

Index

---

- absenteeism, school performance influenced by, 76
- abstract systems level, of analysis, 7
- academic achievement, bilingualism and, 208–209
- academic discourse/language, 46–47 in adolescence, 47, 123 bilingual children development of, 205–206 contextual focus on, 138–139 cross-disciplinary, 98, 99 decontextualized language and, 42–43, 98
 defined, 5–6, 98
 discipline-specific, 98
 future research on, 14
 language-mediated learning and, 15 level of analysis for, 7
 vocabulary knowledge relationship with, 135, 145
 WG Project for, 4
- Academic English Language Proficiency instrument, 99–100
- academic language exposure, of monolingual and bilingual children, 205–217. See also Development of Academic Language in School and at Home
- academic language development and, 205–206
- bilingualism, academic achievement and, 208–209
- cross-language facilitative effects, 207–208
- academic language proficiency
 CALS research program on, 95–96
 Language for School Literacy and, 97
 RC contribution from, 95–96
- Academic Language Project, 102
- Academic Word List, in WG, 138
- achievement, later attention skills and, 75–76 early math skills and, 75
 reading skills and, 75
- active role of reader, in RC, 147–148
- actual practices level, of analysis, 7
- adolescence, 1. See also Strategic Adolescent Reading Intervention project academic language knowledge in, 47, 123
 CALS and Spanish-speaking in, 107–108 comprehension in, 171
 language learning, 2
 malleable language proficiency in, 4
 RC struggle of, 95–96
- adolescent language and literacy relations, 99–100 CAL as RC predictor, 96, 100, 102–104 child decontextualized language and, 96 language development and social context, 96 advanced decoding skills, 54
- affiliation, as social need, 14, 170–171
- Africa, multilingualism in, 254
- agency, as social need, 14, 170–171
- ages developmental perspective of, 9–10 early language skills and literacy proficiencies, 9 language learning across, 7 parental input and language development, 9
- analysis levels, of discourses, 7
- artificial speech stream segmentation, 21
- Asia, multilingualism in, 254
- assessments on language-mediated learning, 15 need for, 260
- attention sharing behaviors, of infants cross-cultural studies on, 22 of first word comprehension, 21–22 of gaze checking, 21–22
 LuCiD Centre study on, 22–23 of pointing, 21–22, 26–27
- attention skills
 later achievement and, 75–76
 for school readiness, 75–76
- audience
 continuum of, 6
 familiar in early childhood, 3 school indeterminate nature of, 3–4

310 Index

- audience (cont.)
 socio-cognitive development of, 3
 in task-based multidimensional model, 3 authentic routines, in home language environment, 12 autism, 25
 autobiographical memory skills, 43, 88–89
- babbling, of infants, 19–20
- Basic Interpersonal Communication Skills (BICS), 247
- Bates–MacArthur CDI, on early language expressive vocabularies, 23
- Bayley Scales of Infant Development, in FITS, 45
- BEE. See Bilingual Education Experiment
- BICS. See Basic Interpersonal Communication Skills
- bilingual children, 8. See also academic language exposure; cross-linguistic relations; emerging bilinguals; language 1; language 2 academic achievement and, 208–209 children language learning in, 14 cognitive advantages of, 254–255 cross-linguistic relations and biliterate learners, 218–234 English proficiency assessment of, 99–100 extended discourse skills of, 179–191 first language text-based discussion and vocabulary instruction for, 13 multiple language exposure and perspective-taking of, 182–183, 190 perspective-taking advantage of, 181–183, 190 perspective-taking of, 179 SES deficits for, 254–255 teachers approach to, 12 theory-of-mind skills of, 184
 Xinjiang preschool language instruction, 13, 192–204
- Bilingual Education Development Plan for Xinjiang Kindergartens, 203–204
- Bilingual Education Experiment (BEE), 193–195
- bilingualism, 208–209, 247–253, 260
- biliterate learners, cross-linguistic relations among bilingual and, 218–234
- book reading. See also Xinjiang Project Book Reading intervention inferential thinking using, 69 interactive, 69, 207
- British Picture Vocabulary Scale II (BPVS-II), 185, 188
- Un Buen Comienzo* (UBC) study, in Chile, 74–83, 91–92 on absenteeism, 76
 conclusions and implications, 81–83 on early vocabulary, reading and math skills, 74 evidence in, 77–78
 HLM use in, 80 hypotheses in, 78 intervention and measures in, 78–80 preschool education context in, 77
 results in, 80–81
 sample generalizability in, 79
 SIMCE use in, 74, 78, 79, 80–81 on socioemotional and executive function variables, 74, 81–82
 WM measure use in, 79, 80–81
- CALP. See Cognitive Academic Language Proficiency
- CALS. See Core Academic Language Skills
- CALS-I, of CALS, 102, 103, 105, 106
- Canada
 cross-language relationships between oral proficiency and reading, 241–242 dual language proficiency and reading development in, 235–246 school readiness studies results, 75 within-language relationships between oral proficiency and reading, 238–239, 242
- caregiver input child vocabulary and, 41–42 decontextualized language for, 42, 52–53, 88 for language development, 2 for oral language skills, 84 reciprocal process of communicative interaction and, 85 school readiness and, 40 SES, child vocabulary development and, 41–42, 52 skills development and, 42–44 sociocultural and social-interactionist theories on, 40–41
- caregiver language implicit corrections in, 29 input quality importance in, 28 syntactic development influenced by, 28–30 vocabulary development influenced by, 27–28, 52–53
- caregivers interaction influence on language development, 25–27 on interrogative pointing, 38

- joint attention of children with, 21–22, 26–27
- reciprocal responding in pointing by, 37, 86–87
- CBMs. See curriculum-based measures
- CCSS. See Common Core State Standards
- CELF. See Clinical Evaluation of Language Fundamentals
- Center for the Study of Reading, 112
- CHAT. See Codes for the Human Analysis of Transcripts
- Child Language Data Exchange System (CHILDES)
- on caregiver input and child vocabulary studies, 41
  - CHAT conventions in FFT program, 59
  - child vocabulary development
    - narratives language skills for, 42
    - parental input relationship with, 41–42, 88
    - SES, caregiver input and, 41–42, 52
- CHILDES. See Child Language Data Exchange System
- children
- caregivers joint attention with, 21–22, 26–27
  - decontextualized discourse challenge to, 42–43
  - decontextualized language as adolescent
    - CALS predictor, 96, 104–105
  - extended selves talk study, 45, 48–49
  - language learning, 2, 14
  - socialization, decontextualized language and, 10
  - socialization for talking and thinking, 10
  - XJP participants, 198
- Chile. See also Un Buen Comienzo
- CLASS observation instrument use in, 83
  - CQI methodology in, 83
  - early childhood learning and later school performance, 74–83, 91–92
  - ELPI measurement in, 77
  - preschool education context in, 77
- China
- diverse language groups in, 192
  - low-SES in, 192
- clarification requests, 2
- CLASS observation instrument, 83
- classroom discussions
- contextually focused, 137, 138
  - for vocabulary knowledge support, 137
- classroom learning environment (CLE), 114–115
- Clinical Evaluation of Language Fundamentals (CELF), syntax measurement by, 47
- code-based skills, writing skills and, 11
- Codes for the Human Analysis of Transcripts (CHAT), 197
- conventions, in CHILDES, 59
- Cognitive Academic Language Proficiency (CALP), 247
- cognitive demands, of nonpresent message, 42–43
- cognitive receptivity, pointing and, 34, 35
- cognitive skills
- of bilingual children, 254–255
  - of elicitation, 12
  - of emotional engagement, 12
  - explicit teaching of, 69–70
  - of exposure, 12
  - of inferential thinking, 69
  - maternal reminiscing and, 43
  - oral language and early language development, 84, 91
  - school language skills in, 10
  - for school readiness, 75
  - teachable, for language learning, 12
  - of working memory, 69
- cognitive skills, for language acquisition, 65, 91
- situation model for, 65
  - structural equation modeling for, 65
- colloquial language, 98
- combinational speech, early, 24–25
- Common Core State Standards (CCSS), 111, 125, 247–248
- Common Underlying Proficiency (CUP) theory, 236, 247
- communication, intentional, 21–23
- infant attention sharing behaviors in, 21–22, 26–27
  - intention reading skills, 21
- communicative interactions, early language development and, 85–87
- caregiver input and reciprocal processes, 85
  - cross-cultural variations in, 87
  - reciprocal importance, 85, 86–87
  - shared intentionality, 85
- complement structures, 24
- complex language, syntactic development and, 29–30
- complexity theme, in language learning, 166–167
- comprehension instruction, limited attention to, 112, 113
- comprehension monitoring
- explicit teaching of, 70
  - as higher-order cognitive skill, 12, 91
- connectives narrative discourse markers, 44

- contexts of use
  - home language environments and school language, 8
  - intentional communication, 8
  - language learning across, 7
  - pragmatics-based perspective of, 8–9
  - school language and cultures, 8
  - societal contexts and multilingual practices, 9
- contextual approach
  - to academic words, 138–139
  - to classroom discussions, 137, 138
  - to language learning, 14
  - needs based social satisfaction and, 173–174
  - to vocabulary instruction, 12–13
  - of WG curriculum, 138–139, 165
  - WG example of, 141–144, 145, 173
- contextualized talk, 98
- contingent talk, 30, 86
- Continuous Quality Improvement (CQI), 83
- conversations, 2, 68, 180
- core academic language, 10
- Core Academic Language Skills (CALs), 162
  - on academic language proficiency, 95–96
  - defined, 100
  - postdictive validity study of, 162–164
  - as RC predictor, 96, 100, 102–104
  - SES and, 104, 105
  - skillsets in, 100–102
  - theory-building and pedagogical perspective of, 108–109
- Core Academic Language Skills, adolescent
  - RC study, 96, 100, 102–104
  - CALs-I for, 102, 103
  - cross-sectional sample of, 102, 103
  - GISA for, 103, 104
  - SES and, 104, 105
- Core Academic Language Skills, children
  - decontextualized language study, 104–107
  - adolescent CALs prediction, 96, 104–105
  - findings, 106–107
  - future research for, 107
  - measures for, 106–107
  - study participants, 105–106
- Core Academic Language Skills, cross-linguistic research program, 101, 107–109
  - lack of, 107
  - Mandarin Chinese and, 107–108
  - school literacy language levels, 106–107, 108
  - Spanish-speaking adolescents and, 107–108
- CQI. See Continuous Quality Improvement
- cross-cultural studies
  - on communicative interactions, 87
  - on gestures, 37–38
  - on infant attention sharing behaviors, 22
  - on socio-cultural pragmatics-based theory of language learning, 96
- cross-disciplinary academic language, 98, 99
- cross-language facilitative effects, 207–208
- cross-language relationships between oral proficiency and reading, 239–242
- cross-linguistic associations
  - directionality of, 227
  - for morphological awareness, 225, 248
  - for orthographic skills, 226, 248
  - for phonological, phonemic awareness, and word reading, 224–225, 248
  - for RC, 226, 248
  - studies on qualitative nature of, 233–234
  - for vocabulary, 226, 248
- cross-linguistic relations, among bilingual and biliterate learners, 218–234, 248, 250
- cross-linguistic associations nature in, 224–226
  - discussion and directions for, 230–234
  - geographic and SES contexts for, 224
  - language and literacy variables associations, 218
  - literature review for, 219–224
  - research on, 218
  - studies summary for, 224
  - U.S. Spanish-English analysis, 218
- cross-linguistic relations, in languages, 11
  - characteristics of, 11
  - language proficiency for, 11
- cultures
  - caregivers interaction in, 27
  - decontextualized language and, 8
  - parental talk and vocabulary development, 52–53
  - pointing reciprocal responding in, 37
  - pointing timetable across, 35–36
  - school language and, 8
  - WEIRD, 27
- CUP. See Common Underlying Proficiency
- curriculum-based measures (CBMs), 151
  - deficits of, 158
  - ORF, 151
  - ORF direct measures and RC growth, 153–155
- DARC. See Diagnostic Assessment of RC
- DASH-Project. See Development of Academic Language in School and at Home
- declarative pointing, 36, 38
- decoding skills, 107, 110, 119, 120, 148
  - adolescents difficulty with, 124

- advanced, 54
 teacher interactions lack of attention to, 112, 118–119
- decontextualized discourse/talk/language. See also Core Academic Language Skills, children decontextualized language study academic language and, 42–43, 98 caregiver input use of, 42, 52–53, 88 children challenge of, 42–43 children socialization and, 10 culture and, 8
 defined, 5, 88
 early childhood learning study, 44–45, 46–47
 elaborative reminiscing, 43–44, 88–89 explanatory talk causal explanations, 44 extended discourse compared to, 42
 future research on, 14
 here-and-now, 5, 52–53, 89–90, 98, 179
 input during preschool years, 10, 88–90 input quality and, 28 of Latino parents, 8, 57
 level of analysis for, 7
 receptive vocabularies influenced by, 28 shifting meaning of, 89–90
 Snow on, 88
 teacher cognitive skills explicit teaching on, 70
 there-and-then in, 4, 5, 98
- definitional approach
 needs based social satisfaction and, 173–174
 to vocabulary instruction, 12–13
 WG example, 139–141, 165, 173
- deictic gestures, 87
- determiner use by children, syntactic development and, 29
- Development of Academic Language in School and at Home (DASH-Project), 209–210, 256
 conclusions and implications, 215–217
 early academic language exposure, 210–211 follow-up study of, 212–214 home language input and academic language skills, 211–212, 215, 248–249
 L1 language proficiency and L2 academic achievement relationship, 214–215
 L2 academic achievement at age 6, 212–214
 Latent Growth Modeling on, 212 for Moroccan-Dutch and Turkish-Dutch children, 209–210, 216, 248–249
- developmental theory, 1
- Diagnostic Assessment of RC (DARC), 155–156, 158, 164–165
- dialogic reading, 53
 dialogically oriented approach, to language learning and literacy, 2 DIET. See Direct and Indirect Effect Model of Text Comprehension differentiated instruction, 120
 Direct and Indirect Effect Model of Text Comprehension (DIET), 66 direct instructional approach, of teachers, 12 directionality, of cross-linguistic associations, 227 discipline-specific academic language, 98 discourse-level oral language, 65 discourse-rich instructional approaches, in instructional setting, 12–13 discourses. See also specific discourses
 continuum of, 6
 language learning interrelated entry points of, 6 levels of analysis for, 7 discussion-oriented approaches, for struggling readers, 126 dual language proficiency and reading development, in U.S. and Canada, 235–246 conclusion on, 245–246
 cross-language relationships between oral proficiency and reading, 239–242
 CUP theory and, 236
 ECLS-K database on, 237 literature review on, 237–242 National Educational Longitudinal Study database on, 237 positive relationship in, 236
 SUP theory and, 236
 U.S. and Canada direct comparisons, 242–245 within-language relationship between oral proficiency and reading studies, 237–239, 242
- E<sup>5</sup>. See Exposure, Elicitation, Extension, and Emotionally Engagement early childhood learning, 40–51 caregiver input and child vocabulary, 41–42 caregiver input and school readiness, 40 decontextualized language and study of, 44–45, 46–47 of extended discourse, 179–180
 general information on, 40
 input and developing skills, 42–44 later school performance, in Chile, 74–83, 91–92 studies on later school performance and, 76 study evidence for, 44–51 theoretical perspective on, 40–41

- Early Childhood Longitudinal Study-Kindergarten Cohort (ECLS-K), 237
- Early Head Start Research and Evaluation Project (EHSRP), FITS of, 44, 45–46
- early language development, 1
- artificial speech stream segmentation, 21
  - Bates–MacArthur CDI on expressive vocabularies in, 23
  - early combinational speech in, 24–25
  - environment and interaction influences on, 25–30
  - familiar audiences in, 3
  - general information on, 19
  - intentional communication in, 21–23
  - intrinsic and external influences on, 25
  - later language development and, 19
  - later outcomes relationship with, 19–21
  - linguistic processing speed, 20, 21, 25
  - LuCiD Centre studies on, 19, 21, 22–23
  - pattern detection, 20–21
  - single utterances in, 3
  - visual sequence learning, 20, 21
  - word learning in, 23
  - word-referent mapping, 20, 21, 31
- early language development, from infants to elementary school years, 84–92
- caregiver input for oral language skills, 84
  - communicative interactions and, 85–87
  - individual variations in, 86
  - infants nonverbal communicative interactions and, 84
  - linguistic input for, 86
  - oral language and cognitive skills influence on, 84
  - social context for, 84
- EB. See emerging bilinguals
- ECLS-K. See Early Childhood Longitudinal Study-Kindergarten Cohort
- EHSRP. See Early Head Start Research and Evaluation Project
- elaborative conversations
- narrative skills from, 53
  - open-ended questions in, 53
  - perspective-taking skills from, 53
  - phonological awareness from, 53
  - print knowledge from, 53
- elaborative reminiscing
- decontextualized language and, 43–44, 88–89
  - narrative language skills from, 43–44, 53
  - theory of mind skills and, 43
- elementary school performance
- attentions skills for, 75–76
  - Chile early childhood development and later, 74–83
  - extended discourse and, 90
  - math skills for, 75
  - U.S. studies on early childhood development and, 75
- elicitation, as cognitive skill, 12
- ELPA21 English proficiency assessment, 99–100
- ELPI. See Encuesta Longitudinal de Primera Infancia
- emerging bilinguals (EBs)
- instructional activities and, 115–116
  - late emerging reading difficulties of, 110–111
  - population growth of, 111
  - scaffolding inferential comprehension for, 120
- emotional engagement
- as cognitive skill, 12
  - for language acquisition, 67–68
  - teacher positive, nurturing environment and, 70–71
- encoded information, for infants, 33
- informant reliability and, 35
  - pointing and generalized readiness to learn, 34
  - pointing and state of cognitive receptivity, 34, 35
  - pointing gesture and naming for, 33–34
- Encuesta Longitudinal de Primera Infancia* (ELPI), Chile measurement of, 77
- engaging texts, struggling readers skills through discussion of, 13
- English Language Acquisition, Language Enhancement, and Academic Achievement Act, 247
- English Language Proficiency standards, 247–248
- English proficiency assessments, of bilinguals
- Academic English Language Proficiency instrument, 99–100
  - ELPA 21, 99–100
  - WIDA-ACCESS, 99–100
- environmental factors, for language acquisition
- of input frequency, 66–67, 91
  - quality of input styles, 67
  - socio-emotional support, 67–68, 91
  - teacher positive and nurturing environment, 70–71
- essential questions, in STARI, 127
- ethnicity. See cultures
- evidence-based instructional strategies, for language acquisition, 68–71
- explicit teaching, of cognitive skills, 69–70

- oral language direct and indirect teaching, 68–69
- positive and nurturing environment creation, 70–71
- evidence-based practices, 2
- executive function variables, 76
- UBC on, 74, 81–82
- explanatory talk, 12, 31, 185–187
- causal explanations in, 44
- during food practices, 55, 56
- explicit teaching, of cognitive skills, 69–70
- of comprehension monitoring, 70
- on inferential thinking, 69
- on teacher decontextualized talk, 70
- exposure, as cognitive skill, 12
- Exposure, Elicitation, Extension, and Emotionally Engagement (E<sup>3</sup>), for language teaching, 71–72, 91, 260–261
- expressive vocabularies, SES influence on, 23
- extended discourse, 42–43
- decontextualized discourse compared to, 42
- defined, 5
- early childhood, 179–180
- future research on, 14
- level of analysis for, 7
- narrative language skills and, 179
- during preschool and early elementary years, 90
- extended discourse skills, of bilingual children, 179–191
- bilingual advantage in perspective-taking, 182–183
- education relevance of, 189–191
- narrative perspective-taking of preschools study, 184–189
- perspective-taking and, 179, 180–182
- word learning and perspective-taking in, 183–184
- extended selves
- early childhood learning study on talk of, 45, 48–49
- prospection skills study on, 48–49, 50
- extension, as cognitive skill, 12
- external influences, on early language development, 25
- false-belief test, 180, 189
- Father Involvement with Toddlers Substudy (FITS), of EHSRP, 44
- Bayley Scales of Infant Development used in, 45
- MCDI used in, 45–46
- MLU measured in, 45–46
- wh*-questions in, 45–46
- FFT. See Food for Thought program
- first language
- for second language proficiency, 11, 13
- skills relationship to RC, 11
- text-based discussion and vocabulary instruction for bilingual children, 13
- FITS. See Father Involvement with Toddlers Substudy
- Food for Thought (FFT) program, 90
- education and literacy programs
- implications from, 62–63
- evidence from, 57–62
- experimental evaluation of, 63
- parent–child conversations in, 59–61, 62–63
- program description, 57–58
- program results, 58–62
- food practices, 62
- explanatory talking during, 55, 90
- food selection and preparation reading and writing, 55–56
- grocery game for reading and writing, 56, 58
- Latino children language and literacy through, 52–63
- Latinos family food preparation activities, 57
- narrative talk during, 42–43, 55, 56
- reading and writing during, 55–56, 90
- Gates-MacGinitie RC assessment, 149
- gaze-checking, 21–22
- generalized readiness to learn, pointing and, 34
- gestures
- caregivers interactions and, 26–27, 30
- cross-cultural variation in, 37–38
- deictic, 87
- morphology, pointing shift and, 36–37
- preverbal, 85
- speech combinations and, 24
- Global Integrated Scenario-based Assessment (GISA), 103, 104
- Great Britain, school readiness studies results, 75
- grocery game, for reading and writing, 56, 58
- Harvard Graduate School of Education, theory of language learning research at, 2
- here-and-now messages, 53, 5, 89–90, 98, 179
- Hierarchical Linear Modeling (HLM), in UBC study, 80
- higher-order cognitive skills
- of comprehension monitoring, 12, 91
- of inferencing, 12, 91
- of perspective-taking, 12, 91
- higher-order instruction, 114
- HLM. See Hierarchical Linear Modeling

316 Index

- home language environments
  - authentic routines and socio-emotional support in, 12
  - DASH-project and academic skills, 211–212, 215, 248–249
  - narratives, explanations, pretense support for school literacy, 12
  - school language and, 8
- Home-School Study of Language and Literacy Development (HSLLD)
  - on narrative talk during family mealtimes, 42–43
  - on reading and writing skills, 4
- humane social relationships, from language and literacy, 170–175
- immediate interests, language acquisition and, 67
- imperative pointing, 36, 38
- implicit negative evidence, 28–29
- implicit caregivers implicit corrections and, 29
- index finger pointing, 35–36
  - language proficiency and, 36
  - whole-hand pointing transition to, 36, 86–87
- individual skills level, of analysis, 7
- infants
  - attention sharing behaviors by, 21–22, 26–27
  - babbling of, 19–20
  - caregivers interaction influence on vocalisations of, 26
  - early language development of, elementary school years and, 84–92
  - information request from pointing, 31–33, 38, 86–87
  - input for, 31–39
  - intention reading skills, 21
  - interrogative stance of, 31
  - nonverbal communicative interactions, 84
  - pattern detection by, 20–21
  - pointing and mapping errors, 31
  - processing speed of, 20–21
  - shared intentionality and, 85
  - Theta activity response to native speakers, 35
- inferencing
  - as higher-order cognitive skills, 12, 91
  - think-alouds for, 121
- inferential thinking, 69
- informant reliability, infants encoded information and, 35
- information-seeking strategies, 10
  - for school readiness, 42
- Initiate, Respond, Evaluate (I.R.E.) model of instruction, 112
- input. See also caregiver input; parental input caregiver, 2
  - caregiver quality importance, 28
  - combinational speech and, 24
  - frequency, for language acquisition, 66–67
  - for infants, 31–39
  - interrogative stance, 32–35
  - linguistic, for early language development, 86
  - narratives and explanations, 31
  - pointing and, 31–32
  - quality importance, 259
  - quality of styles, in language acquisition, 67
  - quantity importance, 258–259
  - simplified speech, 31
  - Snow on children impact from, 31, 160
  - sophisticated vocabulary, 31
  - word identification in, 20
  - word variability and quality of, 28
- input and decontextualized discourse study, 46–47, 48–49
  - Mental Time Travel Task used in, 49
  - personal pronoun use in, 49
  - prospective memory skills in, 49, 50
  - Prospective Memory Task used in, 49
- input quality
  - decontextualized talk use for, 28
  - focus of interest in, 28
  - word variability, 28
- Institute of Education Sciences technical assistance centers, 114
- instructional activities, observational research on, 114
  - CLE and, 114–115
  - on EBs, 115–116
- instructional settings
  - discourse-rich instructional approaches in, 12–13
  - home authentic routines and socio-emotional support, 12
  - home narratives, explanations and pretense support for school literacy, 12
  - insights for practice, 11–13
  - language learning across, 7
  - research-based assessments in, 13
  - skills for struggling readers by engaging texts discussion, 13
  - teachable cognitive skills for language learning, 12
  - teacher-centered and direct approach in, 12
- instructional strategies, for language-mediated learning, 15
- intention reading skills, in early language development, 21, 25
- intentional communication, 8
- intentional teaching, 259

- interactions, caregivers gestures and, 26–27, 30 infant vocalisations and, 26 knowledge of, 259–260 language development influenced by, 25–27 turn-taking, 2, 26, 30
- interactive book reading, 69, 207
- interactive talk, in classroom, 64–73
- interdependence hypothesis, 242
- interrogative stance, of infants, 31, 32–35, 86–87 caregivers on, 38
 encoded information, 33–34
 new information from pointing, 32–33, 35 pointing gestures for knowledgeable information, 32–33
- intrinsic influences, on early language development, 25
- I.R.E. See Initiate, Respond, Evaluate
- Japan, monolingualism in, 254
- joint engagement between child and caregivers, 21–22, 26–27 from pointing, 31–32, 37–38, 86–87
- knowledge. See also vocabulary knowledge acquisition, 2, 25 adolescent academic language, 47, 123 print, from elaborative conversations, 53
- L1. See language 1
 L2. See language 2
- LAD. See language acquisition device
- language as action, 251, 252 delays in, 23, 36 humane social relationships from, 170–175 practices, of Turkish-Dutch and Moroccan-Dutch, 210
 SES and ability of, 28
- language 1 (L1), of bilingual children, 207
 DASH-Project language proficiency, 214–215
- language 2 (L2), of bilingual children, 207
 academic achievement and, 214–215
 DASH-Project academic achievement at age 6, 212–214
- language acquisition, 64–73
 cognitive skills for, 65
 DIET on, 66
 E<sup>5</sup> language teaching principle, 71–72, 91, 260–261 environmental factors for, 66–68 evidence-based instructional strategies for, 68–71
- immediate interests recognized for, 67
- input frequency for, 66–67, 91 meaning-making process in, 64 natural view of, 160–161
- oral language and, 64
 during preschool years, 64 research questions for, 72 semantic contingency and scaffolding for, 67 socialization and, 97 teacher instructional approaches research on, 72
- language acquisition device (LAD), 159
- language development caregiver input for, 2 clarification requests in, 2
 conversations, 2
 in Latino children, through food practices, 52–63 parental input and, 9 recasts in, 2 rhetorical flexibility for, 97 semantic extensions for, 2 task-based multidimensional, 3 utterance, 2
- Language for School Literacy, 97
- language learning, implications for practice of, 260–261
- language learning themes, in middle years, 159–169 complexity, 166–167
 key findings, 162
 LAD and, 159
 pragmatically driven view, 169 time and, 162–166
 words, 167–168
- language proficiency. See also academic language proficiency; dual language proficiency adolescent, 4 early language skills for, 9 first for second language, 11, 13 index finger pointing and, 36 for positive cross-linguistic relations, 11
- Language-Focused Curriculum, for oral language teaching, 68
- language-mediated learning
 academic language and, 15
 assessments for, 15 instructional strategies for, 15
- language-minority students, perspective-taking of, 4
- languages
 cross-linguistic relations search, 11
 language learning across, 7

- late emerging reading difficulties, 110 of EBs, 110–111
- Latent Growth Modeling, on DASH-Project, 212
- Latinos
family food preparation activities, 57
FFT program for language, literacy development, 52–63 parent–child interactions, 52, 54 parents, decontextualized language of, 8, 57
- Learning Language and Loving It approach, for oral language teaching, 68
- Letter-Word Identification subtest, 228
- lexical learning, 137
- linguistic dexterity, social context and, 96–97
- linguistic input, contingent talk for, 86
- linguistic processing speed, 20, 21, 25
caregiver language influence on, 27–28
- listening comprehension, RC relationship with, 148, 157
- literacy
dialogically oriented approach to, 2 early language skills and proficiency of, 9
HSLLD on, 4
humane social relationships from, 170–175
in Latino children, through food practices, 52–63
Snow on early language and, 88
WG Project on, 4
- literacy improvement, for struggling readers, 123–134 adolescent reading interventions impacts, 125 higher expectations for, 123–125
supports for higher expectations, 125
- LuCiD Centre, early childhood development studies by, 19, 21, 22–23
- Mandarin Chinese, 254
CALs research program on, 107–108
in Xinjiang, 193, 255
- maternal reminiscing, children cognitive and social-emotional development and, 43
- math skills, early later achievement and, 75
UBC study on, 74
- McArthur Bates Communicative Development Inventory (MCDI), in FITS, 45–46
- Mean Length of Utterance (MLU), in FITS, 45–46
- meaning-making process, in language acquisition, 64
- measurement, of RC, 155–157, 162, 171–172 approaches to, 149–150, 155–157
DARC, 155–156, 158, 164–165
MOCCA, 156–157, 158, 164–165 process difficulties, 149–150
RC complexity and, 158 retrospective interviews, 150 self-report for, 150 task performance during reading, 150 think-alouds procedure, 150
- Mental Time Travel Task, 49
- messages continuum in, 6
here-and-now, 5, 89–90, 98, 179
non-present, 5 school abstract theoretical, 3–4 socio-cognitive development of, 3
in task-based multidimensional model, 3
there-and-then, 4, 5
- minority children interventions, 195–196 picture books use, 196 vocabulary focus, 195
- MLU. See Mean Length of Utterance
- MOCCA. See Multiple-choice Online Causal Comprehension Assessment
- monolingual children. See academic language exposure
- monolingualism, in U.S. and Japan, 254
- Moroccan-Dutch children, 205, 255
DASH-project for, 209–210, 216, 248–249
language practices of, 210
- morphological awareness, cross-linguistic associations for, 225, 248
- morphology, detailed, 24 of adolescents, RC and, 99, 124 gesture pointing shift, 36–37 interventions for, 99
recasts and, 29
- multilingualism, 1
in Africa and Asia, 254 practices and societal contexts for, 9 socioeconomic development and, 254–256
- Multiple-choice Online Causal Comprehension Assessment (MOCCA), 156–157, 158, 164–165
- NAEP. See National Assessment of Education Progress
- narrative language skills, 10, 42–43 for child vocabulary development, 42 from elaborative conversations, 53
elaborative reminiscing for, 43–44, 53
extended discourse and, 179 school literacy supported by home, 12
for school readiness, 42 story retellings measurement of, 47
study, 46–47
- narrative perspective-taking, bilingual preschoolers study, 184–189, 249

- coding narrative skills, internal state explanations, and perspective-taking, 186–187
- narrative skills and perspective-taking tasks, 186
- participants in, 184–185
- picture books and, 180–181
- procedure in, 185–187
- protagonist perspective in, 180–181
- results of, 187, 188–189
- second-language vocabulary skills assessment in, 185
- narrative talk, during food practices, 42–43, 55, 56
- National Assessment of Education Progress (NAEP), on upper elementary students reading proficiency, 110
- National Educational Longitudinal Study database, 237
- National Governor's Association Center for Best Practices & Council of Chief State School Officers (NGACBP & CCSSO), 111
- National Reading Panel (NRP) report, 110, 111, 160–161
- education reforms since, 110
- Put Reading First* practice guide and, 114
- Neale Analysis of Reading Ability, 149
- needs based social satisfaction, 170–171
- for adolescence comprehension, 171
- definitional, contextual approach and, 173–174
- moral development and education, 175
- on RC, 172
- on STARI, 173
- Netherlands. See Development of Academic Language in School and at Home
- Next Generation Science Standards, 247–248
- NGACBP & CCSSO. See National Governor's Association Center for Best Practices & Council of Chief State School Officers
- No Child Left Behind legislation, 114, 160–161, 247
- non-present messages, 5, 6, 10, 47
- cognitive demands of, 42–43
- nonverbal communicative interactions, of infants, 84
- Noun Definitions test, 256
- NRP. See National Reading Panel
- observational research, 171
- of Center for the Study of Reading, 112
- on CLE and instructional activities, 114–115
- on EBs and instructional activities, 115–116
- on instructional activities, 114
- needs based social satisfaction on, 171
- research to practice gap in, 113–114
- on student characteristics and RC, 115
- on teacher comprehension instruction, 112, 113
- for upper elementary classrooms vocabulary and comprehension, 111, 112–116, 162, 165–166
- on vocabulary instruction, 136–137
- word knowledge support limited attention, 113–114
- open-ended questions, 53, 58, 68, 69
- opportunity gap, in vocabulary knowledge, 135
- oral language
- caregiver input for strong, 84
- cognitive skills and early language development, 84, 91
- direct and indirect teaching of, 68–69
- discourse-level, 65
- future research on, 64
- language acquisition and, 64
- preschool classrooms evidence-based instructional strategies in, 64, 90
- research on weak, 72
- Snow on literacy and, 88
- teachers training on, 68–69
- teacher-student interactions quality and, 67–68
- theoretical and empirical accounts of influence on, 64
- written language parallel with, 159–160
- oral proficiency and reading
- cross-language relationships between, 239–242
- within-language relationship between, 237–239, 242
- oral reading fluency (ORF), 151–155, 158, 164–165
- CBMs, 151
- direct CBM measures and RC growth, 153–155
- growth sensitivity of, 151–152
- within-year and across-year growth in, 152–153
- organized language system, in preschool years, 64
- orthographic skills, cross-linguistic associations for, 226, 248
- ownership, of vocabulary knowledge, 135, 145
- parental input
- child vocabulary growth relationship to, 41–42
- language development and, 9
- for reading, 52, 53–54

320 Index

- parental input (cont.)
 role in vocabulary development, 40, 52 studies on child vocabulary development and, 41–42, 88 for talking, 52–53 for writing, 52, 54
- parental reading
 dialogic reading, 53
 print referencing, 53–54
 quantity of, 53
- parent–child conversations, in FFT, 59–61, 62–63
- Passage Comprehension subtest, 228
- pattern detection, of infants, 20–21
- Peabody Picture Vocabulary Test (PPVT), 47
- personal pronoun use, 49
- perspective-taking, 14, 44. See also narrative perspective-taking bilingual advantage in, 181–183, 249 comprehension monitoring and, 70
 conversations and, 180
 early childhood, 180–182
 from elaborative conversations, 53
 extended discourse skills and, 179
 as higher-order cognitive skill, 12, 91 of language-minority students, 4 pretend play and, 180
 school language skills in, 10, 14
 second language skills of, 10, 185 socio-cognitive skills of consideration and evaluation in, 4 theory of mind and, 180, 189–190
 WG Project for, 4
 word learning and, 183–184
- phonemic awareness, cross-linguistic associations and, 224–225, 248
- phonological awareness
 cross-linguistic associations and, 224–225, 248
 from elaborative conversations, 53
 from parental writing, 54
- picture books for minority children intervention, 196 narratives perspective-taking and, 180–181
- Picture Vocabulary subtest, 228
- pointing, 21–22, 36–37
 caregiver reciprocal responding, 37, 86–87 caregivers on interrogative, 38 cognitive receptivity and, 34, 35 cultural differences and, 87 declarative, 36, 38
 defined, 31–32
 encoded information and, 33–34 generalized readiness to learn and, 34 imperative, 36, 38
- individual differences in, 35–38, 87
- infant information request from, 31–33, 38, 86–87
- input and, 31–32
- joint engagement from, 31–32, 37–38, 86–87
- language delays and, 36
- mapping errors and, 31
- naming and encoded information, 33–34
- new information from, 32–33, 35
- timetable for, 35–36, 87
- transition from whole to index finger, 36, 86–87
- postdictive validity study, of CALS, 162–164
- PPVT. See Peabody Picture Vocabulary Test
- pragmatics-based theoretical framework, socio-cultural, 96–98 adolescent language development and social contexts, 96 cross-cultural lens for, 96 language as socializer, 97 literacy development support from, 96 social context and linguistic dexterity, 96–97
- preschool years. See also narrative perspective-taking, bilingual preschoolers study Chile context of education in, 77 decontextualized language input during, 10, 88–90 extended discourse during, 90 language acquisition during, 64 organized language system in, 64 pretend play, perspective-taking and, 180 pretense support, school literacy supported by home, 12
- preverbal gestures, 85
- print knowledge, from elaborative
 conversations, 53
- print referencing, 53–54
- prospection skills, 10 study on extended self and, 48–49, 50
- Prospective Memory Task, 49
- protagonist perspective, in narrative perspective-taking, 180–181
- Put Reading First* practice guide, 114
- qualitative and quantitative analytic approaches, 2
- questions
 open-ended, 53, 58, 68, 69
 recasts and formation of, 29
- RAND Reading Study Group, on RC, 147–149 on RC active reader role, 147–148 on RC process, 147
 on written language role, 148

- reading comprehension (RC), 44, 54, 147–158, 174–175. See also oral reading fluency; RAND Reading Study Group
- academic language proficiency contribution to, 95–96
- adolescence struggle with, 95–96
- adolescent morphology and, 99, 124
- assessment of, 123–124, 151
- assessment shortcomings of, 149
- cross-linguistic associations for, 226, 248
- discussion for, 4
- education implications, 157–158
- first language skills relationship to, 11
- introduction to, 147
- listening comprehension relationship to, 148, 157
- measurement approaches, 149–150, 155–157, 171–172
- measurement of process difficulties, 149–150
- needs based social satisfaction on, 172
- noun definitions and, 256
- as process, 147, 148–150
- second language, 9
- student characteristics and, 115
- vocabulary and, 99, 135
- Reading Inventory and Scholastic Evaluation (RISE), of STARI, 130–131
- reading skills
- cooking activities and, 56
  - early, UBC study on, 74
  - food selection, preparation and, 55–57, 55–56, 90
  - grocery game for, 56, 58
  - HSLLD on, 4
  - later achievement and, 75
  - parent–child interactions for, 52, 53–54
- R.E.A.D.Y. See Recall past events, Explain new words and concepts, Ask lots of questions, Discuss the future, You can make a difference in your child's academic success
- reasoning, 147
- text-based talk approach and, 131–132
- Recall past events, Explain new words and concepts, Ask lots of questions, Discuss the future, You can make a difference in your child's academic success (R.E.A.D.Y) talk, 50–51
- recasts, 2, 29
- morphology and, 29
  - question formation and, 29
  - vocabulary and, 29
- receptive vocabularies, decontextualized discourse influence on, 28
- reciprocal communicative interaction processes
- importance of, 86–87
  - Snow on, 85
- relative clauses, 24
- research-based assessment, 13
- rhetorical flexibility, for language development, 97
- rich instruction, for vocabulary knowledge, 136, 137–138
- RISE. See Reading Inventory and Scholastic Evaluation
- safety, as social need, 170–171
- scaffolded interactions, 40–41, 43
- book reading as powerful, in XJP, 202–203
  - for language acquisitions, 67
- scaffolding inferential comprehension, 119, 120
- school literacy
- cross-linguistic research program for, 95–109
  - home narratives, explanations, pretense support for, 12
  - U.S. low proficiency levels in, 95
- school readiness
- attention skills for, 75–76
  - caregiver input and, 40
  - cognitive skills for, 75
  - information seeking strategies, 42
  - narrative skills for, 42
  - socioemotional skills for, 75–76
  - theory of mind development and, 42
  - U.S., Canada, Great Britain studies on, 75–76
- school-relevant language, school language
- abstract theoretical messages in, 3–4
  - cognitive skills in, 10
  - cultures and, 8
  - emotions impact on, 14
  - home language environments and, 8
  - perspective-taking in, 10, 14
  - research on context dependent and multidimensional, 14
  - social needs impact on, 14
  - socio-cultural context of, 3–4
- schools
- absenteeism impact on performance in, 76
  - classroom interactive talk in, 64–73
- Scientifically Based Reading Research, 160–161
- second language
- first language proficiency for, 11, 13
  - perspective-taking skills and, 10, 185
  - RC of second language and, 9

322 Index

- semantic contingency, for language acquisition, 67
- semantic extensions, 2
- Separate Underlying Proficiency (SUP) theory, 236, 247
- SES. See socioeconomic status
- shared intentionality, infants and, 85
- SIMCE. See standardized reading test scores
- simplified speech, 31
- single utterances, in early childhood, 3
- situation model, for cognitive skills, 65
- skills. See also specific skills
- caregiver input and development of, 42–44
  - children socialization for talking and thinking, 10
  - language learning across, 7
  - language-to-school learning continuum, 10–11
  - teacher talk differences, 11
- Snow, Catherine, 257
- on child language research, 84
  - on classroom experience, 256
  - on decontextualized language, 88
  - on discussion and RC, 4
  - on early oral language and literacy, 88
  - Harvard Graduate School of Education research by, 2
  - on input impact on children, 31, 160
  - on need for progress, 257–261
  - on reciprocal communicative interaction, 85
  - task-based multidimensional model of language proficiency, 3
- social context
- for early language development, 84
  - linguistic dexterity and, 96–97
- social needs, of affiliation, safety, and agency, 14, 170–171
- social-emotional development, maternal reminiscing and, 43
- social-interactionist theories, 8, 40–41, 43
- societal contexts, multilingual practices and, 9
- socio-cognitive development, 2
- message and audience in, 3
  - for perspective-taking consideration and evaluation, 4
- socio-cognitive skills, 10
- socio-cultural school context, 3–4, 96–98
- sociocultural theory, 43
- on caregiver input, 40–41
- socioeconomic development
- children language learning and, 14
  - multilingualism and, 254–256
- socioeconomic status (SES)
- bilingual and biliterate children, cross-linguistic relations, 224
  - bilingual children deficits from, 254–255
  - CALS and, 104, 105
  - caregiver input, child vocabulary relationship with, 41–42, 52
  - children expressive vocabularies and, 23
  - China low-, 192
  - language ability and, 28
- socioemotional skills
- for school readiness, 75–76
  - UBC on, 74, 81–82
- socio-emotional support
- in home language environment, 12
  - for language acquisition, 67–68
- sophisticated vocabulary, 31
- Spanish-English children, in U.S. study, 218, 227–230, 255
- analyses and results, 228–230
  - English and Spanish variables, 228–230
  - intra-linguistic model, 230, 232
  - measures for, 228
  - participants and setting for, 228
  - regression models, 230, 231
  - sample overview, 228
- Spanish-speaking adolescents, CALS research program on, 107–108
- speech, children
- clarification requests for, 2
  - gestures and, 24
  - recasts and, 2
  - semantic extensions and, 2
- standardized reading test scores (SIMCE), in UBC study, 74, 78, 79, 80–81
- Stanford Wordbank data, on word comprehension, 23
- STARI. See Strategic Adolescent Reading Intervention
- story retellings, narrative language skills measured by, 47
- Strategic Adolescent Reading Intervention (STARI) project, 10, 126–134, 162, 166, 172–173
- core instructional practices, 129
  - discussion of, 134
  - discussion-oriented approach for struggling readers, 13
  - essential questions in, 127
  - literacy task responses, 133
  - method of, 128
  - needs based social satisfaction on, 173
  - for reading stamina and fluency, 127
  - reasoning and talk about text, 131–132
  - RISE of, 130–131
  - teacher talk about text practices, 129
  - text-based talk approach, 127, 128–129
  - unit debates in, 127

- structural equation modeling, for cognitive skills, 65
- struggling readers
- adolescent reading interventions impact, 125
  - decoding difficulties, 124
  - discussion-oriented approaches for, 126
  - engaging texts discussion for, 13
  - fragmentary or superficial understanding, 124–125
  - higher expectations for, 123–125
  - reading confidence and, 124–125
  - reading fluency, 124
  - STARI project for, 13
  - supports for higher expectations of, 125
  - targeted interventions limited impacts for, 126
  - text-based talk participation, 126
- students
- learning, teacher instruction relationship with, 111–112
  - RC and characteristics of, 115
  - text talk behavior, 129–130
- SUP. See Separate Underlying Proficiency
- surface code representation, 65
- syntactic development
- adolescence, 124
  - caregiver language influence on, 28–30
  - children determiner use and, 29
  - complex language and, 29–30
  - contingent talk and, 30
- syntax
- CELF measured by, 47
  - study, 46–47
  - Universal Grammar framework on, 28
- talking. See also narrative language skills
- explanatory, during food practices, 55, 56
  - parental input for, 52–53
  - parent–child interactions for, 52
- Talking to Children: Language Input and Acquisition* (Snow), 257
- task-based multidimensional model of language proficiency, 3
- teacher instruction and student learning relationship study, 116–121
- comprehension codes in, 118–119
  - differentiated instruction absence in, 120
  - findings of, 119–120
  - follow-up study, 120–121
  - implications for, 121–122
  - method for, 116
  - population for, 116
  - positive vocabulary and comprehension outcomes, 121
  - results of, 118–119
- scaffolding inferential comprehension, 119, 120
- in theory, 111–112
  - vocabulary codes in, 117–118
- teacher-centered approach, 12
- teachers
- child-oriented strategies, 67
  - comprehension instruction by, 112
  - constant concerns, 145–146
  - decoding skills lack of attention by, 112, 118–119
  - decontextualized talk of, 70
  - direct instructional approach of, 12
  - food practice learning opportunities, 62
  - instruction, student learning relationship with, 111–112
  - instructional approaches research, 72
  - I.R.E. model of instruction of, 112
  - language input frequency, 66–67
  - positive, nurturing environment and, 70–71
  - quality conversational strategies training, 68
  - reading demands reductions, for struggling readers, 125
  - research on in-service training for, 72
  - skills and differences in, 11
  - talk about text practices of, 129
  - teacher-centered approach of, 12
- teacher–student interactions
- oral language and quality of, 67–68
  - for vocabulary understanding, 12–13
- teaching, of oral language, 68–69
- E<sup>5</sup> language teaching principle, 71–72, 91, 260–261
  - interactive book reading and, 69, 207
  - Language-Focused Curriculum for, 68
  - Learning Language and Loving It approach, 68
  - training for, 68–69
- text-based talk approach, 65, 126, 127
- reasoning and, 131–132
  - of STARI, 128–129
  - student text talk behavior, 129–130
- theory of language learning, 2, 51
- theory of mind skills, 10, 43
- of bilingual children, 184
  - comprehension monitoring and, 70
  - elaborative reminiscing and, 43
  - perspective-taking and, 180, 189–190
  - for school readiness, 42
- theory of socialization through language, of Vygotsky, 12–13
- theory of transubstantiation, 159
- there-and-then messages, 4, 5, 98
- Theta brain activity, 34, 35
- think-alouds

324 Index

- think-alouds (cont.)
 for inferencing, 121
 RC measurement of, 150
- third person combinations, in input, 24
- threshold hypothesis, of Cummins, 11
- time theme, in language learning, 162–166
- timetable, for pointing, 35–36, 87
- translanguaging study, 233, 252
- triadic interactions, in shared intentionality, 85
- Turkish-Dutch children, 205, 208–209, 255
 DASH-project for, 209–210, 216, 248–249
 language practices of, 210
- turn-taking behaviors, 2, 26, 30, 68
- UBC. See Un Buen Comienzo
- United States (U.S.), 82, 112. See also dual language proficiency and reading development; Spanish-English children
- cross-language relationships between oral proficiency and reading, 239–241, 242
- early childhood development and elementary school performance studies in, 75
- English proficiency assessments of bilinguals in, 99–100
- low school literacy proficiency in, 95
- monolingualism in, 254
- school readiness studies results, 75–76
- Universal Grammar framework, on syntax, 28
- upper elementary classrooms, vocabulary and comprehension research in Institute of Education Sciences technical assistance centers, 114
 introduction to, 110–111
 late emerging reading difficulties, 110
 NAEP on reading proficiency, 110
 No Child Left Behind legislation, 114
 NRP Report on reading instruction, 110 observational research for, 111, 112–116
Put Reading First practice guide, 114 teacher instruction and student learning relationship, in theory, 111–112
 teacher instruction and student learning relationship study, 116–121
- U.S. See United States
- utterances, 2, 68 single, in early childhood, 3
- Uyghur-Chinese bilingualism, 192–193
- Verbal Analogies subtest, 228
- visual sequence learning, 20, 21
- vocabulary
 caregiver language influence on, 27–28, 52–53
 cross-linguistic associations for, 226, 248 development stages or levels, 135
 early, UBC study on, 74
 measures of, 2 minority children interventions focus on, 195 parent input and development of, 40, 52, 88 RC and, 99
 recasts and, 29
 sophisticated, 31 teacher-student interactions and understanding of, 12–13 vocabulary instruction contextual approach to, 12–13 definitional approach to, 12–13 vocabulary knowledge, classroom conversations and, 135–146, 162 actual practice and instructional ideas, 136–137 classroom discussions to support, 137 contextual approach example, 141–143, 141–144, 145 instructional ideas, 136 intentional strategic use of talk for, 137–138 language input and output constraints, 145–146 lexical learnings for, 137 opportunity gap and, 135 ownership of, 135, 145 reading proficiency, academic success relationships with, 135 rich instruction for, 136, 137–138 structuring student interactions with words, 139 teacher constant concerns, 145–146 vocalisations of infants, caregivers interaction influence on, 26
- Western, Educated, Industrialized, Rich and Democratic (WEIRD) cultures, 27
- WG. See Word Generation
- whole-hand pointing, 35–36 transition to index finger pointing, 36, 86–87
- wh-questions, in FITS study, 45–46
- WIDA-ACCESS English proficiency assessment, 99–100
- WLPB-R. See Woodcock–Muñoz Language Proficiency Battery – Revised
- WM. See Woodcock–Muñoz
- women, schooling study on, 255–256
- Woodcock–Muñoz Language Proficiency Battery – Revised (WLPB-R), 228
- Woodcock–Muñoz (WM) measurement, 79, 80–81
- Word Generation (WG) Project

- for academic language and perspective-taking, 4
- Academic Word List in, 138
- on adolescence language proficiency and literacy, 4
- contextual approach example in, 141–144, 145, 173
- contextual focus for academic language, 138–139
- curriculum, contextual approach to, 138–139, 165
- definitional approach example in, 139–141, 165, 173
- word learning, 30
  - in early language development, 23
  - language delays and, 23
  - perspective-taking and, 183–184
  - Stanford Wordbank data on word comprehension, 23
- word reading, cross-linguistic associations and, 224–225, 248
- word-referent mapping, 20, 21, 31
- words. See also vocabulary
  - identification in input, 20
  - knowledge, observational research on
    - limited attention to, 113–114
  - theme, in language learning, 167–168
  - as units of sound, for writing skills, 54, 57, 58, 62
  - variability and input quality, 28
- working memory, cognitive skills of, 69
- writing skills
  - code-based skills transfer and, 11
  - food selection, preparation and, 55–57, 90
  - grocery game for, 56, 58
  - HSLLD on, 4
  - parent–child interaction for, 52, 54
  - words as units of sound for, 54, 57, 58, 62
- written language
  - oral language parallel with, 159–160
  - RC role of, 148
- Xinjiang minority children vocabulary
  - instruction, 13, 192–204, 249–250
  - BEE policy and practice, 193–195
  - bilingual early childhood education setting in, 192–195
  - Bilingual Education Development Plan for Xinjiang Kindergartens, 203–204
  - effectiveness of, 200–204
  - Uyghur population, 192
  - Uyghur–Chinese bilingualism, 192–193
  - XJP book reading intervention, 196–200
  - young minority children interventions, 195–196
- Xinjiang Project (XJP) Book Reading
  - intervention, 196–200
  - bilingual education policy impacts, 203–204
  - book reading as scaffolding, 202–203
  - children participants in, 198
  - data analytic plan, 198
  - data collection in, 197, 198
  - efficacy of, 198–200
  - elements of, 196–197
  - evaluation of, 197–198
  - modeling changes in teachers, 197
  - modeling changes of children, 198
  - video coding, 197–198