1932 48
2.3 Students and workers of the Danish mission cholera station in Andong 53
3.1 Flags of Japan and Manchukuo fly over the front gate of National Foundation University 75
3.2 Students of National Foundation University on daily march 76
5.1 Postcard of the military cenotaph (literally the “loyal souls stele”) in Qingdao 125
6.1 Ceremony marking the 1905 repatriation of Red Cross workers to Japan 143
6.2 Front gate of the Tongshanshe Charity Hospital in Mukden (Shenyang) 144
6.3 Refugees arriving in Ji’an during the 1928 famine 145
6.4 Rows of reed mats erected as temporary shelters for famine refugees 145
7.1 Confucian ceremony in Changchun 166
7.2 Artist’s portrayal of the war-dead shrine in Xinjing 167
7.3 Postcard image of Filial Tomb 173
8.1 Left to right, Jean-Claude Combaz, Archbishop Jean Pierre-Rey of Tokyo, and Joseph Petrelli 196
8.2 Japanese kindergarten students pose beneath flags of Japan and Manchukuo at the Fushun Catholic mission, 1934 202
Maps

1.1 Northeast Asia 1895–1934 page 17
2.1 Catholic missions in Manchuria, c. 1889 33
2.2 Protestant mission stations, showing the progress of the Manchurian Revival 55
7.1 Xinjing, showing the location of the Tomb of Filial Wang 175
Tables

2.1 State of MEP missions in Asia, 1913
2.2 Chinese Catholics and adult baptisms in Manchuria
   1872–1899
2.3 Missions of the Scottish United Presbyterian Church, 1891
2.4 Progress of the Manchurian Revival
6.1 Meals served at WRSS soup kitchens in Beijing
6.2 Number of Daoyuan in Manchuria/Manchukuo, by year
8.1 Leadership of dioceses in Japan
8.2 Ecclesiastic jurisdictions in Manchuria, 1928–1945