

Contents

List of Figures	page vii
Acknowledgments	viii
Note on Conventions	xi
List of Abbreviations	xii
Introduction	1
History of Empires, History of Ignorance	3
Actors, Institutions, Places, Period	8
Terminology and the Questions a History of Ignorance Asks	13
Disclaimers: The Author's Ignorances	18
1 Politics and Economy: Nationalizing Economics	20
The Constructive Power of Non-Knowledge	20
Norms as Specifiers of National Non-Knowledge	23
Balduis versus Grotius: Conceiving the Empires and Their Unknowns	72
Conclusion: Operative National Non-Knowledge	113
2 Religion: Empires Ignoring, Learning, Forgetting
Religions	117
Entangling Powers of Non-Knowledge between West and East (Greek Church, Samaritans, Phoenicians)	118
English Chaplains versus French State Catholicism: Conditions and Functions of Non-Knowledge Communication	163
Comparison and Conclusion	181
3 History: How to Cope with Unconscious Ignorance	185
The Forgotten Arabic Middle Ages	186
Growing Awareness; Structure Replaces Content; Standardization and Spatialization	219
Conclusion	251

4	Science: Mediterranean Empires and Scientific Unknowns	255
	From Avicenna to the Queries of the Royal Society (1692)	257
	Enlightened Falsifications	275
	From Natural History to Nation's History	292
	Conclusion: Scientific Unknowns and the Mediterranean	305
	Conclusion	310
	Historicizing Ignorance, Synchronizing Empires	320
	Bibliography	325
	Index	379