

INDEX

- Abu Matar site, 108
 Abydos Umm el-Qaab U-j site, 113–114
 Achaea region, sword blade design, 91–92, 96–97
 Adams, Ellen, 121–123
 Aegean Bronze Age sites absence of combat evidence and presence of weapons, 190–192
 chronology of, 189–190
 cultural diversity in, 84–85 evidence of combat trauma in, 190 Naue-II swords in, 87–89 social change and warfare in, 61–63
 spearheads in, 93–96
 sword craft in, 89–91
 warrior graves at, 189–195 agency, in rock art images, 63–65, 75–76
 Age of Heroes, Dorian migration and, 81–83 Aghios Charalambos, 192–195 agrarian communities food supply increases and, 40–41 motivations for conflict in, 176–177 social structure in, 132 Albano-Epirote spearhead tradition, 93–96 amber trade
 evidence in burial sites of, 32–38 metal exchanges and, 34–35
 in Scandinavia, 48–51
 weapons exchanges and, 52–54
 Amesbury Archer, 16–17
 Anati, Emmanuel, 214–215
 Anderson, Karen, 9–10
 Anderson, Kate, 177–178, 213–226, 230–231, 237–239
 Aner, Ekkehard, 35–38
 Angel, J. Lawrence, 192–195 animal husbandry, Bronze Age evidence for, 176–177
 Anthony, David W., 123–125, 234 archery, in early societies, 6 Armenoi burial site, 192–195 armour. See also weapons
 Bronze Age development of, 23–24
 Levantine production of, 113–114 manufacturing and exchange of, 52–54 presence at sites of, 19, 217–219 Arnott, Robert, 190
 arrowheads, at Tollense Valley Site, 159–161, 163–165
 Athenian Agora site, 192–195 axes
 copper in production of, 111–113 research on, 173–174
 as weapons, 52–54
 Balkan sites
 spearheads in, 93–96
 swords found in, 87–89
 Balkan Wars, 104–105
 Baltic amber, appearance in burial sites
 of, 32–38
 Bartlett, John E., 177–178
 Bataille, Gérard, 170–173
 B-circle (Mycenae), combat trauma found in, 29–30 behavior, technological innovation and, 105–107 Bell Beaker burials (Denmark), 6 mobility of people and, 16–17 warrior fraternities and, 236–237
 Bernsstorff archaeological site, 34–35 Birtley site, 217–219
 blade (swords)
 functional elements of, 141–143
 Nordic construction of, 199–203 re-sharpening of, 199–203 boat construction, 16–17
 evidence of, 54–56
 ships as war machines and, 76–78 social norms and, 71–74, 75–76 body aesthetics, warriors and, 230–233 Bohuslän rock art site, 65–67 absence of house imagery in, 74–78 boat-building hypothesis for, 71–74 sword-wielders and killing scenes in, 67–71, 208–209
 bone injuries, Bronze Age military innovations and, 23–24
 Borgwardt, Ronald, 153–155, 159–161
 Bradley, Richard, 219–221, 238–239
 Bramber hoard (Britain), 170, 173–174
 Brandherm, Dirk, 238
 Brinker, Ute, 153–165
 British Bronze Age deposits evidence for warfare in, 174–178

- hoard characteristics in, 169–174 Late Bronze Age iconography, 215–216 presence or absence of weapons and trauma in, 192–195
 violence vs. ritual interpretations of, 168–182 weapons and exchange patterns in, 52–54
- Broadness hoard (Britain), 173–174 list of weapons in, 182–183
- Broadward hoard debate over artefacts at, 177–178 sword and spearhead classifications at, 173–174
- Bronze Age warfare chronology in Levant of, 102–103 collapse of palatial centres in Southeast Europe and, 61–63
 emergence of martial arts and, 1–4 Grand Narrative of, 119 overview of scholarship on, 5–7 Period III changes in, 34–35 subregional perspective on, 119
 warrior fraternities and, 235–237
- Brück, Joanna, 24n.1, 120–121
- Bunnefeld, Jan-Heinrich, 9–10, 235–237
- Burgess, Colin, 173–174
- burial sites. See also specific sites absence of trauma in, 190–192 absence of weapons in, 192–195, 203–204 combat trauma evidence in, 29–30, 190, 192–195
 contextualization of deposits in, 109–114, 190–195, 203–204, 219–221, 237–239
 Corded War burials, 234 evidence of violence at, 18, 127, 190 evidence of warfare in, 29–30, 65–67 exchange patterns and weapons found at, 52–54 heroic warrior ideology and, 231–233 Homeric warrior ideals and archaeology of, 231–233
 Mycenaean Grave Circles as, 190–192 numbers of swords and swordbearers in, 204–207 political and economic change and reorganization of, 35–38
 size of warrior-bands and evidence from, 28–29 in Southern Trans Urals, 119–132 warrior burials, ritual/institutional regularity of, 24n.1, 34–35, 189–190
 weapons deposits in, 1–4, 125
- Caesar, 180–181
- canoes
 evidence of construction of, 54–56 maritime warfare using, 71–74 ritual uses of, 76–78
 rock art images of, 71–74, 208–209
- Carman, John, 5–7
- Carpathian Basin
 swords found in, 87–89
 weapons and exchange patterns in, 52–54
- carp's-tongue swords, 136–151 application in warfare, 147–150 blade of, 141–143
 in British hoards, 173–174 functional elements of, 140–147
 grip, 145–147
 guard, 145–147
 hilt of, 143–144
 pommel on, 143–145
 in Puertollano hoard, 148–150
 ricasso ensemble, 145–147
- causation, in rock art images, 63–65, 75–76
- Cave of the Treasure, mace heads found in, 107–108
- Celtic warfare and migration, 41–42
- centralized political economy agrarian intensification and food supplies and, 40–41
 warriors and warfare and, 30–32, 39
- Cezavy hill site, 18
- chaîne opératoire*, 8–9 technical archaeology of violence and, 105–107 warrior identity and, 121–123
- chaîne opératoire* approach, weapons research and,
 81–83
- chariot warfare
 evidence in burial sites of, 125–132
 rise of, 23–24, 123–125
 social status and, 130
- chiefdom confederacies agrarian intensification and, 40–41 maritime warfare and, 65–67, 77
 political and economic change and decline of, 35–38
 swordbearer's ranks and, 207–209 warfare and trade and, 32, 41–42 warriors' status within, 120–121
- Childe, V. Gordon, 105–107, 168
- chopping action, morphological analysis of, 138–139
- Cipolla, Carlo, 105–107
- Classical studies
 body aesthetic in, 231–233
 Dorian migration in, 81–83
- Clausewitz, Carl von, 104–105
- clothing gear, exchange patterns and, 52–54
- colonialization, warfare and, 105–107
- combat trauma
 archaeological evidence of, 153–155
 'battlefield hypothesis' for Tollense Valley and, 156–157, 162–165
 on Bronze Age skeletons, 29–30 evidence in Mycenaean Grave Circle B for, 190 presence or absence of weapons with evidence of, 189–195, 230–231
- commodity trade, emergence of, 2–3
- communal structure, exchange patterns and, 48–51
- confederacies, warfare and trade and formation of, 32, 41–42

- conflict, rock art depictions of, 63–65 contextualization of deposits in burial sites, 109–114, 190–195, 203–204 for swords, 203–204
 warrior function vs. identity and, 219–221
 Coombs, David, 169, 170–173, 174–179 copper
 in Chalcolithic-era weapons, 107–108, 109–114 in Southern Urals burial sites, 125–132 sword production using, 87–89, 101–102, 105–107 trade in Levant of, 109–114 Copper Age
 hunting and weaponry in, 19–20 violence in, 6
 warrior fraternities in, 235n.1 copper trade
 Atlantic network for, 65–67
 exchange patterns for, 48–51, 52–54
 Corded Ware society, 6, 234, 236–237
 Cornești Iarcuri settlement, 39–40 corporeal skills, warriors' acquisition of, 121–123 craft specialists
 social status of, 130
 in Southern Urals, 125–132
 warriors' link to, 121–123 cremation sites, 17
 Cuirass Tomb (Dendra), 190–192 culture
 carp's-tongue swords and role of, 148 mobility in Bronze Age Southeast Europe of, 81–97 violence and, 178–181
 warfare and exchange in, 56–58, 239–240 warrior fraternities in, 233–235 warrior representations in, 214–219 daggers
 contextualization in deposits of, 203–204 copper daggers, 109–114 flint daggers, 48–51
 morphological analysis of, 139–140 decentralized political economy, warriors and warfare and, 30–32 defensive techniques, functional elements of swords and, 140–147 diffusion, exchange and, 47–48
 Dombrowsky, Anne, 153–165
 Doonan, Roger, 8–9, 119–132
 Dorians
 invasion of Greece by, 61–63 migration narrative for, 81–83 mythology and research on culture of, 84–85 sword craft and, 96–97
 Dräger, Jana, 153–165
 Dreiwulstschwerter sword, 35–38, 40–41
 Duddington Loch site (Britain), 170
 Earle, Timothy, 30–32
 East Mediterranean archaeological sites, upheavals in, 17 economic structure
 agrarian intensification and food supplies and, 40–41
 exchange and, 48–51
 population growth and, 2
 social status of swordbearers and, 207–209
 transition from Tumulus to Urnfield eras, 32–38
 warfare and, 30–32
 warriors' status and, 120–121
 economy of violence, 104–105
 Ehrenberg, Margret, 177–178, 214–215
 Eneolithic cemetery (Byblos), 108 Engels, Friedrich, 233–235 environmental factors
 exchange and, 48–51
 in warfare and weapons development, 123–125
 Epimarkov, Andrey, 125
 Eslington site, 217–219
 Eulau burial sites, 234
 Evans, John (Sir), 168, 170, 177–178, 181–182 Ewart Park, 217–219
 exchange, patterns of. See also trade bureaucratic control of distribution and, 113–114 distribution patterns linked to, 47–48 environmental and economic factors in, 48–51 metal objects, Levantine trade in, 109–114 warfare vs., 47–58
 waterborne mobility and, 54–56
 weaponry and, 52–54
 'face-to-face' burials, in kurgan burial sites, 127–128, 129–130 farms and farmers
 size of, in Danish Bronze Age, 28–29 sword possession among, 207–209 warriors as protectors of, 3–4, 9–10
 'faux-midrib,' sword blade design, 91–92 fighters vs. warriors, identity and ritual and, 219–221, 225–226 flange-hilted sword characteristics of, 24–26 combat trauma linked to, 29–30 development of, 41–42
 distribution of, 32–38
 global expansion in use of, 23–24 sharpening/resharpening analysis of, 24–26 warrior mobility and war-band organization and, 26–28 flint
 arrowheads, at Tollense Valley Site, 159–161
 exchange patterns and, 48–51, 52–54
 in Levantine weaponry, 113–114
 Fokkens, Harry, 19–20
 Fontijn, David, 19–20, 24n.1, 120–121 food supplies, agrarian intensification and, 40–41

- 'Foreign Women' distribution confederacy formation and, 32
 marriage alliances and, 26–28, 32–38
- forts and fortification evidence of, 21, 34–35, 125
 in Levantine era, 113–114
 maritime warfare and, 208–209 rise of warfare and, 123–125
 settlement forms and population density, 39–40
- Fossum rock art panel, 61–63
- 'founder's hoards', 168, 170, 181–182
- fraternity of warriors change and variability in Bronze Age of, 235–237 cultural origins of, 233–235
- 'Fremde Frauen,' 16–17
- full-hilted swords
 development of, 32–38
 metal distribution system and, 35–38
- functionality of weapons, debates concerning, 177–178
- Gareth Davies, D., 173–174
- Gefolgschaft Männerbund*, 104–105, 233–235, 237–239
- Gell, Alfred, 8–9, 63–65, 75–76
- gender
 in Late Bronze Age iconography, 215–216
 social status and, 217–219
 warrior function vs. identity and, 219–221, 225–226, 230–233
 warrior representations and, 214–219
- Gener, Marc, 8–9, 136–151, 230–231
- genetic studies, social structure in Bronze Age and, 234
- Georganas, Ioannis, 9–10, 189–195
- German Research Foundation, 156–157
- Gibson, Blair, 30–32
- Globular Amphora, 6
- Greece
 Dorian invasion of, 61–63
 'war booty offerings' at sites in, 174–178
- grip (sword), functional elements of, 145–147
- Grosvenor hoard, 217–219
- guard (sword), functional elements of, 145–147
- guerilla warfare, 104–105
- halberds
 maritime warfare and, 54–56
 morphological analysis of, 139–140
- Hallstatt mines, 2
- hammered bronze vessels, production of, 38
- Harding, Anthony, 5–8, 16–21, 95, 233–235
- Härke, Heinrich, 192–195, 219–221
- Hawkes, C. F. Christopher, 177–178
- Heritage Service Mecklenburg-Vorpommern, 153–155, 156–157
- Herodotus, 81–83
- Hero ideology, formation of, 4, 231–233
- hilt (sword)
 functional elements of, 143–144, 148, 199–203 ritual uses and design of, 190–192
 status of swordbearer and, 199–203, 207–209
- Hjortspring site
 canoes found at, 54–56, 71–74, 208–209 war craft found at, 76–78 warrior fraternity at, 238
- hoards
 carp's-tongue swords in, 148–150 characteristics of weapons in, 19, 21, 107–108, 169–174 classification of, 168, 181–182
 evidence of warfare and interpretation of, 174–178 expansion of, 34–35
 investigative methods used at, 170–173 metal hoards, 35–38, 52–54
 numbers of swords and swordbearers in, 204–207
 size of warrior-bands and evidence from, 28–29
 spear deposits in, 217–219
- Hobbes, Thomas, 104–105
- Hočko Pohorje hoard, swords found in, 87–89
- Homeric epics
 Sea Peoples' depiction in, 84–85 warrior ideal in, 231–233
- Hoplite site, spear use at, 217–219
- Horizon II site, tin artefacts in, 87–89
- Horn, Christian, 1–10, 47–58, 238
- horses, Bronze Age use of, 23–24
- human images, in Bronze Age rock art, 71–74, 75–76
- human remains absence of, in British hoards, 174–178 in Aegean Bronze Age sites, interpretations of trauma at, 190–192, 195 age dating of, 190–192 dating of Tollense remains, 156–157
 evidence of combat trauma in, 29–30, 208–209, 230–231 gender bias in analysis of, 214–215 land-based archaeological discoveries, 159–161 recent discoveries of, 153–155
 at Tollense Valley site, 155–156, 162–163
 underwater archaeology and discovery of, 157–159
- Hunter, Fraser, 215–216, 219–221
- hunters, evolution into warriors, 19–20
- Hvidegård, Københavns Amt, 208–209
- identity, idealized vs. reality, for warriors, 229–240
- identity, of warriors constructed vs. functional identity, 213–226 weapons linked to, 121–123, 180–181
- Iliad* (Homer), 231–233
- Illerup Ådal, Denmark site, 163–165

- Indo-European texts, war-band organization in, 26–28
- innovation
 in Bronze Age military systems, 23–24
 diffusion of, 101–102
 by mercenaries, 41–42
- international warrior culture evolution of, 26–28
 weapons technology and spread of, 41–42
- Iron Age sites, ‘war booty offerings’ in, 174–178
- Island of Shuna site, 217–219
- Italian hoards
 spearheads in, 93–96
 swords found in, 87–91
- ivory weapons, as status symbols, 108
- Jantzen, Detlef, 153–165
- Kaldor, Mary, 104–105
- Kaul, Fleming, 54–56
- Keeley, Lawrence H., 5–7, 104–105
- Kersten, Karl, 35–38
- Kfar Monash hoard, 113–114
- Khasechemwy, tomb of (Hierakonpolis), 113–114
- “killing” scenes in rock art, 67–71
- Kimmig, Wolfgang, 17, 20–21
- kinship, rituals and, 179–180
- Klimscha, Florian, 8–9, 101–114
- Knöpke, Steffen, 236–237
- Krakerøy, Østfold site, 208–209
- Kristiansen, Kristian, 1–10, 23–42, 96–97, 203–207, 231–237
- Krivoye Ozero cemetery site, 126–127
- Krüger, Joachim, 153–165
- kurgan cemetery complexes, 119–121, 123–125, 126–128, 129–130. See also burial sites
- Kuzmina, Elena E., 123–125
- land-based archaeological research, 159–161
- Larson, Thomas B., 96–97
- Late Minoan burial sites, 189–192
- Late Neolithic Age, amber trade in, 48–51
- Leroi-Gourhan, André, 105–107
- Levantine
 Bronze Age chronology in, 102–103 exchanges during Bronze age in, 109–114 geostrategic position of, 101–102
- Lidke, Gundula, 9, 153–165
- Limfjord region
 exchange patterns in, 48–51
 sea levels in, 54–56
- liminality of warriors, violence and rituals and, 180–181
- Lindström, Jonathan, 77
- Linear Band ceramic communities, 6
- Linear B tablets, 233–235
- Ling, Johan, 8–9, 61–78, 230–231, 233–237
- literature, warrior representations in, 214–219
- lithic tools, Bronze Age production of, 109–114
- lost wax technique, metal alloy production and, 107–108
- Lower Saxony Heritage Service, 156–157
- maces
 development of, 107–108
 morphological analysis of, 139–140
- magic, in rock art images, 63–65
- Mälardalen, sea levels in, 54–56
- Malinowski, Bronislaw, 63–65
- Malmer, Mats P., 67–71
- manufactured goods, transport of, 16–17
- Maraszek, Regine, 169
- maritime warfare. See also warfare Bohuslän site evidence of, 65–67
 exchange patterns and, 54–56
 fortifications and settlements and, 208–209 intensity and frequency of, 76–78
 rock art images of, 63–65
 in Scandinavia, 61–78
 ship organization and, 77
 social hierarchies and practices in, 63–65, 74–78 technology in, 105–107
 war canoes and, 71–74
 warrior fraternities and, 235–237
- marriage alliances, political economic transition and, 26–28, 32–38
- martiality, ideology of Bronze Age warfare and, 1–4 rise of warrior and, 19–20
- Masaai, war-band organization among, 26–28
- Maspero, Gaston, 83
- massacres
 evidence of, 29–30
 prehistoric warfare and, 104–105
 prevalence of, 6
- McGeorge, Tina, 192–195
- Medbo rock art sites, combat images at, 67–71
- Medinet Habu reliefs, 84–85
- Melheim, Lene, 238
- mercenaries
 evidence in burial sites of, 26–28
 political economic transition and, 32–38 weapons innovation and, 41–42
- metal detector surveys, Tollense Valley site, 161–162
- metallurgy and metal production alloys for weapons, 87–89, 96–97
 Atlantic network for, 65–67
 Bronze Age weapons and, 8–9, 109–114
 burial site evidence for, 125–132 carp’s-tongue swords and, 148 evidence for, 16–17, 41–42, 126–127
 exchange patterns and, 48–51, 52–54 hoards as evidence of, 35–38 mace heads, 107–108
 social structure and, 130

- sword technology and, 111–113, 199–203 technological innovation in, 105–107 trade for amber and, 34–35 warriors' links to metallurgists, 121–123, 125–132 migration
 cultural change and, 81–83
 exchange and, 47–48
 mythology and research on, 84–85
 Migration Period sites, 'war booty offerings' in,
 174–178
 military systems
 contextualization in Bronze Age of, 239–240 evidence in Bronze Age of, 9–10 weapons innovations and rise of, 23–24, 113–114 mobility
 in Bronze Age Southeast Europe, 81–97
 cultural change and, 81–83
 exchange patterns and, 48–51, 109–114
 of goods and people, 16–17 political-economic transitions and, 32–38
 social structure and, 132
 of warriors, 8–9
 weapons development and, 96–97 modern warfare, Bronze Age warfare and, 5–7 Molloy, Barry, 8–9, 81–97, 190–192, 230–231, 235–237
 Montelius Period III, 35–38
 Monte Sa Idda carp's tongue sword, 147–150
 Morris, Ian, 6
 Mörtz, Tobias, 9, 168–182, 235–239
 Müller, Johannes, 1
 Münkler, Herfried, 104–105
 Mycenaean culture ethnic identity and, 85–86 sword blade design, 91–92 sword distribution and tools in, 32–38 Mycenae Grave Circles A & B absence of trauma but presence of weapons, 190–192
 absence of weapons but presence of trauma, 192–195
 artefacts found in, 189–190

 Nafplioti, Argyro, 195
 Nahal Mishmar site, 107–108 natural resources distribution, exchange
 and, 47–48
 Naue-II swords
 alloys used in, 87–89
 blade design, 91–92
 classification of, 86–87
 craftsmanship of, 87–92 diversity in forms of, 61–63 microanalysis of, 8–9
 rivet holes in, 89–91
 Neckarsulm cemetery, 16–17 hoards at, 21
 non-local warriors in, 26–28

 strontium isotope analysis of males in, 23–24 warrior fraternities in, 236–237 Neolithic Age, violence in, 6 networks of exchange, Scandinavian framework for, 48–51
 'New Wars' concept of prehistoric warfare, 104–105 Nordic Bronze Age
 dominance and wealth of, 32–38
 metal distribution system and, 35–38
 numbers of swords and swordbearers in sites from, 204–207
 swordbearer's rank in, 198–209 octagonally hilted swords political-economic transition and, 32–38
 warrior mobility and war-band organization and,
 26–28
 Olmo di Nogara cemetery, 29–30 ornaments
 contextualization in deposits of, 203–204 as evidence of ritual, 163–165
 exchange patterns and, 52–54
 metal detector surveys and discovery of, 161–162
 on sword hilts, 199–203
 at Tollense Valley site, 157–161, 163–165
 osteological analysis, 195 Ötzi (human skeleton), 6 overland transport, 16–17
 Over Vindinge, Denmark site, 163–165, 208–209

 Pant-Y-Maen site (Britain), 170 parrying, functional elements of swords and, 141 peaceful interactions evidence in Bronze Age for, 7–8
 exchange patterns and, 47–48
 Peelhill Farm site (Britain), 170, 173–174 perishable materials, weapons construction from, 9 Philistines, ethnogenesis of, 83
 Pitman, Derek, 8–9, 119–132, 230–231
 Pittman, Allen, 217–219
 Pokot people, 179
 political structure
 agrarian intensification and food supplies and, 40–41
 in Bronze Age society, 2–3
 exchange and, 48–51
 metallurgists and, 130
 in Southern Urals, 132
 transition from Tumulus to Urnfield eras, 32–38
 violence and rituals and, 180–181
 warfare and, 30–32
 warriors' status and, 120–121
 pommel (sword), functional elements of, 143–145 population demographics numbers of swords and swordbearers and, 206–207
 settlement forms and population density, 39–40 warrior society and, 1

- pottery remains evidence of warrior cultures and, 26–28 exchange patterns reflected in, 113–114 site dating using, 18
- Poulsen, Jens, 206–207
- power
 of metallurgists, 130
 social status of swordbearers and, 207–209
 violence and rituals and, 180–181
 of warriors, 119–121
 weapons as symbols of, 121–123
- prehistoric warfare models, 104–105
- prestige goods
 exchange patterns for, 48–51
 warriors' access to, 121–123
- Price, Neil, 56
- production
 in Levantine Bronze Age, 101–102
 warriors' link to agents of, 121–123
- professionalization of warfare
 evidence in Bronze Age of, 6, 41–42
 weapons technology and, 24–26
- Puertollano hoard, swords found in, 136, 148–150
- Ramses III, 84–85
- Randsborg, Klavs, 238
- Redfern, Redfern, 214–215
- religiosity, warfare and, 237–239
- resharpening analysis, of flange-hilted swords, 24–26
- Ría de Huelva carp's-tongue sword, 147–150
- ricasso ensemble (sword), functional elements of, 145–150
- Riegsee full-hilted sword, 34–38, 40–41
- ritual. See also sacrifice
 burial site evidence for, 127–128, 129–130 destruction of weapons as, 174–178, 225–226 Gefolgschaft beyond death and, 237–239 links between warriors and metallurgists and, 130 political and economic change and, 35–38 rock art depictions of, 63–65 sacrificial ornaments and, 157–159 swords as symbols in, 199–203
 violence and, 9, 208–209
 warfare and, 230–233, 237–239
 warrior function vs. identity and, 219–221 weapons depositions as, 19, 54–56, 113, 168–182, 225–226
- River Gudenå site (Denmark), 163–165
- rock art
 boat images in, 54–56
 body aesthetics of warriors in, 231–233 canoe images in, 71–74, 208–209 combat, fighting and warfare images in, 65–67 fraternity of warriors in, 235–237 maritime warfare in, 61–78
 social hierarchies and practices in, 63–65, 74–78
 sword-wielders and killing scenes in, 67–71 warrior characteristics in, 61–63, 214–215, 230–231 weapons iconography in, 1–4, 8–9, 52–54
- Rogers, Everett, 101–102
- Roos Carr site, 215–216
- Rousseau, Jean-Jacques, 104–105
- Rykushina, Galina, 127
- Saalfeld, Germany site, 163–165
- sacrifice
 'war booty offerings' in hoards, 174–178
vs. warfare, debate over Tollense Valley evidence, 163–165
 warfare and, 237–239
- Salaš, Milan, 18
- Samurai, war-band organization among, 26–28
- Savory, Hubert N., 173–174
- Scandinavia
 exchange patterns in, 48–51 maritime warfare in rock art of, 61–78 metal imports in, 52–54, 65–67 warrior iconography in, 214–215 waterborne mobility linked to warfare and exchange in, 54–56
- Schulting, Rick J., 238–239
- Scorpion (King), 113–114
- Sea Peoples
 movement of, 17
 mythology and research on, 84–85
 population growth of, 40–41
- Sellopoulo Grave 4 site, 190–192
- settlement characteristics, population densities and, 39–40
- shipping, 16–17
- Sintashta cemetery complex, 8–9, 123–125, 127–128
- slashing action, morphological analysis of, 138–139
- slicing action, morphological analysis of, 138–139
- Slovenia, Naue-II sword manufacturing in, 87–89
- smelting techniques. See metallurgy and metal production
- Smith, Susan, 192–195
- smouldering wars, 104–105, 113–114
- social structure
 Bronze Age military innovations and, 23–24 collapse of palatial centres in Southeast Europe and, 61–63 contextualization of sword deposits and, 203–204
 gender and, 217–219
 in Greece, Dorian migration and, 81–83 links between warriors and craftsmen in, 125–132 maritime warfare and, 71–74
 prehistoric warfare and, 104–105
 rock art images as reflection of, 63–65 shared use of sword types and, 32–38
 in Southern Urals, 132
 swordbearer's status and, 207–209 technological innovation and, 101–102, 105–107, 111–113

- violence and, 121–123, 178–181, 233–235
 warfare and warriors as agents of, 6–7, 20–21 warrior function vs. identity in, 219–221 warrior hierarchy and, 230–233
 warriors' status and, 119–121, 123–125
 weapons technology and, 24–26
 sodalities, war-band organization and, 26–28
 Solntse 2 burial site, 129–130
 Southern Urals
 Bronze Age burial sites in, 119–132 craft and warriors in, 125–132 spearheads
 Aegean tradition of, 93–96 barbed design of, 177–178
 as evidence of warfare, 174–178
 investigative methods used with, 170–173
 Levantine production of, 113–114 measurement and enumeration of, 173–174 status of warriors and, 217–219
 at Tollense Valley site, 159–161, 163–165
 Spišský Štvrtok site, 19–20
 Sprockhoff type II/Naue II sword, 25 Standard of Ur 'War Panel,' 113–114 status in Bronze Age societies
 gender and, 217–219
 grave artifacts as indication of, 190–195 hierarchy of warriors and, 230–233 rituals as affirmation of, 179–180 rock depictions of, 63–65, 74–78 swords as symbols of, 199–203, 207–209
 warrior fraternities and, 234
 of warriors, 119–121, 123–125
 weapons as symbols of, 19, 54–56, 108, 192–195 Sund archaeological site (Norway), mass killings at,
 29–30, 163–165, 208–209
 Sven Fork-beard, 28
 swords. See also specific sword types, e.g. flange-hilted swords
 alloys used in, 87–89, 109–114
 blade design, 91–92
 components of, 140–147
 contextualization of deposits, 190–195, 203–204
 cutting actions in, 138–139 distribution in Scandinavian sites, 54–56 enumeration at hoards of, 173–174 ethnic and cultural identity and, 96–97
 as evidence of warfare, 174–178
 exchange patterns and, 52–54 function and meaning of, 199–203 gender-based analysis of design of, 216–217 habitual, arithmetical and symbolic usage of, 105–107
 investigative methods used with, 170–173 length of use estimates, 204–207
 Levantine production of, 109–114
 metal distribution system and, 35–38 morphological elements of, 137–140 numbers of swords and swordbearers, 204–207 political economic transitions and development
 of, 32–38
 ritual uses of, 105–107, 190–192
 rivet holes in, 89–91
 rock art images of, 67–71
 status of swordbearer and, 198–209, 217–219 techniques during combat, 147–150 technological changes in, 86–87 use-wear analysis of, 92 symbolic weapons
 in British Bronze Age, 217–219 ivory weapons as, 108 power and status and, 121–123 in rock art images, 63–65
 social status and, 19, 54–56, 108, 192–195
 swords as, 199–203, 207–209
 Tacitus, 233–235
 Talheim site, 104–105
 technology
 archaeology of violence and, 105–107 changes in, 17
 diffusion of, 101–102
 Tell Megiddo site, 110–111
 Terberger, Thomas, 153–165
 Terramare Culture, hierarchical structure and violence in, 40–41
 Thirty Years War, 104–105
 Thrunton Farm site, 217–219 tin
 Atlantic trade network for, 65–67 in Naue II swords, 87–89
 in sword construction, 199–203
 Tinnum (Sylt) burial site, amber found in, 52–54 Tollense Valley site archaeological research in, 6, 9 battle evidence at, 39–40, 41–42, 156–157, 162–163, 208–209
 burials at, 18, 238–239
 evidence of violence at, 20–21, 153–155 geoscientific analysis of, 155–156 land-based archaeology at, 159–161 mass killings at, 29–30, 239–240 metal detector surveys at, 161–162 underwater archaeology at, 157–159 warfare vs. sacrifice debate over, 163–165 warrior bodies at, 230–233 warrior fraternity and, 236–237 tools
 investigative methods used with, 170–173
 sword distribution linked to presence of, 32–38 Toreld, Andreas, 8–9, 61–78, 230–231, 233–237
 Tornarton, United Kingdom site, 163–165 Torsted hoard, weapons found at, 54–56 trade. See also exchange
 agrarian intensification and, 40–41 bureaucratic control of, 113–114

- trade (cont.)
 confederacy formation and, 30–32 economy of violence and, 104–105
 exchange patterns and, 48–51
 in Levantine Bronze Age, 101–102
 maritime warfare and, 65–67
 political economic transition and, 32–38 transport and, 16–17
 warfare and, 7–8, 30–32, 41–42
 warrior mobility and, 26–28
- transformation, rock art images of, 63–65, 75–76
- Treherne, Paul, 230–237
- Trobiand Islands site, 75
- Tumulus culture
 burial sites in, 190–192
 herding economy of, 40–41
 political economic transition in, 32–38 warrior burials in, 34–35
- Turner, Victor, 179–180
- Type Fii sword, 87–89, 92
- Uluburum wreck, 16–17, 93–96
 Levantine culture and, 101–102
- underwater archaeology, 157–159
- Underwood, Richard, 217–219
- Únětice culture
 amber exchange in, 48–51
 weapons and exchange patterns in, 52–54
- University of Griefswald, Department of Prehistory, 156–157
- Urnfield culture
 agrarian intensification and food supplies in, 40–41
 burial rites in, 20–21
 hoards in, 21
 mortality in, 19–20
 political economic transition in, 32–38, 41–42
 settlement construction in, 39–40 undefended settlements in, 21 violent encounters at, 17, 18–19 war-bands and centralized government in, 39
 warrior fraternities in, 236–237
- use wear studies of weapons, 5–7 evidence of combat use and, 51–52
 exchange patterns and, 52–54
 metal distribution system and, 35–38
 political-economic transition and, 32–38 sword analysis, 92, 199–203 war-related violence and, 233
- Ust'ye burial site, 129–130
- Val Camonica rock art, 214–215
- Vankilde, Helle, 5–7, 19, 229–240
- van Wees, Hans, 231–233
- Varna cemetery (Bulgaria), 107–108
- Velim archaeological site, 18 evidence of violence at, 20–21
 mass killings at, 29–30
- Viking Age
 trade and warrior culture in, 28 warfare and migration in, 41–42 warrior ideology and, 231–233
- violence
 current scholarship on, 6 economy of, 104–105
 incorporation in Bronze Age life of, 19 ritual and, 9, 208–209
 rock art images of, 61–63, 67–71
 as social and cultural phenomenon, 178–181 technical archaeology of, 105–107 warriors' identity linked to, 119–123, 230–233 weapons deposits as evidence for, 7–8, 18, 156–157, 162–165, 168–182, 189–195
- Virilio, Paul, 54–56
- Wachsmann, Shelley, 84–85
- war-bands
 centralized governments and, 39 farm settlements and, 28–29 formation of, 26–28, 41–42
Gefolgschaft Männerbund, 104–105, 233–235 size of, 28–29, 176–177, 208–209 warrior fraternities as, 230–233 weapons research linked to, 170–173
- 'war booty offerings'
 British hoards as evidence of, 174–178 ritual and sacrifice and, 180–181
- warfare. See also maritime warfare
 British weapons hoards and evidence of, 174–178 centralized government structures and, 39 chariots used in, 125
 contextualization in Bronze Age of, 239–240
 cultural change and, 81–83
 evidence at sites for, 7–8, 18, 153–165
 exchange and, 47–58
 gender issues in analysis of, 217–219
 institutionalization in Bronze Age of, 41–42, 233 intensity and frequency of, 76–78, 229, 233 military training for, introduction of, 113–114 political economy and, 23–42 possible Bronze Age motivations for, 176–177 prehistoric models of, 104–105
 ritual and, 230–233, 237–239
 rock art images of, 65–67, 76–78
 sword techniques used in, 147–150 technology of, 8–9
 trade and, 7–8, 30–32
 victims of, 29–30
 warrior function vs. identity in, 219–221
 waterborne mobility and, 54–56
- Warnier, Jean-Pierre, 230–231
- warriors aristocracy of, 23–24, 119, 125, 190–192, 231–233 body aesthetics and fraternity among, 229–240 characteristics in Bronze Age of, 61–63, 119–121 chiefdom confederacies and, 30–32 cultural representations of, 214–219, 229

- evidence for rise of, 18–19 function of, 219–221
Gefolgschaft of, 104–105 ‘Hero’ ideology vs., 4 hierarchies in Bronze Age of, 230–233 identity of, 121–123, 180–181, 213–226 Late Bronze Age iconography of, 215–216 martiality ideology and, 19–20 mobility of, 26–28
 persona of, 9–10
 political economy and role of, 30–32 population growth and emergence of, 1, 41–42 presence on farms of, 3–4 rituals associated with, 24n.1, 63–65, 179–180, 207–209
 rock art images of, 67–71, 73–74
 social status of, 119–121, 123–125, 190–192
 in Southern Urals, 125–132
 training and drilling of, 113–114 violent sociality of, 233–235 weapons linked to identity of, 121–123, 180–181
- waterborne mobility
 exchange patterns and, 48–51
 warfare and exchange and, 54–56
- weapons. See also armour; specific weapons in Aegean Bronze Age sites, 190–192 at Bohuslän site, 65–67
 Broadward class, list of, 182–183
 Bronze Age development of, 23–24
 Chalcolithic era specialization in, 107–108 composition table for British hoards, 169 contextualization of deposits, 6–7, 109–114, 190–195, 203–204 crafting of, 121–123
 deposition characteristics, 169–174 design and functionality, debates concerning, 177–178 exchange patterns and development of, 52–54, 96–97
 gender issues in analysis of, 216–217 hierarchy of, in burial sites, 238–239 hoards of, 21
 as hunting tools, 177–178 increase in volume of, 1–10, 19
- interpretations of, 168–182, 233 investigative methods used with, 170–173
 in Levantine culture, 101–114
 metal detector surveys and discovery of, 161–162 mobility and war-band organization and, 26–28
 morphological analysis of, 139–140
 in Mycenaean culture, 85–86 political economic transitions and development of, 32–38 as ritual depositions, 19, 54–56, 113, 153–165, 168–182, 190–192, 225–226 size of war-bands based on hoard estimates, 28–29 social change and evolution of, 24–26 in Southeast Europe sites, 81–97
 technological innovation in, 7–9, 24–26
 in Tollense Valley Site, 153–155
 underwater archaeology and discovery of, 157–159 in warfare, research on, 153–165, 233
 warriors’ identity linked to, 121–123, 180–181, 213–226
 Wilburton class, list of, 182
- Wessex culture
 amber exchange in, 48–51
 weapons and exchange patterns in, 52–54
 wheeled vehicles, warfare and introduction of, 113–114
- Wilburton (Rush Fen) archaeological site discovery of, 168
 investigative methods used at, 170–173 list of weapons at, 182
 swords found at, 173–174
- Wileman, Julie, 174–178
- Willow Moor site (Britain), 170
- women
 in Late Bronze Age iconography, 215–216 possibility of warrior status for, 229
 social status and, 217–219
 warrior identity and, 219–221, 225–226
 warrior representations and, 214–219
- wooden weapons and tools, at Tollense Valley site, 161, 163–165
- Yates, David, 219–221